Heinous Crime in Elizabeth City—Citizen of Sampson County Drops Dead.

Elizabeth City, N. C., April 6.—One of the most heinous crimes ever heard of in this section leaked out this morning when it was learned that a warrant had been sworn out for J. J. O'Neal, charging him with raping his eleven-year-old step-child.

Capt. Edwin W. Kerr, a leading citizen of Sampson county, suddenly dropped dead in the railroad station at Clinton while standing at the window purchasing a ticket.

Tim Underwood, of Wayne county, was instantly killed by a tree falling on him while at work in a lumber camp near Seven Springs.

A six-year-old boy of Newton, cut off three of his fingers while playing with an axe.

Newspaper Business.

Considered as a manufacturing enterprise, newspaper making is enormously hazardous and absurdly unremunerative. With the very many other manufacturing concerns throughout the country, the rule is that they don't make profits are shut down, but that is not so with newspapers. They always have moral and political reasons for clinging to life long, long after there has ceased to be any pecuniary warrant for it. A newspaper in these days is about as like to declare a dividend as a church is. Competition between papers is intense and the price of nearly all of them is too low, the cost of white paper and manufacture too high, and they give a great deal too much for the meagre one cent or two cent which seems to be the standard prices now charged for the daily issue of newspapers. We hope that our Great Ruler will soon make a law that no newspaper shall be more than eight pages on week days nor sell for less than two cents.—New Bern Sun.

Beware of Imposters.

The police of Ayden are looking for C. F. Smith, who was there a few days ago representing himself as a solicitor for the Atlanta Constitution. Smith it seems has been discharged by the publishers but has for some time been taking subscriptions for them and using the money for his own use, not turning anything over to the publishers. He may turn up here, if so, don't subscribe.—Kinston Free Press.

No doubt this is the same man who not long since was around Greenville several days taking subscriptions for the Constitution. Our people should be careful how they give their money to strangers in matters of this kind. When you want papers away from home either order them yourself or get some one you know to do so for you.

Another Boy Saved.

Tuesday afternoon some colored boys were playing about the wharf at the river when of them, a little son of Boston Boyd, fell in the river. The other boys made an outcry which was heard by Mr. G. E. Harris, who was looking after some goods in a nearby warehouse. Mr. Harris rushed out, jumped into the river and saved the boy after he had sunk.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. April 8, 1908.

Rev. T. H. King preached two excellent sermons at the Baptist church Sunday morning and night. Dr. W. C. Tyree, of Raleigh will assist him here next week in a series of meetings beginning Monday night. All are cordially invited to these services.

A. G. Cox and Rev. T. H. King held a temperance rally at Hope-well Sunday afternoon.

F. C. Nye and Herbert Cox attended services at Everett's school house Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. E. Ayscue, of Greenville preached an excellent sermon.

J. D. Cox returned from Raleigh Monday.

Mrs. W. H. Rouse, of Greenville, spent Sunday here with relatives.

Miss Dora Fleming returned to her home near Stokes Monday after having spent Sunday with Miss Lala Chapman.

Miss Blanche Cannon, of Ayden, spent Sunday here with Misses Roberson and Bunting.

Rev. N. C. Duncan could not get to his appointment at Vanceboro Sunday on account of a late train.

The Philo-Altean society of Winterville High School gave one of the most enjoyable entertainments we have had this year. There was also a large number out to hear it. This has been the best year's work ever done by the society and their exercises are of a high order.

Rev. T. H. King went to Greenville yesterday.

We are glad to announce that the Oxford Orphanage singing class will give an entertainment here April 28th in the auditorium of Winterville High School.

Mignonette Drives Away Flies.

Mignonette, it has been discovered, is abhorred of flies, and in a room where pots of the flower are set no fly will linger for a moment.

Now is the time to sow the seeds, and for early blooming the pots must be subjected to gentle heat. Instead of flypapers and and horribly sticky brown mixtures left about the room in glass dishes what a blessed resource as a deterrent to the irritating fly is the sweet, wholesome flower of mignonette!—Gentle Woman.

