FOR COLONEL J. BRYAN GRIMES SHOULD BE CONTINUED AS SECRETARY OF STATE.

His Fellow Countrymen Proud of His Record and Recommend His Renomination by the State Convention.

Greenville, N. C., March 19, '08.

Eight years ago Pitt county presented to the State convention for nomination for office of Secretary of State her distinguished son Col. J. Bryan Grimes. He has been tried and has measured up to the claims of his friends. His record speaks for itself, is known to all the public men of the State and is especially commended by the class of business men and lawyers having dealings with this office.

Pitt county will again present his name for renomination and we desire briefly to review his record for the information of those who have not had the time, nor the means of keeping pace with it. The department of state is the great record office of the state. Here are deposited all the plots and surveys upon which all the lands of the state have been granted. Here are kept all the deeds, maps, manuscripts, laws and original documents of North Carolina. Here all corporations are charted and supervised, all laws enrolled and prepared for printing, all grants issued, etc.

The people are vitally interested in having the best and most efficient man they can get in this office. If all the people could visit the office of the Secretary of State and see for themselves the condition in which the office is kept and the systematic methods pursued by the present incumbent, there would not be the slightest doubt about their re-electing him to this office, but as this cannot be done it becomes necessary, in justice to him, and that the people may have the proper information, to briefly speak of the condition of the office and the methods adopted by him.

All records of every kind are now systematically and chronologically arranged in steel filing cases and carefully indexed. Formerly all laws and journals were enrolled by hand and other copy made for the printers, now this has been substituted by modernized methods in the interest of economy and accuracy.

In 1901 North Carolina adopted a new corporation law, which under the management of the present administration has given great satisfaction to our business interests and added large revenues to the State. This corporation department is now a model of efficiency and a number of states are patterning after it. This is largely due to the work of the present incumbent of the office. It is safe to say that more people have business with the department of State than any other State office and all these will bear testimony to the courtesy, promptness and accuracy with which business in this department is dispatched.

Col. Grimes is capable himself in the highest degree and he has surrounded himself with an obliging, competent and able corps of assistants as will be found in any State of the Union.

Col. Grimes is familiar with all phases of our state's history which enables him to be of peculiar and valuable assistance in the searching of land titles and in the studying of legislation.

Being Secretary of State makes him also a member of the Council of State, member of the State Board of Education, member of Board of Public Buildings and Grounds, member of the Printing Commission, etc. This makes his duties various and numerous and his safe counsel and wide experience is most valuable upon all these boards. He is not a seeker after praise. He is conservative in its best sense, and his steadfast convictions and fixed purposes have been most valuable to the State on more than one important occasion.

His chief interest being agriculture, since being in the office he has been especially zealous of all legislation, looking to the agricultural interest of the State and there is little legislation effecting this interest that he has not had a hand in shaping. The results of his work are known to this class of our citizens.

Himself the son of a distinguished soldier, he has always and at all times manifested a deep interest and extended a helping hand in all that pertains to their welfare and happiness.

Since the beginning of our history it has been the wise policy of the State to continue for long terms in office the Secretary of State. So fixed was this principle that from 1776 to 1859, a space of eighty three years, only three incumbents occupied the office. Until the war the Secretaries of State were retained in office regardless of their party affiliation, and since the war they have been retained in this office until removed by death or party changes, as their knowledge and experience becomes valuable to all the interests of the State.

As chairman of the Historical Commission, Col. Grimes is today doing a work for North Carolina second only to the great work of the lamented Col. Saunders.

Probably the one thing that above all others impresses itself upon an observer of all his acts during these eight years of his administration of the office is his soundness of judgment and ability to apply good, everyday, hard common sense to all propositions, which come before him, and to eliminate and discard all personal and prejudicial views and to place the subject in hand clearly upon its merits.

With strong, intelligent, and decided convictions upon all public questions he is never an extremist, and no matter how much excitement may prevail, or what the influences are that are brought to bear upon him he never for an instant loses sight of the fact that calm, intelligent and deliberate consideration of any proposition is the surest way for its proper solution.

