CAMPAIGN OPENS AT FARMVILLE.

Revs. M. T. Plyler, of Greenville, and T. H. King of Winterville Speakers—An Enthusiastic Meeting

Farmville, N. C., May 5th
The prohibition campaign opened here last night in the Christian church, Revs. M. T. Plyler, of Greenville and T. H. King of Winterville being the speakers. Rev. Mr. Plyler opened the meeting in a most earnest and convincing speech. "There are some conditions of prosperity upon which we are agreed," said he. "First, industrial activity, hence we welcome the mill and factory. Second, educational advantages, hence we foster our educational institutions. But along with these, we must have strong moral and religious sentiment, therefore this whiskey problem must be solved and its traffic prohibited. First the business world is against the liquor business, the railroads, the great labor organizations, etc. are all bitterly opposed to it. Second, the religious world is against it. Every church has declared itself, all the preachers and religious leaders are on one side. Third, the home is against it. Hardly a home can be found that has not suffered. Fathers and mothers are for the protection of their homes and children."

This is the first time the people of Farmville have had the opportunity to hear Mr. Plyler. He made a strong appeal. His speech will bear its fruits.

Rev. T. H. King, of Winterville, followed with a strong and eloquent talk. He brought with him a map illustrating the territory of North Carolina where there is a public sale of liquor. He showed that seventy-five per cent. of the State had prohibition. "Of the 24 counties in North Carolina," said he, "that sell liquor publicly, three-fourths of them are east of the Wilmington and Weldon railroad within a radius of 40 miles and the good old county of Pitt is right in the center." He stated that the drink habit cost North Carolina last year twenty million dollars, ten times as much as it pays to educate its young manhood and womanhood, seven times as much as it spends for food. "I believe," said he "every dollar spent for whiskey is lost to the legitimate channels of trade, for everyone realizes how strong drink destroys the energy, life and vitality of man. Therefore that means that forty millions, counting the twenty millions spent for liquor, constitutes the liquor traffic in North Carolina. This forty millions is measured in the degradation of manhood, the poverty it brings to our homes and the numerous crimes it causes man to commit. Eighty per cent. of the crimes committed in North Carolina are caused by intoxicating drinks. Listen, men of Farmville, you have here a growing and progressive town, the eyes of all Carolina are upon you, therefore in the name of Heaven, go forth to the ballot box on the 26th of May and register your will against the liquor traffic and show to the world that you are against such an evil."

These two strong speeches will show results on the 26th day of May. The people of Farmville predict a majority in favor of prohibition in Farmville township.

UNUSUAL TRIO OF DEATHS.

Durham, N. C., May 4.—Miss Minnie Watts, thirty years old, daughter of the late J. M. Watts, died suddenly while attending a funeral in East Durham this morning, just before noon. The funeral was at the home of W. G. Foster, whose four-year old child died on Saturday after a short illness from pneumonia. When the child died its father was in Chatham county attending the funeral and burial of David Fields, brother of Mrs. Foster, who was killed by lightning, this being on Thursday while he was coming from the field, where he was at work, when a thunder cloud, came up. Mr. Fields was twenty-five years of age and left a wife and four children.

When he came home he found his child dead and this morning Miss Watts, who was one of the friends who sang at the funeral, after singing the first song she was taken ill, went to a back room and asked for water. Feeling better she started home and fell on the porch of the next door neighbor and died soon afterwards. Her death was caused by acute indigestion. She left a mother and several brothers and sisters. The funeral and burial will take place tomorrow. —Raleigh News & Observer.

STENOGRAPHERS MACHINES.

They Do Monotonous Work that Rarely Brings a Large Salary.

If you are thinking of taking up stenography as a means of livelihood there are many things to consider, says the June Delineator.

Let us take account of your stock before you decide to be a stenographer. Are you a good speller? Is punctuation one of your strong points? Are you accurate and possessed of a quick, dependable memory? Are you neat and quick with your hands? Do you like routine work, and are you willing to do the same thing day after day with little or no variation?