Music on a Bench.

An old colored man was here today with a musical instrument that is a novelty. It consisted of a short bench on top of which were five strands of common wire. By means of buttons or bridges made of small blocks the wires were tuned and the music was produced by beating on them with two small sticks. The old man made real good music on this novel instrument.

Spring Opening.

Thursday, Friday, Saturday of this week I will display at my Green house in West Greenville, the finest collection of Easter plants ever seen in Greenville. Be sure and come at once and make your selection as most of the plants not spoken of here will be taken to other towns Monday. "First come, first served."

Ollen E. Warren, Florist.

50,000 Tomatoe plants now ready to plant, both potted and trans plants. Ollen E. Warren.

OAKLEY ITEMS.

Oakley, N. C., April 7, 1907.

Mrs. T. F. Nelson and children visited at Bethel Sunday.

E. Carson went to Norfolk Sunday.

Tamo Gray and David James, of Whichard, were callers at Oakley Sunday.

Robt and Ben Jenkins went to Stokes Sunday.

Judging from the number of drummers here last week they must have been run out of other towns.

Will Overton, of Stokes, spent Friday here.

The latest thing in Oakley is a crate factory.

John Belcher has been appointed mayor to fill the unexpired term of former mayor, J. I. James, who moved out of town.

Miss Margaret Little, of Parmele and Miss Fannie Keel, of Robersonville, spent Thursday night with Miss Irma Hines.

Last Tuesday night Mr. E. Fleming and Miss Tarey Butler, both of this place, drove to Robersonville and were married. It was quite a surprise when it was learned that this popular young couple had been married.

H. A. Gray and wife went to Whichard Sunday.

Richard Worsley, of Rocky Mount, spent Tuesday night here with friends.

Robt. Tunstall, of Kinston, spent Monday here on business.

J. E. Hines left today for the western part of the State after spending a few days here with his family.

A Black Boy Mercifully Saved by White Man.

To whom it may concern: I want to announce that I am very grateful to Mr. Ed. Harris for his death daring leap to save my boy from drowning. If it is worth anything to him, the remembrance of it will always be fresh to my memory.

Boston N. Boyd.

Store at Grifton Robbed.

The store of J. R. Harvey & Co., at Grifton, was robbed last Saturday night, some over $100 worth of goods being taken. A negro was arrested in Tarboro Tuesday who is charged with being one of the parties who robbed the store. Mr. W. C. Hines brought the negro to Greenville and placed him in jail.

Died.

One of the twin children about 18 months old, of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nichols, died Tuesday morning at their home a mile west of town, of meningitis. The burial took place today.

Notice.

A special meeting of the board of county commissioners for the county of Pitt is hereby called to meet at the court house in Greenville on Wednesday, April 15th, 1908, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of making such final orders to perfect and complete the sale of bonds for the Eastern Carolina Teachers' Training School and such other business as may come before the board.

This the 8th day of April, 1908
R. W. King,
Ch'm B'd Com.

For County Treasurer.

I hereby beg to announce myself as a candidate for the position as Treasurer of the county of Pitt, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries of the county.

FUNERAL OF DR. W. H. BAGWELL.

Remains Interred in Cherry Hill Cemetery This Afternoon.

The funeral of Dr. W. H. Bagwell, whose death occurred suddenly Tuesday morning, took place at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, a great concourse of sorrowing friends attending the services. The body was taken from the late residence to the Memorial Baptist church where service was conducted by Rev. J. E. Ayscue. From the church the remains were in charge of Pythian and Odd Fellows lodges, he being a member of both, and the services at the grave in Cherry Hill cemetery were under the auspices of the two fraternities.

The pall bearers were as follows:

Active—Messrs W. H. Ragsdale, D. J. Whichard, J. B. Little, J. F. Davenport, R. C. Flanagan, J. S. Tunstall, J. L. Fleming, J. C. Tyson, J. S. Smith and J. L. Wooten.