In these days of quick changes and conflicting opinions in our own ranks it is wise to have men of this temperament at the helm of the State. Their judgment is always in demand and counts for much in the party. Wise, capable and efficient as Col. Grimes is, we feel that it would be a calamity to the State to lose his valuable service in this office for the next four years; therefore, as citizens of Col. Grimes' native county, as lovers of the Democratic party for the things for which it stands, and as citizens interested in the welfare of the State, we do heartily commend him for re-nomination. Nominate him and you increase the majority of the party in the next election. Nominate him and you fill the office with a man whose experience and intelligent observation make him the most capable man in the State for the position. Nominate him and follow the custom that the Democratic party has observed from the beginning of its history.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Miss Annie Irvine left Wednesday afternoon for Milton.

Mrs. M. Cherry, of Washington is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. E. Griffin.

Mrs. F. C. Abbott, of Kinston, is visiting her mother Mrs. Elizabeth Hooker.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bateman have returned from a visit to Plymouth and other points.

J. B. Harding left Thursday evening for Mexico where he will engage in civil engineering.

Mrs. Lawrence Hooker, of Greenville, who was en route home from a pleasure trip to Baltimore was the guest of Mrs. W. H. Snell a few hours Thursday.—Rocky Mount Echo.

The Lyman Twins Comedians.

The Lyman Brothers, who will appear here in the opera house in their big musical show, "The Yankee Drummers" have the remarkable distinction of being the only twin comedians today before the public.

These clever young players have made over one half of the people of the United States forget the toils of life and enjoy a good laugh although they are still in the twenties and even now at that age they are rated with the best comedians of the day, their work being full of originalities and funny eccentricities of the higher order.

Their new vehicle, "The Yankee Drummers," is an elaborate musical farce handsomely staged and filled with bright, clean and refreshing comedy, intermingled with pretty music, made sprightly by a dainty chorus elegantly costumed together with a complicated and funny story portrayed by a cast of clever fun makers.

Drunken Man in Her Berth.

Richmond, Va., March 19.—Mrs. M. Eaker, a young society woman today brought suit in the law and equity court, of this city, against the A. C. L. Railway Company and the Pullman Palace Car Company for damages in the sum of $12,000 for nervousness and fright resulting when a drunken man on the train tumbled into her berth in a sleeper, while she was in bed, en route from Wilmington to Weldon, in North Carolina.

THE OLD FIDDLERS' CONVENTION. GREENVILLE HAS AN EVENING OF GREAT PLEASURE.

There Weren't No Frills, but the Boys Certainly Did Play Fiddles and Banjos and the Dancing Was Immense.

Talk about unique and interesting entertainments, the old fiddlers' convention in the opera house, Thursday night, surpasses anything Greenville has had in a long time. Manager Ola Forbes certainly did his work well in getting the fiddlers together, for when the curtain went up there was a semi-circle of twenty three of the boys on the stage, some with fiddles, some with banjos, one cello, one guitar, some with coats off, some with hats on, every mother's son of them making music for dear life.

The overture "Mississippi Sawyer" was participated in by the aggregation of performers. From the start the large audience was delighted, and expressed its pleasure in almost constant applause and laughter.

Manager Forbes announced that there were to be several prizes awarded and requested Messrs A. A. Forbes, C. D. Rountree and G. J. Woodward to act as judges of the contest. He announced that each contestant would play three pieces and could have a partner to accompany him on banjo or second fiddle as he might prefer. Then the fun began sure enough, and the program was as follows:

Tingen and Eastwood, of Cobdale, "Arkansas Traveler," "Mountain Hill" and "Ephriam Got the Coon."

George Sutton and son of Black Jack, "Bob Riddle," "Mississippi Sawyer" and "Get Out of Town Cindy."

Shuffle dance, by Tingen, of Cobdale.

Davis and Willoughby, of Fountain, "Mississippi Sawyer" "Forked Deer" and "Turn Back the Sheets."

Willoughby and Davis "Snow Bird" "Way Down in Georgia," and "Mountain Polka."

Kinsey Davis, jig dance.
I. U. Joyner, banjo solos. "Arkansas Traveler," "Soldiers Joy" and "Get along Cindy."