If you can write "Yes" after each one of those questions, you will succeed as a stenographer. But the girl who always had to consult a dictionary when writing an essay, who lost counts in her "home work" because she forgot commas, semi-colons and quotation marks and was careless about the use of capitals, will never earn her salt as a stenographer. A stenographer is a well-equipped, well-oiled, guaranteed-not-to-run-down machine—and, nothing more. Occasionally a wide-awake stenographer works up to a position of trust with her firm. But the majority of girls never get beyond the coveted fifteen a week and acquire nervous prostration from confinement, sedentary work and monotony.

The girl who is content to be this sort of machine will find her best opportunities in the offices of a large corporation, like a publishing house, insurance company, loan and abstract firm, etc. The preparation for such work is at least six months in a good school of stenography and typewriting.

Ministers' Conference in Session.

The Ministers' Conference begins tonight at 8 o'clock in the Christian church. Address of welcome by Gov. Thos. J. Jarvis. Everybody invited to come out.

TWO FATAL SUNDAY FIRES.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 3. At least twelve persons lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the new Aveline Hotel here early today. The entire interior of the building is a smouldering heap of ruins and how many dead are concealed by the debris can only be conjectured. The hotel register was consumed by the fire and there is no accurate means of determining who is missing. Twelve bodies have been recovered and identified and several others are known to be missing.

New York, May 3.—An early morning fire in a four-story brick tenement at No. 17 Humboldt street, a thickly populated section of Brooklyn, caused the death of six persons and the serious injury of four others. Every member of one family, consisting of a mother and four children, are among the dead. There were many thrilling rescues by police and firemen and it was due to their brave work that the death list was not larger. A half dozen or more persons who were trapped in the upper stories were saved by jumping into life nets. The financial loss caused by the fire is estimated at $10,000.

FARMVILLE ITEMS.

Farmville, N. C., May 5.

There was a big crowd out last night to hear Rev. M. T. Plyler and Rev. T. H. King, speak on the subject of prohibition. Both of these gentlemen made eloquent speeches, and won votes for the cause.

Miss Annie Perkins, one of the teachers in the Farmville graded school, left yesterday morning for her home in Greenville. She is an excellent teacher and we hope she will return when the school opens in the fall.

Miss Bessie Poe Law, one of the teachers in the Farmville high school, left this morning for her home in Raleigh. Her work in the school which has just closed, has been above criticism in every respect, and her many friends deeply regret that she will not come back to Farmville next year. She will not accept the position.

G. L. Lang went to Greenville yesterday.

Roy Bailey went to Greenville yesterday.

S. C. Wooten went down the road this morning.

Put Out the Fire.

Miss Eula Cox is indeed a heroine in the matter of fighting fire. Saturday afternoon while standing on the back porch of her residence on Sutton lane, she saw fire burning on the roof of the kitchen. She ran out in the yard, got a ladder and raised it to the eaves of the building, then securing a bucket of water went up and put out the fire. This is the second time she has put out a fire without giving any alarm.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Ayden, N. C., May 5, 1908. Mrs. J. R. Smith and family spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in the country.

R. L. Davis, State organizer for prohibition, was here Monday.

Work will begin on the tobacco warehouse this week. J. W. Glenn, of Winston, will have charge of it this season.

G. J. Cherry, president of the Ayden Lumber company, is here this week looking after the business of his company.

The town election passed off quietly here yesterday. The following gentlemen were elected for the ensuing fiscal year: Mayor, J. F. Barwick; commissioners, J. H. Tripp, Stanell Hodges, L. H. Witherington, George Worthington, R. W. Smith.

Mrs. W. E. Hooks and children are spending the week in the country at R. H. Garris'. Ed is gone, too, and we are staying with Will Hemby until they all come home.

R. R. Jackson, a prominent farmer living near here, is critically ill.

F. G. Buhmann and wife have returned from a trip of business and pleasure combined to Rochester, Niagara and New York City.

J. J. Smith came home Saturday from Richmond. He says the weather there last week was just awfully cold.

Allen's show here Friday was pronounced good.

The family of J. W. Alexander have moved to Bertie county to live.