Honorary—The physicians of the town, Drs C. O'H. Laughinghouse, E. A. Moyer, J. E. Nobles, William Fountain, L. C. Skinner, Zeno Brown, and Jenness Morrill, Trustees of the graded school, Messrs T. J. Jarvis, W. B. Wilson, W. L. Brown, D. S. Spain, Charles Cobb, G. E. Harris, J. R. Moore, F. C. Harding, R. L. Carr, D. C. Moore, J. C. Lanier, J. L. Little and R. J. Cobb.

Dr. Bagwell being one of the trustees of the graded school the school was closed today in honor of his memory and the faculty and pupils attended the funeral.

The Girls Were Still One Ahead.

A young and bashful professor was frequently embarrassed by jokes his girls would play on him. These jokes were so frequent that he decided to punish the next perpetrators and the result of this decision was that two girls were detained an hour after school and made to work some difficult problems as punishment.

It was the custom to answer the roll call with quotations, so the following morning, when Miss A's name was called she rose, looking straight in the professor's eye, repeated: "With all thy faults I love thee still," while Miss B's quotation was: "The hours I spend with thee, dear heart, are as a string of pearls to me."—Ladies Home Journal.

In a Smash Up.

Fred Harris, the colored man who drives for Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse and looks after his horses, was out with one of them this morning. He was using a rubber bit on the horse, and the bit breaking gave the horse an opportunity to run away which he used to effect. Fred held on to the reins and was dragged some distance, cutting the skin from his head in several places and badly spraining both arms. The buggy and harness were a complete wreck.

Plenty of Public Buildings.

The public building appropriation bill carry with it about twenty million dollars, for the erection of public buildings throughout the county. An effort was made to cut it down to about ten millions but it failed. The reports from Washington say that almost every State will be represented and there is very little trouble about the bill passing.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

J. B. Randolph went to Bethel today.

E. H. Thomas went to Tarboro today.

W. C. Hines went to Washington today.

Mr. F. G. Smith and child went to Belhaven today.

Rev. J. H. Griffith, of Kinston, came over this morning.

Harry Skinner returned this morning from Raleigh.

H. G. Rodgers returned this morning from Charlotte.

J. E. Starkey, of Wilmington, came in this morning.

J. R. Gaskill, of Tarboro, came in on the midday train.

J. D. Garden and Dr. L. C. Skinner went to Ayden today.

Mrs. Will J. Boyd, of Ayden, spent the day here with relatives.

J. G. Ruthford, agent of Spark's show, was here today.

John Bagwell came home to day from Hamlet to attend the funeral of his father.

Misses Ivor Winstead, of Rocky Mount, and Beulah Lawrence, of Old Sparta, are visiting Mrs. W. M. King.

Mesdames Whit Moore, A. B. Barnhill, M. L. James and E. A. Phelps, of Everetts, came in today to visit relatives.

L. C. and H. B. Bagwell, brothers of the late Dr. W. H. Bagwell, and Misses Minnie and Mamie Bagwell, nees, all of Raleigh, arrived this morning to attend the funeral.

W. B. Brown returned Tuesday evening from Baltimore bringing his daughter, Miss Lee, who has been in the hospital there for several weeks. Her friends are glad that her health has greatly improved.

It seems that even Arkansas is about to conclude that she has had enough of Davis.

You may talk prohibition, but if your poll tax is not paid by the first of May you cannot vote for it.

Prince Helle may raise his name when he succeeds in getting a part of Mme. Gould's millions.

If Taft is short in that part of his anatomy covered by the hat, he is long in that part encircled by the belt.

There has been another consolidation of newspapers in Raleigh, The Caucasian purchasing The Enterprise. Both were weekly papers.

The Wilmington Star gives as a reason why Taft should not be president, and it is a good one, that "what is wanted in a president is quality, not quantity."