Corey Brothers, "Get Along Cindy," "Leather Breeches" and "Pinkie Blue."

Evans Brothers "Old Cindy," "Arkansas Traveler" and "Honeywhirl."

Harrell Band, composed of Harrell brothers and V. B. Riddick and son, "Dancers Favorite" "Leather Breeches" and "Unknown Waltzes"

Edwards, Moore and Forbes "Ricket's Hornpipe" "Winnie Baker" and "Moore's Favorite." Tagwell and partner, "Mollie Put the Kettle on," and "Shoe Fly."

Kinsey Davis then gave as a climax a dance to which he played his own fiddle.

The prize winners were as follows: George Sutton best violin; John Edwards, second best violin; Tingen, best, banjo; Sutton, Jr. second best banjo; Davis, best dancer.

Some of the performers had to respond to encores, and it matter not whether it was a tune, a song or a dance, it struck the place to make the audience applaud. The fiddlers seemed to enjoy the convention equally as much as the audience and everybody pronounced it a great occasion.

That Ruling by the Post Office Department.

A newspaper and the subscribers who read it from year to year stand in very intimate relations to each other. They ought to be able to have a little talk with each other occasionally on business matters without misunderstanding each other. You feel very close to the editor whose words you read week by week, year in and year out. We know this both from our own experience, from what others have told us, and from the fact that unless you did have some such feeling, coupled with respect, you would not continue in the relation of subscriber. Presuming, therefore, that our subscribers will take what we have to say at its face value, we want to speak a few words in candor.

You have noticed from time to time the statement that after April the first the postoffice department will not deliver papers to subscribers who are one year in arrears with their subscriptions. Have you stopped to think why this rule has been made? It is no mere whim of the department, but a dire necessity, made so by the good of the public as well as by the needs of the department. Why are you able to buy a paper like The Journal and have it delivered at your door fifty-two times a year for the small sum of one dollar? One reason is that the government does not charge you any thing for carrying it to you. Many people do not know this, but it is so, that is if you live in the county in which the paper is published. If you live out of the county, the government charges at the rate of one cent a pound, for carrying the paper to you. Now, why does the government do this? Because it considers that the distribution of good newspapers and periodicals is necessary to the welfare and happiness of the people and that it is right for the government to aid in distributing these as cheaply as possible so that they will be within the reach of as many people as possible.

Now, here is the point: Under this ruling a great many worthless publications have sprung up that serve no useful purpose but are printed and distributed for private gain. Most of them are no good, the people do not subscribe for them and in many cases do not want them in their homes. Yet if your name ever gets in the hands of one of these sheets they will be sent to you forever whether you refuse to take them or not. The publishers do not expect you to pay. All they want is to get them into your hands for some ulterior purpose. Something that proposes is to preach socialism, anarchy, or some other nefarious doctrine. Most often, however, the publishers expect to make money, and do make millions out of the fraudulent schemes which they advertise and expect you to bite at. These advertisers can't get in reputable papers that people subscribe for and pay for year by year. Now the mass of this literature has grown so great that it is costing the government millions of dollars to carry it and it is swamping the mail service. Therefore a ruling must be made that will shut these out and still let legitimate papers go to the people free or at a low rate. This ruling, requiring that no papers except those whose readers subscribe for and pay for them will be sent, is the only way the department can get rid of the evil. So you see the reason for the ruling. The govern-

AYDEN ITEMS.

News Notes From a Hustling Town, Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., Mar. 20, 1908

Officers W. J. Hemby and D. O. Moore had another race yesterday, but the coon got away, and now their song seems to be "All Coons Look Alike to Me."

W. B. Smith and Miss Lillie Stokes, daughter of Otis Stokes, near here were united in marriage Tuesday evening.

The residence and its contents of Charles Savage, near Gardeners Cross Roads, were consumed by fire Tuesday evening. The house caught from fire in the yard where the women folks were washing clothes. There was no insurance and the loss falls heavily on Mr. Savage who is a poor man.

Miss Hattie Kittrell, of Winterville, has been here during the week visiting her sister, Mrs. Guy Taylor.

