PROGRAM.

For the Teachers' Meeting, Saturday, February, 8th, 1908.

10:45 a. m. Devotional exercises—Rev. M. T. Plyler.
10:50 Reading of minutes.
11 Some difficulties encountered in the Intermediate Grades, Miss Lilly B. Grant
11:15 Address—Rev. T. H. King.
11:45 Literature in the Primary Grades—Miss Annie Perkins.
11:55. School discipline, Supt. Julian B. Martin.
12:10 p. m. General suggestions on the work, led by Supt. J. A. McArthur.
12:30. Adjournment.

The above program promises some valuable suggestions to the teachers. We hope to see a large number of them present next Saturday. Please be at the graded school building promptly at 10:45 a. m., so that we may begin on time and thereby be able to adjourn at 12:30 p. m.

Advertising Brings Dollars.

From the back of the business card of the Belleville (Wis.) Recorder is taken the following advice to advertisers:

A poor joke printed is a boom erang. A good joke diverts attention from your prices or goods.

Put prices in your advertisements.

If you are using a small space, talk about one article at a time.

Talk about your goods, not about your firm or what a fine place your store is.

Be brief. People who have time to read long ads. have little money with which to buy goods.

Change your ads often. People think you are not alive if you don't.

To Our Subscribers Again.

Since statements were recently sent out to all subscribers who owe The Reflector a dollar or more, many have called at the office to settle and others have sent remittances by mail. Still there are a large number who made no response, and this is to remind them that we hope they will not neglect the matter. There is not much more time left before we will have to stop sending the paper to those who do not pay. Of course we had rather keep all names on our subscription lists, but the new postal law will not permit carrying the names of those long in arrears even if we wanted to do so. Every one who has received a statement should send on the amount.

Engage Your Tickets.

Any others wishing to engage tickets in advance for the Schubert Symphony Club, that will appear here Tuesday night under the auspices of the Odd Fellows, can do so by seeing W. F. Evans at any time before Friday night. The box sheet will open Saturday at Reflector Book Store for those who have engaged tickets, and on Monday the sale will be open to the public. All who have engaged tickets should check off their seats Saturday or they will have to take chances later. Prices will be 50 and 75 cents.

The Schuberts visited Greenville about fifteen years ago and many of our people remember what delightful music they made. Don't miss their entertainment Tuesday night.

Weather.

Fair, colder tonight. Friday fair, colder on the coast.

MAILS TO BE WEIGHED.

To Determine What Compensation Shall be Paid Railways.

Beginning next Tuesday, February 11, the United States Postal authorities will begin weighing mails on the trains for the purpose of determining what compensation shall be paid the railways of the country for carrying the mail. The weighing period will cover about 105 days. A few months ago the postoffice people were required to count every piece of mail that passes through their hands for a month. The mail is not weighed on the trains but about once in eight years.

It has been reported that in some sections of the country in the past some of the railways sent heavy articles, such as elephants and sledge hammers, by mail in order to make the mail weigh a much as possible during the weighing period. The compensation of the road is based upon the weight of the mail handled during the given period. The present law against such practices is very rigid and it is not thought that there will be any padding this time.—Greensboro Record.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., Feb 6, 1908.—Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond, Va., and vicinity:—The wholesale dry goods and notion trade shows slight improvement over last week. Lumber continues quiet, there being little demand for either small or dimension sizes. The weather has been unfavorable for handling tobacco and sales have been small. Produce is in fair demand at satisfactory prices. Cold weather has been beneficial to retail trade. Many laborers and mechanics are unemployed as little is being done in construction work and many factories are closed or have reduced their forces. Collections are slow, but show slight improvement over last week.

They Were All Heard.

We heard a man say he wants to see Greenville have at least one street over which the clatter of horses' feet could be heard. They have all been that way the recent frozen mornings.

Slow To Organize.

Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse spoke a great truth in the farmers' meeting Monday, when he said the farmers of Eastern North Carolina fail to get the benefit to which they are entitled from the government's aid in promoting agriculture because of a lack of organization, and the farmers have only themselves to blame for such failure. It has long been a mystery why there is not organization and concerted action among our farmers.—Greenville Reflector.