"Uncle Sam" does feel the pinch of the money panic. His appropriation for the army bill is only $100,000,000, and that amount of pocket change is easy.

There is no accounting for a boy. He wants to hurry and get out of short pants, but no sooner does he put on long ones than he goes to turning them up at the bottom.

Some of the papers say fruit is practically all killed and others say it is not materially injured. We will have to wait until summer to decide which to believe.

Death has lately been laying a heavy hand on congress. The last member to be taken was Congressman A. L. Brick, of Indiana, whose death occurred suddenly Tuesday.

Tuesday Illinois voted 1,500 saloons out of twenty counties in that State. Thus the march of prohibition goes forward. On May 26th North Carolina is going to vote them out of the whole State where they are not already out.

President Finley, of the Southern railway, in arguing that business is improving, says the recent depression taught a lesson in economy. No doubt about that. It was a lesson that forced itself on you whether you wanted to learn it or not.

The Daily Free Press, of Kingston, has rounded its tenth year. The Free Press admirably fills its mission as a live newspaper and is a power for good in its town and section. We can wish it nothing better than that it may meet with the success it deserves.

BRAWN BEAT STEAM.

Odd Contest in the Early Days of Steam Fire Engines.

In what are sometimes called the halcyon days of the volunteer fire department of New York there was a prejudice against the use of steam power on fire engines. The New York firemen still believed in the work of ready hands and proved their sincerity by challenging an Ohio inventor of a steam fire engine named Latta to a public trial of strength and excellence in the city hall park. The challenge was accepted, and the engine reached New York on Feb. 8, 1855. On the next day in the city hall park in the presence of 20,000 spectators the trial of skill took place. At the request of the common council the Exempt engine company entered the lists with hand engine No. 42, the old "hay wagon," and proceeded to compete with the Latta steam engine.

A match was applied to the kindling wood in the Ohio steam engine, which in eight and a half minutes began to pump and discharge water through two large suction. The "hay wagon" led off by throwing a stream of water toward Beekman street through a one and one-eighth inch nozzle, the steam engine following with a stream in the same direction through a one and five-eighths inch triangular nozzle. When measured, the stream of the former was found to be 189 feet long and that of the latter 182 feet. Again the competing engines played. At a distance of about 200 feet a party of small boys stood in the street tauntingly demanding to be drenched. The Cincinnati engine unsuccessfully endeavored to gratify them, but when the New York engine began to play they fled in the midst of a drenching shower bath Cincinnati was beaten by fifteen feet.

Then a third trial was ordered. Upon the roof of the city hall 150 feet of hose was hoisted and the pipes pointed upward toward the figure of Justice on the cupola. Pulling themselves together for a last great effort, the New York exempts manned the brakes. For a minute the two streams remained at equal height. Then, amid unbounded applause, the New Yorkers sent their stream clear above that of their contestants and kept it so until the end.—New York Sun.

Helping Him Out.

Lord S., a noted athlete, once took a journey from the metropolis purposely to challenge a blacksmith whom he found working in an inclosure a little distance from his forge. His lordship tied his horse to a tree and then addressed the blacksmith:

"Friend, I've heard wonderful reports of your skill and have come a long way to see which of us two is the better wrestler."

The blacksmith, without a word, seized his lordship, pitched him over the hedge and then resumed his work.

The nobleman slowly picked himself up.

"Well," said the blacksmith, "have you anything more to say to me?"

"No," replied his lordship, "but perhaps you'd be kind enough to throw me my horse!"—London Standard.

Salesman—Here, madam, is a sewing machine with a music box attachment. It has a repertoire of airs to suit all styles of sewing.

Customer—I don't understand.

Salesman—Well, for instance, suppose you are mending a bathing suit. Turn the indicator to "I'll Splash You if You Splash Me." Then when you are sewing up a rip in the wash cloth do it to the accompaniment of "It's a Grand Old Rag." When stitching a hole in your male parent's handkerchief, let it play "The Blow Almost Killed Father," and—

Customer—Yes, but suppose I was making a crazy quilt?

