ELDER BARNHILL'S HOUSE BURNED

POISONED FODDER FOUND NEAR TABLES.

Loss Fully Covered by Insurance—Mr. Barnhill Away From Home.

Bethel N. C., March 9—The dwelling of Elder T. H. Barnhill, about 4 miles from Bethel, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Elder Barnhill was not at home at the time, having gone to Tyrrell county to preach Saturday, leaving his wife and father at home. They discovered the fire near the flue in the cook room about 9 o'clock, and think it caught from the flue. Most of the house hold goods were also burned, but these and the building were fully insured.

A man who came here this morning from Mr. Barnhill's neighborhood, said some fodder with Paris green on it had been found just back of his stables, and looked like some one had put part of it in the stall occupied by the team, and that it must have been an effort to poison his team. There is no clue as to who put the poison on the fodder.

CHANGE THE BRIDGE.

To the Commissioners of Pitt county:

Now that it is a fact that an iron bridge is to be placed across Tar river at Greenville, and that a contract has been made to begin the construction of this bridge at an early date, would it not be wise to place it at the foot of Evans street? When you consider every phase of the proposition it is economy to do this and it will prove a great blessing to everybody on the North side of the river as well as the town of Greenville.

To tear up the old bridge and compel all travel to cross the river on a flat means: 1st. Danger. 2nd. Inconvenience. 3rd. Great loss of time, and time is money. This when summed up in dollars can easily be figured into the thousands.

From the old bridge the Atlantic Coast Line runs parallel with the public road for over a mile. From eight to ten trains come over this road daily frightening horses and causing them to run away. This is a constant danger. When a farmer wants to send to town he has to send a careful hand on account of it. His wife and his children have to stay at home because of it and in the run of a year the north side of the river is deprived of more than the difference in the cost of changing the bridge as above suggested.

Driving is one of the principle pleasures of the town of Greenville. The A. C. L. road running parallel with the public road deprives those who would drive of the pleasure of using the excellent roads on the north side of the river. Taking all this into consideration, it is economy to put the bridge at the foot of Evans street. This bridge is a permanency, it is for the convenience and profit of everybody, therefore it should be moved away from the railroad.

To Restore Fort Macon.

Senator Simmons has introduced in the Senate and Mr. Thomas in the House a bill appropriating $1,000,000 to restore and equip Fort Macon at Beaufort harbor. The restoration of Fort Macon is made necessary by the connection, through the construction of the canal by the government, of Pamlico and connecting sounds with the Atlantic ocean. It will be apparent, after this canal is constructed, that in time of war a vessel of the enemy entering Beaufort Harbor could penetrate into the very heart of North Carolina in one direction to New Bern, in another to Washington, in another to Elizabeth City and in another to Edenton. After the practical closing up of Hatteras inlet there was no inlet by which vessels drawing over five or six feet could enter. Therefore, when this canal is constructed vessels of the enemy could enter Beaufort harbor and destroy it, as Burnside did during the civil war.

THE SAME OLD CRY.

About Prohibition Discriminating Against the Country People.

The well worn chestnut about the prohibition bill discriminating against the country people and in favor of the town people is being handed around among the ignorant, and in some quarters is having its effect. We have heard of several people in the vicinity of Thomasville who declare they are going to vote against prohibition because the bill gives rich men the privilege of buying liquor and denying it to poor men. All anybody with half sense need to do is to get a copy of the bill and read it for themselves to see the falsity of this statement. Every drug store licensed to sell liquor for medical purposes is required to keep a record of every sale and the names of the persons to whom the sales are made, which record shall be subject at all times to the inspection of the solicitor of the district, the sheriff and the other peace officers of the county, the mayor and police officers of the city or town in which said licensed and registered pharmacists, business is located, and all other persons." The only weak spot in the bill is a concession made to the farmers who raise apples and grapes. We would have been delighted if that cowardly clause had been eliminated, for the very people whose favor is sought by it will vote against the bill anyhow, and it will be carried by real prohibitionists who are opposed to wine and cider as well as to whiskey. We are ashamed to confess that, if we are correctly informed, there is considerable opposition to the bill in Davidson among the country people on the ground we have mentioned. However, we are glad to say that all the counties in the State are not as ignorant as Davidson—in fact we know of no other county quite so low in the scale of intelligence; but even here with all our ignorance we must hope that there is virtue enough in the county to save it from the shame of giving a majority in favor of liquor. We must meet this old falsehood that appeals to the passion and prejudice of ignorant country people and show them that if there was ever any "discrimination" in the Watts and the Ward law against them the prohibition bill wipes it out by making the sale of liquor illegal everywhere, in town as well as in country. Intelligent farmers can be of immense service in this campaign by making some sacrifice of time, and visiting those dark places where the wily demagogue loves to ply his infamous trade and expose his sophistries and his falsehood. We are striking the snake this time wherever we find him, and instead of driving liquor into the towns and cities as the Watts law did, we propose to drive it clean out the State—Charity and Children.