How about those tobacco warehouses? Keep the question agitated. They are a necessity to Ayden and the surrounding country and we should by all means have them. Get a hump on you, gentlemen, and let us have them.

Mr. Bond stands about as much chance against John H. Small as a goose egg does to hatch a blind mule. Small will go to congress as long as he lives and one year longer if he wants to. So the other fellows had just as well shut up. The edict has been passed and will never be revoked.

Flower Thieves.

It is certainly vexatious to people after expending a lot of labor and money in beautifying their front yards, to get up in the morning and find that their choicest flowers have been stolen during the night. Not only are flowers stolen from yards but they are also stolen from cemeteries.

The Greasy Pig.

Everyone try after the pig Friday night at the rink. He will be given to the one that lifts him off the floor by his ears. "Who shall catch him?" It will be lots of fun, "you bet." Admission ten cents for everybody. Nothing to skate. 3 19 2d

COL. GRIMES SHOULD BE RENOMINATED.

Elsewhere in this issue is an endorsement by a number of citizens of Pitt county of the candidacy of Col. J. Bryan Grimes for renomination to the office of Secretary of State by the Democratic State convention. Col. Grimes has held this office for eight years, and in all the State's history the office has never been more faithfully conducted or with more entire satisfaction to all the people. As peculiar fitness is necessary to the successful conduct of this office, it would be a serious mistake not to again elect him. It is in keeping with the custom of the State to retain men in this office and except it from the four or eight year changes made in other offices. During eighty three years the office was filled by three men. Experience and familiarity with the details of the office are invaluable to the State, and it is unwise to put aside a man of Col. Grimes' experience and capability for an inexperienced man.

The work done by Col. Grimes and the excellent condition of the office under his administration is set out so fully in the endorsement of his fellow county men referred to, that it need not be mentioned again here. The people of the State are fortunate in the opportunity to keep such a man as Col. Grimes in this office, and The Reflector does not believe the convention that meets in Charlotte in June will seriously consider any effort to wrest a renomination from him.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS.

(By a Contributor.)

Senator Bailey regards Roosevelt as a pretty good tonic but a pretty queer mixture.

Lillian Russell has given out an "infallible recipe for catching husbands." The fair Lillian also has an infallible recipe for getting rid of them.

Our navy is being criticised, but as long as our war ships are able to keep the armor line above the water and the guns working, it will be all right, won't it?

While he may not be responsible for the late financial "panic," Roosevelt is undoubtedly the author of the political panic now disturbing some of the G. O. P. brethren.

According to the ever truthful Houston Post, a woman of that city would be pleased "to hear her husband praise the beauty and talent of his lady friends." Poor thing! Evidently she is hopelessly deaf!

According to the Houston Post, a Dallas man has come home late seventy-eight nights in succession with a different explanation each time that was perfectly satisfactory to his wife. A man like that really ought to be in the diplomatic service of his country.

No Ella we can't tell why the rising generation rises late.

A PRONUNCIATION PUZZLE.

Test Yourself by Reading Aloud This Little Story.

The following "episode" will prove a very clever puzzle as a test of the ability of people to pronounce readily and correctly many common words:

An interesting inquiry took place in the court of over and terminer some time ago. Indisputable evidence was given toward proving that a heinous incident had taken place during a public pageant. It seems that a pretty girl, rather juvenile in appearance, having an extraordinary head of hair, like an Albino, represented Thalia and sat on a pedestal erected on one of the floats. The procession was directing its course down the mall when the attention of the onlookers was drawn to the excited conduct of one of the spectators who had fixed her eyes upon the tiara, set with jewels in the form of a carat, which Thalia wore upon her head as she sat in what seemed to be her wonted attitude of nonchalance and leisure. This person was afterward shown to be a maniacal laundress whose equal and detestation and hideous grimaces were all unnoticed by the mock goddess. What vagary bade this reptile turn her servile eyes, full of rapine, on the beautiful maiden it is hard to say, but suddenly, under pretense of seeing something on the ground, she produced a hiatus in the crowd and thus obtained precedence of all. Simultaneously with her appearance the van drove past. She then filled the air with gross rallery and began to promulgate snarls, society's lack of probity and the general predilection of politicians for patronage.

