WHAT THE CITY ALDERMEN DID.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING OF THE BOARD.

Street Paving, Sidewalks, Water Taps, and Other Matters.

The board of aldermen met in regular monthly session Thursday night, all the members being present.

C. S. Forbes having been elected to fill the vacancy in the fifth ward, was in attendance.

The water and light committee reported that the plant had been thoroughly inspected and no extensions are needed at present. The filterer has been overhauled and affords sufficient water for the needs of the town.

The cemetery committee recommended a revision of prices of unsold lots in the old part of the cemetery, and asked for the appointment of a special committee to assist the standing cemetery committee in inspecting the premises and arranging the scale of prices. Aldermen Bowen, Johnson and F. J. Forbes were appointed.

Several property owners on Dickinson avenue appeared and through R. W. King and T. E. Hooker presented a paper signed by all but four of the property owners on the avenue agreeing to give enough property for the street to be made a proper width in case of paving that route from Five Points to the depots.

Alderman Bowen was appointed a committee to purchase a coupling to connect the steam fire engine with the hydrants if needed in case of fire.

C. V. York submitted a proposition from owners of property agreeing to lay granolithic sidewalks from Davis street, in Greenville Heights down the north side of Fourth street to the east side of Pitt street, if the town will construct the street crossings. Aldermen Carr and F. J. Forbes were appointed to take charge of the matter and make necessary contract for the work.

A resolution was adopted providing that previous to paving any street of the town sufficient taps water be made to supply adjacent property owners for domestic purposes, to cost of the of the taps to be paid by abutting property owner when it is put in use.

Alderman Carr was appointed a committee to consult with E. A. Kline in regard to clearing up the old public graveyard, belonging to the town, lying on Reade street between Fourth and Fifth streets.

The different officers made report of collections for the past month.

Accounts were allowed and paid amounting to $1,641.50.

Farmville Pastor Pounded.

Farmville, N. C. March 5. A goodly number of the Farmville people attended prayer meeting at the Methodist church on Wednesday night, and enroute called at the parsonage, and gave the pastor and his family a very generous pounding; consisting of articles of undisputed utility in all well ordered households.

Too numerous are the articles to specify here, and the donors are in like category. The pastor found quite a difference in the situation and condition of affairs (at home) afterward in comparison with recent days. The donations of course are valuable, and very highly appreciated, but the motive back of it all is more so.

W. A. Forbes.

IS NOT TO RETIRE.

Col. W. J. Hicks Has No Idea of Leaving the Oxford Orphanage.

In the News and Observer of Wednesday appeared an article in which it was stated that news had been received that at an early day Mr. W. J. Hicks' superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage would retire from the position as soon as his successor was elected, that Mr. Hicks had tendered his resignation ten months ago, but had agreed to remain until his successor had been elected and learned his duties.

This information is stated to be incorrect and with reference to it the following extract from a letter received from Mr. G. Rosenthal, the secretary and treasurer of the Oxford Orphan Asylum makes a correction:

"I have been authorized by Colonel Hicks to advise you that your reporter has been misinformed and that he has no idea of retiring from the superintendence of the Oxford Orphan Asylum at present. On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Institution I beg to say that since there is to be no vacancy, no names have been under consideration."

The many friends of Colonel Hicks will be glad to learn that he is to continue at the Oxford Orphanage, where his work has been such as to aid the little ones who are in his care.—Raleigh News and Observer.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town, Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., Mar. 6, 1908.

Rev. H. E. Tripp was called to Galloway's X Roads Thursday to conduct the funeral of Mrs. Porter.

Frank Hart returned from Pitch Kettle Wednesday evening with a load of shad. Says the boys are catching lots of the finny tribe now.

R. J. Cobb, one Greenville's clever bankers, was here Wednesday shaking hands with his friends. Said he was not a candidate.

Jesse Cannon went to Greenville Wednesday in the interest of the prohibition election.

Rev. T. H. King, of Winterville, was here Wednesday night and conducted services in the Baptist church.

The remains of the late Mrs. Walter Barfield were brought here Tuesday on the noon train and carried out to the Denton farm a few miles in the country where they were laid to rest in the family burial ground.

The Masons held their regular semi-monthly meeting here Thursday.

Mrs. J. R. Cooper, of Winterville, is visiting Mrs. Frank White.