Oyster Boat Sunk.

Bisco Pittman's gasoline boat is at the bottom of the river at Old Sparta with a load of oysters in the shell submerged.

The boat was returning from Washington where the bivalves were obtained. At old Sparta the boat sprung a leak and began to fill rapidly. She was headed for the shore when it sank in water deep enough to cover the deck.

George Harrel is now at work trying to raise it.—Tartoro Southerner.

PERFORMANCE WINS APPLAUSE.

New Colonial Opera Company Giving Bright and Breezy Plays.

The New Colonial Opera Company was at the Academy of Music last night in "A Trip to India," a comic opera that won great applause from an audience that was evidently delighted with the performance.

The company is giving opera at popular price attraction, and the verdict of the people last night was that the company is one that should attract large audiences. "A Trip to India" is bright and merry, the music in it being rendered with spirit.

Miss Juanita Rush, a most attractive young woman, is the prima donna, and her soprano voice was greatly admired in the character of "Alti," the Ideal Queen of Altara, and Miss Mamie Elmore as "Serena the Pasha's Daughter," was clever as well as good looking. The singing of Miss Rush, and the selections rendered by "The Trocadero Quartette" of male voices were features of the evening. The audience time and again recalled the quartette, which pleased all. The other members of the company aid in making a clever entertainment.—Raleigh News and Observer.

What the Law Says.

The Reflector has been asked to print the law in regard to seine and net fishing on Tar river, for the information of all interested. The law (Revisal of 1905) reads;

If any person from the 15th day of Feb to the 10th day of May of every year, from 12 o'clock meridian of Saturday until sunrise Monday morning of each week shall fish any seine, set net, drift net or any other net of any name or kind whatever, in the waters of Pamlico or Tar rivers and tributaries, except bow or skim nets, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Delegates to District Conference.

The District Conference of the Washington, district, M. E. Church South will meet at Aurora May 6th. The following are delegates from Jarvis Memorial church; G. S. Prichard, Wiley Brown, L. H. Pender and J. L. Little. Alternates; Jas. Brown, J. W. Higgs, D. D. Overton and James Long.

At the quarterly conference held in Jarvis Memorial church Sunday night, L. H. Pender was elected Sunday school superintendent to succeed Geo. S. Prichard, resigned.

Prices The Same.

Some people thought because the Colonial Opera Co. advertised in Raleigh at "popular prices," that the figures were lower than in Greenville. An inquiry brings the information that prices in Raleigh were the same as in Greenville. The sale to day on the guaranteed list has been large, and phone orders from neighboring towns have come in to get on the list for tomorrow. The general sale will begin tomorrow and everything points to a large audience.

Special Invitation to All.

Everybody who plays an old time fiddle is cordially invited to attend the old fiddlers' convention in the opera house on Thursday evening, March 19th.

You will miss a good thing if you fail to attend the old fiddlers' convention.

MONDAY, MARCH 9, 1908.

We hope March will not be in a hurry to spoil it.

Greensboro is promising to build, while Charlotte has already built.

If there really was any Cannon money distributed, it had no influence on the result.

Looks like Russia wants to hang General Stoessel because he did not get killed.

If the South Carolina dispensary commission fails to do what Federal Judge Pritchard says, then what?

No, Inquirer, the aldermen have not yet said which way the paying is going from Five Points to the depot.

Poor old Uncle Joe! We wonder how it makes him feel to see the Republicans of his native State all lining up for Taft.

