Prosecuting Witness Swears Wife of Frazier Jones Had Bad Character.

Mr. Thomas Beall, of Greensboro, presented an affidavit to Governor Glenn yesterday from the principal witness in the trial of Frazier Jones, the negro wife-murderer of Guilford county, who was to have been executed Saturday. Upon the testimony of this witness, it is said, Jones was convicted of murder in the first degree.

Gov. Glenn has taken this affidavit under consideration.

BETHEL ITEMS.

W. A. James, of Asheville, is spending some time at home with his father who has been sick with pneumonia.

G. W. Blount, of Williamston, spent Sunday and Monday here with friends.

Hon. S. M. Jones and W. R. Bullock are away a few days in and around Beaufort, N. C., on a hunting trip.

On account of his father's death, T. C. Britton, of Houston, Texas, was called home last week.

J. R. Ward, of LaGrange, is spending a few days at his old home here.

Mrs. J. T. Smith and little son, Thomas, of Washington, spent last week here with relatives.

Miss Mattie Stancill, of Hill, and Mrs. McDuffy, of Mildred, were visiting Mrs. G. F. Thigpen last week.

The town and county around regret the death of Dr. J. D. Bullock, one of our faithful mail carriers, and he will be greatly missed by all. Ben R. Whitehurst has been appointed by the government to succeed Dr. Bullock as mail carrier for route No. 3.

The rolling carts and wagons hauling seed potatoes makes us think spring is near at hand. Only a few years ago farmers thought the only seed potatoes were those grown in Maine. We are glad they have learned better for there is none that equals the North Carolina second crop. Blount Brothers have already shipped several cars and are shipping daily.

Mrs. J. B. Martin, who has been sick and out of school, is very much improved. The school is very thin now because of so much grip, and was saddened by the death of little Jimmie Taylor a few days ago.

Farmville Coming.

The editor spent an hour in Farmville Wednesday afternoon and added quite a nice list of subscribers to The Daily Reflector. By the mail schedule on the Norfolk & Southern the paper can reach Farmville the same evening it is published, which is very convenient. Arrangements were also made for a report of Farmville news happenings in the paper. With two railroads running to Farmville and a number of enterprising business men, that town is rapidly going forward in progress.

Died.

Mrs. Sue M. Harding, widow of the late Rev. Israel Harding, died suddenly of apoplexy Wednesday in Kinston. Her remains will pass through Greenville tomorrow morning enroute to Chocowinity for interment.

Weather.

Rain tonight and Friday.

Mr. O. L. Joyner's Birthday.

Wednesday was Mr. O. L. Joyner's thirty ninth anniversary, and Mrs. Joyner gave him a pleasant surprise on his birthday. All unawares to him she invited a number of relatives and friends to spend the evening at "Ingeltarre," their pretty home two miles from town. After some hours spent in conversation and music, delightful refreshments and fruits were served. It was an enjoyable occasion for all, and the wishes for many more happy birthdays for Mr. Joyner were heartily given.

A Talking Lovebird.

A lovebird, no larger than a canary has taught itself to speak as fluently and as distinctly as the best of talking parrots at the village of Ambleside. To a correspondent who "interviewed" it last night the bird suddenly remarked, "Kiss me quick," giving an anticipatory smack. It politely remarked, "How do you do?" and flatteringly added, "You're a little beauty, aren't you?" all in a soft tone that was quite distinct from the raucous accents of the average parrot. It melodiously whistled a couple of bars of the national anthem, and proceeded to give some very realistic imitations of the calls of thrushes, sparrows, and linnets. —Daily Mail.

Have You Money in the House?

Numberless people have either withdrawn their money from the banks or else have not put their money in the banks as they get it, and so well known is the fact that scores and hundreds of robberies are being perpetrated. Over in Iredell last week some one walked into the house of one Ben Pell in broad daylight and quietly picked up the neat sum of $250. Had it been in the bank Mr. Pell would today be worth $250 more than he is. With these things happening daily, the people should go straight to our sound banks. —Lexington Dispatch.