Mrs. Flynn and two children came Saturday from Old Point to visit her mother, Mrs. Early. W. J. Braxton and daughter, of Reedy Branch, were here today.

J. C. (Dump) Stocks has pneumonia.

Mrs. John Alexander and children left Saturday for her former home in Bertie county.

Bertie Braxton, who has been sick for some time, is convalescent.

Hon. Locke Craig will deliver the annual address at the closing of Prof. Peden's school at The Free Will Baptist seminary on 28th of May at 11 o'clock a. m.

The closing exercises of the Ayden graded school will be held Friday morning, May 8th, in the beautiful grove in front of the school building. Hon. W. W. Kitchen delivers the annual address and Prof. W. H. Ragsdale presents the diplomas to the graduating class. Music will be furnished by the excellent Greenville band. The exercises begin at eleven o'clock.

Annual Meeting.

Annual meeting of the stockholders of The Home Building and Loan Association in the mayor's office tonight at 8 o'clock. It is an important meeting and there should be a large attendance of the stockholders.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

J. L. Moore went to Raleigh today.

A. M. Moseley went to Ayden today.

Frank Tyson went to Norfolk today.

A. J. Outterbridge went to Grifton today.

May gives us a change of weather every day.

R. Lee Bonner, of Washington, spent Monday here.

C. B. Whichard and K. W. Cobb went to Washington today.

There are more folks watching the work on the street than there are doing the work.

Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Elkins, who have been here for some weeks, left today for Kinston.

SMITH-CLEMENT.

A Beautiful Home Wedding.

On Thursday evening of last week, April 30th, Mr. Lloyd Smith and Miss Dell Clement were united in the holy bonds of matrimony in the presence of a goodly number of witnesses at the residence of Mr. Ivy Smith.

At about half past eight Miss Agnes Smith rendered the wedding march very beautifully and through the north door of the parlor came Miss Clement leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Erskine Clement, and through the west door came Mr. Smith with Mr. Mills Smith as best man, and the two met at the altar and were united together by the Rev. S. W. Sumrrel, of the Christian church.

The bride was dressed in beautiful white silk and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was dressed in a very handsome black suit and the men wore red carnations.

After the marriage rice began to rain down on the married couple and it was kept up at intervals for an hour or more.

The bride is one of the most accomplished and beautiful young ladies of the community. She is the daughter of Mr. I. W. Clement, of Warren county. She came down here about two years ago and has been teaching school. Mr. Smith was one of her pupils the first session that she taught. She was a very good teacher and takes delight in the work and was one of the best Sunday school workers. The people all like her so well and she is so much help we scarcely see how we could get along well without her in the neighborhood.

The groom is one of Beaver Dam township's best young men. He is a son of the late Mr. Jesse L. Smith, who was a successful farmer, and we suppose Lloyd is also a good farmer, for he has been on the farm all of his life, and still remains there.

We wish them a happy and prosperous life. We hope their pathway through life may be strewn with flowers and that all of their days may be spent in happy hours. T. E. L.

W. F. M. Society.

The Womans' Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church, Greenville auxiliary, will meet with Mrs. C. J. Forbes Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The members will bring in their Easter offerings at this meeting. Let every member make an effort to be present.

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1908.

Prospective candidates should always be careful how they write letters and what they say in them.

The kind of recruits the Republicans want are those who are not after something. There are not offices enough to go around among the old ones.

Those New York editors who are advocating social equality and miscegenation are good subjects to send to Matteawan to keep company with Harry Thaw.

The man who thinks the salvation of the party depends upon his nomination is drawing heavily upon his bump of egotism. He may realize that there are others as good as himself.

Some men think that all they have to do to get office is to pitch into the trusts and corporations. To be candid, the people had much rather see the country settle down to business progress.

Prohibition sentiment continues on the increase in Pitt county, and if the county does not give a large majority for prohibition on the 26th it will be contrary to the present outlook.

Somebody please tell us why a stairway gets the name of "pair of steps". We heard a man directing a boy to carry a box to a certain place and told him he would find a "pair of steps" by which he could go up to the second story.