The Cannon boom does not seem to make as much noise around Republican primaries as it does from the speaker's stand in congress.

According to recent statistics, it will not take many more gatherings for the Raleigh Republican club to claim as many members as there are voters in the city.

Somebody wants to know, why not get the county commissioners to build the new bridge across the river from the foot of Evans street, and let the first paving the town does be from Five Points to the bridge. Nothing bad about that suggestion.

Mr. Morton might just as easily have had all the proxies sent to him at Wilmington, written an address to suit himself, put it "before the house" and voted all the proxies for it, and then sent it over the State as an expression of the great anti-prohibition convention. Possibly Mr. Neill and Mr. Stubbs would have agreed to this.

March 10th means much to Greenville. That day a delegation of her representative business men appear before a congressional committee in Washington City presenting the claims of the town for a public building. The same day the board of trustees of the Eastern Carolina Teachers' Training School meet here to arrange for work to begin on the buildings for the school.

From the talk heard, we believe if the sentiment of the people could be had it would show that they favored the new county bridge crossing the river from the foot of Evans street instead of from Pitt street. It would cost a little more to cross at Evans street, but it might save money in the long run. Another important thing to consider is that if a new site was taken for the new bridge it would not be necessary to tear down the old bridge and operate a ferry while the new bridge is being built. This would make a big saving.

How's This.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol For Dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach. I lost 25 lbs; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly, and write this hoping that humanity will be benefited. Yours very truly, Jake C. Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904." Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

GASLIGHT EFFECTS.

One of the Woes of the Modern Apartment House Owner.

"There is no end to the troubles of the modern landlord," said the man with pronounced wrinkles. "What with the gas company and prospective tenants, his days and nights are filled with woe. I believe those two forces of evil—the gas company and the possible tenants—are leagued against me. Anyhow, the situation is peculiar. One day a woman came to look at one of my most expensive apartments.

"The rooms seem very nice by daylight," she said, "but I couldn't think of taking the place until I find out how it looks at night. I'll come back this evening and see the decorations by gaslight."

"But the gas isn't turned on," I explained. "I'll bring in a few lamps. Won't that do just as well?" "Not at all," said my possible tenant. "There is no one between the two kinds of light. I entertain a great deal, and I can't possibly sign a lease for a place that doesn't look well when illuminated. Couldn't you get the gas turned on before night?"

"I explained that it was an unheard of thing to keep the gas meter at work in an unoccupied flat, but rather than lose such a good tenant as that woman promised to be I moved heaven and earth and the gas company and got the illuminating power turned on. Since then I have learned that most people who rent expensive apartments insist upon seeing the rooms by night as well as by day before they will sign a lease. Consequently I have to keep the gas going in all my vacant flats. Such fastidiousness on the part of my tenants plays right into the hands of the gas company. No wonder I suspect that they may be working a partnership game."—New York Press.

His Dream.

"There is some money, my love," said the husband. "I don't want any," replied the wife. "Come, now, darling, take this five pound note and go out shopping." "Thank you, dearest, but I really don't care to. I would rather stay at home and see to the housework." Then the husband awoke and found that he had been dreaming.—Liverpool Mercury.

For Coughs and Colds

Nearly all other Cough Cures are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup moves the bowels. Contains no opiates.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all passes by the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard."

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup relieves Colds by working them out of the system through a copious action of the bowels.

"Boost the Booster!"

That's the official slogan of a certain town in Arkansas which through boosting itself and boosting its boosters has doubled its population since the 1900 census.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

The Arkansas town had been quarreling among itself for years, and standing still. It had boosters, but it had others who refused to boost the boosters, refused to stand by them and yell, "Good boy—keep it up!"

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

Finally the town got together with itself, organized a "Boost the Booster Club" and began to boom. Now its principal thoroughfare, which was a streak of mud, is a stretch of asphalt, and it has new buildings to match. Now everybody boosts the booster and booms the boom.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

This town might take a hint from that one. We have our town boosters—every town has some. But sometimes they get discouraged because of opposition right here in our midst.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

Cut out the criticism! Quit the queering! Boom the Boom! Then watch the old town perk up and plunge forward. You can see it move.

WHEN YOU BOOST THE BOOSTER YOU BOOM THE BOOM.

THE REAPER KINGS.

