FARMERS' EDUCATIONAL MEETING

Representatives of the Department of Agriculture Hold Farmers' Institute in Pitt County—Two Instructive Sessions in Greenville Monday—Practical Results of Much Importance In View.

The agricultural problem is a local problem. Corn growing in Georgia is a different proposition from corn growing in the East or in the West. A variety of cotton originated under given climatic and soil conditions will show decided modifications as these conditions vary from section to section. The fertilization practiced in the heavy shipping leaf district would prove most unsatisfactory for the productions of the bright tobacco grown on the old pine fields of North Carolina. It follows, therefore, that the individual farmer will be benefitted by the department's investigations in proportion as the data at Washington covers the conditions in the case at hand. Mr. E. H. Matthewson, of the Department Virginia experimental force, brought out this fact, and urged the necessity of experimental work in this section to solve certain problems peculiar to the locality. If you expect the Department to help you in the very best way, said Mr. Matthewson, you must get the Department to do some work here. The present policy of the department is to send out, not more literature, but more men to work in the fields and study local conditions.

As a further evidence of the department's attitude in this matter, and relating to one of the greatest means of popularizing the best that is known by the most progressive farmers in the country, Mr. C. R. Hudson spoke of the co-operative demonstration work carried on under the direction of Dr. Knapp. Mr. Hudson said that the Department of Agriculture did not profess to know everything about farming, but that through its acquaintance with the practice of best farmers in the country, and through its own investigators, it was in a better position to know some things than was the average farmer. Its objects are to present the methods of the best farmers and induce their acceptance.

Over 20,000 farmers in the South followed these methods in 1907, and this year there will be about 5000 acres in demonstration farms in North Carolina, and probably another 5000 acres devoted to co-operative demonstration work.

Dr. Bonsteel, of the Bureau of Soils, speaking of the relationship of soils to crops, would have the farmer succeed in getting the right crop on the right soil. To this end thousands of square miles have been surveyed and mapped out by the Bureau of Soils, and the recurrence of a given soil throughout these areas, with its adaptability to certain crops, are known. One condition of a good soil is good drainage. "There are other farms below the one you are farming," Dr. Bonsteel pointed out, "as full of plant food as the one above. You should derive benefit from these for ten years before the tax collector finds them out." To do this it will be necessary to work these under farms as you are now working the topmost one. Get down to them with your plow. Expose them to the weathering influences of air, sunshine, thawing and freezing condition; them by tillage and proper cultivation.

Good fertilization is largely a soil problem. The United States is spending one hundred million dollars a year for fertilizers—comprised under 2300 brands, which, Dr. Bonsteel says, could be reduced to about six different fertilizers. Good fertilizers can produce the best results when the soil is supplied with organic matter. This is especially the rule for the application of phosphates. It had been brought out by Mr. Green that for bright tobacco cotton seed meal is probably a better source of nitrogen than nitrate of soda, with the possible exception of a little soda to start the crop. Dr. Bonsteel recommends the following formula for making a ton of fertilizer for tobacco.

1000 pounds Acid Phosphate.
300 pounds Sulphate Potash.
600 pounds Cotton Seed Meal.
100 pounds Nitrate Soda.

This, he said, would contain 8 per cent phosphoric acid, 7 per cent potash, and a trifle over 3 per cent nitrogen. When it was desired to get more organic matter into the soil by the use of a compost, he advises:

1200 pounds Tobacco Stems.
200 pounds Cotton Seed Meal.
600 pounds Acid Phosphate.

The cotton seed meal would come from our own fields, the phosphoric acid from eastern North Carolina and only the potash would have to be brought into the State. Why buy from 400 to 800 pounds of filler to the ton, pay freight on it, and haul it home. Don't pay for half a ton of sand, to haul miles over sandy roads, to dump out in a field full of sand.

At the conclusion of Dr. Bonsteel's talk, Hon. John H. Small made a statement of a proposition he had laid before the board of county commissioners, acceptance of which would make the services of a department road engineer available to the county. He said that the department might send men here to talk, but unless this talk resulted in action little good would come of it. He hoped for three results from this meeting, and it was with the people of Pitt county whether these results are to be realized. He wanted the county to have the services of a road engineer to be furnished by the department; he wanted a tobacco man from the Department of Agriculture to come here and take up problems connected with tobacco growing; and he wanted a demonstration farm in the county. He hoped the people of the county would take the necessary steps to procure these valuable aids to our agricultural progress.

