THIS KIND OF TALKS COUNTS.

TOBACCO BOARD TRADE FAVOR EVANS AND NINTH STS.

Will Donate $500.00 If Town Paves That Route—Reasons Why it is Best.

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen of the town of Greenville:

As a committee from the Tobacco Board of Trade, we desire to give a few reasons why your honorable board should pave Evans and Ninth streets.

1st. Because more of the citizens of the town would be benefited thereby than they would by any other route.

2nd. Because there is more freight and other hauling over Ninth street than any street in town, there is annually twenty-five million pounds of tobacco hauled and re-hauled over this street.

3rd. Because tobacco industry has made Greenville what it is, and our town is now being advertised as the third largest bright tobacco market in the world. Again, because the tobacco industry pays more taxes than any industry in the town of Greenville.

4th. We beg you gentlemen to consider this proposition on paving of Ninth and Evans streets. If this should be adopted it will be only a year or so before the short space from five points to the Centre Brick warehouse will be paved, and then satisfactory arrangements can be made with property owners on Dickinson avenue for a broad street that will be an ornament to the town, instead of a narrow alley, without a cent of cost for property used in making this street wider. Whereas, if Dickinson avenue is paved now the youngest child in the town will die of old age before the proper route, that is, Evans and Ninth streets are paved.

And last, gentlemen, we beg you to consider this proposition because Evans and Ninth streets will throw no stumbling blocks in your way, but will extend you a helping hand, rights and titles will be made as free as the air you breathe, while the work is being done.

And last, we to encourage improvements in our town and for the upbuilding of same. We have no injunctions to put in your way, but we have $500.00 to give to the town of Greenville, provided your honorable board will adopt Evans and Ninth streets to be paved, and this $500.00 is hereby pledged to the town for this purpose by the committee appointed by the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade.

New Use For the Wireless.

A ingenious use for wireless telegraphy, says the Scientific American is projected in Berkeley, Cal. A pole has been erected on the site of the new town hall and experiments are being made to test the feasibility of summoning policemen from their beats in the event of any emergency call. The receiving station will be placed in the helmets of the men. When a message is sent out a bell is rung in the patrolmen's pocket and the message recorded in dots and dashes.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Adopted by Winterville High School, Winterville, N. C.

Whereas, the Infinite in His fatherly love has seen best to take to Himself within so short a time both the brother and mother of our school-leader, Prof. G. E. Lineberry, we do resolve:

1st. That we the faculty and student body of Winterville High School, do feel deeply for Prof. Lineberry in this doubly dark night of sorrow, and desire to express in words as best we can the sympathy that our own hearts know for him.

2nd. That in consideration of the lonely weeks of trial for our principal each one of us strive to perform faithfully the school duties that devolve upon him during these remaining months of work together.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be given to Prof. Lineberry, and that a copy be sent to The Daily Reflector for publication.

NORTH-CAROLINA'S HAPPENINGS

Brief Items of News Over the State.

A summary is just issued by Assistant Commissioner of Labor and Printing M. L. Shipman, showing the total circulation of all classes of newspapers published in North Carolina to be 891,750. The number of publications is 295; ten morning dailies, 50, 151 circulation; twenty evening dailies, 40,086 circulation; 178 weekly, 118,450; twenty-five semi weekly, 54,220. Of the publications 123 are democratic, 17 republican, the remainder independent, denominational or special.

The Virginia Retail Furniture Association will hold its annual meeting in High Point sometime this spring, probably in May. The association, is composed of a large number of the retail furniture dealers of the State and High Point will be glad to welcome this body of men from a sister state. The manufacturers have already begun to prepare for the meeting.

Among the acts passed at the recent extra session of the North Carolina legislature was one to provide for the burial expenses of Confederate pensioners. Upon the recommendation of the chairman of the board of pensions it allows the appropriation of $20 out of the general county fund.

Baptist Association.

The southern branch of the Tar River Baptist Association will meet at Enfield the latter part of March to organize a new Association, which in all probability will be known as the Roanoke Baptist Association. The Baptist churches of Tarboro, Speed, Eagles and Mildred have already forwarded their applications for membership in this new organization.—Tarboro Southerner.

Greenville is also in the bounds of the new association and application for membership has been made by the church here and delegates will be sent to the meeting at Enfield the fifth Sunday in March.

Their Mother Dead.