A Theory That Lincoln's Candidacy Was Due to Their Wars.

Among the different types of reapers and the numerous variations of each type the bitterest rivalries prevailed. There was no pool, no "gentlemen's agreement," no "community of interest." Indeed the "harvester business" was not business. It was a riotous game of "farmer, farmer, who gets the farmer?" The excited players cared less for the profits than for the victories. As fast as they made money they threw it back into the game. Mechanics became millionaires and millionaires became mechanics. The whole trade was tense with risk and rivalry and excitement, as though it were a search for gold along the high plateaus of the Rand. And this in spite of the fact that, with the exception of McCormick, Osborne and Whiteley, the men who came to be known as reaper kings were not naturally fighters. No business men were ever gentler than Deering, Glessner, Warder, Adriance and Huntley. But the making of reapers was a new trade. It was like a vast, unfenced prairie, where every settler owned as much ground as he could defend.

Each step ahead meant a struggle for patents. Whoever built a reaper had to defend himself in the courts as well as approve himself in the harvest fields. Cyrus H. McCormick especially, as William Deering soon learned, wielded the big stick against every man who dared to make reapers. He was the grizzled old veteran of the trade, and he gave battle to his competitors as though they were a horde of trespassers. He was their common enemy, and the reaper money that was squandered on lawsuits brought a golden era of prosperity to the lawyers.

Some of these patent wars shook the country with the crash of hostile forces. The tide of battle rolled up to the supreme court and even into the halls of congress. Once in 1855, when McCormick charged full tilt upon John H. Manny, who was making reapers at Rockford, Ill., a three year struggle began that was the most noted legal duel of the day.

McCormick, to make sure of his victory, went into the fight with a battery of lawyers whom he thought invincible—William H. Seward, E. M. Dickerson and Senator Reverdy Johnson. Manny made a giant effort at self defense by hiring Abraham Lincoln, Edwin M. Stanton, Stephen A. Douglas, Peter H. Watson, George Harding and Congressman H. Winter Davis.

From first to last it was a lawyers' battle, and McCormick was finally defeated by Stanton, who made an unanswerably eloquent speech. For this speech Stanton received $10,000, and Lincoln, who had made no speech at all, was given $1,000. Yet in the long run the man who profited by this lawsuit was Lincoln, for it was this money that enabled him to carry on his famous debate with Douglas and thus made him the inevitable candidate of the Republican party. — H. N. Casson in Everybody's Magazine.

He Didn't Care.

"We—we want you to marry us," said the blushing young man, indicating a young woman with downcast eyes and smiling face who stood a step behind him.

"Come in," said the minister. And he endeavored to ease their embarrassment for a moment. But he soon decided that it was useless to try.

"Will you be married with a ring?" he inquired.

The young man turned a helpless gaze on his companion and then looked at the minister.

"If you've got one to spare and it can come out o' the $2, I guess she'd like it," he said at last.—Youth's Companion.

Solicitude.

"I have had a delightful evening, Miss Genevieve," said young Cholly, rising to go at 11:30, "and I had no idea it was so late, had you?"

"Why, Mr. Smallweed, I—"

"For heaven's sake, Miss Genevieve," exclaimed the young man in alarm, "don't yawn! There was a girl who yawned too hard the other day and dislocated her jaw!"

With an effort she turned the yawn into a laugh, and the idiot remained ten minutes longer.—Chicago Tribune.

How to Make Cold Cream.

To make cold cream take of oil of almonds two ounces, spermaceti half an ounce and white wax a dram. Melt together and while cooling add two ounces of rosewater, stirring until cold. Cold cream may also be made by this formula: Take four ounces of unsalted butter, four ounces of white wax and an ounce of vasoline. Melt together and perfume with oil of bergamot. The more cold creams are stirred and beaten while cooling the whiter they become.

FEET POSITIONS.

They Reveal the Character and Moods of the Individual.

It may seem strange, but it is nevertheless a fact, that just as the face reveals the character of the individual to those who are able to read and understand it, so the position of the feet is no less eloquent of their owner's mood.

The man who is at perfect peace with the world, content with himself and every one else, especially after a good dinner at which "he has done himself well," invariably stretches his feet out in front of him with his toes turned up.