Salesman—Do it to the tune of "Every Little Bit Helps."

Customer—I'll take it.

Tail Spells Ox.

A lady was one day teaching her little girl how to spell. She used a pictorial primer, and over each word was the accompanying illustration. Polly glibly spelled "o-x, ox," and "b-o-x, box," and the mother thought she was making "very rapid progress," perhaps even too rapid. So she put her hand over the picture and then asked:

"Polly, what does o-x spell?"

"Ox," answered Polly nimbly.

"How do you know that it spells ox?"

"Seed his tail!" she responded.

His Way Out.

"How did your husband get out of the building after he had located the gas leak?" asked the reporter.

"As nearly as he could remember it afterward," said the woman, "he went out through the roof."—Chicago Tribune.

Deafness Cannot be cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free of charge. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Kodol for Dyspepsia has helped thousands of people who have had stomach trouble. This is what one man says of it: "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill.—Gentlemen—In 1897 I had a disease of the stomach and bowels. I could not digest anything I ate and in the spring of 1902 I bought a bottle of Kodol and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper. Yours very truly, C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., Aug. 27, 1906. Wooten's Drug Store.

Query—"Is a poor reputation better than none at all?"

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup—the cough syrup that tastes nearly as good as maple sugar and which children like so well to take. Unlike nearly all other cough remedies, it does not constipate, but on the other hand it acts promptly yet gently on the bowels, through which the cold is forced out of the system, and at the same time it allays inflammation. Always use Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Do you know of anything that is harder to get than easy money?

To have perfect health we must have perfect digestion, and it is very important not to permit of any delay the moment the stomach feels out of order. Take something at once that you know will promptly and unfailingly assist digestion. There is nothing better than Kodol for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas and nervous headache. Kodol is a natural digestant and will digest what you eat. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

No, Cordelia, you don't have to wear pumps in order to play the organ.

The kidneys are delicate and sensitive organs and are very likely at any time to get out of order. DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are prompt and thorough and will in a very short time strengthen the weakened kidneys and allay troubles arising from inflammation of the bladder. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Even the man who lives upright isn't apt to die in that position.

A big cut or a little cut, small scratches or bruises or big ones are healed quickly by DeWitt's Carbolic Witch Hazel Salve. It is especially good for piles. Get DeWitt's. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

Notice.

STAGE REALISM.

Humor and Courtesy of Irving (a Reply to a Critic).

The late Sir Henry Irving's famous London production of "Henry VIII." ended with the christening of the infant Princess Elizabeth, for which, of course, a large life-like doll was used instead of a real baby. The play had run a good many nights when one day the actor received a letter of protest from one who made it plain that he was a firm believer in realism on the stage.

"The complete success of 'Henry VIII.' was marred last night," the letter ran, "when the king kissed the baby. The whole house tittered. 'Herewith I offer the hire of one real baby—my own—for the purpose of personating the offspring.'"

It was a delicate matter for Sir Henry to decline the services of a man's own baby, but with the help of his manager, Mr. Bram Stoker, the famous actor composed a reply which combined courtesy and humor and which has been incorporated in "Personal Reminiscences of Henry Irving."

"Mr. Irving fears," wrote Mr. Stoker, "that there might be some difficulty in making the changes you suggest with regard to the Princess Elizabeth in the play."

"If reality is to be achieved it should of necessity be real reality and not seeming reality, for that we have already on the stage. A series of difficulties then arises, any of which you and your family might find insuperable."

"If your real baby were provided it might be difficult or even impossible for the actor who impersonates King Henry VIII. to feel the real feelings of a father toward it. This would necessitate your playing the part of the king and further would require that your wife should play the part of Queen Anne Boleyn. This might not suit either of you, especially as in reality Henry VIII. had afterward his wife's head cut off."