Then she besought her audience to hear her dilate on the glaciers of the Alps, the ruins of Pompeii, the female franchise, the Pleiades and her patron saint. She was evidently demented, and the flow of her vocables appeared endless. Suddenly she raised a pestle which had been hidden under her shawl and threw it directly at the visor on the girl's head. Thereupon a flaccid lithographer who was cutting a swath as a tribune on the following van grasped a seine and threw it over the gaunt old hag, so that her efforts to escape were futile, and she became as docile as a lamb. The pathos of the affair lay in the way the girl bore the ordeal. In court the virago gave an alias instead of her own name. Her defense was that vaccine, whose presence was shown by a scabious arm, together with desuetude in the matter of personal freedom, had produced an obsession which decreed the irrevocable death of the girl. An inventory of her belongings was made, and she was then sent to an asylum as a victim of acute homicidal mania.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily; when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. T. S. Norman, 911 Evans St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I gladly give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement as they have proven greater benefit to me than any remedy I ever used. Prior to using them I suffered severely from a dull aching through the small of my back. There was also a soreness about my kidney regions and I was hardly able to get around on account of the sharp darting pains through my loins. When arising in the morning, I felt tired and languid and during the day had but little ambition or energy. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wooten's drug store, the backache and pains have entirely disappeared. I do not suffer from headaches and that tired languid feeling has disappeared. My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has been so satisfactory that I do not hesitate to give them my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

To Cough Properly.

Few people know how to cough properly. It never occurs to the ordinary individual that there is a right way and a wrong way of doing it. Yet it is a matter of no small importance. If every sigh means a drop of blood out of the heart, as people say, every cough means some greater or less proportion of time knocked off one's life. Most people cough as loudly and forcibly as they can. But it is rather costly noise, for the single reason that it tears and inflames the lungs. The lungs consist of an extraordinarily delicate spongelike tissue, which sometimes gets inflamed and choked with phlegm. When we try to get rid of this substance we cough. But obviously if we remove it violently we must necessarily injure the delicate lung tissue. Therefore train yourself to cough as gently as possible.

Mrs. Marble after the death of her husband went to Mr. Stone, a dealer in headstones, and consulted him in reference to an inscription. She said, "Put on it, 'To my dearest husband,' and if there be any room left, 'We shall meet in heaven.'"

Entering the cemetery and going to her husband's grave, she noticed the headstone and quickly rushed to see how he had engraved it. The poor old widow's heart beat with pain when she read the following on the headstone: "To my dearest husband, and if there be any room left we shall meet in heaven."—Port Chester Record.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State Warden of Georgia, says of Kodol For Dyspepsia: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sirs—I have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach. I lost 25 lbs; in fact I made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and I was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. Kodol did it. I keep a bottle constantly, and write this hoping that humanity will be benefitted. Yours very truly, Jake C. Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904." Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

During the month of March the subscription list of The Daily Reflector will be revised so as to comply with the law of the Government Postoffice Department which goes in effect April 1st. Under this law daily newspapers cannot be sent to subscribers who do not renew within 3 months after date to which their subscription is paid. To send it more than 3 months longer than it is paid for will require a 1-cent stamp on each paper.

Therefore we ask every subscriber to The Daily Reflector who owes for 3 months or longer, to send a remittance at once so we can keep your name on our list. The publisher can have no choice in this but will have to comply with the law.

If subscribers prefer to remit for three months at the time it is all right, but in that case they will have to pay every 3 months, or they can pay as many months at the time as they like so as to save the trouble of remitting oftener.

We hope every subscriber will attend to this promptly as we had rather not drop a single name from our list. But bear in mind that The Daily Reflector cannot be mailed after April 1st to any person who owes for 3 months or longer.

POPULAR PHRASES.

Some Familiar Lines That Are Constantly Misquoted.

Critics who assert that we get more slovenly and careless every day in speech, manners and customs have proof of part of their assertion at any rate in the manner in which the writings of famous authors are continually being misquoted and distorted. In Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner" are these words: "Water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink." Ninety-nine people in a hundred say "and not a drop to drink" for the last line.