All too true is it that the farmers are slow to organize and still slower to maintain what little organization they do have. Mr. C. C. Moore said recently that the Southern Cotton Association had been the means of increasing the value of every bale of cotton in North Carolina $10; and yet the farmers will not properly support the organization by paying ten cents per bale.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

The Auxiliary of C. W. B. M. will meet Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. J. Turnage. The members are requested to bring their manuals.

COUNTY MATTERS.

Proceedings of the Board of Commissioners.

The board of county commissioners met in monthly session on the 3rd, all the members being present.

Orders were drawn on the treasurer for amounts aggregating as follows: Paupers $162.75; county home $177.55; superintendent health $25; court costs $352.37; witness tickets $483.61; jurors $592.95; conveying prisoners $75.25; court house $70.05; jail $188.10; bridges and ferries $220.15; roads $656.39; printing, advertising and record books $156.52; clerk court $7.20; attorney $25; commissioners $31.60; stock law territory $394.64.

The superintendent of health and treasurer filed their monthly reports.

A petition was presented for a public road from the Bethel road to the Greenville road near T. W. C. Moore's a distance of two miles.

The road petitioned for in Chidco township, at January meeting, was ordered laid out.

Some changes and additions were made to the pauper list, increasing the monthly payments about $10.

Some corrections were made in tax lists where parties had listed through error.

The following jurors were drawn for March term of Superior court:

First week—W. A. Taylor, J. R. Corey, V. C. Fleming, W. B. Hickson, J. J. Jenkins, E. S. Sutton, M. L. Turnage, A. W. Ange, J. E. Brown, Jr. H. C. Ormond, R. J. Little, J. K. Worthington, Wiley Brown, L. A. Forns, J. L. Buck, D. G. Berry, J. R. Flake, T. J. Talley.

Second week—Furney Laughinghouse, J. W. Parker, B. A. Highsmith, R. H. Hunsucker, E. D. Caroway, J. B. Mizelle, J. E. Mumford, H. L. Coward, E. W. Langley, J. J. Harrington, A. C. Holloman, W. C. Jackson, F. G. Dupree, H. C. Edwards, J. L. Carper, Stanley Warren, E. P. Cox, J. L. Wilkinson

Come on With Free Delivery.

For sometime the Southern Express Company has been promising to give Greenville free delivery, but has kept putting it off for one reason or another. There has been much correspondence about the matter through the secretary of the chamber of commerce, and the last promise made was that the free delivery would be started when the Norfolk & Southern railroad put on a regular passenger schedule and carried express matter.

The N. & S. a few weeks ago started the regular schedule and handling of express, and it is time the Southern Express Co. was giving us the free delivery as promised. Greenville is certainly of enough importance and gives the company enough business to have free delivery.

At Washington.

The amateurs of Greenville who went to Washington Wednesday to present "Young Mrs. Winthrop" in the opera house there, returned home today. The Washington people gave the visitors a cordial reception and filled the opera house to witness the play. The company was delighted with the trip and the treatment received at the hands of the Washington people.

Or Less Card Playing.

A good move has been made by at least one resident minister of the city. There are club meetings and gatherings of all kinds going on during the winter months. At some of these of course cards are eschewed, but at many the favorite game is bridge. The other day an invitation was extended to Dr. Detwiler, pastor of West Market church to be present.

We have no means of knowing whether he was expected to accept or not, but in any event he was on hand and remained until it was all over. The thought arises—would it not be a good idea for the ministers of the city to let it be known that they are going to "drop around" at these social gatherings? In which case we imagine there would be fewer gatherings.—Greensboro Record.

Mere Gambling.

It has been asserted without denial that 99 per cent. of New York purchases and sales of stock and of produce are merely bets upon the market value with no intention on the part of the vendor to deliver, or on the part of the purchaser to receive. This is not business; it is not commerce; it is common vulgar gambling, and when to the ordinary chances that the gambler takes are added the extraordinary chances due to the secret manipulations of the market by those who are on the inside, the stock market becomes worse than an honestly conducted gambling resort.

If a man takes a chance upon a wheel of fortune, he knows just what his chance is, and he knows that the owner of the wheel has a percentage of chances in his favor, but when a stranger gambles upon the stock or grain market he is at the mercy of those who, by obtaining control of the visible supply, can destroy every natural law or business rule which the outsider knows.