On motion a resolution was adopted thanking Mr. Small and party, and endorsing the proposals above noted.

Voting Contest Hints.

Who is the most popular teacher in Pitt county?

When you vote you help the band and give some good looking teacher a happy smile.

It is requested by all members of the band that visitors will kindly stay away from the band room, while band is under instructions.

The voting contest will close Saturday afternoon at exactly 3 o'clock.

Wanted—$2,500, two to five years, on gilt-edge security. Address, Farmer, Reflector, 5 1wkdw

FIRE MAKES CLOSE CALL.

Fire Starts in Inviting Place but is Soon Checked.

Jim Kramer, the peddler, who occupies a room in the front of the "Rainbow Stables," corner of Cotanch and Fifth streets, went out early Tuesday night and left a lamp, on which there was no chimney, lighted in his room. About seven o'clock there was a fire alarm, things burning quite lively in Kramer's room, supposed to have caught from the lamp. His bed, wearing apparel and some furs were all ablaze, but quick work got them in the street and no damage was done to the building. The location was an inviting one for a fire if the flames had only gotten a good start, quite a range of frame shanties adjoining the stables.

To R. F. D. Patrons.

Postmasters at Greenville, Stokes and Shelmerdine, N. C., desire to call attention to the practice of some patrons of rural delivery of placing loose coins in their boxes each time they desire to dispatch letters instead of supplying themselves with postage in advance of their needs.

This practice imposes undue hardship on rural carriers in removing loose coins from boxes and delays them on the service of their routes.

The postmaster, therefore, urgently requests that patrons of rural delivery provide themselves and keep on hand a supply of stamps consistent with and in advance of their needs. It is also very desirable that rural patrons place in their mail boxes small detachable cups of wood or tin in which to place coins, when necessary, in purchasing supplies of stamps.

By order of Assistant Postmaster General.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4, 1908
These same instructions apply to all other rural routes and patrons of same should govern themselves accordingly.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. Feb. 5, '08. F. F. Cox went to Greenville Tuesday evening.

Miss May Brooks came in Tuesday evening from Grifton to resume her duties in her school near Renston.

Rev. T. H. King, returned from Goldsboro Monday where he filled his regular appointment Sunday.

There were regular services at Reedy Branch Sunday morning. J. K. Barnhill's residence near the oil mill is going up rapidly.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry went out to the McGlohon school house Sunday afternoon.

Handsome Calendar.

The Reflector has received a beautiful art calendar from Swift & Co., of Chicago. It is of three panels, each very handsome. They will send one of the calendars to any one on receipt of 10 cents in stamps.

Fire in Pactolus Township.

Maupin, N. C., Feb. 5.—About 3 o'clock this morning Mr. W. S. Belcher lost his stables and barns by fire. Two horses, two cows and calves, all of his farming implements, fodder, corn and hay were burned in the buildings. The fire is believed to be the work of incendiaries. Mr. Belcher's loss is between $1,000 and $1,500 and it is not known if he had any insurance.

OAKLEY ITEMS.

Oakley, N. C., Feb. 4th, 1908.

S. Belcher, of Charleston, S. C., spent three days here last week with his mother, Mrs. Bettie Belcher.

Sam Highsmith, of Alwood, was here on business Friday.

Capt. G. S. Whitfield, of the Norfolk & Southern railroad, spent two days here the past week with friends.

J. O. Highsmith, of Rocky Mount, spent a part of last week here with his brother, J. M. Highsmith.

To the delight of her many friends Miss Lessie Overton, of Stokes, spent two days here the past week.

Dr. Basknight, of Stokes, was here Friday calling on friends, Elder S. R. Ross is quite sick. H. A. Gray went to Tarboro Thursday.

Messrs Jenkins and Parker have opened a barber shop in Oakley. They are clever young men and no doubt will do a good business.

