AFLAME WITH ENTHUSIASM.

Kenly Set on Fire for Prohibition by Mrs. Curtis.

Kenly, N. C., May 9.—Mrs. Nannie Curtis, of Texas, made the grandest prohibition speech this afternoon at 3 o'clock that has been made here, in the Junior Order hall, to the largest crowd that has ever attended any public gathering at this place. She made votes here today. Her argument was conclusive and convincing and the entire town and surrounding community are aflame with prohibition enthusiasm, and are determined to do all in their might to bury King Alcohol forever on May 26th. She was introduced by Dr. J. C. Grady, one of our noted orators. She left tonight for Smithfield, where she lectures tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock.—Special to News and Observer.

Mrs. Curtis will speak in the opera house in Greenville on Thursday night, 14th, and every man, woman and child who can get in the opera house should hear her. She is said to be the greatest orator before the American people today and her argument for prohibition is unanswerable.

The Way Out of It.

The Wilmington Star takes The Chronicle's editorial on the pretty political play in this State by way of a doxology to an entertaining editorial of its own on the situation. It says what no one can deny, that "all over the State, the Kitchen and Craig men are fighting tooth and toe nail for delegates to the State convention. They are making charges and counter charges, each side against the other leader, each trying to show that the other is not a fit person to be the governor of the State." The Star thinks that "were the convention postponed for a month or two and the kind of campaign these two men and their friends are conducting kept up the people would be in a quandary as to what to do but for the fact that there is another candidate for office who is taking no part in this class of campaign and against whom neither of the other candidates or any of their friends are making charges as to his past record or of his unfitness to hold the office." That is true. Horne shows them the way out of it. The Star believes that "our people will finally turn with disgust from both the two leading candidates because of their manner of conducting their campaigns and centre on this business man from Johnson county, who throughout the turmoil of the vicious campaign the other two candidates have conducted, has pursued the even tenor of his way, abusing no one, treating his opponents fairly, basing his candidacy on his past record as a good citizen and a successful business man and not trying to boost himself into the office by denouncing his opponents or attempting to show the unworthiness of either or both of them." We have heard a lot of that sort of talk right here in Charlotte and we believe it reflects a sentiment that is growing all over the State.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Opera House Tonight.

Tonight in the opera house will be rendered by home talent the thrilling drama "Meg's Diversion." Those who have attended the former plays rendered by home talent this season can rest assured that a treat is in store for them tonight.

RESOLUTION.

Adopted by Washington Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

At the recent conference of Washington District, M. E. church, South, held at Aurora the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, Our church has always been committed to temperance and the prohibition of the whiskey traffic.

And, whereas, the legislature of North Carolina has at its recent special session passed a law submitting the question of prohibition to the people of the State to be voted on May 26th, now therefore be it resolved: That it is the opinion of this conference that every Christian will not only vote for, but will give liberally of his time an influence to bring about an overwhelming majority expression in favor of the legal prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in North Carolina.

Annual Sermon to Odd Fellows.

Sunday May 10, 1908, the annual sermon of Golden Victory Lodge No. 2321, G. U. O. F. of Greenville, was preached by Rev. R. Henry Sawyer. He selected for the basis of his sermon 1st Samuel, 20, 21, Rev. 21, 13, and from these verses he preached an able sermon on "Friendship, Love and Truth." Everybody's attention was fully given while he was preaching. Everyone present speaks highly of the sermon saying it was one of the grandest they have heard within recent years.

Rev. Sawyer is a thorough going young man and needs the attention and assistance of all who are interested in the up lift of fallen humanity.

Help him and you do great honor to the race. He is a man abreast with the age in which he lives and is held in the highest regard by his people.

Rev. Edward Fields.

Madrigal Quartette Coming.

Tar River Lodge No. 93, K. of P., have engaged the Madrigal Quartette, of Norfolk, for a concert here in the opera house on the night of the 27th inst., for the benefit of the lodge. This quartette has a reputation for excellent music, and when it is called to mind that "Eddie" Meeks, a well known favorite in Greenville, is a member of it, our people will have an idea of the feast that is in store for them.

