

MISS BENNETT ENTERTAINS.

Senior Graded School Class Her Guests. Reported for Reflector.

On Friday evening, Miss Lillie Bennett delightfully entertained the senior class of the graded school at the residence of Mrs. Charles Skinner, on Cotanch street.

The guests were met at the door by little Misses Pattie Wooten and Annie Tyson, who ushered them into the parlor, where they were received by the hostess and Miss Birdie McKinney.

The color scheme throughout was black and gold, the class colors. All the guests were provided with cards and the name of some book. They were asked to display their talent by drawing the name of this book Miss Lillie Tucker, being the best artist in the room, was awarded the prize, a handsome copy of Byron's poems.

They were then invited in the dining room, where they were received by Misses Eulalie Cox and Elizabeth Wright. Here they were presented with a paper ball, and when opened, proved to be a college cap. Then Misses Pattie Wooten and Annie Tyson served delicious refreshments. After this the loving cup was passed, and all drank to the health of the hostess.

On leaving the dining room the guests passed into the library. Here each one was asked to compose a verse on the seniors, Norman Warren, Royce Tucker and Con Lanier, being voted the best poets, drew for the prize. Con Lanier being the lucky one.

The guests were later entertained by vocal and instrumental selections by Misses Margaret Skinner and Lillie Bennet and Norman Warren

At a late hour the guests reluctantly bid their hostess good night, declaring they had never spent a more enjoyable evening, and a more charming hostess could not be found.

The seniors present were: Misses Margaret Blow, Lillie Tucker, Jamie Bryan, Lucille Cobb, Essie Ellington, Lillian Burch, Ethel Skinner, and Mess. Royce Tucker, Cecil Cobb, Dave Watson, Norman Warren, Wiley Brown, Con Lanier, Bruce Hooker and George Prichard. Misses Eulalie Cox, Elizabeth Wright, Birdie McKinney and Prof. Smith

The Oldest-Paper Succumbs.

The oldest paper in the world (but just how many centuries can't be stated)—the Pekin Gazette—has just ended its long existence. Still it was no great paper, as newspapers are estimated, having no editorials and little that could be called news. What it did mostly—and it was very small, with but few pages—was to announce things official. A somewhat different paper, it is said, is to take its place, which will not only do this last duty, but which will have more modern features than the old Government organ thought it proper or dignified or maintain.—Printers' Ink.

Voting Contest.

Interest ran high today in the voting for the most popular teacher to be awarded the gold handled umbrella by the Aeolian band. At the time The Reflector went to press the contest was close between Miss Brooks and Miss Bennett, each of them having a large vote. It will take the final count to show which one is ahead.

There has been an immense amount of sickness among the children during the past month and the honor roll shows the effect of it.

The management of this school takes pleasure in announcing that Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, professor of English at the University, will deliver the annual address at the commencement this year. Dr. Smith ranks among the best scholars and speakers in the South and we are fortunate in being able to secure him.

A movement is now on foot to have an inter-school debate with the school of Rocky Mount. It has not yet been determined whether the debate will be held in Greenville or Rocky Mount. The boys of the high school of Rocky Mount speak well and the debate will be highly interesting to somebody, as Greenville is not going into it to be defeated.

Notice to Water Consumers.

On account of not being able to run a sufficient quantity of water through our filter to meet the demands and to furnish a sufficient supply for the town's use just at this time, we have been forced to connect our coagulating basin with our reservoir and have forced some water through a siphon which has been mixed with our filtered supply. We are giving this information in order that any one using the city water for drinking purposes may boil the same if they desire to do so. However, we feel that it is perfectly safe to use the water just as it is.

A Child Deserted.