A man who travels over the road behind you is in a position to sidestep your misteps.

County Commissioners Should Provide for Ministers.

The Winston R. publican says the commissioners of Forsyth county have ordered "that a carriage be furnished by the county once a month to a minister and one helper, or two helpers, who will hold regular services at the County Home." Some years ago whenever a committee of the grand jury made its official visit to the Iredell County Home, the inmates would ask occasionally that some arrangement be made for them to "hear preaching." So far as known no arrangement was ever made by the county to supply religious services to the Home, and so far as we know the inmates are dependent for the preaching of the Word on some occasional volunteer minister, who out of the kindness of his heart goes to them and breaks the bread of life. The lives of the inmates of the County Home are at best cheerless. Religious services would not only be for their spiritual benefit but the diversion would be a treat to them. Ministers who live at a distance cannot be expected to make regular visits to the Home at their own expense. —Statesville Landmark.

This is a matter that the commissioners of every county could provide for at very small expense, and no taxpayer could justly complain at it.

Hackett a Disappointment.

The Industrial News tells us that Representative Hackett of the eighth congressional district has announced his opposition to the Appalachian Park project. This is unfortunate and will be regretted by Mr. Hackett's friends throughout the State. The eighth district is peculiarly interested in the success of the forest reserve bill and Mr. Hackett's opposition is announced at a most inopportune time—just as the efforts in behalf of the measure are apparently on the verge of being crowned with success. Mr. R. Z. Linney, who is credited with an ambition to succeed Mr. Hackett in congress, has gained some notoriety by canvassing the mountain counties against the bill and stirring up the prejudices of the people by all sorts of ridiculous statements and it was to have been hoped that Mr. Hackett would have found it his duty to counteract the work of Mr. Linney.

In opposing the park project, Mr. Hackett puts himself in direct opposition to the manufacturing, industrial and farming interests of the State, and to the retarding of water-power development, for it is to conserve all these interests that the establishment of the park is advocated, as well as to preserve the forests of our mountains. The arguments in favor of the park are so overwhelmingly strong and convincing that Mr. Hackett's announced opposition to a project of such vital importance to the material interests of North Carolina strikes us with surprise. In taking that stand, he becomes, in the opinion of many, a distinct disappointment as a congressman. —Charlotte Chronicle.

Agrees to Give New Rates Twelve Months Trial.

Governor Glenn has received the following letter from T. M. Emerson, president of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway:

I have received copy of the act of legislature passed at its extra session, covering the passenger rate matter.

I note from the same that you were unable to carry out in full your recommendations as contained in your proposal, notably that part which provided that the question of the reasonableness of the proposed rates be remanded to the corporation commission at the end of twelve months' trial.

Nevertheless, it is our intention to give our part of the agreement twelve months' trial under the conditions provided for in our letter of December 28, 1907.

I have furnished the counsel for complaining stockholders copy of this letter.

I would add that it is our intention to readjust inter-state rates, effective, if possible, on April 1. Yours very truly,

T. M. EMERSON,
President.

Informative Advertising.

The mistaken notion that an advertisement ought to aim to amuse the reader has sometimes led unsuccessful experimenters to the conclusion that publicity is not all it is cracked up to be. The amusing, "ad" does not necessarily sell goods. The clown at the circus is not especially convincing. It is the appeal that tells the reader something that he didn't know, or knowing, would not think of without a reminder, that most frequently converts him into a buyer. If every advertiser would remember that the consumer reads advertising matter for information and profit there would be even fewer advertising failures. —Philadelphia Record.