Miss Elyda Carson is visiting Miss Pearl Jenkins this week.

DEEM'S THE BUYER GUILTY.

Judge Boyd intimates that he will Treat Patrons Like Blind Tigers.

Judge Boyd, of Greensboro, who has been holding a special term of the United States District Court in Raleigh in the stead of Judge Purnell, has intimated from the bench that if parties who buy liquor from blind tigers are brought before him under indictment by the grand jury, he will require verdicts of guilty if the purchase is proven, and will impose sentences in keeping with the sentence dealt out to the blind tiger men themselves.

The position of Judge Boyd is that one who, by buying a drink, procures the breaking of the law, is himself guilty of violating the law. District Attorney Skinner expressed regret to Judge Boyd that the grand jury for the term had already been discharged, and it would therefore be impossible to act on the suggestion from the bench at this term.—Durham Sun.

HOTEL MACON IMPROVED.

Entirely Remodeled and Under New Management.

For generations past Hotel Macon has been a landmark in Greenville, and the quaint old structure stood for years without a change.

In the days of the late Dr. J. G. James, as far back as the writer can remember, it was known as the Macon House, and the doctor and his excellent wife conducted a popular hostelry. After his death, in the 80's it was conducted by Mr. E. B. Moore who changed the name to Hotel Macon, the name that has continued with it.

After a few years Mr. Moore moved away and was succeeded by Mr. Charles Skinner, who continued to conduct the hotel successfully until recently he decided to retire. His son, Dr. L. C. Skinner, purchased the property, and his first decision was to remodel the building and convert it into a modern hotel. With Contractor H. G. Rogers in charge of the work the building has undergone marked changes and looks like an entirely different place. Rooms have been rearranged, more rooms added, electric lights and sewerage put in, making it modern and convenient. There are now twenty seven bed rooms, besides the lobby, dining room, linen and bath rooms.

Mr. J. W. Hight, formerly of Louisburg has leased the hotel and took charge of it on the first of the month. He and his family are cordially welcomed to Greenville.

Cash Seeking Owners.

New York, Dec. 4.—The Knickerbocker Trust Company here has in its bank vaults (discovered while overhauling the affairs of the bank) more than half a million dollars credited on the books to some five hundred different people, all of whom are not to be found readily and many not at all, in all probability. "The addresses given by some of these depositors" said Attorney Satterlett today, "I find are not addresses at all, but vacant lots, stone yards and the like. I can't say now what will become of the money."

Weather.

Rain and warmer tonight. Thursday rain warmer in eastern portion.

THE JOHN FLANAGAN BUGGY CO.

Greenville's Leading Manufacturing Enterprise.

The stockholders of the John Flanagan Buggy Co. held their annual meeting Tuesday, and found the affairs of the company in a most satisfactory and prosperous condition. The same officers were re-elected, these being E. G. Flanagan, president; E. A. Moye, Jr., vice-president; T. M. Hook, secretary; W. E. Hooker, treasurer. The board of directors consists of the above named gentlemen and R. J. Cobb, E. A. Moye, Sr. and R. C. Flanagan.

Since the first of this year the company has occupied its new building on the corner of Fourth and Cotanch streets. The building fronts 65 feet on Fourth street and extends 155 feet on Cotanch street. It is built of brick, three stories high, and fitted with a large elevator, electric light and sewerage.

The first floor has a plate glass front, the end next to Fourth street containing the business offices, the undertaking parlor and the show room for finished work. The undertaking parlor has glass show cases lighted by electricity for displaying finished coffins, caskets and burial robes.

In the rear of the show room are the wood shops and smith shops. These are equipped with modern machinery all run by electric power.

The entire front portion of the second floor is a storage room with racks for wheels, gears, and other parts of buggies and material for going in them. Several car loads of material is stored in this large room. Behind this is the department for trimming, upholstering and crating work for shipment.

The third floor is occupied by the painting, varnishing, drying and finishing rooms.

The entire building is a model of convenience for carrying on the work of buggy manufacturing and undertaking. The company works a large number of hands and does an immense business, being the largest manufacturing enterprise in Greenville.