Purity of the Ballot.

The Monroe Journal argues well in favor of the ballot, both in primaries and in general elections. But the Journal's plea will amount to nothing as long as weak voters use their heads merely for hat pegs and permit "workers" to fix up their tickets at the primaries. Any white man who can read ought to be justifiable by law in knocking a man down who insults him by trying to "influence" him at a primary election. And a man who can be "influenced" by a paid worker has about as much use for the ballot as a mule has for mathematics. It is disgusting to a man who does his own thinking and votes for a candidate of his choice, to see a paid worker lead up six voters that can be "influenced" and deposit as many votes against the man who is guided by his conscience and better judgment. If there is some way to choke the paid workers off, it would relieve things wonderfully.—Our Hcme.

Prohibition Speeches.

Messrs John A. Oates and N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh, each made three prohibition addresses on Sunday at points in this county. Large audiences heard them at each appointment and the prohibition cause in Pitt was materially strengthened.

IT WILL PROHIBIT.

A True Man Resents the Unjust Stigma Sought to be Placed Upon the Primitive Baptist Church.

To the Editor: Many people are claiming that if the people ratify the prohibition act of the Legislature, that it will not prohibit, but I say it will if the officers do their duty. Our law says you shall not kill, commit rape, steal, etc., while we know all these crimes are committed, but let our laws be so amended that the punishment attached there to be removed and people be licensed to sell weapons to commit the crimes with and will find ten crimes committed then to one now.

I consider it a stigma cast at the Primitive Baptists to say they are in favor to continue crime and will so vote. There is no people who love liberty and a good government more than the Primitive Baptists do, and their past record will show it. I am sorry to know there are some Primitive Baptists who love their "toddy" too good, but that is no reason the stigma should be cast at the whole denomination. There are folks in all churches who do the same thing.

I believe I know the Primitive Baptists about as well as some of those who are trying to scandalize them. I was raised by a Baptist preacher—one that stood high—and a lover of good government.

I am proud that Elders Gold, Hardy, Harris and others have taken the stand they have; that shows where we stand.

Yours truly,

Levi J. H. Mewborn.

OUR TRICKY EARS.

The Scenes of Hearing Not the Most Exact of Our Equipment.

How do we distinguish the direction of sound? That, says the London Post, is a question to which many people might reply that they do not distinguish it or that in certain circumstances, at any rate, they find it very difficult to do so. As Lord Rayleigh, in discussing the subject, observes, the mechanism by which the ear and the brain locate the sound has been very little considered.

The methods of the eye are easy to come at because the eye has been furnished with a crystalline lens which focuses a bundle of rays of light on the retina, just as a photographic lens focuses them on a sensitive plate. But it is able to do so because the diameter of the eye lens is many times greater than the wave length of the light rays, whereas in the case of sound waves the waves are very much larger than the diameter of the passages of the ear. The waves of sound issuing from a man's mouth are about eight feet long—that is to say, from crest to crest.

The clew to the problem lies in the fact that a person who is entirely deaf in one ear cannot locate the direction of the sound. It is by virtue of hearing with two ears that we are able to do so. The explanation is not, however, so simple as it appears. In certain cases the sound waves (or impulses of comprehension and rarefaction), reaching one ear before the other, enable the hearer to detect the origin of the sound by a difference in intensity. But as the distance around the head from one ear to the other is only about one foot, the very slight difference of intensity will only answer for instances when the sound is a high note and the sound waves are consequently short. When the note is low and the waves are long—let us say as low as ninety-six vibrations or waves a second—the difference of intensity at the two ears amounts only to one part in 500. It is hard to believe that a difference of intensity so small as that would enable the brain to say whether the sound was reaching the right ear or the left ear first.

When, therefore, we are considering the question of low notes, another explanation has to be sought. Lord Rayleigh has shown valid reasons for supposing that in such cases the ears detect a difference in the quality of the sound which is called a phase difference. If the source of sound is situated on the right, then owing to the finite speed at which sound travels any particular wave of compression will reach the right ear sooner. It has to travel on about a foot farther before it reaches the left ear; hence there must in general be a difference of phase in the sound waves of the two ears. If the crest of the wave reaches the right ear, then it must be some point on the trough of the wave which is at the same instant reaching the left ear. One of the consequences of accepting this explanation is to believe that the sound wave does not stop at the drum of the ear, but goes on vibrating along the nerve.

How He Knew.

A lady who was perfectly well, but fancied she was suffering from fever, called on an old and experienced physician to consult him. She described her symptoms at some length, and he listened patiently. At last he said:

"I think I understand your case, madam. Sit perfectly still a few moments and let me look at you."

She complied, and he eyed her attentively for nearly a minute, glancing at his watch once or twice in the meantime.

"There is nothing the matter with you, madam," he said. "You haven't the slightest indication of fever. Your heart beat is perfectly normal."

"Why, how do you know, doctor?" she asked in surprise. "You didn't feel my pulse."

"I didn't need to," he answered. "I counted the vibrations of the ostrich feather on your hat." And he bowed her out.

Portugal.

About the year 1094 the name of Portugal appears in the annals. Alfonso VII. of Castile in that year signed over to Count Henry of Burgundy, who had left his native land to help fight the threatening Moor, the county of Portugal as a fief. The name Portugal comes directly from the Latin, signifying the Port of Cale, Cale being the old name for the town of Oporto. The brief of Alfonso marks the beginning of the separate existence of Portugal. Though for many years it was no more than a feudal dependence of Castile, nevertheless this child was the father of the later independent kingdom. In the year 1139 the lords of Portugal took the title of king and refused allegiance to any power, Moslem or Christian.—Rosary Magazine.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore require constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. To the Voters of Pitt County.

We the undersigned constituting a majority of the county board of elections for the county of Pitt hereby give notice that an election will be held on 26th day of May, 1908, at which all who favor the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in North Carolina will vote a ticket with the words thereon "For the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors" and those who are opposed to the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in North Carolina will vote a ticket with the words thereon "Against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors."

In order to vote in that election, as in all other elections, it is necessary to be properly registered. It is our opinion that the registration books used at the election on the 14th of May, 1907, are the ones to be used in the coming election. We therefore advise every voter who did not register in that election to see that his name is put on the registration books before the close of the 16th day of May when the registration books will be closed by law.

WOODEN COLLAR BUTTONS.

Produced in Enormous Numbers For Special Uses.

Collar buttons are made not only of various metals, but also and in great numbers of wood.

Round sticks of wood are fed into machines which turn the buttons and cut them off automatically. Taken from the turning machines, the collar buttons thus made are placed, thousands of them at once, in a barrel shaped receptacle containing japan varnish, in which they are rolled and tumbled until each is completely coated.

To be dried they are placed, thousands at a time, in a similar drying apparatus, in which they are rolled and tumbled again to keep them from sticking together until they are thoroughly dry, and then they are the finished buttons, which have never been touched by hand.

Wooden collar buttons are sold to the trade by the great gross, but they are not counted out in such numbers, for even machine counting would take some time and cost money, so the weight of a great gross being known, discovered by actual counting and weighing, they weigh out the buttons for packing, such and such a weight of them making a great gross. In this way they practically count out 1,723 buttons at a time, that number being in the trade the wooden collar button unit.

These collar buttons of wood are sold to dealers in laundry supplies and to manufacturers of shirt waists. Altogether the number used for these purposes is enormous, amounting to many millions annually.

Wooden collar buttons are one of the minor products of factories making a specialty of turned wood goods.—New York Sun.

Appearances Deceitful.

It was high noon when he entered the crowded restaurant. He stood fully six feet three inches in height, was built in proportion and must have weighed at least 250 pounds. As he strode down between the rows of tables he looked as if he could eat up the house. He took a seat beside a diminutive, fussy little man with a bald head and chop whiskers, who was bravely and successfully polishing off a sirloin steak, with onions. The little fellow, with his napkin tightly wedged under his chin and his mouth full of dinner, looked up in wonder at his gigantic side partner and then down at the frail cane bottomed chair, which creaked and groaned piteously under its immense weight. But the big fellow took no notice of the little one. When the waitress approached him he gave his order in businesslike fashion.

"Bring me," he said in a falsetto voice, "a cup of weak tea and a couple of doughnuts." — New York Times.

Highest Lake in the World.

On the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains is a lake known to tourists as Lake Tahoe. It is the highest body of fresh water in considerable volume known to this or any other country, for the geodetic survey reports its level as nearly 8,000 feet above the level of the sea. Its temperature never rises higher than 40 degrees F., and it runs off into the Truckee river, which discharges itself into the lakes of Nevada, that have no outlet, but whose waters are drunk up by the thirsty alkali soils of the Great American desert. While it is a favorite resort for fishermen, its waters offer but one kind of fish, the lake trout, as locally known, but in fact the Salmo fontinalis of eastern streams, only larger, stronger and more prolific in their development.—Exchange.

Not Only Could, but Did.

Sometimes there is a drop of regret in the cup of joy served by fate to the husband of a brilliant talker. "I should think it would be a privilege to sit at the table with your wife three times a day," said one of Mrs. Grandon's ardent feminine admirers.

"Only twice a day," said Mr. Grandon, with a bow. "I do not go home at noon."

"Too bad!" said the admirer. "We could not get on without her at the club, I am sure. Why, I believe she could talk intelligently on a thousand topics!"

"She can—and does," said Mr. Grandon, and with another bow he slipped out just as his wife appeared.—Youth's Companion.

If You Doubt It, Try It.

A man once backed himself for a large amount, which he subsequently lost, to move an ordinary brick attached to two miles of cord along a level road outside Chichester. He failed to move the brick, and it may roughly be estimated that the friction of the cord on the road increased the weight of the brick (about seven pounds) and cord to a dead weight of not far short of a ton.—Fry's Magazine.

SHEFFIELD PLATE.

History of This Now Very Rare and Valuable Ware.

Sheffield plate differs from all other plated ware in that the plating was done on the sheet metal before the article was shaped. Before and since then plating of various sorts has been applied only to the finished piece, as in our electroplating process. Moreover, the plating was done on copper, while modern base metal is usually composed of an amalgam of copper, nickel and zinc.

Furthermore, it is possible for the collector to secure examples of early Georgian and so called Queen Anne work in Sheffield plate, while the rarity and high money value of silverware of that period make its acquisition extremely difficult. Sheffield plate historically and artistically is as worthy of a place beside old china and old mahogany as is old silverware.

In 1742 one Thomas Bolsover of Sheffield, England, described in the histories as an "ingenious mechanic," accidentally fused some silver and copper while repairing a knife. He began experimenting, seeking for a method of plating copper with silver for the manufacture of small articles. In 1743, together with Joseph Wilson, he set up a factory for the manufacture of buckles, snuffboxes and knife handles.

Joseph Hancock soon got hold of the secret and, perfecting it, demonstrated that it was possible to imitate the finest and most richly embossed silverware. Settling in Sheffield, he started the manufacture of all sorts of domestic pieces. Beginning modestly with horsepower, he later added water power for the rolling process. Other manufacturers followed his example, and Sheffield plate soon began to replace pewter on the tables of the English middle classes. Altogether we know of twenty-three important manufacturers of this ware.

The industry flourished until the middle of the nineteenth century, and so few pieces of copper rolled plate were made after that time that they need not concern the collector. Electroplating was discovered or invented by a medical student of Rotherham, near Sheffield, and the new process was patented on March 25, 1840. By 1850 the new ware was on the market everywhere, and the industry had been revolutionized.—Country Life in America.

BISMARCK'S ANGER.

The Incident That Made Certain the Franco-German War.

The Princess Bismarck, so the story goes, changed the political history of France unwittingly, and but for her the Franco-Prussian war might never have been waged.

Bismarck was unfriendly to France, but the Empress Eugenie hoped with her beauty to influence him so that the little trouble with France and Germany might be smoothed over. She therefore invited the German prince and his wife to visit the court of France, and the Prince and Princess Bismarck arrived in great state at the Tuileries.

That evening there was a grand reception, and Eugenie received the guests in a gown which made her so ravishingly lovely that even Prince Bismarck, German, stolid and in love with his wife, stood and gazed upon her with admiration. And Eugenie was not slow to observe the effect of her beauty upon him. She called him to her side, and Bismarck came, with his wife upon his arm.

Now, the Princess Bismarck was tall and gaunt, and her feet were generous. As she walked she showed a great deal of sole.

While Bismarck stood talking with Eugenie an audible titter was heard along the line of ladies. Bismarck, who was quick as a flash, followed the glance of their eyes and saw them rest upon the feet of his wife.

That settled the matter. The political history of France was altered from that moment.

A year later, when Paris was besieged, Bismarck himself fired a cannon over the ramparts, and those who were near him heard him shout:

"Take that for the feet of the Princess Bismarck!"

The slight was avenged.

The Mayflower.

Never did a ship sail with such momentous results as the little west country clipper schooner the Mayflower, but few people have bothered to ask what was her fate after she had landed the heroic band of Englishmen on Plymouth rock. As a matter of fact, she drifted into the cotton trade and sank after many years of service for the East India company at Masulipatam, on the coast of India.—London Standard.

A Third Need.

"You need," said the expert to the sufferer, "two pairs of glasses, one for reading and one for long distance."

"Can't you make it three pairs?" asked the man who had made a study of his own case. "I'd like some short sighted ones to use on bill collectors." —Nashville American.

Agreed With Him.

Father (calling from head of stairs at 11:30 p. m.)—Jennie, don't you think it's about time to go to bed? Jennie—Yes, papa dear. What on earth keeps you up so late?—Pathfinder.

Not Unusual.

"Sometimes," said Uncle Eben, "I ketches mysef lambastin' a mule fob doin' purty much de same as I would do if I was in de mule's place!" —Washington Star.

Nature creates merit; fortune brings it into play.—Rochefoucauld.

"Boost the Booster!"

That's the official slogan of a certain town in Arkansas which through boosting itself and boosting its boosters has doubled its population since the 1900 census.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

The Arkansas town had been quarreling among itself for years, and standing still. It had boosters, but it had others who refused to boost the boosters, refused to stand by them and yell,

"Good boy—keep it up!"

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

TER!

Finally the town got together with itself, organized a "Boost the Booster Club" and began to boom. Now its principal thoroughfare, which was a streak of mud, is a stretch of asphalt, and it has new buildings to match. Now everybody boosts the booster and booms the boom.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

TER!

This town might take a hint from that

one. We have our town boosters—every town has some. But sometimes they get discouraged because of opposition right here in our midst.

BOOST THE BOOSTER!

Cut out the criticism!

Quit the queering!

Boom the Boom!

Then watch the old town perk up and plunge forward.

You can see it move.

WHEN YOU BOOST THE BOOSTER YOU BOOM THE BOOM.

Your Politio-Historical "If."

A pig, as the most voracious historians relate, really caused the war of 1812. The legislature in turn elected a war senator by one vote. The United States senate contained a majority of one for war and hostilities began.—Exchange.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Greenville women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Back-ache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Greenville woman's words: Miss Susan Kinsaul, of No. 503 Fifth St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I have derived great benefit from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills and take pleasure in recommending them. For some time I suffered from dull nagging backaches and had distressing pains through my kidney regions. My kidneys were very weak and the frequent action of the secretions caused me great annoyance. My back pained me severely and when first arising in the morning would be so lame and sore that I would be scarcely able to get around. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, procured them at Wooten's drug store and a short use entirely banished these troubles. The fact that my kidneys have given me no trouble whatever since using Doan's Kidney Pills leads me to recommend them most highly." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