While the laws of each state and the laws of the nation should prevent, far as laws can, the use of these commercial activities for gambling purposes, there must be back of the law an educated public opinion, and I beg the spiritual advisors of our great cities to consider whether they cannot advance religion as well as morality by pointing out that the commandment "Thou shalt not steal" is openly and notoriously violated in the stock market and in the grain pit by those who profess to believe in the Bible and to have respect for its teachings.—W. J. Bryan.

PROCEEDINGS PUBLISHED.

Captions of the Acts and Resolutions of the Legislature.

The office of the Secretary of State was alive yesterday with members of the General Assembly, who were telling the Secretary of State good-bye. They were surprised by the expedition with which he had published the captions of the acts and resolutions of the Legislature in extra session, these having been ready for distribution yesterday morning in a pamphlet containing all the acts and resolutions which had to that time become laws. Last night the last law was included in the list, and these pamphlets, now complete, are ready for distribution. Following each caption is a synopsis of the contents of the act.

The perfect system in the Secretary of State's office, the convenient arrangement of State documents and records, and the courteous and obliging disposition of the clerks, make it a pleasure for members of the Legislature and everybody generally to have business there, knowing they will be assisted and have their business expedited.

In view of the fact that Col. Grimes will go to the State Convention for renomination, it is interesting to note that the Secretary of State's office for eighty-three years, from 1776 to 1859, was held by three persons who were kept in office regardless of party changes. These were:

James Glasgow, from 1776 to 1798; William White, from 1798 to 1811, and William Hill, from 1811 to 1859.

During the war and reconstruction periods and until the restoration of Democratic control in 1876, there were several incumbents of this office.

In 1876 Major John A. Englehard was elected, and upon his death, in 1879, he was succeeded by Col. W. L. Saunders, who held the office until his death in 1891, when he was succeeded by Col. Octavius Coke, who died in 1896. Col. Coke was succeeded by Capt. C. M. Cooke, who was defeated by Cyrus Thompson in 1896. Cyrus Thompson was succeeded in 1901 by Col. J. Bryan Grimes.

Col Grimes has made an ideal officer. In every branch of his department modern systems have been adopted and the office is now one of the best equipped in the State.

As President of the North Carolina Historical Commission he is doing a great service to the State in the collection and preservation and publication of historical data which has never before been made accessible. This work, begun by the late Colonel Saunders, Secretary of State for twelve years and until his death in 1892, is now being carried forward and will result in great good to North Carolina.

His friends, endorsing his present administration and recognizing his peculiar fitness for this place of honor and trust, will present his name to the next Democratic State Convention for renomination.—Raleigh News & Observer, 2nd.

The Martyr.

"She is a woman who has suffered a great deal for her belief," said Maud.

"Dear me! What is her belief?" asked Ethel.

"She believes she can wear a No. 1 shoe on a No. 6 foot."—Tit-Bits.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

B. R. King, of Goldsboro, is in town.

Mayor F. M. Wooten went to Grifton today.

Bascom Wilson came home Wednesday evening from Chapel Hill.

Mrs. F. G. James has gone to New York to visit her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Skinner.

Mrs. H. L. Fennell, of Wilmington came in Wednesday evening to visit her sister, Mrs. H. A. White.

J. S. Congleton and Adrian Savage returned today from Raleigh, where they had been attending the funeral of Mrs. Jennie Lancaster.

Florida to Speak First.

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb 5.—This city is rapidly filling with delegates to the Republican State convention which is to meet here tomorrow to choose delegates to the national convention at Chicago. Additional interest attaches to the convention from the fact that it will be the first of the State conventions to choose delegates. Contested delegations will be sent from several counties, owing to the split between the white and colored elements of the party.

The white wing, popularly known as the office-holding element, is in favor of instructing the delegates to Chicago in favor of Taft, while the negroes have espoused the cause of Senator Foraker. The Taft adherents appear confident of winning out, though it is evident that the convention will witness a spirited contest between the rival factions.

Mr. Flanagan Reappointed.

President Roosevelt has re-appointed Mr. R. C. Flanagan as postmaster at Greenville for the term beginning March 4th. Mr. Flanagan is an efficient postmaster and has served with great satisfaction to the patrons of the office. We congratulate him on his re appointment.