The late Mr. John Flanagan, founder of the business, built a wide reputation for the John Flanagan buggy by never allowing anything but honest work to bear his name, and when people saw that name on a buggy they knew it was the best to be had. His successors are equally determined to live up to the reputation made for the John Flanagan buggy, and by turning out none but first class work their trade extends to several States.

WEDNESDAY, FEB 5th. 1908.

The special session of the legislature cost the State for mileage and per diem about $15,000. It was well worth the price.

The Wilmington morning papers should not take so much to heart the prospect of losing the sixty odd barrooms in that city. You boys will soon learn to get along just as well without the dram shops.

We are yet not at the end of discussion in connection with the Thaws. It is now said that the jury having declared that Thaw is insane, his family will take advantage of this to have his marriage with Evelyn Nesbit annulled on the ground that he was crazy when the ceremony was performed.

Since Thaw has been put in a lunatic asylum some of the big papers are consuming columns of space descriptive of the institution in which he is confined. They might carry this a little further and get out illustrations of scenes around the town in which or near which the asylum is located. It seems that a picture of the train that carried Thaw has been overlooked.

Representative Thomas, of this State, has introduced in Congress a bill to prohibit the issuance of Federal liquor license in prohibition territory. It reads: "That hereafter no licenses or special tax stamps shall be issued to either wholesale or retail dealers in spirituous liquors in any State, county, city or town where the sale of such liquors is prohibited by law; and it shall be the duty of collectors of internal revenue to refuse to issue licenses or special tax stamps to any person or persons, firm, or corporation within such prohibition territory."

This bill surely ought to pass. In fact it is really remarkable that such a bill is necessary. One would think that as a matter of course the Federal government would not encourage the violation of state, county and municipality laws by granting a government license to do the things that those laws expressly forbid.—Greensboro Telegram.

A MAN'S HANDS.

Some Callings That Leave Their Trade-marks Impressed Thereon.

If your eyesight is keen enough it is possible to tell by looking at a person's hands what sort of employment that individual follows, according to scientific men.

It is a commonly accepted fact that the face reveals character, but very few persons have ever paid any attention to the hands as disclosers of a man's habits. Yet it seems we can get just as much information out of the latter as the former if we know how to go about it.

The continual repetition of the same kind of manual work, says Dr. Alfred Gradenwitz in the Scientific American, results in a permanent alteration of the skin and muscles as well as a transformation of the bones (atrophy or thickening of the parts), displacement of the joints, etc., for in repeating a given manipulation over and over again the palm and the balls of the thumb and little finger are called upon continually to perform the same action, leading to a permanent strain on and wear and tear of certain parts of the hand.

The greatest alterations are shown in the hands of laborers who do heavy manual work. They have coarse and clumsy hands, with short, thick and callous fingers, the balls of the thumb and little finger being especially developed and the skin being horny and covered with fissures.

Take the left hand of a smith. By continually manipulating the tongs with this hand the balls of the fingers and thumbs are very markedly developed, and the finger tips are broadened.

The hand of the average shoemaker has a strikingly broad and flat thumb, while the tips of the fingers are likewise broad and flattened.

In the hand of the typesetter who works at the case it is to be noticed that the thumb and forefinger of the right hand are tapering in the upper parts, while the left hand thumb, which presses upon the type in the stick, is flattened.

The tailor can easily be picked out by the condition of the forefinger on his right hand, while the pianist will be found to have tapering fingers and thumbs, which are flattened upon the parts which touch the keys.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.
It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.
For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

How Many Bricks Have You Sent Away?

That sounds like a funny question, addressed to every citizen of this town and community, but it's really a serious one.

Listen: There is now just completed a magnificent building of red brick exterior and concrete interior right in the business heart of one of the biggest of American cities. It occupies a whole block and calls itself in a large lettered sign "The Largest Monolithic Building In the World." It has many floors, with about a hundred acres of floor space. The entrances are of solid marble. The floors are beautifully tiled. Altogether it is a credit to the big city in which it stands. Oh, it's a Jim Dandy!

Now, how many bricks have you sent to the city to go into this big building? Honest, how many?