The agitation of that tobacco warehouse must not die out. It is an enterprise Ayden is much in need of and when we get it will prove indispensable to our farmer friends. Keep it agitated until we get it and it will never be a source of regret.

Choir Practice.

Members of the Christian church choir will have practice tonight at 7.30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. T. E. Hooker. They are preparing to have a splendid program at the services tomorrow. The clarinet and violin will be added to the trombone. Any others who will assist in the singing are invited.

FRA DIAVOLA.

Interesting Romantic Comic Opera Selected for Wednesday Night.

Unusual interest is being shown in the forthcoming engagement of the Colonial Opera Co. at the Opera house next Wednesday night, under the auspices of the Acolian Band. The combination of interests—Capt. R. Williams, the band, and a fine musical organization, will unquestionably fill the Masonic opera house to its utmost capacity. Besides, "Fra Diavola," which is one of the world's famous operas, has never been seen in Greenville or vicinity. It is an intensely interesting, in fact exciting story, told in song, of the notorious Italian bandit nobleman who, like Robin Hood, of merry old England, stole from the rich that he might help the poor. It is a musical play of the times "When knights were bold" and "When knighthood was in flower" and is produced by a first class organization in all that its name implies;—artists, gifted singers, clever comedians, picturesque costumes and scenery, and electrical effects.

It comes here under the same management that formerly sent us the Herald Square Opera Co. and Frank T. Kintzing's sponsorship is sufficient in Greenville regarding the merit and respectability of any theatrical attraction.

Statements Again.

The latter part of January, at considerable expense and labor, statements were mailed to all subscribers of The Reflector who were as much as $1.00 in arrears. Many who received statements were very prompt in paying, and not a few very kind letters came along with the remittances. But a large number of subscribers have paid no attention whatever to the statements, and because of this we are having to mail them a second statement. After sending them the paper on credit it looks very unjust that they should force us to such unnecessary expense to get pay it, therefore we hope those getting the statements will not delay longer to remit.

We also call attention to the notice to subscribers, published on another page, relative to the law that goes into effect April 1.

Assaulted With Cotton Hook.

There was an altercation Friday afternoon between Mr. W. J. Turnage and a negro, Alex. Bailey, in which Mr. Turnage was painfully hurt. Bailey was unloading some hay from a dray at Mr. Turnage's stables and becoming very insolent Mr. Turnage struck him with a buggy whip, Bailey assaulted Mr. Turnage with a cotton hook tearing one side of his face and making a wound in the back. At a hearing before the mayor Bailey was held for trial at Superior court.

Fire Alarm.

There was a fire alarm just before 9 o'clock, Friday night, that came from a house occupied by colored people out on King road, west of the A. C. L. railroad. No damage of consequence was done.

A card to the editor from Mr. Jesse Speight at New Orleans says Mardi Gras was a great success and the carnival fine.

MASQUERADE SKATING CARNIVAL.

LARGE CROWD AND MERRIMENT AT THE RINK.

Fancy and Ludicrous Costumes All Mingled in the Gay Whirl.

Smith & Cobb's skating rink in Centre Brick warehouse, was the centre of attraction Friday night, the masquerade carnival being a great success. There were over a hundred disguised skaters on the floor and the number of spectators was many times larger. The Acolian band was on hand and helped out the merriment with their good music.

There were all kinds of costumes and made quite an attractive scene as the skaters whirled around the floor. Miss Irma Cobb was awarded the prize for being the most graceful skater, and Charles Hasket the prize for the best costume.

The Reflector tried to get a list of the skaters and what they represented, but it was impossible, even with the assistance of both managers of the rink, to get more than half of them. The skaters just would not keep still a minute, and catching them on the run was something else. So any who were in mask and fail to find their names in the list below, need not lodge any complaint against anybody. But we would suggest that at the next event of the kind every participant take along a card on which is written the name of the person and character represented, and deposit this card with the door keeper, then none will be overlooked.

Misses Irma Cobb and Essie Whichard both represented Red riding Hood; Misses Ruth Cobb and Hildah Critcher, nurses; Miss Mary Smith, hearts and flowers; Miss Lillian Burch, fairy queen; Miss May Draper, Liberty; Miss Bessie Haskett, Minnehaha; Miss Mary James, folly; Miss Estelle Greene, flower girl; Miss Emma Hardee, ghost; Misses Ethel Bowling, Ruth Tunstall and Lillie Tucker, cowboy girls; Miss Pattie Wooten, night; Misses Maud Lee, Christine Tyson, Amine King, Japanese girls; Miss Annie Tyson, butterfly; Miss Mary Brown, summer; Miss Myrtle Warren, Priscilla; Miss Inez Pittman, The Daily Reflector, Miss Alice Bradley, old lady.

Charles Hasket, Frank Brown, Sherwood Ragsdale, and Joe Bartovitch were gentlemen of different degrees from Africa; Luther Bowling, Howard Moore, and James Hasket, Indians; George Frichard, Wiley J. Brown, Walter L. Whichard clowns; Royce Tucker, ball player; Henry Hasket, jockey; Adrian Brown, countryman; Goodrich Thomas, America; Key Brown, Jesse Harrington and Con Lanier, ku klux; Bruce Hooker, soldier; Larry James, cowboy; David Whichard, Aunt Dinah; Bruce Warren, Russian Jew; J. L. Anderson, mail carrier; Tom Dupree, Norman Warren and David Watson, sports; E. Sledge and A. Vick, plumbers; Roy Hearne, tuba; Tige James, artist; Claude Tunstall, foxy; Seth Hooker, Jack Horner.

Services in Episcopal Church.

Rev. J. H. Griffith, of Kinston, came over Thursday afternoon and held service in St. Paul's Episcopal church that night and next morning, returning home Friday. Rev. Mr. Griffith will preach here each Thursday night and Friday morning during Lent.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Miss Lucille Cobb went to Kinston Friday evening.

Miss Matie Peed returned Friday from a visit to Washington.

Jesse Speight, J. N. Hart and Dr. J. E. Nobles returned today from New Orleans.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Forbes has been quite sick several days.

Miss Blanch Cromartie has gone to Baltimore to purchase spring millinery for Mrs. L. Griffin & Co.

RELIC OF ANTE BELLUM DAYS.

Section of Old Plank Road Cut Through on Evans Street.

The town is having drain sewers put down on Evans street preparatory to the paving that is to follow. While the hands were making an excavation along the center of the street in front of the store of J. R. & J. G. Moye, about 2 feet below the surface they struck a section of the old "Plank Road" that was in use half a century ago and long since abandoned.

The section of the old road that the workmen struck was like a solid floor, some of the timbers being well preserved and very thick. It was so hard cutting through these timbers that it was decided to put the drain sewer on the side of the street instead of near the center.

It hardly looks reasonable that Evans street was 2 feet lower 50 years ago than it is now, but the depth of the old "Plank Road" below the surface shows this to be true.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. March 7, 1908.

John Flanagan and Robt. Flanagan, students of W. H. S. went to their homes near Farmville to spend Sunday.

Miss Daisy Porter was called home Thursday on account of the death of grandmother.

We are glad to announce that Dr. Charles E. Brewer, head of the department of chemistry of Wake Forest college, will lecture in the auditorium of W. H. S. Friday night, March 20th. All are cordially invited.

Rev. T. H. King and W. B. Nobles attended prayer services at the Baptist church in Ayden Wednesday night.

A moving picture entertainment will be given in the auditorium of W. H. S. Saturday night March 7th at 8 o'clock by a company from Greenville. They come highly recommended by those who have seen their pictures.

Chas. S. Smith spent Thursday night in Kinston.

We are requested to announce that the services at the Episcopal church will be at 4:15 every Wednesday and Friday afternoon instead of 5 p. m.

The Vance Literary society will give a public debate next Friday night, March 14th at 7.30 o'clock. All are most cordially invited to be present. The query is "Resolved, That the South will acquire greater national influence within the next half century than the North." The boys are in good trim and a lively debate may be expected.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry has just been informed of his election to deliver the annual address before the Philomathean Literary society of Wake Forest college this spring. This is a coveted honor. He has accepted and will deliver the address some time in April.

We are glad to welcome back into our town John David Smith, who has for some time been in business in Greenville. He will conduct a brokerage business here under the name of J. D. Smith & Co. They will be next to the post office.

Mrs. A. G. Cox spent Wednesday at Hanrahan with relatives.

SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1908.

That big anti-prohibition State convention with three delegates present maybe a good indication of the anti-prohibition vote.