It is a matter of history that if it had not been for the visit of Messrs Josephus Daniels, W. W. Kitchen, E. J. Justice and Claude Kitchen to the Committee on Platform at the Democratic State Convention in 1906, about thirty minutes before the committee reported, there would have been no plank in the platform demanding rate reduction or against trusts. It is also known of all men that Mr. Daniels, through the people's champion, the News and Observer, cried long and lustily for the Legislature of 1907 to pass a two-cent flat passenger rate, and it was the editor of the News and Observer's strong editorials backing up the plank of the platform that he had forced therein that were largely instrumental in securing the act making the two and a quarter cents. In fact we are certain that we are borne out by the facts when we assert that chapter 216 of the Public Laws of 1907 is the legitimate child of the able editor of the News and Observer. All during the spring, summer and early fall of 1907 right loyally did he stand by the act. But in the cold bleak months of December and January he had deserted this nine-months-old babe to the tender mercies of General Counsel Thom, of the Southern Railway, and State's Attorneys Aycock, Winston and Woodard, who abused, misrepresented and slandered this waif before the railroad committee of the special session last Wednesday worse than if it had been a red-headed step child; and its lawful father never uttered a protest. We call these matters to the attention of the solicitor of the district and he can in his wisdom decide as to the advisability of an indictment for abandonment and desertion. We think Editor Daniels ought either be forced to disclaim or provide succor for this homeless wanderer. We make no charge, but would humbly ask if it is probable that Editor Daniels made an unholy compact with Governor Glenn that he would stand by and hold the garments while his own child was stoned to death, if Governor Glenn would add prohibition to his message?—Madison Herald.

Teachers Meeting.

There was good weather for the meeting of the teachers' association today, and the result was a large attendance. The program as published was carried out and the addresses and discussion were interesting. The teachers of Pitt county are devoted to their work, and they are placing the county in the front rank educationally. Fuller report of today's meeting will be given Monday.

Another Fire Near Pactolus.

On Friday the dry kilns of Mr. R. R. Fleming's large lumber mill, near Pactolus, were burned, causing a loss of $2,000 which was partially insured. The body of the mill was not seriously damaged. It was only a few years ago that Mr. Fleming's entire plant there was almost wiped out by fire.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Ralph Rives went to Hassell Friday evening to attend the funeral of his uncle, Mr. Peter Rives.

Prof. F. C. Nye, of Winterville, came up this morning to attend the teachers meeting, and was called back home by the sickness of his little boy.

Use the Panic to Avoid Paying Debts.

The panic is a thing of the past in this community, except with the fellow who is going around with a pocket full of money and giving his creditors the high dodge, as he thinks, by talking hard times. But creditors have spotted all such cattle and may have an opportunity in the future to remind them of their meanness. Some of these fellows could make Ananias ashamed of himself when it comes to formulating an excuse for not paying their bills.—Waxhaw Enterprise.

And this class of people is not confined to Waxhaw or any other community. They are to be found in Henderson as well as other places. But while they may evade and defer paying their honest debts they do not fool any one. There will be a turn in the lane and a day of accounting will come after awhile. Then the man who has been unjustly kept out of his money may decline to extend further accommodations. Nor can Mr. Slowpay blame him for taking such position after the mean treatment to which he has been subjected.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

Going After Business.

The following which is taken from an exchange contains so much of truth that it does not need to be emphasized further. Read it and heed it, ye business men, and profit thereby:

The trade territory of a town is not all depending upon the distance to neighboring trading points. The territory depends upon the enterprise of the merchants and the residents of the town. If a town does not reach after the trade it will come only as fast as it has to, and grow as it is forced. But if the merchants go after business in the surrounding country, advertising in every possible way, and making good every word of their advertising, trade will come from an ever increasing radius, the town will gain a reputation for being awake and it will forge to the front. It is the men in the town and not altogether the men living within a certain number of miles from it that make the town.

It is the popular thing with congressmen now to get up and take a whack at the president.

Every now and then some fellow thrusts his fork in that third term bowl and gives it a stir.

Looks like the office of State Attorney General is going to have plenty of aspirants, too.

If many of them would try as hard, they could make as good a living at something else as holding down an office.

Three bad sores are enough to disease the whole body, hence Salisbury, Wilmington and Winston need prohibition healing for the general good.

Durham county has let a contract for a macadamized road eleven miles long to cost about $60,000. The only way to have good roads is to build them.

The place of publication of The Merchants Journal and Commerce, edited by Norman H.
Johnson, is to be changed from Raleigh to Charlotte. This is another gain for Charlotte.

The little loss of $120,000 to John D. Rockefeller by the failure of a New York bank will hardly disturb his equilibrium. A slight advance in the price of oil will cover the deficiency.

The president himself helped to make the extravagance in the government print shop by writing such long messages that had to be printed.

Democrats need not give themselves any concern about the seeming lack of harmony in Republican ranks. The important thing to do is look after keeping their own column in line with elbows touching.

"Are municipally owned utilities managed in other towns like they are in Greenville?" ask-a citizen of inquiring mind. He will have to put the question to somebody who has lived in the other towns.