Again, how often we hear people sing, "Rule, Britannia, Britannia rules (instead of rule) the waves," and quote Macbeth as saying, "Screw your courage to the sticking point," instead of "sticking place." Those two familiar lines of Samuel Butler's, "He that complies against his will is of his own opinion still," are usually misquoted as, "Convince a man against his will, he's of the same opinion still."

Shakespeare never wrote "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," although this is the version generally given of the correct words from "Henry VI.," which run, "It blows the wind that profits nobody." Nathaniel Lee is similarly treated in regard to his phrase, "When Greeks joined Greeks then was the tug of war," which more often than not is misquoted as, "When Greek meets Greek then comes the tug of war."

"Money is the root of all evil" is a travesty of the line from the first Epistle of St. Paul to Timothy, "The love of money is the root of all evil." Another Scriptural passage which is often incorrectly quoted is the sentence from Proverbs, "Pride goeth before destruction and an haughty spirit before a fall." The popular version is, "Pride goes before a fall."

That fine phrase from Wolfe's poem, "The Burial of Sir John Moore," which runs, "But we left him alone with his glory," is very badly treated by people who say, "Alone in his glory," while the correct words, as written by Longfellow, of the phrase so often used, "All things come to him who waits," are, "All things come around to him who will but wait."—London Tit-Bits.

"For Short."

The names bestowed upon some of the small southern negroes remind one of those of the old Roundhead days—Hope Above Williams, Have Faith to Be Saved John Mitchell, and so on. Not long ago a visitor in Richmond was having his shoes polished by a little coal black specimen about eighteen inches in height, but possessed of gleaming white teeth and rolling eyes.

"What is your name?" the visitor idly asked. "Gen, sah," was the reply, accompanied by a grin of startling proportions.

"Gen?" I suppose that is an abbreviation of general?" the visitor, who had some idea of the fondness of negroes for titles, inquired.

"No, sah; don't know as 'tis," was the reply, "abbreviation" evidently being too much for him. "Mah sho' nough name am Genesis XXX 33 So Shall My Righteousness Answer For Me In Time to Come Washington Carter, an' dey des calls me Gen for short!"—Bohemian.

A Perverted Inscription.

At Magus Muir, near St. Andrews, is a monument to Archbishop Sharp, marking the spot where he was slain—a saevie inimicis. Some descendant of the covenanters objected to the inscription and chipped off the top bars of the E, making the inimicis "salvis," which, in view of the failure to bring them to justice, is not far from the truth.

It will be readily seen that "Slain by 'cruel enemies," as the original inscription implied, bears a very different meaning from the perverted reading, which may be translated, "Slain by 'uninjured' enemies."

Paid For His Opinion.

On a tour in Canada Rudyard Kipling had a little disagreement with the landlord of the hotel at which he was staying, says London Tit-Bits. Just before leaving the hotel the famous author asked to see the proprietor, and upon that worthy appearing he was greeted thus: "I want to tell you that of all the hotels under the shining sun I have never seen one that for unmitigated, all round, unendurable discomfort could equal yours." When Kipling got his bill one item in it read, "To impudence, $3."

Not the Man.

Loafer (saluting perfect stranger)—I remember you, major, when you was in the regiment.

Stranger—What! In the Ninety-ninth?

Loafer—Yus, major.

Stranger—Company A?

Loafer—Yus, major.

Stranger—Always getting drunk?

Loafer—I won't go so far as to deny as I took a drop extra now and then, major.

Stranger—Discharged with ignominy for cowardice?

Loafer—Ardly that, major, for I allus did my duty.

Stranger—Then you're not the man!—Punch.

Are You About to Invest In a Piano?

If so invest in a good one, and buy it from a firm of established reputation. If there is honor in whatever house you deal with there will be worth and value in whatever goods it sells. It has always been our greatest pride in affording protection to our patrons. There are now more Stieff and Kohler & Campbell Pianos in the homes of Pitt county than all other makes combined. There must be a reason why. Below is given a partial number of Greenville people whom I sold Stieff and Kohler & Campbell Pianos, and he prospective piano buyer is referred to the following list:
