THE LARGEST KITCHIN CLUB YET.

PITT LEADS THE STATE IN MEMBERSHIP.

Organizes a Kitchin Club with About a Thousand Members.

Perhaps the largest Kitchin club that has yet been organized in North Carolina was launched in the court house here Tuesday afternoon. People were here from all over the county attending the old soldiers' reunion, and just after the reunion exercises were over hand bills were circulated giving notice that a meeting would be held at 3 o'clock to organize a Kitchin club. When the court house bell rang a large crowd gathered there.

The meeting was called to order by H. W. Whedbee in a strong speech in which he pointed out that the east is entitled to the nomination this year and that the east wants W. W. Kitchin. He explained that this meeting was for the purpose of organizing a club to see that he gets all the votes in Pitt county that he is entitled to. He requested H. A. White and J. L. Fleming to act as temporary secretaries and called Dr. E. A. Moye as temporary chairman.

In taking the chair Dr. Moye stated "I am not a speaker, but I am a Kitchin man, and a roar of applause followed. But he did make a speech that was spirited even if brief.

On motion a committee of three, consisting of H. W. Whedbee, J. D. Cox and J. R. Bunting, was appointed to recommend permanent officers for the club, and the committee retired for this purpose.

While the committee was out there were calls for Prof. Ragsdale, and he made the audience a ringing speech. He said that perhaps he knew W. W. Kitchin better than any one else present, for he had prepared him for college, and he wanted to tell the people the kind of man he was. Prof. Ragsdale paid a high tribute to both the public and private life of Mr. Kitchin and said he was better fitted to make the people a governor than any man in the State.

Just before the committee reported J. D. Cox was called for and made a brief stirring speech. He told how Kitchin had first won his heart by routing Settle in the Fifth district and winning the election to congress at a time when the Democrats of every other district in North Carolina went down in defeat.

The committee to recommend officers then made the following report which was adopted.

President, Dr. E. A. Moye.
Secretary, H. A. White.
Township vice presidents.
Ivey Smith, Beaver Dam; J. R. Bunting, Bethel; G. M. Mooring, Carolina; J. Marshall Cox, Chicod; J. R. Smith and C. J. Tucker Contentnea, No. 1; J. D. Cox, Contentnea No. 2; J. H. Smith, Falkland; John R. Davis, Farmville; H. A. White, Greenville; M. T. Speir, Pactolus; L. J. Chapman, Swift Creek; John Tyson, Belvoir.

Central Executive Committee, H. W. Whedbee, chairman, Greenville; Dr. Jenness Morrill and Jonah Briley, Greenville; J. A. Staton, Bethel; W. R. Whichard, Carolina; J. J. Satterthwaite, Pactolus; W. L. Wooten, Chicod; J. J. Hines, Contentnea No. 1; G. E. Lineberry, Contentnea No. 2; C. D. Smith, Beaver Dam; E. C. King, Falkland; B. M. Lewis, Farmville; G. B. Kilpatrick, Swift Creek.

Senator J. L. Fleming announced that the lists of names handed in for membership had approximately one thousand names, on them, and there were more yet to come, which gives Pitt county the largest Kitchin club that has so far been reported in the State. The sentiment of the county is largely for Kitchin.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town, Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., May 12, 1903.

Mrs. B. F. Early is visiting in Bertie county.

Rev. E. L. St. Clair will begin a series of meetings in the Free Will Baptist church next Sunday morning.

G. W. Prescott, our popular postmaster, went to Vanceboro Saturday and returned Monday. Rev. C. C. Bland came home on the train yesterday from the fulfillment of an appointment Sunday.

R. R. Jackson, a prosperous farmer living three miles from here, died yesterday morning after a long illness. Mr. Jackson was a member of the A. F. & A. M. lodge of Ayden and was buried at the old family burial ground with Masonic honors today.

There was a game of ball played here Saturday between Jacksontown and Ayden with a score of 26 to 19 in favor of the latter.

Mrs. J. R. Turnage came home Monday from a visit of several days to Kinston.

Miss Hennie Brown left Saturday to spend some time with friends in Conetoe before returning to her home in Martin.

Misses Mary Whitehead, of Scotland Neck, and Lillian Savage will not leave for their homes until after the commencement at Grifton.

Prof. McArthur will spend the summer at the home of his mother near Fayetteville.

Miss Marie Burnett, of Rocky Mount, is here on a visit to Mrs. O. C. Nobles.

Major W. S. Blount has been to Grifton several days shaking hands with old friends.

Misses Irene Sylvant and Rosa Lee Homes, who have been visiting Mrs. R. W. Smith and Mrs. Ed. Garris, have returned to their homes in Snow Hill.

There was a lot of the Greenville folks to hear Kitchin Friday.

They are pushing work on the tobacco warehouse in a way that is simply amazing. From what we hear and see there are no better pleased people than our farmers. Every indication points to not less than one million pounds sold the first season.

J. F. Barwick is absent from town on business until Friday, 15th.

Resolutions of Sympathy.