Those three delegates to the anti-prohibition State convention in Salisbury may send out an "address" that sounds like a host behind it. It will be like the story of the frog pond in which one frog was making all the noise.

Charlotte is going to send a large delegation to Raleigh when the Democratic State executive committee meets Wednesday, to try to get the committee to select Charlotte as the place for

We hope Charlotte will win.

Representative Morton, of New-Hanover county, called a state convention of anti-prohibitionists to meet in Salisbury, and when he got there he found just two more beside himself—J. D. Mc-Neill, of Fayetteville, and Harry Stubbs, of Williamston. What a mighty convention that was!

Greenville is in earnest about wanting a public building. The congressional committee to whom the bill for public buildings was referred will consider the matter on Tuesday, 10th, and Greenville will have a delegation in Wash-

the town before the committee.

The commissioners of Wilson county have been imitating President Roosevelt in the mat-the disposition of patronage. The to choose heads or tails to see which should have the contract for publishing the county statement.

Hon. E. J. Justice, speaker of the House of Representative in the last General Assembly, and whose name has been mentioned as a candidate for Attorney General of the State, has written to a close personal friend that he will not be a candidate for that office and in a strong letter gives his reasons for reaching that decision. They are people all over the State who wanted to support Mr. Justice for the office, and they regret that he will not be a candidate for it.

Dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach.
I lost 25 lbs; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle

Think Success.

The oftener one gives exercise to any faculty—uses, not abuses, it—the stronger and more flexible it becomes. A Frenchman said once on a time that whenever he wanted a book on a certain subject and could not find it he wrote one.
There is a tremendous lesson in that. It means that each of us can find out as much about anything we wish to be informed upon as any other human being in the world if we will only determine to do so. We can achieve and conquer anything another can if we make up our minds to the performance of it and make the determination the law of our life. Success has its laws, the basic principle of which is, "Give your best to get the best."
A writer on mental success says:
"Think success and you will succeed."

Applied Example.

While staying in the north of England a commercial traveler contracted a severe cold, which obliged him to remain in bed. His wife, a lady, a sympathetic widow, was most attentive and made the sufferer some special onion porridge, which she placed beside him, remarking,
"There; that will shift your cold!"
Later in the evening the good lady came to inquire how the patient was progressing. "So you've eaten it," she said, picking up the empty porridge dish.
"Then a poultice!" exclaimed the invalid. "Yes—I've got it on my chest!"—London Answers.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

During the month of March the subscription list of The Daily Reflector will be revised so as to comply with the law of the Government Postoffice Department which goes in effect April 1st. Under this law daily newspapers cannot be sent to subscribers who do not renew within 3 months after date to which their subscription is paid. To send it more than 3 months longer than it is paid for will require a 1-cent stamp on each paper.

Therefore we ask every subscriber to The Daily Reflector who owes for 3 months or longer, to send a remittance at once so we can keep your name on our list. The publisher can have no choice in this but will have to comply with the law.

If subscribers prefer to remit for three months at the time it is all right, but in that case they will have to pay every 3 months, or they can pay as many months at the time as they like so as to save the trouble of re-mitting oftener.

We hope every subscriber will attend to this promptly as we had rather not drop a single name from our list. But bear in mind that The Daily Reflector cannot be mailed after April 1st to any person who owes for 3 months or longer.

How Many Bricks Have You Sent Away?

That sounds like a funny question, addressed to every citizen of this town and community, but it's really a serious one. Listen: There is now just completed a magnificent building of red brick exterior and concrete interior right in the business heart of one of the biggest of American cities. It occupies a whole block and calls itself in a large lettered sign "The Largest Monolithic Building In the World." It has many floors, with about a hundred acres of floor space. The entrances are of solid marble. The floors are beautifully tiled. Altogether it is a credit to the big city in which it stands. Oh, it's a Jim Dandy!

Now, how many bricks have you sent to the city to go into this big building? Honest, how many?

Of the hundreds of thousands of bricks put into the walls of this building the city where it stands has contributed not a single red brick. Country people, the people of small towns and cities far away from the big metropolis, have sent in the bricks for the construction of this splendid edifice.

You may have sent in a few hods of bricks yourself without knowing it.