Salisbury, Wilmington and Winston think the prohibition movement is a blow at them. If all the rest of the State is to be good, they should be made to be good too, even if they don't want to.

Greenville does not need any haphazard doings about her water supply. There is too much risk to both health and property to take any chances. If the water plant is not sufficient to supply the needs of the town the trouble should be remedied This should be done at once, even if street paving would have to wait a while in consequence.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause.
Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and he proves it by his created a little pink tablet. The tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers.
Its effect is charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.
If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.
If it's painful periods with women, same cause.
If you're sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.
Brush your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.
We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on pre-the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufac-

Everything taken into the stomach stomach is not in good order, the food you have eaten is not being di-juices are not doing. The best remedy known today for all stomach troubles is prompt relief. It is a natural digestant; it digests what you eat, it is pleasant to take and is sold here by Jno. L.

do more to boost him into prominence than his friends.

A weak Stomach, means weak Stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. It's apity that sick ones continue to drug the organs themselves, need this help.

This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative has, and is promptly helping so many sick ones. It goes directly to the cause of these diseases. Test this vital truth, and see. Bryan's Drug Store

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You! Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean. You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the demerit bowwows, you say, because of the uncurbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hodcarrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gourmandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey? Didn't we?

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and silently and slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey! Didn't that ever occur to you?

N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home instead of helping to build up a trust that hurts your home place?

A LACK OF IDEAS.

Why It Is That Animals Are Not Capable of Laughter.

Probably every one has wondered, says Professor Kranberger of Vienna, why animals always have a serious aspect, even when they are evidently pleased. When a dog wags his tail with pleasure, he comes as near laughing as it is possible for him to come, but his countenance, except for the gleam of joy in his eyes, is no more suggestive of laughter than if he were suffering an agony of pain. Neither are his quick, sharp barks, which usually accompany the wagging of the tail, even remotely analogous to laughter. And as for the so-called "laugh" of the hyena—that, of course, is purely metaphorical.

Man is the only animal that laughs. Why?

To understand the reason for this it will be necessary first to understand what causes laughter.

"The sudden perception of an unexpected incongruity," says Herbert Spencer.

But this does not go far enough. Brutes are capable of perceiving incongruities. The incongruity must be between an object or event and the idea which we have formed of it.

So, for instance, what can be more mirth provoking to a boy than to see the wind blow the hat from the head of a dignified man and the latter go scurrying after, making frantic but vain attempts to recapture it?

A million horses or dogs or monkeys might look on and never feel amused, whereas there is probably not a lad in all creation that would not laugh with glee—not, forsooth, because the horses, dogs and apes are wiser, but because the boy sees the double incongruity between the runaway hat and the idea of the proper use of hats and between the idea of what is becoming to dignity and the sudden lapse from that standard by the dignified man.

What, it may be asked, is to prevent any of the other animals from seeing the incongruities?

Simply this—that man is the only animal that has ideas. Ideas are formed by reason and can be grasped only by reason, and, as it is only by comparison with ideas that the incongruity in question arises, lack of reason forever precludes animals from enjoying a laugh.—New York World.

A Raw Egg.

A raw egg is one of the most nutritious of foods and may be taken very easily if the yolk is not broken. A little nutmeg grated upon the egg, a few drops of lemon juice added, some chopped parsley sprinkled over it or some salt and a dash of cayenne pepper vary the flavor and tend to make it more palatable when not taken as a medicine.

The white of a raw egg turned over a burn or scald is most soothing and cooling. It can be applied quickly and will prevent inflammation, besides relieving the stinging pain.

One of the best remedies in case of bowel troubles is a partly beaten raw egg taken at one swallow. It is healing to the inflamed stomach and intestines and will relieve the feeling of distress. Four eggs taken in this manner in twenty-four hours will form the best kind of nourishment as well as medicine for the patient.

The Contradicting Habit.

A natural habit of every child is to contradict, and this should be overcome as soon as a boy or a girl develops it, for of all disagreeable and overbearing persons those who aggressively contradict are among the worst. Parents cannot be too particular in teaching their sons and daughters to disagree courteously, which is not at all incompatible with doing it positively. "I beg your pardon, but you are mistaken," is quite as much of a contradiction as saying, "It isn't," and it is far better manners. "I think you are mistaken," is another way of expressing the opinion. A mother need not be afraid of making her child a prig by teaching him such little things. They are as important to him as a knowledge of how to speak grammatically.—Exchange.