"To this your wife might naturally object. But even if she were willing to accept this form of reality and you were willing to accept the responsibility on your part Mr. Irving would, for his own sake, have to object."

"By law if you had your wife decapitated you would be tried for murder. But as Mr. Irving would also be tried as an accessory before the fact he, too, would stand in danger of his life. To this he distinctly objects, as he considers the end aimed at is not worth the risk involved."

The Novelist's Mission.

The neglect of Disraeli's writings may be in part due to the fact that most people think it is below the dignity of a statesman or of any man following what is called a "serious" profession to compose works of fiction. Certainly many do not yet understand that the man who writes novels may be a very wise man. They do not realize that accurately to portray human nature and to present pictures of life is not only a most worthy but also a most difficult task, requiring for its performance an intelligence far above the average acute powers of observation and a keen sense of humor, for surely the great novelist is the observer sounding the depths while others glance at the surface and examining the mysteries of life while others are content to overlook even the obvious.—Melville's "Victorian Novelists."

A Great Pity.

In his very, very early youth Mr. Mumpser had been a pretty child. His friends did not believe this was possible, and even he had forgotten all about it until one day he unearthed a painting of himself at that period from among some old lumber. This he handed to his wife as some compensation for his present somewhat worn eaten appearance.

"There, Alice," said Mrs. Mumpser, proudly exhibiting the picture to the servant, "that is a portrait of your master painted when he was a child."

Alice gazed open mouthed at the production.

"Lor, mum," she said after some moments, "what a pity it is we have to grow up, ain't it?"—London Standard.

His Idea of a Wife.

Discussing with a representative of an Irish paper the qualities a wife should possess, a tramp said the other day that she should be "an all around woman," between forty and fifty years, not handsome, but temperate. "If there is any drinking to be done," he said, "I can see to it. She should be able to walk twenty miles a day and be good at begging bottles and potatoes and also at ballad singing. She should be able to fight a round or two to defend her husband when in action."

PREJUDICE.

It Is Not Always Merely an Unreasonable Judgment.

What is prejudice? Is it always something unreasonable? Is it to be regarded as necessarily an intruder among the more sober activities of the mind? Is it an enemy of clear thinking—the counterfeit of a true judgment? On the contrary, there is a certain form of prejudice which admits of defense. There is a prejudice which has a proper place in the mind and must be reckoned with as a natural factor in our thinking and not as an abnormal and disturbing element. It is very easy to insist that reason should be free of prejudice. But no one maintains consistently and continuously so high an ideal in practice. It is not merely that prejudices will steal in despite our most vigilant guard and in the face of protest and serious effort on our part to drive them out. But in a certain sense there is a true function for prejudice to perform amid the varied activities of the mind. A prejudice is not always an unreasonable judgment. It may be merely unreasoned. And there is a vast difference in this distinction, for the judgment which is simply unreasoned may prove in the course of events to be eminently reasonable and as such, even in its unreasoned form, may serve a most useful purpose in our thinking.

There unreasoned judgments are absolutely indispensable in the economy of our mental life. If we excluded all judgments which are not accompanied by a satisfactory proof of their validity, a tremendous waste of time and energy would result, for it is a fundamental law of our intellectual activity that the processes of reason by which we arrive at certain conclusions often drop out of memory. But the conclusions themselves remain as a permanent deposit of knowledge. The proof which we once knew and perfectly understood may be forgotten, but the truth which it established is lodged permanently in the mind. The history of its origin we no longer remember. It appears, therefore, as a detached judgment.—Scribner's Magazine.

Very Hard!

The wedding was over—all the ceremony and the splendor and the speechifying and the smiles. Amid a shower of shoes and rice the bride and bridegroom had departed in their carriage for Charing Cross station.

The affected parent stood in silence as the lucky pair vanished gradually into space. Tears streamed down his cheeks. The sympathetic guest laid a compassionate hand upon his arm.

"I know—I know!" he murmured gently. "It must have been hard indeed for you to lose your daughter."