E. S. Dixon Dead.

E. S. Dixon, of Black Jack section, departed this life on Thursday of last week, and his body was laid to rest in the family burying ground on Friday evening in the presence of numerous relatives and friends. From what we can gather, indigestion was largely the cause of his demise. He was a man well known in Eastern North Carolina, and had served in several prominent positions. Was for many years treasurer of the Conference, being a prominent member of Black Jack church, of which church he was a member at his death. He was a son of John Dixon and leaves several brothers and sisters. He also leaves a wife and children. Was the father of Dr. W. Harvey Dixon, of Edward, N. C. Like all other men, he had his frailties and his virtues. Let us forget the former and emulate the latter and pray God's blessings upon the bereft ones. —Ayden Baptist.

The Sick.

Chas. Skinner is ill.

Mrs. D. W. Arnold is quite sick.

"Uncle John" Cherry is on the sick list.

Mrs. Jackson is quite sick at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Bryan, in South Greenville.

Has Struck in Many States and Left them Almost If Not Dry.

In view of the fact that North Carolina is soon to vote on prohibition, the following facts in regard to the "dry" sections of the country will be of much interest.

Kentucky is famous for its Blue Grass whiskey and has $100,000,000 invested in distilleries, all but fourteen of its 119 counties are wholly "dry" and of the fourteen only four are wholly "wet." In Tennessee whiskey can be sold legally only in Nashville, Chattanooga, Memphis and one smaller city. Georgia has become a prohibition state. Alabama is "dry." Thirty-four of the forty-seven counties of Florida are "dry," and Governor Broward is leading a campaign for state prohibition. A similar campaign is being waged in Mississippi, where sixty-eight out of seventy-five counties have adopted prohibition. South Carolina has repealed its dispensary law, substituting local option by counties, and a movement for state prohibition has been started. A large part of North Carolina has no saloons, and the state will vote on prohibition May 26.

Virginia has seventy-two "dry" counties out of 118. West Virginia thirty out of thirty-five, Maryland fourteen out of twenty-two. About half the towns of Delaware went "dry" at the recent election. Arkansas has sixty out of seventy-five counties "dry" and many towns in the others. Missouri's local option law has driven the liquor traffic from forty-four counties. In Texas 147 counties are reported absolutely "dry" and only forty-seven totally "wet." Oklahoma and Kansas are prohibition states. Minnesota has 123 "dry" towns, Indiana 680, Wisconsin 650 in Ohio, 1,140 out of 1,376 towns are "dry" and sixty per cent of the municipalities. Massachusetts has 250 "dry" and 100 "wet" towns. Connecticut has ninety six "dry" towns out of 176, and every saloon must be conducted by its actual owner.

Bad Accident in New Bern.

New Bern, N. C., Feb. 12.—Marion Walker and W. D. Alexander, at work on the construction of the W. B. Ellis planing mill and barrel factory, were severely injured today by the roof falling with them. They were precipitated, with the roof, to the second floor of the building, and were covered with the falling timbers.

Walker is injured the worst, sustaining a fracture of both bones of the leg and severe bruises on the head and also internal injuries. The extent of Alexander's injuries are bad wounds on the shoulders, head, and arms, and a broken rib.

Shirt Waist Sale.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church will conduct a shirt waist and apron sale early in March. The exact date will be announced later. Any one wishing to make special order for a shirt waist can see Mrs. B. E. Parham or Mrs. W. H. Bagwell.

Every man has a right to aspire to office, but that does not mean that every man will get what he aspires to.

Local candidates are also beginning to sprout. If they don't mind out a late frost will catch them.

We do not know what is our offense, but the New Bern Sun has not shined in this office for several days. Still with the Durham Sun, the Wilmington Star and our own top knot there are some cantillations about the shop.

Cold water is a great cooler when properly applied. It even made a Kinston colored woman change her mind about committing suicide. She started out to end her existence by jumping into a well, but no sooner did she strike the cold water than she set up a cry for help that brought assistance to pull her out.

The Council of State should require a thorough investigation of the hazing at A. & M. college. The people who pay taxes to support State institutions are tired of reports of such disgraceful conduct at State colleges. Parents who send their boys to these schools do not want them to be victims of hazing, nor do they want them to associate with the things who practice it. The hazing must stop or the schools will suffer.