The country has had much anxiety for some days over the condition of ex-President Cleveland, and the announcement that he is improving carries pleasure with it. He has his friends and his enemies, but we believe all would be glad at his restoration to health.

Independent Journalism.

From a recent address by Senator Knox:

The journalist has one chief client, one patient, one flock—that is to say, the whole community; and nothing should stand in the way of his single-minded and devoted service to that one common interest. He should beware of all entangling alliances—political, social, commercial—which may limit or embarrass such service. He should let the honors and emoluments of public office go to other people. His own office, if properly administered, is more important and powerful than any that his fellow citizens are likely to confer upon him. The independent newspaper may be, and should be, the most vital and effective instrument that democratic society can produce for its own advancement and protection; and its true business welfare, in the long view, lies in a complete, intelligent, sympathetic devotion to public interests.

To the Voters of Pitt County.

Some doubt and confusion having arisen in the minds of some persons as to what registration books shall be used as the legal registration books for the registration of voters for the election to take place on the 26th of May 1908, I beg to say that the registrars should use the book used at the election on the 14th day of May 1907 and no other.

Whenever a new registration is ordered and taken all previous registration and registration books become useless and cannot be used at subsequent elections. The registration for the election on 14th, of May 1907 was a new registration and not a special registration. It is therefore certain that the registration books in use at the election on the 14th of May, 1907, must be used in the coming election. Any voter whose name is on the registration books used at the election on the 14th of May, 1907, need not register again. All whose names are not on these books will have to register for the coming election or they cannot vote.

The registration books were opened on the 24th inst and the law requires them to be closed at sundown on Saturday the 16th day of May, 1908. The law also requires the registrars to be at the polling places in their respective precincts on each Saturday during the period of registration, but the registrars can register the voters at other times and places. So it is clear that every voter whose name is not on the registration books used at the election in May 1907 has ample time and opportunity to have it put there if he so desires and I make this publication for the purpose of urging the voters to register and vote.

A great moral question is to be decided upon which will seriously affect the habit, the homes and lives of the people and especially the boys and girls who are soon to become the men and women of the near future. You cannot vote in that great question on the 26th of May unless you are registered. I therefore urge you to register. This great question will be presented to you in the form of two ballots. One of these ballots will read "For the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors." The other ballot will read "Against the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors."

If any man is in doubt as to which of these ballots he ought to deposit in the box let him ask his wife or that darling little girl for whose safety he would give his life or that bright eyed boy whose future may be determined by the result of this election. They will tell him and tell him right. But I put it to every father and grandfather in the county of Pitt can you look that mother, that darling girl and that dear boy in the face and then turn away and vote "For the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors." I am expecting, hoping and praying that the men of Pitt will roll up a great big majority "Against the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore require constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. To the Voters of Pitt County.

We the undersigned constituting a majority of the county board of elections for the county of Pitt hereby give notice that an election will be held on 26th day of May, 1908, at which all who favor the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in North Carolina will vote a ticket with the words thereon "For the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors" and those who are opposed to the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in North Carolina will vote a ticket with the words thereon "Against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors"

In order to vote in that election, as in all other elections, it is necessary to be properly registered. It is our opinion that the registration books used at the election on the 14th of May, 1907, are the ones to be used in the coming election. We therefore advise every voter who did not register in that election to see that his name is put on the registration books before the close of the 16th day of May when the registration books will be closed by law.

FAIRIES OF CORNWALL.

Superstitions That Still Live in This Corner of England.

Cornwall, that corner of Britain that has resisted modernism, made a strong appeal to the imagination of Katherine Lee Bates, and she writes of it in her "From Gretna Green to Land's End." In Cornwall, as in Ireland, the fairy is still in possession and folk lore is almost a religion. "The small people have been gay and kindly neighbors, sometimes whisking away a neglected baby and returning the little mortal all pink and clean, wrapped in leaves and blossoms, 'as sweet as a nut.' These are the spirits of Druids or of other early Cornwall folk who, as heathen, may not go to heaven, but are too innocent for hell. So they are suffered to live on in their old happy haunts, but ever dwindling and dwindling, till it is to be feared that by and by, what with all the children growing stupid over school books and all the poets writing realistic novels, the small people will twinkle out of sight.