Listen: This magnificent structure, which ornaments a city you probably never will see yourself, is built of bricks bought with the dollars of people living in towns just like ours—towns that would like to have some new brick buildings themselves now and then. Every dollar contributed to the city building fund means a nice, hefty hod of bricks for this big, beautiful skyscraper, "largest in the world" of its kind. This building was put up, through the kind donations of their unknown country cousins, by a firm that ran a small store in that city a few years ago.

But this firm conceived the cute idea of having thousands of strangers contribute bricks to build its fine, large, new store.

And the building is a Mail Order Store. See?

BRAWN BEAT STEAM.

Odd Contest in the Early Days of Steam Fire Engines.

In what are sometimes called the halcyon days of the volunteer fire department of New York there was a prejudice against the use of steam power on fire engines. The New York firemen still believed in the work of ready hands and proved their sincerity by challenging an Ohio inventor of a steam fire engine named Latta to a public trial of strength and excellence in the city hall park. The challenge was accepted, and the engine reached New York on Feb. 8, 1855. On the next day in the city hall park in the presence of 20,000 spectators the trial of skill took place. At the request of the common council the Exempt engine company entered the lists with hand engine No. 42, the old "hay wagon," and proceeded to compete with the Latta steam engine.

A match was applied to the kindling wood in the Ohio steam engine, which in eight and a half minutes began to pump and discharge water through two large suction. The "hay wagon" led off by throwing a stream of water toward Beckman street through a one and one-eighth inch nozzle, the steam engine following with a stream in the same direction through a one and five-eighths inch triangular nozzle. When measured, the stream of the former was found to be 189 feet long and that of the latter 182 feet. Again the competing engines played. At a distance of about 200 feet a party of small boys stood in the street tauntingly demanding to be drenched. The Cincinnati engine unsuccessfully endeavored to gratify them, but when the New York engine began to play they fled in the midst of a drenching shower bath. Cincinnati was beaten by fifteen feet.

Then a third trial was ordered. Upon the roof of the city hall 150 feet of hose was hoisted and the pipes pointed upward toward the figure of Justice on the cupola. Pulling themselves together for a last great effort, the New York exempts manned the brakes. For a minute the two streams remained at equal height. Then, amid unbounded applause, the New Yorkers sent their stream clear above that of their contestants and kept it so until the end. —New York Sun.

Helping Him Out.

Lord S., a noted athlete, once took a journey from the metropolis purposely to challenge a blacksmith whom he found working in an inclosure a little distance from his forge. His lordship tied his horse to a tree and then addressed the blacksmith:

"Friend, I've heard wonderful reports of your skill and have come a long way to see which of us two is the better wrestler."

The blacksmith, without a word, seized his lordship, pitched him over the hedge and then resumed his work.

The nobleman slowly picked himself up.

"Well," said the blacksmith, "have you anything more to say to me?"

"No," replied his lordship, "but perhaps you'd be kind enough to throw me my horse!" —London Standard.

Suited For All Occasions.

Salesman—Here, madam, is a sewing machine with a music box attachment. It has a repertoire of airs to suit all styles of sewing.

Customer—I don't understand.

Salesman—Well, for instance, suppose you are mending a bathing suit. Turn the indicator to "I'll Splash You if You Splash Me." Then when you are sewing up a rip in the wash cloth do it to the accompaniment of "It's a Grand Old Rag." When stitching a hole in your male parent's handkerchief, let it play "The Blow Almost Killed Father," and—

Customer—Yes, but suppose I was making a crazy quilt?

Salesman—Do it to the tune of "Every Little Bit Helps."

Customer—I'll take it.

Tail Spells Ox.

A lady was one day teaching her little girl how to spell. She used a pictorial primer, and over each word was the accompanying illustration. Polly glibly spelled "o-x, ox," and "b-o-x, box," and the mother thought she was making "very rapid progress," perhaps even too rapid. So she put her hand over the picture and then asked:

"Polly, what does o-x spell?"

"Ox," answered Polly nimbly.

"How do you know that it spells ox?"

"Seed his tail!" she responded.

His Way Out.

"How did your husband get out of the building after he had located the gas leak?" asked the reporter.

"As nearly as he could remember it afterward," said the woman, "he went out through the roof." —Chicago Tribune.

THE STAGECOACH.

An Ancient Economist Who Said It Would Ruin Business.