The postoffice department is trying to work the public up to two reforms. One is in the matter of envelopes used—the size of them. The postoffice people say that every sort and shape and size are encountered in envelopes, from the tiny visiting card size to one a foot long. If people would all use envelopes of the same size, the process of cancelling stamps and consequently delivery of letters would be greatly expedited. The other and more sensible one, and one easy to be brought about it would seem, is in the matter of addressing mail. The almost universal custom in addressing letters is now to place first the name, next the street address, then the city and lastly the State. Mail sorters could then work very much faster and the delivery of mail be much easier, if this was directly reversed. Letters addressed with the State first, city next, then the street address, and name of address would insure more expeditious delivery. This idea ought to take well with the public. Many business houses carry it out, and the people in general will do it if they will take a little thought.—Charlotte Chronicle.

It takes a woman to fall in love with a man only after discovering that he isn't worth of her love. A woman thinks it a disgrace if her husband drinks and a man thinks he is disgraced if his wife won't let him drink. A man who travels over the road behind you is in a position to sidestep your missteps.

At times when you don't feel just right, when you have a bad stomach, take something right away that will assist digestion; not something that will stimulate for a time but something that will positively do the very work that the stomach performs under ordinary and normal conditions, something that will make the food digest. To do this you must take a natural digestant like Kodol For Dyspepsia. Kodol is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids with natural digestants and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Each dose will digest more than 3,000 grains of good food. It is sure to afford prompt relief; it digests what you eat and is pleasant to take. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Perhaps more men would try to get square with their enemies if they were not afraid of them.

The trouble with most cough remedies is that they constipate. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts gently but promptly on the bowels and at the same time it stops the cough by soothing the throat and lung irritation. Children like it. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Man wants but little here below, but woman wants a lot when she can get it below cost.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says: "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Grippe is sweeping the country. Stop it with Preventics, before it gets deeply seated. To check early colds with these little Candy Cold Cure Tablets is surely sensible and safe. Preventics contain no Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh or sickening. Pneumonia would never appear if early colds were promptly broken. Also good for feverish children. Large box, 48 tablets, 25 cents. Vest-pocket boxes 5 cents. Sold by Bryan's Drug Store.

One reads many ads claiming wonderful results. Some we believe, others we don't. We are not trying to deceive you by fancy ads, but simply ask you to try Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea; if it fails, get your money back. 35c, Tea or Tablets. Wooten's Drug Store.

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly surrender to a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things really come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Quinine, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! However for this very reason, no one should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must be law to be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle. Everything taken into the stomach should be digested fully within a certain time. When you feel that that your stomach is not in good order, the food you have eaten is not being digested, take a good, natural digestant that will do the work, the digestive juices are not doing. The best remedy known today for all stomach troubles is Kodol, which is guaranteed to give prompt relief. It is a natural digestant; it digests what you eat, it is pleasant to take and is sold here by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Gold is still coming our way—speaking, of course, nationally, and not personally.

A weak Stomach, means weak Stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. It's a pity that sick ones continue to drug the Stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves, not the organs themselves, need this help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative has, and is promptly helping so many sick ones. It goes directly to the cause of these diseases. Test this vital truth, and see. Bryan's Drug Store

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You! Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean. You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the demnition bowwows, you say, because of the uncurbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hodcarrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gourmandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey? Didn't we?

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and silently and slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey? Didn't that ever occur to you? N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home instead of helping to build up a trust that hurts your home place?

A BALLOON IN THE AIR.

The Delicate Balance of the Gigantic Bag of Gas.

It is while discharging ballast to enter the higher altitudes that you get your first idea of the hair trigger balance of the giant contrivance keeping you afloat. Your pilot takes a small wooden scoop, no larger than an ordinary sized soup ladle, digs into one of the sand bags and scatters a single "shovelful" overboard. Up darts your balloon—100, 200, 300 feet. An ordinary sized bottle of beer spilled overboard lightens the balloon enough to send it up 250 feet, and if you happen to be over a vacant field where you can drop the bottle yourself without risk of killing any one the release of this weight will send you up another 300 feet. So delicately poised is your balloon once it has struck its balance that you could push it up or pull it down from 300 to 400 feet with strength equal to that of your little finger.