Whereas, the Great Spirit has seen fit to take from Brother Z. V. Hooker his mother, be it resolved,

1st. That the members of Withlacoochee Tribe extend to brother Z. V. Hooker their heartfelt sympathies, in this sad hour of bereavement of his by the loss of one who was so near and dear to him.

2nd. That we direct Brother Hooker to him, who alone can comfort him in this sad loss.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Brother Hooker, a copy to The Daily Reflector and a copy be spread on the minutes.

S. T. White,
D. C. Moore, } Committee
Chas. Moore.

announced that the lists of names handed in for membership had approximately one thousand names, on them, and there were more yet to come, which gives Pitt county the largest Kitchin club that has so far been reported in the State. The sentiment of the county is largely for Kitchin.

A CLASH OF AUTHORITY.

Chief of Fire Department Overrides Order of Mayor.

On Tuesday while the committee was preparing the dinner on the court house square for the old soldiers, the dust was so bad that a request was sent to Mayor Wooten to have the streets near the square sprinkled. The mayor sent the parties to Mr. Hyman, chief of the fire department, with instructions to have hose provided for the sprinkling to be done as requested by the committee.

The sprinkling was not done, and later Policeman Fleming was asked to go to the mayor and see if the sprinkling could be arranged for. Policeman Fleming went to Mayor Wooten about it, and the mayor learning that the chief of the fire department had not had the sprinkling done, ordered Policeman Fleming to go himself and have it done, as there was no time to be lost if the dust should be relieved in time for the dinner.

Policeman Fleming got a section of hose which he attached to the hydrant on the corner of the square and started the sprinkling. Chief Hyman saw this going on and went up to investigate by whose authority it was being done, taking no pains to be at all polite in the language used. The policeman advised the chief that he was acting on the order of the mayor, when the chief said the mayor had nothing to do with it. He then shut the water off and took the wrench. A few cuss words passed between the chief and the policeman, there was no sprinkling, and the old soldiers had to eat their dinner in the dust.

Later the policeman went to the mayor and asked that a warrant be issued for the other, but the mayor refused to issue a warrant, as it was a question of authority between the mayor and the chief of the fire department which would be referred to the board of aldermen for decision.

MRS. NANNIE CURTIS, OF TEXAS

Will Speak in the Opera House Thursday Night.

Mrs. Nannie Curtis, is said by those who have heard her, to be the most eloquent woman in America. A competent judge said yesterday that she was the equal of Bryan in controlling and moving a great audience. Remember she speaks in the opera Thursday night at eight o'clock. Every man in Greenville and the surrounding country should hear her plea for prohibition. It is a great opportunity to hear a great address on a great subject by a great orator.

She will arrive in Greenville by the 11.20, train from Scotland Neck Thursday morning and will meet the ladies of Greenville at the Sunday school room of the Jarvis Memorial church at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon to make their acquaintance and talk over the situation. It will be a great pleasure to the ladies to meet this rarely gifted, refined woman.

At Christian Church Tonight.

The Rev. William B. Shaw, of Balwain, Ga., will preach at the Christian church tonight at 8 o'clock. All the members of the church are requested to be present. The public cordially invited.

See our line of silks for shirt waist suits at Pulley & Bowen's.

MR. D. L. DUFFY DEAD.

The End Came Suddenly This Morning—A Shock to the Community.

The announcement early this morning that Mr. D. L. Duffy had died suddenly was indeed a shock to the town. Friends hurried to the residence on Washington street, only to find that the report was true and that his spirit had passed away.

Mr. Duffy had for some days been complaining of not feeling well, and suffered from an attack of colic Tuesday, but had not taken his bed and was out on the street after supper Tuesday night.

When other members of the family arose this morning, one of the boys heard a noise as of some one struggling coming from his father's room, and hurrying in the room found Mr. Duffy lying across the bed with his feet resting on the floor, his breath coming in heavy struggles. A physician was summoned, but Mr. Duffy was dead when he reached the home.

Mr. Duffy was about 33 years old, and is survived by a wife and two sons, both small. He was a civil engineer by profession and came to Greenville from Chattanooga, Tenn., about two years ago to assist in the engineering on the railroad then under construction between Raleigh and Washington that is now a part of the Norfolk and Southern system. Since that time he made his home here and had won many friends.

His body has been prepared for shipment and will be sent to Chattanooga for interment.

Much sympathy is expressed for the wife and two boys in their great sorrow.

MARRIED THEIR PLEASURE.

Old Soldiers Didn't Like Formation of Kitchin Club on Day of Reunion.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

The old soldiers, at their reunion Tuesday, were all pleased at the entertainment given them by the good people of Greenville and Pitt county. They enjoyed hearing the old familiar rattle of the drums, which was so efficiently rendered by a well trained drum corps of boys. The songs and recitations by the young ladies were highly pleasing, as was also the good speech we heard. The dinner, lemonade, etc., which were provided for the inner man was bountiful and greatly appreciated. Only one thing marred the delightful occasion, and that was the effort of some indiscreet persons, who tried to trespass on the occasion by forming a "Kitchin Club" to fight that old Conederate veteran, Ashely Horne. We didn't like this and hope that such efforts in the future will not be resorted to to mar the pleasure of our meetings.