Of the hundreds of thousands of bricks put into the walls of this building the city where it stands has contributed not a single red brick. Country people, the people of small towns and cities far away from the big metropolis, have sent in the bricks for the construction of this splendid edifice.

You may have sent in a few hods of bricks without knowing it.

Listen: This magnificent structure, which ornaments a city you probably never will see yourself, is built of bricks bought with the dollars of people living in towns just like ours—towns that would like to have some new brick buildings themselves now and then. Every dollar contributed to the city building fund means a nice, hefty hod of bricks for this big, beautiful skyscraper, "largest in the world" of its kind. This building was put up, through the kind donations of their unknown country cousins, by a firm that ran a small store in that city a few years ago.

But this firm conceived the cute idea of having thousands of strangers contribute bricks to build its fine, large, new store.

And the building is a Mail Order Store. See?

The Holidays Have Passed and all are down to business again.

A Word to the Wise is Sufficient.

LAWYER'S BIG FEES.

Payments That Would Have Started Webster or Rufus Choate.

Several days after congress bought out the rights of the French Panama Canal company a group of Washington correspondents entered the office of the late John Hay, secretary of state. They found him puzzled to the verge of bewilderment, and they sympathetically asked what was troubling him.

"William Nelson Cromwell has just been in here," Secretary Hay explained. "I mentioned having heard that he was to receive a fee of $2,000,000 for winning the Panama case."

"I don't know what my fee will be," Mr. Cromwell told me, "and it does not matter much. I already have more money than I know what to do with."

"Only one man ever told me such a thing," mused the secretary of state, "and that was Andrew Carnegie. When you gentlemen of the press came in I was wondering what it would feel like to have more money than one knew what to do with! And a lawyer has it! What would Daniel Webster or Rufus Choate say to that?"

What would any of the shining lights among old school lawyers say to the wealth and power that have come to a score or more of present day corporation lawyers in New York? How would a fee of half a million dollars for two weeks of work, such as the steel interests paid James B. Dill, strike them? What would they think of the $800,000 which William D. Guthrie got for breaking the Plant bill, or of the $200,000 paid Joseph H. Choate for a single argument that the income tax law was unconstitutional, or, again, of John E. Parsons as the recipient of $100,000 for drawing a deed, or of incomes from $200,000 to half a million a year which are or have been paid without protest to other master counselors?—Broadway Magazine.

A Cheerful Request.

With a scowling brow the irate vaudeville agent awaited the next applicant, who was not long in coming. A long, lanky individual, with more hair than was absolutely necessary and a countenance that was not a bit cheerful, came to his desk and in funeral tones said, "Good day, sir."

"Well, what do you want?" was the unpromising reply.

"I need a job just now about as much as anything else," answered the lean person.

"Ever had any experience?"

"Oh, indeed, I have been with"—

"Chop it short! I know you've been with all the big stars from Hamlet to omelet," interposed the agent shortly. "That doesn't cut any freeze with me. What's your line?"

"I—I—I'm a—a—a comedian," was the faint reply.

"Well, then, make me laugh," demanded the agent, with a snarl.—Lippincott's.

Right Handed Man.

Primitive man, by nature and necessity a fighting animal, learned in the course of his experience that his most vulnerable part was the heart; that a hard blow on the left breast would kill or, at any rate, stun the strongest man; hence at a very early period in human history men began using the right hand to fight with, while they employed the left hand and arm chiefly to cover the heart or to parry the blows aimed at that vulnerable region. When weapons of offense and defense took the place of fists and teeth the right hand grasped the spear or sword, while the left held the shield or buckler over the heart. In this way, beyond a doubt, mankind became "right handed."—New York American.

Chinese Humor.

There are many stories in Chinese literature of practical jokes played on tipsy people. One man in early days when shoes were left at the house door, a custom borrowed later on by the Japanese, used to amuse himself by mixing up the shoes of his guests and rearranging them at random, the result being that when the guests took their leave, already half seas over, with one big shoe and one little one, there were many falls and sprawlings in the road, much enjoyed by the host who was seeing his friends home.—Nineteenth Century.

Cidered Ham.