The old man raised his head and nodded.

"So hard—so hard!" he answered, dashing a sign of weakness from his eyes. "But Ethel is a dear, sweet girl and would not fail us. She was a long, long time about it, but she landed the fellow just as we had given up all hope!"—London Scraps.

Too Much For Her Chief.

There is a cabinet officer at Washington who for a long time was greatly annoyed by the incessant requests for promotion preferred by a young woman in his department who was a friend of his family.

One afternoon last winter she entered the great man's office with the usual application. Unfortunately the head of the department was in anything but a good humor that day. So he flared up instantly.

"Upon my word," exclaimed he, "you clerks are the bane of my life! You"—He stopped short, as if restraining himself. Then he burst out again with, "I wish to goodness you were a man!"

The young woman flashed a glance at him from a particularly fine pair of eyes, and as a smile came to her handsome face she replied, "Mr. Secretary, you are the first man who ever wished that."

This was too much for the chief. She got her promotion.

The Loyal Irishman.

Speaking of a diplomat, a Washington official said: "He reminds me of an Austrian nobleman who once made a big tour. At Prag he said that if he were not a Wiener he would like to be a Prager. He said the same thing with reference to Budapest and other places when he visited them. The various speeches pleased the hearers, but I prefer the Irishman's style."

"And what was that?" was asked. "He became well acquainted with a Frenchman, who said to him once: 'Pat, if I were not a Frenchman I'd be an Irishman. Now, if you were not an Irishman what would you like to be?'"

"Sure," said Pat, "if I were not Irish I'd be—well, I'd be ashamed of myself."

A LESSON IN ECONOMY

A STENOGRAPHER in a prominent business house, who operated a typewriter where the carriage had to be raised to see what was written, wasted eight minutes in one hour in lifting that carriage.

She was employed eight hours per day. On this basis she lost 64 minutes that day.

She would lose in one year of 300 working days 320 hours.

She was paid $2.50 per day for eight hours' work, 35.7 cents per hour.

Her employer, therefore, would have paid her $114.24 in one year, for which he received no equivalent.

There were ten stenographers employed in this office, and if they all lost the same amount of time, he would have paid in one year $1,142.40 for which he enjoyed no benefit.

In ten years he would have paid $11,424.00 for nothing.

Every business man using a typewriter that does not write in sight, but on which you have to raise the carriage to see the writing, is losing money in the same proportion.

WHICH IS BETTER—
to have that saving of money in dividends, or pay it out for wasted time?

THE MAGIC PAINTING

When the Room Was Darkened the Cow Went to Sleep.

IT WAS A VERY SIMPLE TRICK

How the Transformation Was Effected and How Some Other Seemingly Wonderful Effects May Be Produced by the Aid of Chemicals.

The Chinese Emperor Tai Tsung possessed among other treasures a picture known as a magic painting. It represented a pastoral scene with a cow standing in a field and mountains beyond. When the picture was shown to strangers or guests and they admired it, the emperor would say:

"Yes, this is a remarkable painting. The cow, as you see, is standing, but if the room was darkened the cow would think it night and would lie down."

Then the emperor would order the room to be darkened, and the cow would be seen to be lying down, apparently asleep.

The picture was a water color, over which was painted in colorless phosphorescent paint a similar picture representing the cow lying down. In the light the standing animal was seen, but at night or in a darkened room only the phosphorescent picture was visible. So the magic picture was, after all, a very simple trick.

A Dresden chemist named Schade discovered a method of imitating it which can be accomplished as follows:

First paint in ordinary colors the picture of the cow standing. Then melt some Zanzibar copal over a charcoal fire and dissolve fifteen parts of it in sixty parts of French oil of turpentine. Filter this and mix with twenty-five parts of pure linseed oil which has been previously heated and cooled.

Now take forty parts of the varnish so obtained and mix with six parts of prepared calcium carbonate, twelve parts of prepared white zinc sulphide and thirty-six parts of luminous calcium sulphide, all of which can be obtained from any chemist.