A telegram from Salisbury today to Messrs. J. C. and C. B. West, announced the death of their mother, which occurred in that town last night.

MAN SUES FOR FALSE ARREST.

MR. J. R. MAYNARD WANTS $15,000 DAMAGES

From Sheriffs of Anson and Richmond Counties, and Two Citizens of Rockingham.

Because he was arrested and made to stay one night in Wadesboro jail, and brought to Rockingham in handcuffs, on a flimsy charge of fraud, Mr J. R. Maynard, a well known contractor of Charlotte, began a suit today against Sheriff M. L. Hinson, sheriff of Richmond county; B. F. Palmer, deputy sheriff of the same county; S. P. Martin, sheriff of Anson county; A. D. Dumas and M. E. Fowlkes, of Richmond, for false arrest, and he asks $15,000 damages from each defendant.

The nature of the case is very peculiar. Mr. Maynard, who is contractor, went to Rockingham to do some plastering for Mr. Dumas, who was building a house for Mr. M. H. Fowlkes. After the work was done and paid for, there was some disagreement between Fowlkes, Dumas and Maynard as to the manner in which the work was done.

These gentlemen then had a warrant issued in arrest and bail proceedings, and this was placed in the hands of Sheriffs Hinson and Palmer. They in company with Sheriff S. P. Martin arrested Maynard just across the Anson county line and the prisoner was then carried to Wadesboro, and placed in jail for the night. The next morning he was carried to Rockingham with his hands manacled. He was tried before B. F. Long, a justice of the peace, and the charge of fraud against him was dismissed.—Charlotte News.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town, Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., Feb. 28, 1908.

Ola Forbes has been here from Greenville looking after the establishing of a tobacco warehouse at this place. The prospects are fine as this is one of the best tobacco sections in the county and already we have a building suitable for the purpose which we think can be secured. Go to work, friends, and let us have the warehouse and open up a market that will add to the growth and development of our section as will prove of great benefit to our farmers.

Prof. T. E. Peden and wife celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at the seminary last night. There were many friends present to tender congratulations and wish for them a continuance of many more years as pleasant as those of the past.

Mrs. W. J. Hemby has returned from Beaver Dam and reports her mother and brother's family, who have been seriously sick, as very much better.

Joe Norris, of Farmville, spent the day here yesterday with friends.

Leslie Smith, of Falkland, has been in Ayden this week prospecting.

In many places along Lee street we do not think it would be amiss if our city fathers would give it a little attention.

It snowed, hailed, rained and sun shined here yesterday to beat the band. Yet with it all Thursday was a pretty day.

Miss Olivia Berry is visiting in Scotland Neck.

Mrs. Raymond Turnage received a telegram yesterday morning from Kinston announcing the sudden and unexpected death of her mother, Mrs. Moseley, in that place. She in company with her husband, Mr. J. R. Turnage, left at once on the noon train to be in attendance upon the funeral. Though Mrs. Turnage has been a resident of Ayden but a few weeks, in that time by her kindness of heart and lady-like manners she has formed many sincere friendships among our people, all of whom deeply sympathize with her in her sad bereavement.

R. H. Rountree, of New York, and Mrs. James Rouse, of Kinston, have been the guests of Mrs. R. C. Cannon during the week.

Miss Alice Hodges, of Kinston, has been visiting Miss Blanche Cannon and Mrs. J. R. Turnage. Miss Blanche Cannon spent last Friday in Bethel visiting her friend, Miss Novella Bunting. Miss Bunting had several other friends from a distance present and the occasion was a very pleasant one.

Mrs. Nora Davenport came over from Kinston Wednesday to spend several days here with her mother, Mrs. Sack Smith.

The Pythians had a fine meeting Wednesday night. There was a nice crowd present and the meeting proved both pleasant and profitable. The order here is in a flourishing condition.

A Correction.

A 'phone message from Farmville states that the item about the closing of the Farmville tobacco market, the 23th of February, which appeared in our Farmville correspondence 26th instant, was an error; that the market will not close for some time yet.

MONEY IN HORSES AND MULES.

A Suggestion to the Farmers of The Southern States.

Why don't the farmers of the South raise their own horses and mules, instead of paying $30,000,000 or more annually to other States for them?