Crawled Three Miles.

New York, Feb. 5.—Edgar Roger, a North Carolina man in search of work in this section, sought repose in the top of a hay rack. He fell asleep and rolled to the ground, breaking his leg. He dragged himself three miles, consuming nine hours in covering the distance, before assistance was given.

Quick Work.

The Reflector is indebted to Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes for a 60-page pamphlet containing captions of the acts and resolutions by the recent extra session of the legislature. There were 205 acts and 10 resolutions passed, and getting the captions in the hands of the people so soon shows the efficiency of Secretary Grimes.

Not True Love.

Grace (to her bosom friend, who is caressing a bear eyed poodle)—I hear your engagement with Fred has been broken off.

Bertha (with a sigh)—Yes, I found that his love for me was not the deep, true love which nothing on earth can change, so I was compelled to let him go.

Grace—Why, how did you find it out?

Bertha—Easily enough. He got so angry every time poor Flossie bit him.—London Mail.

When matters are about to get dull the president can be looked for to stir up something.

They are going to hang a man in Greensboro Saturday. Better be careful how you cut down that population,

When dull days come is a good time to think over the matter of advertising and do something to make them better.

Charlotte is talking about building another graded school through her building and loan associations. That is a good idea.

Every fellow who talks with a deep voice now would not make a good bass singer. Grip may have something to do with it.

This time of year the farmers make contracts to pay large tribute to the railroads for freight on a lot of sand, misnamed fertilizers, to spread on their farms.

The New Bern Sun advises to "keep on the sunny side of the street." What are you going to do when there is not any sunny side?

The Sun says New Bern has the lowest school tax rate of any town in the State, it being only 12 1/2 cents on the hundred dollars valuation.

When farmers get to saving the fertilizers used on their farms, and to raising their own meat, corn and hay, they will find themselves with much more money when the end of the year rolls around.

The Wilmington Dispatch says the United State is less affected by anarchists than other countries. That may be true, but in the memory of people now living three presidents of the United States have been assassinated. You cannot point out any other country in which three rulers have been killed by anarchists in less than half a century.

There was an old saying that "guns are dangerous without lock, stock or barrel." That originated when a necessary part of it was the ramrod. Now it has developed that a pistol is dangerous without butt, barrel, hammer or trigger. Near Durham two friends were looking at a pistol when one of them dropped it. The cylinder rolled out and came in contact with something that caused one of the cartridges in it to explode, and the ball passed through the arm of a lady who was sitting in the room.

If you do an unsatisfactory job do it over—but don't overdo it.

Dickens Was Annoyed.

Dickens' relations with the city fathers were not always happy. On one occasion he came up from Broadstairs to attend a Mansion House dinner which the lord mayor of that day had taken into his head to give to the representatives of "literature and art." The worthy chief magistrate meant well, but his words of welcome to his guests were not wholly complimentary. He conveyed the idea that he and his fellow aldermen were accustomed to having princes, dukes and ministers to dine, but that it was, of course, delightful to see gentlemen of another sort. His general tone, according to Forster, was this: "What could possibly be pleasanter than for people satiated with greatness to get for awhile by way of change into the butler's pantry?" Dickens was annoyed.—London Tatler.

English Manners.

Is it no longer possible to be a "gentleman" or a "lady" now that nearly all the rules which regulated the conduct of these characters are disregarded? The "gentleman" and "ladies" formed on the old pattern are armed with rapiers, those on the new with explosives. It is impossible for the former to face the latter without being destroyed. That appears to have been fully recognized, and the characters are generally being remodeled to suit the circumstances of the time. The few remaining "gentlemen" and "ladies" of the old style are regarded as "museum pieces," interesting, but of no practical value to themselves or to others.—London Truth.

Learning the Business.

"You say in this report of the fire," remarked the editor to the youthful reporter, "that the lurid glare of forked flames shot athwart the dark domed sky." Now, are you quite sure of that?" "Perfectly, sir," answered the reporter. "I saw it all." "Did you chance to ascertain the cause of the fire or the time of its inception, the total value of the property destroyed or the amount for which it was or was not insured?" "No, sir, I cannot say I did." "Then," concluded the editor, "just watch the lurid glare of forked flames shoot athwart this ink beamed report." And they did.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

If you raise your head above the crowd prepare to have it hit.