"The spriggans, lurking about the cairns and cromlechs, where they keep guard over buried treasure, could better be spared. They are such thievish and mischievous trolls, with such extraordinary strength in their ugly bits of bodies. It is more likely they are the diminished ghosts of the old giants. The pliskies are nearly as bad, as any bewildered traveler who has been plisky led into a bog could testify. The only sure protection against their tricks is to wear your garments inside out.

"Many a Cornish farmer has found a fine young horse all sweated and spent in the morning, his mane knotted into fairy stirrups, showing plainly how some score of the pliskies had been riding him overnight. And many a Cornish miner, deep down in the earth, has felt his hair rise on his head as he heard the 'tap, tap, tap' of the 'knockers, souls of long imprisoned Jews sent here by Roman emperors to work the tin mines of Cornwall."

Unfit.

"Would you advise me to go into politics?"
"Young man," answered Senator Sorghum, "the mere fact that you are so modest as to ask advice about it proves that you are unfit for the profession."

THE VATICAN.

The Vatican covers a space of 1,200 feet in length and 1,000 feet in breadth and is the largest palace in the world. It is in Rome, on the right bank of the river Tiber, and on the Vatican hill, from which it derives its name. It is said to have been founded by Pope Symmachus, who erected a small house on its site about 300 A. D. On this site, too, a building was inhabited by Charlemagne in 800.

Several times it has fallen into decay and been restored. Pope Eugenius rebuilt it on a magnificent scale in 1160. In 1305 Clement V. removed the papal see from Rome to Avignon, and the Vatican was in a neglected and obscure state for many years.

Nicholas V. in 1450 commenced the great work of making it the noble palace that it now is. After the return of the pontifical court to Rome it became the actual residence of the pope. One after another a long line of popes have added splendid buildings to it, and at present the lowest estimate gives the number of rooms at 4,422.

Gradually it has been enriched with great paintings, statues, books, curious medals, gems, trances and antiquities of every description until it is now the world's richest depository. The museum of statuary is about a mile in length and contains more than 70,000 statues that have been exhumed from the ruined temples and palaces of Rome.

The Vatican contains the Sistine chapel, built by Sixtus IV., 1473, and adorned by the wonderful genius of Michelangelo; the Pauline chapel, built by Paul III. in 1540; the Loggia and Stanza of Raphael and the court of the Belvedere.

The library of the Vatican is truly a great one. It is exceedingly rich in manuscripts, containing as many as 40,000, some of which are by Pliny, St. Thomas and St. Charles Borromeo and many Hebrew, Arabian, Syrian and Armenian Bibles. It has about 50,000 printed volumes and several rich museums of ancient and modern articles of vertu.—Exchange.

He Noticed the Likeness.

A Parisian swell had a crayon picture of himself made, which he afterward pretended to find fault with.

"It does not bear the slightest resemblance to me," said he, "and I will not take it."

The artist protested, but all to no avail.

After the dandy had left the painter added to the portrait a magnificent pair of ass' ears and exhibited it in the window, thus altered, to the gaze of the curious public.

It hadn't been long exposed when the dandy entered the artist's studio in a towering rage, and, finding that threats amounted to nothing, he at last offered to buy it, even at a considerable advance upon the original price.

"It wasn't strange you didn't recognize your resemblance to the picture at first," said the painter, "but I knew you'd notice the likeness as soon as I added those ears."—Spare Moments.

How Dumas Amused Himself.

An interesting anecdote of the elder Dumas, illustrating the author's perennial flow of fine spirits, has been told. A gentleman calling on the creator of "Monte Cristo" had been ushered into a room adjoining the host's studio, the servant telling him to go in, as M. Dumas was alone.

At that moment, says the narrator, I heard a loud burst of laughter from the inner apartment, so I said:

"Monsieur has no visitors. He is working," remarked the servant, with a smile. "M. Dumas very often laughs like this while at his work."