The department of Agriculture sets forth in a circular issued to-day some reasons why every Southern farmer should breed his own farm animals. In the first place, the report says that it certainly seems anomalous to contemplate a vast section of the country spending millions annually for horses and mules, for beef and pork, and for commercial fertilizers, and selling hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of fertility, such as cotton seed meal and cake, when it is realized that the condition of soil and climate generally through the South are excellent for animal production. It is also more strange that a Southern farmer will buy hay shipped from the West at from $15 to $23 per ton, when often his own land will yield more hay per acre and of a good quality.

The idea is not only that the South should supply its own demand for animals, but that Southern farmers should feed as far as possible the enormous amount of cotton seed meal and cake which is now shipped out, and keep up fertility with barnyard manure.

No Southern State has more than one half of the number of horses and mules actually needed, it is stated, and prices for horses and mules have never before been as high as at present.—Washington cor. Charlotte Chronicle.

Death Conquers Three More Soldiers.

Since Friday there was a harvest of death among the old Confederate soldiers at the Home here.

Mr. Sam Davis, aged 90 years, died last night at 7 o'clock. He was from Wilson county; was a member of Company C, 43rd N. C. Regiment, and had been at the Home four years. His funeral was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the chapel of the Home, Rev. R. S. Stephen officiating. Intment was in the Confederate cemetery.

Mr. Eli C. Eam, aged 86 years, from Iredell county, passed away Saturday at 6 o'clock p. m. He had been an inmate of the Home for two years, and belonged to Company B, 19th N. C. Regiment. Mr. Eam's remains were interred Sunday at 12 o'clock, in the Confederate cemetery, Rev. Father Griffin, of Sacred Heart Catholic church officiating.

Mr. John Smith, aged 92 years of Siler City, Chatham county, died Saturday morning, at 6 o'clock. He was a member of Company F, 53rd N. C. Regiment. His body was sent to his relatives at Siler City Saturday.

All these old soldiers were brave soldiers and will be greatly missed by their old comrades, who held them in the highest esteem.—Raleigh Times

Speed Votes High School.

The special tax school election for the Speed district passed off quietly Tuesday. Out of a total registration of 36, there were cast 31 votes, 23 for the special tax and 8 against. Under the law, the special tax to be operative must be approved by a majority of the registered vote. So it can be said this election was carried by a majority of 6.—Tarboro Southerner.

Going After Business.

The following which is taken from an exchange contains so much of truth that it does not need to be emphasized further. Read it and heed it, ye' business men, and profit thereby:

The trade territory of a town is not all depending upon the distance to neighboring trading points. The territory depends upon the enterprise of the merchants and the residents of the town. If a town does not reach after the trade it will come only as fast as it has to, and grow as it is forced. But if the merchants go after business in the surrounding country, advertising in every possible way, and making good every word of their advertising, trade will come from an ever increasing radius, the town will gain a reputation for being awake and it will forge to the front. It is the men in the town and not altogether the men living within a certain number of miles from it that make the town.—Beaufort Look Out.

Of the Right Make Up.

If you need to be convinced that the members of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade are men of the right make up, just read their proposition to the Board of Aldermen published on first page.

On with the street paving!
The people of Fayetteville are to be commended for their restraint under the circumstances.

Some papers talk about defeating Mr. Bryan for the nomination just like it was an easy thing to do.

The Sun says they already have spring weather in New Bern. Let us know what the early days of March do for you.

Maybe out of all the investigation that is going on the railroads will be brought to the point of doing an honest business and treating all shippers alike.

Those Virginia towns have discovered their error and forthwith enter a disclaimer. Perhaps they first thought North Carolina would continue to sit still and be discriminated against.

Foraker dies hard. He has introduced a bill providing for restoration to service those negroes who were discharged by order of the president. As the investigating committee has endorsed the president's action Foraker's bill will never get beyond the introduction. But possibly he thinks the colored folks can help him some in wanting to be president, and that is what he is playing for.

It used to be the custom in bygone years for candidates of opposing political parties, after they were nominated, to have a joint canvas. People would turn out in large numbers to hear the opposing candidates discuss issues, and the more they made the fur fly from each other in the side tilts the more enjoyment it gave the auditors, and each speaker would be applauded according to his strength among the hearers. It is not that way now. In latter day politics men in the same party seeking nomination for the same office go before the people in debate to declare their superior fitness for the office sought, and the candidates pitch into each other with as much bitterness as if they were of opposing parties instead of representatives of the same party. To be candid, we do not like the new method as well as the old.