Everything taken into the stomach should be digested fully within a certain time. When you feel that that your stomach is not in good order, the food you have eaten is not being digested, take a good, natural digestant that will do the work, the digestive juices are not doing. The best remedy known today for all stomach troubles is Kodol, which is guaranteed to give prompt relief. It is a natural digestant; it digests what you eat, it is pleasant to take and is sold here by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Marriage to a woman is more than a meal ticket or store credit.

A weak Stomach, means weak Stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. It's a pity that sick ones continue to drug the Stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves, not the organs themselves, need this help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative has, and is promptly helping so many sick ones. It goes directly to the cause of these diseases. Test this vital truth, and see. Bryan's Drug Store

The average man is really ashamed to admit that he's never sowed his wild oats in his youth.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well. If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is acid, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. What Is the First Law of Nature?

"Self preservation is the first law of nature," answers Johnny Jones.

Correct, Johnny. Go right up to the head of the class. This law applies to a community as well as to an individual. Under the severe operation of this law a town that does not take care of itself, that does not look after its own interests first, that does not look out for Number One, soon falls into a bad way.

That's just as sure as shootin'. It's the law.

We must obey the law or take the consequences. If we in this town and community do not work together for our own good, the mutual good of all of us, in all lines of business, we have only ourselves to blame if the place slides down the inclined plane instead of climbing the golden ladder of prosperity and progress.

For instance, if we do our retail trading with big city stores that have no interest in us except to get our money and keep it, local trade must suffer and shrink, town property values and farm land values must decrease—and there you are!

Johnny Jones, who knows the law, is a wise lad, but how about his papa and mamma?

Do they obey the first law as applied to the old home place? If they don't, Johnny may have to apply the law to himself when he grows up. He may have to go to the city to make a living.

Let's all think it over.

PHOTOGRAPHING ANIMALS.

Some Dangers the Man Behind the Camera Encounters.

Today the camera penetrates everywhere, and sometimes its use is attended with considerable danger and difficulty. Nowhere is this more pronounced than when the camera is brought into use in taking lifelike pictures of wild animals in captivity.

How hazardous this may be is shown by the following incident, which happened not long ago at a big zoological garden abroad: A fine white leopard had been added to the collection, and as soon as it appeared to have settled down the authorities decided to have it photographed. It seemed to be a fairly quiet creature—nervous and timid, to be sure, but without any sign of temper.

When the keeper entered its cage it had taken little notice of him beyond the usual spitting and hissing natural to its kind. The photographer therefore followed the keeper into its cage without apprehension of trouble.

He set up his apparatus, adjusted it, took several pictures of the leopard, and all seemed satisfactory. As he shut up his camera, however, the operator chanced to shuffle his feet once or twice on the floor of the cage.

Like a streak of lightning the leopard, with an ominous snarl, leaped at him, and before he could move the animal was gripping his ankle with his forepaws and furiously biting at his foot. Luckily the keeper and some assistants succeeded in beating off the beast in time to save the photographer's life, but it was a narrow squeak.

At the same zoo some time after when an attempt was made to photograph one of the llamas—an animal generally considered to be a fairly docile creature, with nothing particularly objectionable about it beyond its habit of spitting—the photographer's "subject" revealed its true nature by suddenly making a dash for camera and operator, and before the latter could be rescued he was the recipient of innumerable scratches, cuts and bruises which took some weeks to heal.

It is an open question whether seals and sea lions are vicious or not. They are certainly extremely curious and anxious to find out things for themselves, and a photographer who tried to take a picture of a troupe of performing sea lions had an experience worth recording.

He erected his tripod and camera and was about to make the exposure when one of the sea lions wriggled off his pedestal and made straight for the camera. It was all done so quickly that before the photographer realized it the camera was upset and the sea lion was biting the man's legs and feet pretty sharply.

The trainer got him away, and no serious harm was done, but he explained to the camera man that sea lions often did a little biting just to find out what an object was made of!—Pearson's Weekly.

Clancy's Employer.

Benjamin F. Butler of Massachusetts was a tireless worker when he started on anything. He and his secretary, Clancy, says the Baltimore Sun, oftentimes sat in the library until almost daylight when the general wanted to finish up anything.