It was true enough. The novelist was alone, or, rather, in company with one of his characters, at whose sallies he was simply roaring.

Went to the Point.

The boy who goes straight to the point may make a few technical blunders, but as a rule he is about right when it comes to anything practical. A story told of the boyhood of General Leonard Wood illustrates this fact.

"I remember one day in school," said a friend recently, "Wood was called up in the grammar class. The teacher said:

"Leonard, give me a sentence, and we'll see if we can change it to the imperative mood."

"The horse draws the cart," said Leonard.

"Very good. The horse draws the cart. Now change the sentence to an imperative."

"Get up!" said young Wood.—Home Magazine.

Superstitions That Have Long Been Prevalent Among Negroes.

Among the colored people of the south every commonest event has its accompanying sign or superstition.

Whether these all date back to the African savage ancestors of the race is doubtful, as very many of them are similar to those current among English, Scotch and Irish peasants. It is probable that in acquiring the English language the newly imported negroes imbibed the superstitions in vogue among the white people of the south at that time.

Signs of weather are many, as is natural, and some of them are very curious. If a cat sneezes or if she washes her head behind her ear it will rain. If she rubs against objects or is especially frisky it forebodes wind.

In the winter if a cow lows in the evening it will snow before morning. If a cow stops in walking and shakes her foot there is bad weather behind her. When the cattle are driven to pasture, if the bull goes first it will rain.

If a dog eats grass in the morning or if he digs a hole in the ground it is a sign of bad weather. Pigs are believed to be able to "see the wind." If they run about and squeal without apparent cause it is a sign of cold and stormy weather.

Money carried for three days in a man's shoe may safely be wagered. It is sure to win.

The locust tree is especially liable to a stroke of lightning. Some say Judas hanged himself on that tree. Others suppose the crown of thorns to have been made from it.

It is terribly unlucky to burn for firewood a tree which has been struck by lightning. This is sure to bring misfortune upon the household.

Shoes have many portents connected with them. If a heel is lost from the shoe it forebodes a death in the family "before the year is out." If new shoes are accidentally dropped before they are worn you will "surely step into trouble with them on your feet."

New shoes must never be placed on a shelf higher than the owner's head, as it brings bad luck, and one shoe should never be polished without the other for fear of a bad accident or perhaps sudden death.—Baltimore Sun.

The Man He Dreaded.

Frederick the Great of Prussia often told a laughable story of an experience of his own. During one of his campaigns in Silesia he made it his habit to stroll through his camp in disguise at night to come in touch with his soldiers. One night he was stopped by a sentry, but, giving the password, was permitted to proceed. Instead of doing so, however, he endeavored to tempt the sentry into accepting a cigar, saying that a smoke would solace his long watch.

"It is against the rules," said the soldier.

"But you have my permission," said the king.

"Your permission! Who are you?"

"I am the king."

"The king be hanged!" said the incorruptible sentry. "What would my captain say?"

Putting It Concretely.

Although Mr. Lawton was wont to indulge in a sort of language which left his hearers in some doubt as to his exact meaning, yet when he was "put to it" he never failed to make himself understood.

"No, I shouldn't want to live in a house like Philander's," he announced to Mrs. Lawton on the evening of his return from a visit to a nephew. "His cellar, now—it's most desperately overflowed whenever the weather is anyways damp."

"I mean," said her husband mildly, "that all they had to do was to open the door that led from the kitchen down cellar, and the apples come floating right in on to the kitchen floor. Is that plain to ye?"

Paying Debts In Japan.

Foreigners in Japan find a great opportunity to purchase curios at the beginning of each new year. Every one in Japan is expected to clear up his books and pay his debts by the last day of the old year. The tradesmen send in their yards—more often miles—of bills to "the honorable lady of the house," and presents are politely exchanged all around. Shopkeepers hold bargain sales to enable them to pay the wholesale houses, and if a man cannot raise sufficient money to pay his creditors it is not an uncommon thing for him to sell off sufficient or even all of his property at a sacrifice to enable him to meet the new year with a smiling face. The only other honorable way out of his difficulties is for him to commit suicide.