Long Distance Views.

A young man whose eyes had been troubling him consulted an oculist. "What you want to do," said the specialist, "is to take a trip every day on the ferry or in New Jersey, Long Island—any place where you can see long distances. Look up and down the river, across fields or if the worst comes to the worst go to the top of a skyscraper and scan the horizon from that point. The idea is to get distance. You use your eyes a great deal and always at close range. You can't use them any other way in town. Even when not reading or writing the vision is limited by small rooms and narrow streets. No matter in what direction you look there is a blank wall not far away to shut off sight."—New York Sun.

DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve is best for cuts, burns, boils, bruises and scratches. It is especially good for piles. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

In fishing for compliments few people need a guide.

Some fellows are lacking in spirits, and others carry pocket flasks.

At times when you don't feel just right, when you have a bad stomach, take something right away that will assist digestion: not something that will stimulate for a time but something that will positively do the very work that the stomach performs under ordinary and normal conditions, something that will make the food digest. To do this you must take a natural digestant like Kodol for Dyspepsia. Kodol is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids with natural digestants and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Each dose will digest more than 3,000 grains of good food. It is sure to afford prompt relief; it digests what you eat and is pleasant to take. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

A little learning is a dangerous thing, especially if it is a little automobile learning.

The trouble with most cough remedies is that they are constipating. Kennedy's Laxative Compound acts gently but promptly on the bowels and at the same time it stops the cough by soothing the throat and lung irritation. Children like it. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

The worst thing about losing your temper is that you can so easily find it again.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says: "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

When a man boasts of his honesty it is apt to become pure affection.

Grippe is sweeping the country. Stop it with Preventics, before it gets deeply seated. To check early colds with these little Candy Cold Cure Tablets is surely sensible and safe. Preventics contain no Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh or sickening. Pneumonia would never appear if early colds were promptly broken. Also good for feverish children. Large box, 48 tablets, 25 cents. Vest pocket boxes 5 cents. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

When extremes meet they don't always recognize each other.

IT DOES THE BUSINESS

Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Maine, says of Facklen's Arnica Salve: "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for hopped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c at J. L. Wooten's drug store.

It's easy to take things as they come if they are coming our way.

If you have Catarrh, rid yourself of this repulsive disease. Ask Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis., to mail you free, a trial box of his Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. A simple, single test, will surely tell you a Catarrh truth, well worth your knowing. Write to day. Don't suffer longer. Bryan's Drug Store.

Almost a Lie.

"Good bordig," said the boarder with a bad cold.

"What!" cried the other boarders in surprise and also in unison as they desisted from their burned oatmeal.

Clearing his throat and blowing his nose vigorously, the boarder with the bad cold explained somewhat wearily that he had merely attempted to pass the time of day.

Whereupon the other boarders apologized, saying:

"We thought you said 'good boarding.'"

A Hungarian Bull.

It is a mistake to suppose that only Irish members in the British house of commons perpetrate bulls. It was a representative in the Hungarian diet who when hated Austria tried to interfere in local Magyar affairs declaimed passionately, "Gentlemen, the apple of discord has been thrown into our midst, and if it be not nipped in the bud it will burst into a conflagration that will deluge the world."

ROBERT BURNS.

The Poet's First Love and His Verses in Her Praise.

Robert Burns, the Scottish poet, was born at Mount Oliphant, Jan. 25, 1759, near Ayr, in a clay built cottage reared by his father's own hands. When a lad of eighteen the family moved to Lochlea. His first three or four years at Lochlea were still with the poet times of innocence, and "his conduct was governed by the strictest rules of virtue and modesty." At last he set his affections on a young woman named Ellison Begbie, the daughter of a small farmer, and asked her to be his wife, but he could not prevail on her to marry him, and this disappointment had a malign influence over the poet. Long afterward, when he had seen much of the world, Burns spoke of this girl as, of all those on whom he ever fixed his fickle affections, the one most likely to have made a pleasanter partner for life. It was to her he addressed the pure and beautiful love lyric "Mary Morison," and in these lines the lyric genius of Burns was for the first time undeniably revealed:

Yestreen when to the trembling string
The dance gaed through the lighted ha'
To thee my fancy took its wing.
I sat, but neither heard nor saw,
Though this was fair and that was braw
And you the toast of a' the town.
I gashed and said among them a',
"Ye are nae Mary Morison."