During the night sessions of the senate toward a close of congress a senator called on General Butler one morning at 3 o'clock. The same senator called again when the senate adjourned the following morning at daybreak and found the general and Clancy still at work.

"Don't you ever stop?" the senator asked.

"No," General Butler said. "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do."

"General, I never knew before just who my employer was," Clancy said, bowing.

Placing the Blame.

Counsel (a giant in the world of cross examiners)—You are continually bringing actions, aren't you?

Plaintiff—I have brought a few.

Counsel—You didn't succeed in the last, did you?

Plaintiff—I came out of it all right.

Counsel—Do you mean to say you didn't lose it?

Plaintiff—I did not.

Counsel—You didn't? Remember, sir, you are on your oath.

Plaintiff—I know that.

Counsel—And yet you swear you didn't lose that action?

Plaintiff—I did not. You threw it away for me.—London Scraps.

At times when you don't feel just right, when you have a bad stomach, take something right away that will assist digestion; not something that will stimulate for a time but something that will positively do the very work that the stomach performs under ordinary and normal conditions, something that will make the food digest. To do this you must take a natural digestant, like Kodol Fer Dyspepsia. Kodol is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids with natural digestants and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Each dose will digest more than 3,000 grains of good food. It is sure to afford prompt relief; it digests what you eat and is pleasant to take. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

The trouble with most cough remedies is that they constipate. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts gently but promptly on the bowels and at the same time it stops the cough by soothing the throat and lung irritation. Children like it. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

People are so naturally optimistic they think they are happy when they merely aren't in pain.

"Health coffee" is really the closest coffee imitation ever yet produced. This, the finest coffee substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wis. Not a grain of real coffee in it either. Health coffee is made from pure toasted cereals, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—who might drink it for coffee. No twenty or thirty minutes boiling. "Made in a minute" says the doctor T. E. Hooker & Co.

The worst thing about failure is the kind of sympathy that goes with it.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says: "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

TO MY FRIENDS.

Having been away for several months I wish to announce to my friends and patrons of the "empire" of Pitt that I am still connected with the firm of Chas. M. Steiff, and if bachelors are allowed to misuse the happy term home as a synonym for a "hanging out place" I still call Greenville my home, and while I intend to be away from Greenville a great deal of my time during this fall a postal care of box 325, Greenville, will reach me within a day or two. We now have a number of slightly used upright pianos, some of which have been rented during the summer months, others which were temporarily used by artists at the exposition and for orchestra work, at bargain prices.

We also offer a special school piano for $225 00 fully measuring up in standard to any $350 00 instrument. This piano is especially built for college and school work for the special price named above and is full guaranteed by my firm for 10 years. Those interested in a school piano or in a good slightly used piano for the home should write me at once and will profit by it, and as ever I am always mindful of my patrons' protection and interest as well as my firm's interest. Grateful of past patronage. Very resp't., G. G. Fineman, Box 325 Greenville, N. C.

A simple question put in parliament some years ago caused a laugh throughout all England and defeated a great measure. Mr. Curzon, then undersecretary for India, was making a long and elaborate speech against a measure urged by the opposition regarding that dependency as certain to result in a loss to the government of many lacs of rupees. He repeated with emphasis, "Consider—not pounds nor guineas, but lacs of rupees."

A quiet voice on the opposition benches asked, "Exactly how much is a lac of rupees?"

Mr. Curzon opened his mouth, stammered, grew red and then, with English candor, said, "I really don't know." The house laughed, and in that laugh he lost his cause.

All the Gold IN GEORGIA Could not Buy-

Rodrig, Ga. August 27, 1906. Messrs. E. G. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ills.

Gentlemen:— In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. Some physicians told me it was Dyspepsia, some Consumption of the Lungs, and others said consumption of the Bowels. One physician said I would not live until Spring, and for four long years I existed on a little boiled milk, soda biscuits, doctors' prescriptions and Dyspepsia remedies that flooded the market. I could not digest anything I ate, and in the Spring 1902 I picked up one of your Almanacs as a poor emaciated Dyspepsia wreck with grasp at anything, and that Almanac happened to be my life savor. I bought a fifty cent bottle of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE and the benefit I received from that bottle ALL THE GOLD IN GEORGIA COULD NOT BUY. I kept on taking it and in two months I went back to my work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. CORNELL.