Cidered ham is an old Pennsylvania dish that might have been set before William Penn himself. Wash and scrub a rather small ham and soak for twenty-four hours. Wipe dry, put in a large granite or agate kettle and cover with cider neither too sweet nor yet hard. Boil gently, allowing about fifteen minutes to the pound. When tender allow it to cool in the cider. Serve with a garnish of aspic jelly and vegetables or slice thin and serve by itself or in sandwiches.—Exchange.

COURTROOM COMEDY.

A Little Passage Between the Lawyer and the Landlady.

The woman was in the box, and she was a very nice mannered, respectable woman, who kept a cheap boarding house, and it was the desire of one of her guests to be dishonest that had brought her to the court to make him pay his board bill.

"How old did you say you were, madam?" inquired the lawyer, with no reason on earth, for an elderly landlady is no more anxious to lose a board bill than a young one.

"I did not say, sir," she responded, flushing to the roots of her hair.

"Will you be kind enough to say, madam?"

"It's none of your business!"

"Objection sustained," smiled the judge.

"Um," said the lawyer, rubbing his chin. "How much did you say the amount was the defendant owed you?"

"Three pounds."

"And for how long was that?"

"Three weeks."

"That's £1 a week, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Three weeks at £1 a week is £3, I believe you said?"

"Yes, sir."

The witness was patient, but her temper was not improved under the strain.

"Isn't that an extravagant price to pay for board in your locality, madam?" inquired the lawyer severely.

"He didn't pay it, sir," answered the worm, beginning to turn.

The lawyer gave a little start of surprise, then became indignant at the very thought of a witness talking like that.

"Don't be facetious, madam," he said, assuming a tone of warning. "This is a serious matter. I have asked if your prices were not exorbitant, and you have seen fit to answer lightly, madam. Now, madam, I ask you in all earnestness if you mean to tell this court that your prices are moderate and that if I should come to your house to board you would charge me £1 a week? Answer directly, madam," and the barrister squared his shoulders and assumed an imperial manner.

The witness was not at all abashed.

"No, sir," she said simply, "I would."

"I thought not, I thought not," interrupted the lawyer, bending over and rubbing his hands.

"No, sir," continued the witness, "I should not charge you at all. I should make you pay in advance."—London Tit-Bits.

Putting Your Foot In It.

Mr. George Russell in his book "Collections and Recollections" tells the following story:

"A friend of mine in the diplomatic service visiting Rome in the old days of the temporal power had the honor of an interview with Pio Nono. The pope graciously offered him a cigar. 'I am told you will find this very fine!' The Englishman made that stupidest of all answers, 'Thanks, your holiness, but I have no vices.' 'This isn't a vice. If it was, you would have it.'"

Playgoers will remember the following passage in Bulwer's "Lady of Lyons" and draw their own conclusions:

Claude (offering snuff box)—M. Beauseant, will you honor me?

Beauseant—No, your highness. I have no small vices.

Claude—Why, if it were a vice you'd be sure to have it, M. Beauseant.

Persistency.

Persistency is characteristic of all men who have accomplished anything great. They may lack in some particular, may have many weaknesses and eccentricities, but the quality of persistence is never absent in a successful man. No matter what opposition he meets or what discouragements overtake him, he is always persistent. Drudgery cannot disgust him. Labor cannot weary him. He will persist, no matter what comes or goes. It is a part of his nature. He could almost as easily stop breathing. It is not so much brilliancy of intellect or fertility of resource as persistency of effort, constancy of purpose, that gives success.

Red Haired Charmers.

"There are no red haired old maids."

The speaker, a red haired actress, went on:

"The red haired have an excess of iron in their blood. This causes them to overflow with vitality, animal spirits, gayer, wit, charm—but I must not boast, must I?"

She smiled, and smoothing her ruddy locks with a slim white hand, she added:

"At any rate it is a palpable fact that the red haired girl never gets left. As a rule she is married at twenty. A red haired old maid is a rarity."—New York Press.

At times when you don't feel just right, when you have a bad stomach, take something right away that will assist digestion; not something that will stimulate for a time but something that will positively do the very work that the stomach performs under ordinary and normal conditions, something that will make the food digest. To do this you must take a natural digestant like Kodol For Dyspepsia. Kodol is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids with natural digestants and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Each dose will digest more than 3,000 grains of good food. It is sure to afford prompt relief; it digests what you eat and is pleasant to take. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

You can't make the thrifty baker believe that a rolling pin gathers no dough.