The first stagecoach seen in England was about the year 1553, and another 120 years passed before stagecoaches began to run. They were not received with much favor. In 1673 a treatise was published in London by "A Lover of His Country and Well Wisher to the Prosperity Both of the King and Kingdoms," in which were used many elaborate arguments and violent tirades against them.

"These coaches and caravans," said the writer, "are one of the greatest mischiefs that hath happened of late years to the kingdom, mischievous to the public, destructive to trade and prejudicial to lands."

He laments the decay of good horsemanship, which would follow if everybody rode to London in a coach. He calculates that a coach from York, Chester or Exeter would have forty horses on the journey to the capital and carry eighteen passengers a week. In the whole year it would carry about 1,872. Suppose there were returning passengers. There would be 936, and for these forty horses would be sufficient, but if people traveled in the good old fashioned way then at least 500 horses would be required for the work. The use of so many horses would give employment to many who were by the stagecoach thrown out of work, such as cloth workers, drapers, tailors, saddlers, tanners, carriers, shoemakers, spurriers, lorimers and fellmakers. The inns would also suffer, for the stagecoach stops only at a few, but when gentlemen traveled on horseback, accompanied, as they usually were, by two or three servants, they stopped at any and as often as they liked and thus encouraged trade.

Farmers will be ruined, he says, by the stagecoach, for how can they dispose of their hay, straw and horse corn? Moreover, the influence on health would be bad—men called out of their beds before daylight, hurried from place to place until far on into the night, in the summer stifled with heat and choked with dust, in the winter starving and freezing with cold or choked with filthy fog, obliged to ride all day with strangers and with sick, ancient and diseased persons and with children crying, poisoned with fetid breaths and crippled by the crowd of boxes and bundles. Besides all these troubles there were accidents arising from the rotten coaches and foul roads.

In short, the writer is fully convinced that if stagecoach traveling becomes popular the country will go to ruin. Had he lived to see the railway he would have been bereft of his senses.

Anent the Graveyard.

A lumbering old stage was winding in and out over a remote road in the Adirondacks. There was only one passenger, and he had chosen to sit beside the driver. Several times he had tried conversation, but had met with so little encouragement that he had given up and was silently watching the landscape.

Presently they came to a tiny mountain burying ground, containing a few gravestones and a few unmarked graves. The passenger looked at it, struck by its air of loneliness, which seemed to stir in him afresh the desire for human intercourse. He turned again to the driver, pointed toward the graveyard and observed:

"People around here don't seem to die very often, do they?"

And without turning his head the driver said:

"Just once." —Home Magazine.

Taking No Chances.

A tall man impatiently pacing the platform of a wayside station accosted a red haired boy of about twelve. "S-s-say," he said, "d-d-do y-you know ha-ha-how late this train is?" The boy grinned, but made no reply. The man stuttered out something about red headed kids in general and passed into the station. A stranger, overhearing the one sided conversation, asked the boy why he hadn't answered the big man. "D-d-d'e wanter see me g-g-get me fa-fa-face punched?" stammered the boy. "D-d-dat big g-g-guy'd tink I was mo-mo-mocking him." —Argonaut.

Fifty Kinds of Headache.

"There are more than fifty kinds of headaches," said a physician, "and sufferers from the more common forms may cure themselves accordingly. The more frequent forms are a dull pain across the forehead, due to dyspepsia; a pain in the back of the head, due to the liver; a bursting pain in both temples, due to malnutrition; an ache on the top of the head, as though a weight pressed on the skull, due to overwork; an ache between the brows just above the base of the nose, due to eye strain." —Fur News.

All the Gold IN GEORGIA Could not Buy.

Roding, Ga. August 27, 1908. Messrs. E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ills.

Gentlemen— In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. Some physicians told me it was Dyspepsia, some Consumption of the Lungs, others said consumption of the Bowels. One physician said I would not live until Spring, and for four long years I existed on a little boiled milk, soda biscuits, doctors' prescriptions and Dyspepsia remedies that flooded the market. I could not digest anything I ate, and in the Spring 1902 I picked up one of your Almanacs as a poor emaciated Dyspepsia wreck will grasp at anything, and that Almanac happened to be my life savor. I bought a fifty cent bottle of KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE and the benefit I received from that bottle ALL THE GOLD IN GEORGIA COULD NOT BUY. I kept on taking it and in two months I went back to my work as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly,