What About Christmas?

With the compliments of the season to all our readers we ask you the question of the hour

WHAT ABOUT CHRISTMAS
The children are asking it with wondering and hopeful expectations of what Santa Claus is likely to bring them.

The older people are asking it, not so much in speculation regarding the remembrance that Christmas will bring to them, but rather as an inquiry as to how they are to provide suitable and satisfactory presents for relatives and friends without too heavy a drain upon their time and purse.

May we help you to solve the problem and put you in the way of doing your Christmas shopping with pleasure satisfaction and economy?

We offer the advantage of selection that can only be found in a very extensive showing of first class goods. We take pleasure in pleasing customers and will do all in our power to help you to just the right article at the right price, so that you may leave our store glad that you came, and perfectly satisfied with your purchases in every respect.

We extend to all a cordial invitation to call and see our line of

THE LOWLY ONION.

Odors, Joys, Virtues and Superstitions of the Pungent Bulb.

A London real estate agent says that the smell of onions cooking in an apartment house is a source of annoyance to the great majority of the flat dwellers. In the novels of George Gissing there are constant allusions to the smell of fried fish in the houses where his half starved authors and poverty stricken women were obliged to live. Now, as it seems, one onionized flat makes a whole house wretched.

There are boarding houses so charged with the smell of rank cooking perpetrated for years that the very walls emit it, as in the memorable pension where Rastignac became acquainted with Vautrin, but the onion is not here the chief offender. The smell of onion soup, dear to the Parisian concierge, still lingers gratefully in the nostrils of the American after many years as he thinks wistfully of his student days. No reflective person as he climbs the stairs of an apartment house is offended seriously by smell of onions as he passes a door. He thinks of the glory of beefsteak smothered in onions, of onions cooked in cream, of onions dry, but unfolding their hearts, of fried onions as a side dish for heroes. He thinks and sighs, for his own Arabella cannot endure the smell, not knowing that fine line, "husband and wife defying the world with mutual onion."

The ancients frowned on the bulb as a food and classed it with garlic and leeks, as of an acrid nature, of unwholesome juices. "When twice boiled they give little nourishment, but when unboiled they do not nourish at all," says Paulus Aegineta, and Burton, advising as to the diet of the melancholy, dismisses the onion as troublesome to the head.

The people at large pay no heed to these sayings. To the man who smiles at the conflicting opinions of dietists the onion is healthful when plainly boiled. As a child he was taught that it was good for a cold. These same ancients thought highly of it as a medicine. It occasions a rapid growth of hair, it breaks hard tumors. Chewed, it is beneficial in paralysis of the tongue. It is eminently rubefacient. Its juice is useful in suffusion and dimness of vision from thick humors. Dioscorides recommends it as a cataplasm with salt, rue and honey for the bite of a mad dog. There are many today who believe that onion juice is of assistance in deafness. Italians in the north end heat the insides of little onions and stuff them in aching ears of their children. They leave them there for weeks. An onion put under the pillow will bring dreams of the loved one. The thickness of its skin determines the mildness or severity of the coming winter. But to dream of onions is a bad sign. In some countries it pre- sages sickness. What says the home- ly poet?

To dream of eating onions means
Much strife in thy domestic scenes,
Secrets found out or else betrayed
And many falsehoods made and said.

The French maiden looks forward to marriage that she may read the ingenious novels of her country. Are there not American maidens who would fain be wives that they may eat onions without the thought of a disquieted, too fastidious wooer? Happy the man that finds one! Else, like the children of Israel, he will remember tearfully the Egypt of bachelorship, "the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic."—Boston Herald.

CONSIDERATION! After considering what we and our Creditors think best, and they say the only wise thing to do with this combined gigantic stock of high-grade merchandise is to sell and satisfy our creditors, the best way possible, as we have no ready cash to keep them quiet, we must listen to them, have this sale, and throw this immense stock on the market. We must take their advice, mark it down like they say, so we can raise a few dollars to send them so that every time the train blows our color won't change, knowing that as soon as the mail is handed to us we will open after where some house writes like this: "You must pay this bill at once."