Oh, Mary, canst thou wreck his peace
Wha for thy sake would gladly dee?
Or canst thou break that heart of his Whase only fault is loving thee?
If love for love thou wilt not gie,
At least be pity to me shown.
A thought o' gentle canna be
The thought of Mary Morison.

Animal Maternal Instinct.

"I have a young retriever, gentle, well bred, handsome," says a correspondent of an English paper. "Her kindly disposition has won her much popularity, and she is loved by the family cat, the green Amazon parrot and the village children. A few days ago some poor little superfluous Aberdeen puppies had to be drowned. But when the man went to get the little bodies to give them a decent burial two had mysteriously vanished from the pail in which they had found a watery grave. For a long time we searched in vain, much puzzled at the unaccountable disappearance, until a servant volunteered the information that 'Maggie had two little dogs in her bed.' And here we found them, two little corpses, hiked clean and dry and gently laid side by side on the straw. She had fished them out of the pail, carried them there and apparently done all she could to revive them. She has never had any puppies of her own, so this seems a curious instance of maternal instinct."

A Good Memory.

Of the late genial and kindly hearted Henry Burch it is told that a good many years ago, while he held the position of janitor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, the minister one summer Sunday morning delivered a sermon which, it appears, had been given by him once before, perhaps two or three years previous.

On the Sunday in question and during the progress of the sermon a violent thunderstorm came up, which created some little nervousness among the congregation.

After the services were over and as the minister was about to leave the building he met the janitor.

"Henry," said he, "that was a pretty severe storm while I was preaching this morning."

"Yes, Mr. —," replied Henry, "and the singular thing about it is that there was a thunderstorm the last time you preached that sermon."—Oil City Blizzard.

OTTERS AS ANGLERS.

Clever at Catching Their Finny Prey and Dainty in Eating It.

Hunters and trappers have so depleted fur bearing animals that few are left who catch and eat fish, and it is fortunate the otter is now comparatively scarce in our northeastern states, for he is a terrible and persevering foe to fish. He is so dainty that he will frequently kill several large fish in a day, devouring only those portions which best please his palate, leaving the remainder on the water side to become the prey of other fish loving creatures.

For the pursuit of his finny prey the otter is admirably adapted by nature. The body is lithe and serpentine, the feet are furnished with a broad web that connects the toes, which are of infinite service in propelling the animal through the water; the tail is long, broad and flat, and the short, powerful legs are so loosely jointed that it can turn them in almost any direction. The hair of the body is of two kinds—one a close, fine, soft fur, which lies next to the skin, protecting it from extreme heat or cold, and the other composed of long, shining, coarse hair, which permits the animal to glide easily through water. The teeth are sharp and powerful, preventing the slippery prey from escaping, so that the quick and wary fish fall easy victims to the otter's superior aquatic powers. So easily does it glide into the water scarcely a ripple is seen to mark the time and place of its entrance, and on emerging upon the shore its body is withdrawn from the stream with the same noiseless ease.

When the otter is engaged in eating the fish captured, it holds the slippery prey between its forepaws and begins with the back of the neck, eating away the fine, flaky meat of the shoulders and rejecting the head, tail and other parts. The average daily food is about four fish, weighing two or three pounds, not necessarily all trout, but trout and young salmon are preferred to other coarse fish.—Louis Rhead in Recreation.

Hate at First Sight.

There are some who argue that love is born at first sight. However that be, I am certain that it is often thus with hate. I have seen men in my time the first sight of whom was an insult to me—sudden, stinging, like a slap on the cheek. It is a strange thing, and I have never heard it explained satisfactorily. Sometimes in my own case I have attributed it to even so slight a thing as a certain turn of the nose, a curve of the lip, a droop of the eye, and again I have felt that it was due to nothing visible about the man, but rather to some subtle emanation from the very soul of him that maddened me as though I had inhaled the fumes of some devilish drug. Have you ever felt this?—American Magazine.

Truancy Vindicated.

An old gentleman upon seeing a small boy playing in the streets and remembering that the school term had begun a short time previous thought it his duty to take the youngster to task for being absent from school. Approaching the boy, he inquired:

"My son, how is it you are not at school instead of idling in the streets?"

Hesitating a moment, the lad replied:

"Well, pap's out of work, ma's sick, brother Johnnie got his arm broke, the baby's gettin' teeth, I ain't got no shoes and, besides that, there ain't no school today."—Judge's Library.