"Health coffee" is really the closest coffee imitation ever yet produced. This, the finest coffee substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis. Not a grain of real coffee in it either. Health coffee is made from pure toasted cereals, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—who might drink it for coffee. No twenty or thirty minutes boiling. "Made in a minute" says the doctor. T. E. Hooker & Co.

Homely women are better than those never home.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says: "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Grippe is sweeping the country. Stop it with Preventica, before it gets deeply seated. To check early colds with these little Candy Cold Cure Tablets is surely sensible and safe. Preventica contain no Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh or sickening. Pneumonia would never appear if early colds were promptly broken. Also good for feverish children. Large box, 48 tablets, 25 cents. Vest pocket boxes 5 cents. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

IT DOES THE BUSINESS

Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Maine, says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve: "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c at J. L. Wooten's drug store.

It's poor policy to be so entertaining that you haven't any time to be entertained.

If you have Catarrh, rid yourself of this repulsive disease. Ask Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis., to mail you free, a trial box of his Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. A simple, single test, will surely tell you a Catarrh truth, well worth your knowing. Write to day. Don't suffer longer. Bryan's Drug Store.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Steiff, and if each of us are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hang'ng out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225.00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350.00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage.

The Early Telegraph.

Long before Professor S. F. B. Morse had perfected his great invention the word "telegraph" was used for a sort of semaphore. In the French revolution a "telegraph," assisted by telescopes, was devised to carry news over immense distances. Forty years before this time, however, there was published the first detailed scheme for communication by means of electricity. It is outlined in a letter to the Scots Magazine, written on Feb. 1, 1753, from Renfrew and signed "C. M." This suggestion was to transmit a "charge from the conductor of an electrical machine at the sending station along an insulated wire to the receiving machine, the presence of the charge being indicated by the behavior of a light pith ball or the passage of a spark." Each letter of the alphabet was to have a separate wire, so that any word might be spelled out and any message sent.

Gratitude.

Smith, the railroad agent at a suburban station in a western city, saved the life of a dignified gentleman waiting for a train by pulling him from in front of a through train on another track. The dignified gentleman lost all his dignity for the moment and was much confused, but not so much so as to forget that something was due to the agent. Following a grateful impulse, he thrust his hand into his pocket and, drawing it forth, exclaimed:

"Man, you've saved my life! Here's half a dollar!"

"Oh, I never take payment for a thing like that," answered Smith as he turned to attend to the duties of the moment.

"But, man, you must. You saved my life. Have a cigar anyway."—Harper's Weekly.

What About Christmas?

With the compliments of the season to all our readers we ask you the question of the hour
WHAT ABOUT CHRISTMAS

The children are asking it with wondering and hopeful expectations of what Santa Claus is likely to bring them.

The older people are asking it, not so much in speculation regarding the remembrance that Christmas will bring to them, but rather as an inquiry as to how they are to provide suitable and satisfactory presents for relatives and friends without too heavy a drain upon their time and purse.

May we help you to solve the problem and put you in the way of doing your Christmas shopping with pleasure satisfaction and economy?

We offer the advantage of selection that can only be found in a very extensive showing of first class goods. We take pleasure in pleasing customers and will do all in our power to help you to just the right article at the right price, so that you may leave our store glad that you came, and perfectly satisfied with your purchases in every respect.

Tremendous High-grade Stock of Fine Merchandise Having been brought to Greenville and Placed in C. T. MUNFORD'S big store for a quick sale.

CONSIDERATION! After considering what we and our Creditors think best, and they say the only wise thing to do with this combined gigantic stock of high-grade merchandise is to sell and satisfy our creditors, the best way possible, as we have no ready cash to keep them quiet, we must listen to them, have this sale, and throw this immense stock on the market. We must take their advice, mark it down like they say, so we can raise a few dollars to send them so that every time the train blows our color won't change, knowing that as soon as the mail is handed to us we will open after where some house writes like this: "You must pay this bill at once."