This emulsion should be ground very fine in a color mill. The result will be white luminous paint, which should be used to paint the cow lying down.

Many seemingly wonderful tricks can be performed with the use of a few simple chemicals. One of them is the ball of fire. Take for this barium sulphate (CP) one part, magnesium carbonate (CP) one part, gum tragacanth q. s. This should be mixed and rolled into marbles and kept at a red heat for about an hour, then allowed to cool slowly and placed in a glass stoppered bottle. A few hours before using place in the sun, and the marbles at once become luminous.

At the entertainment ordinary marbles are passed among the audience, one or more of the luminous marbles being concealed in the hand. The exhibitor then takes a marble from some one in the audience, holds it between his thumb and forefinger, blows upon it and asks to have the lights turned down. As this is done he substitutes the luminous marble, and the mysterious light is seen. This is handed around and changes again as the light is turned on, when the magician presents to the audience several of the ordinary marbles as souvenirs.

Another trick is very effective. Take two similar bunches of artificial flowers. Brush one over with glue or mucilage and powder it with the dust from one of the marbles described. Then place in the sun. When taken into a darkened room, luminous flowers are seen. The magician exhibits the flowers that have not been prepared and shows that there is nothing peculiar about them. Then as the light is turned down he substitutes the concealed bunch, blows upon the flowers and, presto, displays to the astonished observers a luminous bunch, each flower of which stands out as if at white heat.

Luminous letters can be written and exhibited in the dark to the wonder of the audience. Luminous ink is made by placing a piece of phosphorus about the size of a pea in a test tube with a little olive oil. Place the tube in a water bath until the oil becomes heated and the phosphorus liquid. Shake well and pour into a bottle with a glass stopper. Admit air just previous to using it, and the fluid will become luminous tracery in the dark.

Water can be rendered luminous in a very simple manner. Dissolve a small piece of phosphorus in ether for several days in a glass stoppered bottle. In this place a lump of sugar, then drop the sugar in water, which will at once become luminous.

Luminous paints can be made any color—green, yellow, violet or blue—and if applied to various objects make a wonderful display at night.

Odd Names of Maryland Farms. The curious names given to tracts of land by the owners in olden times are illustrated in a conveyance recorded in Liber W. G., No. 60, folio 57. It was executed in 1790 and conveyed from Joshua Stevenson to Richard Gettings five tracts of land in Baltimore county, the consideration being £200. The name of each tract and its dimensions are as follows: My Sweet Girl, My Friend and Pitcher, 62 acres; Hero Is Life Without Care and Love Without Fear, 4 1/2 acres; The Unexpected Discovery, 262 acres; Hug Me Snug, 15 acres; and Stevenson's Cow Pasture With Little I am Content, 22 acres.—Baltimore Sun.

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Greenville

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Abraham Light, Furniture Dealer, residing on St. Patrick St., Tarboro, N. C., says: "My wife has used Doan's Kidney Pills with excellent results. When she began using them she complained of dull nagging backaches and of pains through her kidneys. The secretions did not act properly and caused her great annoyance. After using Doan's Kidney Pills the pains in her back and loins ceased, and the annoyance which arose from the kidney secretions entirely disappeared. Doan's Kidney Pills proved of far more value to her than any remedy previously used and she is glad to speak in their favor."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Parrot and Bear.

She was a pretty young lady with a sharp tongue. He was a cynic. Why, it would be difficult to guess. Perhaps he had just been rejected by his best girl; perhaps he had been unsuccessful in a limerick competition. "Marriage," he said, "is a mistake." "Yes?" she replied. "It is," he repeated. "Why should a young man marry when he can buy a parrot for 10 shillings?" "Ah!" she replied, and her pretty bosom heaved with a long drawn sigh. "It's just as it always is. We poor women labor under a great disadvantage. A bear, I understand, can't be purchased for less than £30!"—London Scraps.