What Is the First Law of Nature?

"Self preservation is the first law of nature," answers Johnny Jones.

"Correct, Johnny. Go right up to the head of the class.

This law applies to a community as well as to an individual. Under the severe operation of this law a town that does not take care of itself, that does not look after its own interests first, that does not look out for Number One, soon falls into a bad way.

That's just as sure as shootin'. It's the law.

We must obey the law or take the consequences. If we in this town and community do not work together for our own good, the mutual good of all of us, in all lines of business, we have only ourselves to blame if the place slides down the inclined plane instead of climbing the golden ladder of prosperity and progress.

For instance, if we do our retail trading with big city stores that have no interest in us except to get our money and keep it, local trade must suffer and shrink, town property values and farm land values must decrease—and there you are!

Johnny Jones, who knows the law, is a wise lad, but how about his papa and mamma!

Do they obey the first law as applied to the old home place? If they don't, Johnny may have to apply the law to himself when he grows up. He may have to go to the city to make a living.

Let's all think it over.

Farming by Machinery.

To measure American farmers by the census is now an out-grown method, for the reason that each farmer works with the power of five men. The farm has become a factory. Four-fifths of its work is done by machinery, which explains how we can produce one-fifth of the wheat of the world, half of the cotton, and three-fourths of the corn, although we are only 6 per cent. of the human race.

The genie who built Aladdin's palace in a night was the champion hustler of the fairy-tale countries. But he was not so tremendously superior to the farm laborer, who takes a can of gasoline and cuts fifty cords of wood in a day, or to the man who milks a herd of sixty cows in two hours, by machinery.

To-day farming is not a drudgery. Rather it is a race,—an exciting rivalry between the different States. For years Illinois and Iowa have run neck and neck in the raising of corn and oats. Minnesota carries the blue ribbon for wheat, with Kansas breathless in second place; California has shot to the front in the barley race; Texas and Louisiana are tied in the production of rice; Kentucky is the tobacco champion, and New York holds the record for hay and potatoes.—From 'The New American Farmer', by Herbert N. Casson, in the American Review of Reviews for May.

A Novel Suit.

Because his leg had to be amputated before the prayer offered by Julius Benjamin, a faith healer, failed to heal a sore toe, in which gangrene had started, a jury in the supreme court awarded Solomon Rasiler a verdict of $20,000. Rasiler sued for $25,000, and claimed that in March, 1904, he went to Benjamin to be treated for his toe, and up to June 6th, paid him in all $76, but he finally had to go to the Presbyterian hospital, where his leg was removed.

Benjamin admitted that he is a Christian Scientist, and declared that without any fraud or deception on his part and without representing himself as a regular practitioner or as one licensed to practice medicine, he had attempted by means of prayer and other means followed by Christian Scientists, to treat Rasiler. The "healer" will apply for a new trial.—New York Dispatch.

Mr. N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh,

Will speak "Against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in North Carolina," Sunday, May 10th, 1908, Rountree church at 11 o'clock a. m. Ballards X Roads school house at 3 o'clock p. m. Farmville at 8 o'clock p. m.

Mr. Broughton is a fine speaker and a sincere Christian gentleman. He leaves his comfortable home and gives the people of Pitt these three addresses because of his love for humanity and desire to serve his God and his country. I bespeak for him great gatherings of men and women at all three places. Those who miss hearing him will miss a great sermon.

Washington, D. C., May 2.—Chairman Lloyd, of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, is going to circulate as a campaign document this year the speech recently delivered in the house by Representative John H. Small in opposition to ship subsidy legislation. Mr. Lloyd spoke in high terms of praise of Mr. Small's effort, which he said should be a factor in the campaign for control of the house.

What Makes a Bank Strong

In judging a Bank, always remember that it is Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits that give security to the depositor, because that money is what stands between you as a depositor and any possible shrinkage in the securities held by the bank.

Few banks in the State have a larger margin of safety than THE BANK OF GREENVILLE which, with the watchful interest of a very capable and conservative board of directors and the constant inspection of the Corporation Commission, has built up here one of the best financial institutions in the county, one whose