When a mere cloud passes between you and the sun, causing instant contraction of the gas in the balloon, the envelope becomes baggy and flaccid at once, and you begin to fall, sometimes at the rate of a thousand feet a minute, although you have no warning of this other than the statescope and no sensation except the thrill as you see the alarming rapidity with which the earth comes nearer to you. Three or four scoopfuls of sand may be necessary to sacrifice before you again strike your balance, and the next moment the sun darts from behind the cloud, warms the balloon, and the envelope tautens almost with a bang, and you go kiting upward under your lightened load until you are obliged to open the escape valve to let out gas to prevent going up above your original level. Then it is that you begin to understand why the bugbear of the aeronaut is alternate cloud and sunshine, why he prefers sailing during the night and why, if he does sail throughout the day, he mounts high above the clouds in continuous sunshine, where the volume of gas in the balloon remains constant.—A. W. Rolker in American Magazine.

Monotonous Scenery.

Mrs. Grimes, the landlady, was trying to find out the nature of her new boarder's occupation. First she asked him if he was in business. He told her that he was not. Then she suggested that possibly he was a salesman.

"No, I'm not a salesman exactly."

"Traveling man?"

"Yes, I am a sort of traveling man."

"Make regular trips, I suppose."

"Very regular."

"Well, I should think you'd like that. There's some variety about it."

"There isn't much variety about my trips. They're always through the same territory."

"That gets kind o' tiresome, does it?"

"Very."

"Still, if business is good and you make plenty of sales—"

"But I don't make any sales. The fact is, Mrs. Grimes, I am a conductor."

"A conductor? On what railroad?"

"I'm the conductor of an elevator in a big department store."

"Oh!"—Youth's Companion.

She Listened.

Miss C.'s portrait hung on the wall at the exhibition. Miss C. hung around her portrait. Miss C. had lips that an able-bodied man would walk five miles to kiss. Her eyes were twin stars. Upon her forehead hung two beautiful curls, twin curls. Miss C. was delightful to behold. She was immersed in the study of her catalogue. Of course she was not there to listen to the comments.

"Beautiful picture, isn't it?"

"Yes. I wonder if it's true to life."

"I don't know. It's awfully pretty anyway."

"It is pretty. The features are perfect, but I don't think she looks very intelligent."

Miss C., with a crimson face, slapped her book shut and walked away.

A Comparison.

A New York lawyer was cross questioning a negro witness in one of the justice courts and was getting along fairly well until he asked the witness what his occupation was. "I's a carpenter, sah." "What kind of a carpenter?" "They calls me a jackleg carpenter, sah." "What is a jackleg carpenter?" "He is a carpenter who is not a first class carpenter, sah." "Well, explain fully what you understand a jackleg carpenter to be," insisted the lawyer. "Boss, I declare I dunno how to 'splain any mo' 'cept to say hit an jes the same diffrunce 'twixt you and er first class lawyer."

FIRELESS COOKING.

How the Hunters of the Northwest Forests Prepare Food.

Fireless cookers have been in use since remote times among the guides, hunters and trappers of the northwest, and some of them have become so adept that they can prepare unusually tempting meals.

On many of the best known portages, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, the guides set up the tents on the old camping places because there they find the half frozen stones needed to construct the oven.

On top of these they build a fire, and when the stones are red hot the Indians set them up in the form of a covered box, inside of which has been placed the saddle of venison, a pair of partridges or perhaps a bear's ham. Instead of the heavy felt of the German contrivance they cover it all over with thick moss, the green side in, over which is piled soil if it may be had conveniently.

The next morning the roast is certain of being cooked to a delicious turn. It has either been spitted on a clean wand of birch, which imparts no ill flavor to the meat, or else a grill of sticks has been laid across the oven, upon which its contents have rested.

Sometimes the easier plan is adopted of allowing a sharp pointed stick to project through from the outside at one corner, the outer end being firmly stuck into the ground. In any case the object is to keep the joint from touching the sides of the oven, which are seldom very clean.

Beyond the preparation of the oven and the building of the fire required to heat the stones, this method of cooking requires only little attention. The meat being properly placed in the improvised oven, it is allowed to remain there until its presence is desired at the table. There is no possibility of the meat having been overdone. Many hours are required to cook the meat, but after that it is a matter of small moment if it is left to the action of the heat a few additional hours. The chances are that when the meat is taken from the oven it will be found done to a turn, and it will be voted by those who have partaken to be the finest, juiciest piece of meat ever encountered.

While it is a fact that the meat cooked in this manner is particularly well flavored, its toothsome qualities are in a great measure due to the seasoning secrets of the cooks. Men who go into this country on hunting expeditions rarely ask their cook guides about their methods of cooking further than what is to be seen, for they would get little satisfaction. There are certain secrets relative to the use of herbs and some other tricks which are handed down from one generation to another and which will never get outside of the family. Sometimes a guide will get more of a reputation for his cooking than for his knowledge of the country, and his services will be in special demand by those excursionists who are wont to give some attention to the creature comforts on these hunting expeditions. These hunters guard their culinary secrets jealously and hand them down only to their successors along the line.

Discriminating.

Next to a difference of taste in jokes an incompatibility of musical appreciation is surely the greatest strain upon the affections. Here is a story to prove it. It is the story of a musical daughter and an unmusical mother. The daughter is barely more than three years old, but she has already shown every sign of the keenest musical liking. The mother, on the contrary, can hardly turn a tune. The other evening the mother wanted the daughter to go to bed. The daughter didn't want to go. "Come, Ethel," said the mother by way of final persuasion, "if you'll go to bed like a good girl, I'll undress you and sing you to sleep myself." "Oh, no, mamma," the daughter hastened to add. "You can undress me if you like, but please let nurse do the singing."

From a Fresh Mind.

Albert is five years old. The other day he overheard somebody referring to his mother as a woman. Albert took exception to the remark.

"My mother is a lady," he said. "But what is the difference?" was asked.

After a few seconds of hard thinking the child replied: "A woman talks too much; a lady doesn't."—Chicago Tribune.

Carrying It Along.

An elderly and most respectable looking man was recently brought before a magistrate, says the London Telegraph, charged with unbecoming and hilarious conduct. When he was asked what he had to say for himself, he mumbled something about "doing as the Romans do."

"Very good," returned the magistrate. "Continue to do as the Romans do. Pay 7s. 6d."

MEETING A LION.

Gorged With Food, His African Majesty Showed No Fight.

That the lion is not always the tearing, roaring, wildly ferocious beast of legendary description may be seen from the following story, told by a member of a hunting expedition sent to Africa to secure animals for a menagerie:

"I was returning to our camp after a Sunday morning's visit to the settlement, totally unprepared to capture, and we never kill except when forced to do so in self defense. I had just topped a long incline and was walking my pony when on coming around a corner of the road hidden by some trees I saw seventy yards in front of me, basking in the sun on an open patch of burned grass, a magnificent full grown lion. The sun was not strong, and he was very, very lazily flicking his tail from side to side. He had a short mane, and his eyes were a lovely amber red in the weak sunlight.

"My first sensation was one of astonishment, profound amazement and delight at seeing such a fine beast. He was a beauty, and it seemed impossible to realize that he was really wild as he lay on his side looking at me with his head raised as a dog does when he hears his master's footsteps. He was as fat as butter, sleek coated and glossy.

"My pony, as the breeze was coming from the other direction, did not mind him and went steadily on without so much as pricking up his ears. My dog was walking on in front about ten yards and luckily did not notice him. It was not until I was actually passing him, which I did within twenty yards, that I realized that if the lion took it into his head to fancy a bit of white man I should be unable to dispute his right.

"After I had proceeded some 150 yards the lion got up leisurely and followed along the road behind me, but after going about 100 yards he turned into the bush at the side of the road.

"The truth of the situation was that his majesty had just gorged himself, and a lion will not attack unless hungry or wounded. This condition saved my dog, for lions and tigers have a strongly developed love for canine flesh."—Columbus Dispatch.

Irretrievable.

"George," sharply demanded Mrs. Ferguson as they sat at breakfast a few mornings ago, "what did you do with that letter to Aunt Rachel I gave you to mail for me last Wednesday?"

Mr. Ferguson clapped his hand on the breast pocket of his coat.

"Was it to Aunt Rachel?" he asked, hastily extracting from the pocket a bundle of letters and miscellaneous documents and looking them over.

"Of course it was. I wrote to ask her to come and spend the next six weeks with us."

"Laura," gasped Mr. Ferguson, "I—I mailed it!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Iron Crown.

The famous iron crown of Lombardy was of gold and precious stones set in a thin ring of iron which was believed to have been formed from a nail of Christ's cross. It was made by order of the queen of the Longobards in 591 and presented to her husband. With this crown Charlemagne was crowned and after him all the emperors who were kings of Lombardy. It was this same crown that Napoleon put on his head at Milan on May 26, 1805, exclaiming as he did so: "God has given it to me! Woe to him who touches it!"

CRUEL PUNISHMENTS.

Sentences Imposed on Offenders by the Old Colonial Courts.

Alice Morse Earle instances in a book on "Punishments of Bygone Days" some of the picturesque but often cruel sentences of the colonial court.

In colonial days hog stealing was considered one of the most serious of crimes. At the first offense the thief's ears were slit, and at the second his ears were nailed to a pillory, and at the third he suffered death "without benefit of clergy."

Deceitful bakers and careless fish dealers had to "lose their ears," while he who spoke detracting words had his tongue bored by a bodkin.

A Frenchman traveling in America in 1700 describes the ducking stool as a "pleasant mode" of punishing a scolding woman. He says:

"Of members ye tongue is worst or beste. And yll tongue oft doth breede unreste worthe a ducking stoole."

In 1635 Thomas Hartley of Virginia wrote of his witnessing the execution of a ducking stool sentence:

"Day before yesterday, at two of ye Clock, I saw this punishment given to one Betsy Walker, who by ye violence of her tongue made her house and her neighborhood uncomfortable. They had a machine for ye purpose yt belongs to ye Parish. It has already been used three times this Summer. Ye Woman was allowed to go under ye water for ye space of 1/2 minute. Betsy had a stout stomach and would not yield until she had been under five times. Then she cried piteously. Then they drew back ye Machine, untied ye Ropes and let her walk home, a hopefully penitent woman."

It seems strange to read that almost within the memory of persons still living Mrs. Annie Royal was sentenced in Washington to be ducked for writing vituperative books. She terrorized the town by editing a "Paul Pry" paper. Even John Quincy Adams pronounced her a virago, and she was arraigned as a common scold. Mrs. Royal was sentenced to be ducked in the Potomac, but afterward released on paying a fine.

John Bunyan's Game.

Tip cat has never been a very fashionable sport, but it has been popular enough at least since the sixteenth century. It was at this game that the boy John Bunyan was playing when a sense of sin overwhelmed him. "As I was in the midst of a game of cat and, having struck it one blow from the hole, just as I was about to strike it a second time a voice did suddenly dart from heaven into my soul, which said, 'Wilt thou leave thy sins and go to heaven or have thy sins and go to hell?' At this I was put in an exceeding maze, wherefore, leaving my cat upon the ground, I looked up to heaven and was as if I had with the eyes of my understanding seen the Lord Jesus looking down upon me as being very hotly displeased with me and as if he did severely threaten me with some grievous punishment for these and other ungodly practices."—London Standard.