Mental contentment, as opposed to that which is purely physical, is shown by the crossing of one foot over the other. If the condition becomes more marked, one knee is crossed over the other, and the free foot is often swung to and fro. The moment, however, the individual becomes interested in anything the swinging ceases and the free foot curls around the other ankle.

Bashful people invariably sit with their toes turned in. Why this should be it is undoubtedly difficult to explain, but there is no doubt about the fact. If the bashfulness rurs to great embarrassment, one foot, with the toes still turned in, seeks the consoling influence of the other and poises itself on the ankle of the other foot. If the bashfulness and embarrassment are noticed when the individual is standing, one foot is sure to be placed behind the other and be lifted up at frequent intervals, while as the embarrassment increases the raised foot rubs up and down the calf of the leg which supports the body.

The feeling of contentment is so likely to develop in many people into a mood of laziness that it is not surprising to find there is a certain resemblance between the position of the feet in both conditions. In laziness, however, the knees turn outward, and instead of the feet being closely placed together at the toes the toe of one foot is placed against the lower part of the shin of the other.

The pose of the self confident man or woman is no less equally marked. The feet are placed firmly on the ground, the toes pointed slightly outward, and the heel of the right foot directed to the ball of the left. It is the position which is naturally taken by soldiers and others who have been trained to take care of themselves, and naturally the habit has become second nature.

In opposition to this position is that of the man who walks with a shambling gait, the toes turned rather inward and with a distinct weakness of the ankle. It is perfectly safe to assume that such a man has a weak, shambling character and that he lacks directness of purpose, force of will and the energy which are all essential to making a success in life. Look at any one sitting down who has his or her feet firmly fixed on the ground two or three feet apart. The chances are ninety-nine in a hundred that if you turn your gaze to the face you will see an expression which clearly indicates that the individual is thinking seriously of some problem, and you may hazard a good deal that, all things being equal, he or she will carry through the project in mind to a successful issue.

On the other hand, the individual who is by no means sure of his own position is certain to proclaim that sense of insecurity by having one foot brought closely up to the other at the back and the knees of both legs bent.—London Tit-Bits.

FAMOUS SCHOLARS.

Men That Might Have Been Called Human Encyclopedias.

It has been said of Macaulay that not only did he retain in his prodigious memory all that he had ever learned, but that he had learned all manner of things no other scholar would have retained. Aside from his astonishingly comprehensive grasp of many branches of human knowledge, he was specially proud of the fact that he knew whole libraries by heart. It was his boast that in the event of a wholesale destruction of certain classics he would be able to supply the deficiency out of his memory. It was claimed among other things that he could recite "Paradise Lost" without a moment's pause for refreshing his recollection and that to reel off all the plays of Shakespeare was only child's play to him.

Another English scholar of astonishing erudition was Lyulph Stanley, of whom Lowell said, "He knows three times as many facts as any man whatever had any business to know."

Stanley is said to have had only one rival, Palgrave, the compiler of "The Golden Treasury." "It's an even chance which will return alive," was said when Stanley and Palgrave went on a trip together. When they did come back, it is related, Palgrave was pale, emaciated, silent. But Stanley seemed unmoved and more all knowing than ever.

Another human encyclopedia was Buckle, author of "The History of Civilization." One night, it is said, he was laying down the law on sundry topics with a pomposity that caused the table to quake. At last he put forth some statement about the burning of a witch, setting the date about a century out of the way. Stanley, who was present, had borne some preceding inaccuracies very well, with only a shaking of the head and a reddening of the face.

But at this juncture his self-control gave way and he leaped to his feet. Extending his hand, he piped forth in a vigorous treble: "I beg your pardon, sir, but the last witch was burned at such and such a place, in such and such circumstances. And her name was So-and-so, and you will find all about it in a book to which I can easily refer you and which you evidently don't know."

And so torrents of imprisoned knowledge were poured on Buckle's head until the historian of civilization sat wrathful, extinguished, mute. But in a little while he had his revenge. Some one had mentioned a new dictionary as a good one. "It is," said Buckle most solemnly, "one of the few dictionaries I have read through with pleasure." -St. Louis Republic.

Did you ever see an old fiddler's convention? If not go to the opera house Thursday night, 19th, where about fifty of the boys will show you how it is done.