THOUGHTS OF EDITORS.
When a democrat happens to want an office the other democrat who also happens to want it does not look much better than a republican.—Durham Herald.
This is surprising, but not altogether unsatisfactory. The New York State Lunacy Commission, instead of finding Mr. Harry Thaw sane, has reported that his mental malady is incurable. The result of this is that Thaw may spend the balance of his days in a mad house, something that he had not counted upon. The lunacy commission has done a little bit better than the public had been expecting—Charlotte Chronicle.

This is hard weather on the little children who have long distances to go to school. Teachers and principals of the schools ought to examine carefully the clothing and shoes of every child these wet mornings and see that they are thoroughly dry before the work of the day begins. Children do not know the danger of sitting in a room with wet clothes and wet shoes and wet stockings. And there should be no stinginess with wood and coal.—Newton Enterprise.

The trouble with most cough remedies is that they constipate. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts gently but promptly on the bowels and at the same time it stops the cough by soothing the throat and lung irritation. Children like it. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

It's a good thing to have a reputation that isn't bad.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonial's free.

At times when you don't feel just right, when you have a bad stomach, take something right away that will assist digestion; not something that will stimulate for a time but something that will positively do the very work that the stomach performs under ordinary and normal conditions, something that will make the food digest. To do this you must take a natural digestant like Kodol For Dyspepsia. Kodol is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids with natural digestants and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Each dose will digest more than 3,000 grains of good food. It is sure to afford prompt relief; it digests what you eat and is pleasant to take. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Some of the best people are seen at their worst when you get the best of them.

Everything taken into the stomach should be digested fully within a certain time. When you feel that that your stomach is not in good order, the food you have eaten is not being digested, take a good, natural digestant that will do the work, the digestive juices are not doing. The best remedy known today for all stomach troubles is Kodol, which is guaranteed to give prompt relief. It is a natural digestant; it digests what you eat, it is pleasant to take and is sold here by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

In stealing kisses, one may remember that an even exchange is no robbery.

IT DOES THE BUSINESS
Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Maine, says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve: "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c at J. L. Wooten's drug store.

The conductor had every appearance of being new to the business. The car was well filled with a matinee crowd, and among the passengers was a flashily dressed individual escorting two overdressed young women. The conductor entered, stood before the trio and asked for the fares. The man handed him a dime and a nickel, whereupon the conductor asked:

"Three?"
"No; four," said the sporty chap, smiling.
Four fares were promptly registered, and the green conductor seemed at a loss to know what the passengers were laughing at.—New York Times.

Forks In England.

The enormous ruffs so much in favor in later Tudor times are responsible for the introduction of forks in England. The difficulty of reaching one's mouth when so adorned must have impressed itself very forcibly on every one, and so the invention of some means of prolonging the reach became an imperative necessity, and thus, as demand usually creates supply, forks came into existence.—Captain G. A. Hope in Grand Magazine.

A Precaution.

"Good!" exclaimed a Welsh hotel proprietor as a departing guest prepared to photograph the establishment. "I rejoice to see that you take with you one little memento of your visit. It shows you have been happy here. Is it not so?"
"Not exactly," was the morose answer. "I'm taking it to prevent any chance of my making a mistake and coming here again."—London Express.

Teddy Bear's New Year Resolutions.

RESOLVED— That throughout this year 1908 I will try to be good and do good; that I will try to help myself and help others; that I will stand by the old town and the home people and help to boom the burg.

RESOLVED— That from January to December, inclusive, I will quit dissipating—quit dissipating my dollars by taking them out of circulation here around home and sending them to the big cities to buy the things that I can buy and ought to buy right here in town.

RESOLVED— That I will stop smoking—stop smoking pipe dream dope suggesting big bargains to be had, unsight unseen, from the gigantic stores in the gigantic cities, and go around among the stores here at home looking for bargains that are there to be seen with the naked eye.

RESOLVED— That I will patronize, by preference, the stores that advertise in the home paper and therefore have enterprise enough to tell the people what they've got in stock.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

During the month of March the subscription list of The Daily Reflector will be revised so as to comply with the law of the Government Postoffice Department which goes in effect April 1st. Under this law daily newspapers cannot be sent to subscribers who do not renew within 3 months after date to which their subscription is paid. To send it more than 3 months longer than it is paid for will require a 1-cent stamp on each paper.

Therefore we ask every subscriber to The Daily Reflector who owes for 3 months or longer, to send a remittance at once so we can keep your name on our list. The publisher can have no choice in this but will have to comply with the law.

If subscribers prefer to remit for three months at the time it is all right, but in that case they will have to pay every 3 months, or they can pay as many months at the time as they like so as to save the trouble of remitting oftener.

We hope every subscriber will attend to this promptly as we had rather not drop a single name from our list. But bear in mind that The Daily Reflector cannot be mailed after April 1st to any person who owes for 3 months or longer.

THE FOOD QUESTION.

Never Eat Quite as Much as You Think You Want.

The Romans said, "Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you die." And their banquets quite equaled those of the American millionaire of this twentieth century. They ate, and the Roman empire died. But we of America choose to live and to live long and to live well. And so the maxim of today is, "Eat less and be merry anyhow."

Why eat less? Simply because as a nation we eat too much. Thirty years ago 50 per cent of the diet was meat. Today it has diminished to one-third.

"Never eat quite as much as you think you want," is the continual advice of a learned physician to the young man who would gladly be a Roman if he could.

More and more among leaders in life is the question of nutrition receiving attention. Rheumatic people learn to do away with a meat diet absolutely. So great is the relief that sweets and other questionable but much liked articles of diet soon follow. And, while the prohibition and restrictions sound hard of practice, persons do it daily and always say that they don't care. Oddly, it is the women who are the more likely to complain in the beginning.

It may seem a long stretch to say the food question can affect international politics. Yet because the laboring classes of other nations eat less their living is cheaper and they work without sacrifice for a lower wage than our republican born men.

The American laborer is fond of things fried and of pies. He eats heavily during the noon hour, not stopping to realize that he has fed his furnace with noncombustible stuff that brings unnecessary effort upon the digestive system. The foreigner at his side eats more sensibly—somehow the older nations have learned and not taught—and the foreigner is more "fit," more contented. He is teachable, and his work is good. He costs less money, and therefore the international problem. — Philadelphia North American.

He Would Spoil the Pinny.

The christening of the bairn has been an event in the life of many a fond father, but it seldom happens that the bairn plays a conscientious part. A clerical friend told me of an exception the other day.

A son was born to a seafaring member of his congregation while he was in foreign parts, and at his request baptism was delayed till he could return to stand sponsor for his child.

He did not return till the boy was two years old, and for that reason the ceremony took place in the vestry. All went well until the sprinkling took place, when the father noticed the minister sprinkle more than his face.

He convulsed the company by saying in a hoarse whisper: "Thou'ld catch it, my man! That was a clean pinny this morning."—London Tit-Bits.

Odius Comparisons.

"Ask me anything else you like," said the brown eyed girl, "but don't ask me if I think that girl across the hall is pretty. I can't tell you. I have been asked that before, and I've honestly tried to tell, but always I got myself into a scrape."

"The trouble is the girl looks like me. If I say she is pretty, then other people who notice the resemblance—and everybody is sure to notice it—get down on me. They say: 'Oh, the conceited thing! What an obvious way of praising herself!' If I say she isn't pretty the girl across the hall hears about it and abuses me for a spiteful, envious wretch. Of course I really do think—but, no, it's no use to ask me, for never again can I be induced to say what I think."—New York Press.

No Use For Them.

An old North sea skipper who was asked to buy a number of life belts for his vessel's use waxed eloquent in the sublimity of his contempt. "Take 'em away!" said the old "salt." "Don't let me see such longshore rubbish on my decks. I don't want no life belts, nor no smelling salts, nor no eau de cologne, nor no feeding bottles or fans aboard of me. Them as sails in my ship has got to stick to her as I do, and if she goes down, why, I expects them in duty bound to go along with her."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Story of a Picture.

It is said that a French painter one day visited the Salon in Paris in company with a friend who was a member of the committee of selection and who had been instrumental in securing the acceptance of the painter's work. When the artist came near his picture he exclaimed: "Good gracious! You are exhibiting my picture the wrong side up!" "Hush!" was the reply. "The committee refused it the other way."—London Express.

THE TIME TABLE.

Its Part in the Daily Life of the Locomotive Engineer.

The principal anxieties of an express driver have to do with keeping time. His employment depends upon his doing so. He is there in the cab of an express engine just, in fact, because he knows better than other men how to get the best results from a splendid piece of machinery. And they are demanded of him. No railway company in competition with another can afford to be lax about the running of its trains, and an express driver who means to keep his place has to remember this.

If the train is late from any fault of his he must expect to be reprimanded. If it is late at all frequently he may be either fined or in the end reduced. The checks upon him are strict. In every signal box he passes the time of his passing is recorded. He checks the record with his own time sheet, which is checked by the guard of his train in turn. He need not fear injustice, true. So many independent records establish the facts beyond mistake or cavil and enable his superintendent to say at once whether the fault lies between him and the engine or elsewhere. But time is one of his constant preoccupations.

He cannot forget it, as he may forget his perils. It is evidently not a matter to which a driver can become indifferent in the least, and there are times when it is oppressive. Engines differ, like pianos from the same famous workshop or watches made by machinery. They differ so notoriously that there is a railway saying, "A good engine makes a good driver."

Among modern express engines there is probably not a disappointing one in twenty. But every engine has her idiosyncrasies. She may respond to firing less readily than another or need more oiling or be oftener docked for small repairs. For better or worse the driver is married to her until he can show sufficient cause for a divorce. The time table is their moral law, enforced daily under the penalties aforesaid.—Keighley Snowden in Fortnightly Review.

Trifles That Cause Bravery.

On one of the streams in Yorkshire a man and a boy were seated in a boat fishing when suddenly the boy lost his balance and fell overboard.

The man gallantly jumped into the water and rescued the little fellow.

"Bravo!" remarked a farmer standing near. "They ought to give you the Humane society's medal."

"An' what for becos?" asked the old chap.

"For so nobly saving that poor lad's life at the risk of your own," replied the man.

"Now, look here, mister," he rejoined, "I don't want no praise w'ere no praise ain't doo. If you'd been me you'd 'a' done just the same."

"Why?" said the farmer.

"Why? Why, 'cos the young imp had all the bait in his pockets, that's why—an' a good why, too, mister."—Pearson's Weekly.

Immaterial.

The janitor of a small church on the south side raises a few chickens in a small inclosure in his back yard. The eggs of these he sells to some members of the church in which he works.

Last Saturday one of his customers asked him if he could spare a dozen eggs within the next two or three days.

"Oh, yes, ma'am," replied the janitor. "I'll bring you a dozen fresh ones tomorrow morning."

"Oh, no," protested the housewife. "I shouldn't want you to bring them on Sunday—not on Sunday, John."

"Well," replied John, "all right, ma'am, if you say so. But it don't make no difference to the hens."—Harper's Weekly.

A Hopeless Lunatic.

"Yes, sir," said the strange looking individual, "we are entirely satisfied with the flat we have now. There is plenty of room, the neighbors never bother us, no one within hearing plays the piano, there are no children in the block, my wife has no trouble in keeping help and the janitor is so kind and obliging that the heat is always exactly right and"

But they didn't wait to hear any more. They simply held him gently, but firmly, while some one went and phoned for a padded ambulance from the insane asylum.—Bohemian.

Her Shopping.

"The idea of his calling me extravagant!" exclaimed Mrs. Schoppen.

"Well," replied her friend, "perhaps you're not as economical in your shopping as you might be."

"Nonsense! Why, I never buy a blessed thing but bargains."—Philadelphia Press.

Knew He'd Killed Something.

A certain young gentleman, an amateur sportsman, went to the highlands for a "shoot." One day, with rather a white face, he called the keeper to him and said: "I say, keeper, are all your beaters here? Do you mind counting them?"

"Vera weel, sir," replied the keeper and whistled to his men.

"Yes, they're all here," he continued after counting them.

"Are you quite sure?" said the sportsman anxiously.

"Yes, sir; Ah'm certain."

The gentleman heaved a sigh of relief. "All right," said he, "then behind that rock down there you'll find a dead roebuck!"—London Tit-Bits.

Because Blood Is Red.

"How often we hear the phrase, 'Like waving a red rag before a bull!'" says a naturalist. "Yet how many people know what it means?"

"Why should a bull or any other creature be enraged when a piece of scarlet cloth is flaunted before it? For bulls are not alone in this. Sheep, usually so meek and gentle, will apparently become transported with rage if they see anything of this color. Geese and turkeys are similarly affected, the former even having been known to attack a scarlet clad child.

"But why? Well, the excitement animals display in such circumstances is similar to that caused by the smell of blood. Here is my theory: The color reminds the animals of blood, an association which invariably suggests bodily discomfort and hurt. So they express their terror by the only means they possess."—London Chronicle.

A Fish Marinade.

Before cooking fish French chefs are wont to marinate it by letting it stand six hours in the following mixture: Put in an earthen basin one small sliced white onion, three chopped parsley roots, half a lemon, sliced; two cloves, a crushed bay leaf, half a teaspoonful of ground thyme, one teaspoonful of whole black peppers, one teaspoonful of allspice, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one tablespoonful of salt and one quart of cold water. Mix all these ingredients together and cover the fish with the mixture. At the end of the six hours remove the fish and drain it. The marinade does not have to be thrown away. It may be used again. Put it in a stone jar and place the jar in a cool place. It will then keep two weeks.

Needles.

Needles were undoubtedly the invention of prehistoric man, as they have been discovered among the oldest remains of human life. Some rude specimens made of horse's bone and evidently intended for sewing skins were found not long since in a cave in France, together with other traces of primitive life. Needles have also been discovered in the oldest Egyptian tombs and among the remains of the lake dwellings of Switzerland. The date of the invention of steel needles is unknown; but, judging from the rich embroidered garments described in ancient record, it would appear that fine needles of steel or some other material were in use at a very early period.

Sauce For the Gander.

A sailor was one day telling a gentleman of the many relations he had lost at sea.

"Well," said the gentleman, "aren't you afraid to go to sea?"

"No, sir," answered the salt. "Did you ever lose any relation at sea?"

"No, my man," answered the gentleman. "All my relations died in bed."

"Then," said the salt, "aren't you afraid to go to bed?"

IDLE RAILROAD MEN.

Large Number of Operatives Thrown Out of Employment.

An unusually significant episode bearing both upon business and political conditions took place a few nights ago in a private house in Washington. At a little dinner, attended by a small number of well known railroad officials, talk fell upon the extent to which they had been forced to lay off their operatives as a result of business depression. In the end a paper was passed around the table and each official wrote down upon it the number which his individual road had laid off already. The total number of men thus thrown out of work on the few roads represented proved to be no less than 165,000 when the paper had made the circuit of the table and the figures had been added up. This incident is being commented upon by those who are trying to keep in touch with the industrial situation and who regard the existence of soup kitchens through the country as a factor of immense prospective importance in the coming campaign. One of the shrewdest Republicans in the House remarked today, "If I were Mr. Taft, I should not worry half so much over political conditions in the South as over the business situation.—Washington Correspondence Springfield Republican

How He Hit His Rival.

A pessimistic young doctor publicly deplored the impossibility of getting rich and the difficulty of earning a decent living in the medical profession without incessantly burning the candle at both ends.

"Stuff and rubbish, my lad!" a boastful old doctor cried. "There's as much money to be made now in spite of competition as ever there was. Take my case, for instance. I've lots of patients, and I'm making money quick. But do I look overworked? Do I ever seem pressed for time? Have I not always plenty of leisure?"

"You certainly take life easily," the pessimistic young doctor replied smoothly.

Then the company smiled, and the boastful doctor fell into a train of thought.—London Express.

Seacoast and Civilization.

It is an odd theory, yet no doubt the correct one, that the coast area of Europe has probably had more to do with the commercial and social supremacy of that continent than any other cause. Investigation will show that Europe has a mile of coast for every 164 square miles of its land area, while the Americas, which rightly come next, have 359 square miles of land to every mile of coast. Asia has 376 miles and Africa 530 square miles to each mile of coast. The low order of culture still prevailing on the dark continent, though its history is as old as that of any other portion of the world, is almost indisputable evidence of the correctness of this theory.

The Obvious Course.

A reverend gentleman was addressing a Sunday school class not long ago and was trying to enforce the doctrine that when people's hearts were sinful they needed regulating. Taking out his watch and holding it up, he said:

"Now, here is my watch. Suppose it doesn't keep good time—now goes too fast and now too slow—what shall I do with it?"

"Sell it," promptly replied a boy.—Harper's Magazine.

Hurrying Him.

A superintendent of the Little Wanderers' home attended a watch night service and closed his testimony by saying, "It may be but a month longer that I shall be here, perhaps a week, or even before the close of another day I shall be gone." He had hardly seated himself when a young man in the back of the vestry started the old song, "Oh, why do you wait, dear brother, oh, why do you tarry so long?"—Christian Register.