To the People of Greenville.

In response to a large number of inquiries, I wish to say that the closing exercises of the Greenville graded schools will be held in the opera house on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week at eight o'clock.

On Wednesday evening the debate will be held. The query is resolved, that the next legislature should enact a law compelling all children between the ages of 7 and 14 to attend school at least four months each year.

The speakers on the affirmative are Conrad Lanier, Bruce Hooker and Charles Haskett. The negative, Frank Brown, Ben Taylor and Wiley J. Brown. The boys have very creditable speeches and I think the people will enjoy them. A medal will be awarded to the speaker who presents the best argument in the best manner. As Ben Taylor won a medal last year he will not be considered a contestant this year.

On Thursday evening the graduating exercises will be held. Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, professor of the English Language at the University, will deliver the address. Dr. Smith is noted as one of the finest scholars and speakers in the South; I am sure a treat is in store for all who hear him.

The graduating class numbers twelve this year. Some weeks ago their essays were read to a committee and Misses Lillie Tucker, Margaret Blow and Jamie Bryan were selected as having the most desirable essays. These young ladies will represent the class by reading their essays.

Music will be furnished by the music class, under direction of Miss Gaston.

To both of these exercises the public has a most cordial invitation.

In the chapel of the graded school on next Monday night the part of the music class not in the regular commencement exercises will give a public recital. Parents of the children and the public in general are invited to be present.

"WOLVES IN SHEEPS' CLOTHING."

Did you ever notice how sin tries to ape righteousness? The Devil never tries to gain a follower by first showing all his hideousness. When Christ combated his temptation in the wilderness with a Scriptural quotation, the Devil answered Him back by also quoting Scripture. It is often that one hears the Bible quoted in the attempt to justify some evil. But the point we are coming at just now is the prohibition campaign in this State. If there ever was a question that women should stand solidly for, it is prohibition. It is said that the best and most convincing speeches that have been made for prohibition in this campaign were by a woman—Mrs. Curtis, of Texas, who is national organizer of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Now look at what the whiskey crowd are doing. Seeing the good this noble woman was doing for the cause of prohibition, they have undertaken to offset it by importing a woman from New York to come to North Carolina and make whiskey speeches. They first had this importation to try her hand in Salisbury, the headquarters of the whiskey crowd, and reports from her speech there say she even disgusted some of the anti-prohibitionists and turned them into temperance advocates. Not even by aping righteousness can they turn the tide of prohibition in North Carolina.

Atlanta feels that she is doing it a little bit bigger than anybody else. In a second fire there the other day destroying a block of buildings, 175 horses perished.

You are going to see North Carolina roll up a big majority for prohibition on the 26th.

What a sour, disgruntled old fellow is Dr. J. J. Mott.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS.

The paper trust doesn't need a probe half as much as it needs a swat that will smash it.

A Mr. Meal is running for Mayor of Harrisburg, Pa. If he is a square Meal we can see no objection to him. Hooray for the Meal ticket!

Gov. Hughes says the United States is filled with men you cannot buy. But he regrets that so few of them are elected to legislative offices, no doubt.

When a woman buys something she cannot really afford, she condones the fault by doing without something she did not intend to buy anyway.

No further criticism of the house for idleness is possible. The other day it passed over 1,000 pension bills. Most of these were introduced by the Congressional Fence Builders' Union.

POSTAGE STAMP CHEATS.

Foolish Persons Who Run the Risk of Going to Prison.

"You would be surprised," said a postoffice clerk, "at the efforts people make to avoid the payment of postage. And quite often it is not the work of children either. The most common trick is to take the stamp that has been canceled by hand and the impression just touches the edge of the stamp. After pricking the marked edge with a pin or cutting it with a pair of shears to resemble the punctured edge of the stamp or tearing away that part the stamp is put on an envelope for another voyage. All these are placed in the hands of postal inspectors for investigation.

"Others try to give the impression that a stamp had been put on an envelope and become loose and lost in transit by sticking a stamp on the envelope and then pulling it with part of the envelope sticking to it off again. These as well as underpaid letters, unless they have a foreign destination, where postage is then collected, are marked 'Returned for postage' and sent back to the sender. Second class matter, as a roll of newspapers, is often sealed against inspection by having the stamps overlap the cover. Whether foreign or not it is returned for postage. When it again shows up, the mistake rectified, upon inspection it is usually found to contain written letters, photographs (unmounted), jewelry, merchandise of all kinds, making the package underpaid; hence it is again returned.

"But the limit of foolishness comes when a person tries to efface the indelible ink from the stamp and with half the features of the stamp missing or rubbed away and some of the ink still remaining affixes it to an envelope, with the address of the sender upon the back to facilitate investigation.

"This, though, is stretching it a little too much: A postcard that had been put through a canceling machine and delivered to the addressee had the canceling impression and the address scratched off with the aid of a sharp knife and a new address substituted and a written message pasted on the reverse side."—New York Sun.

AN OLD GORMANDIZER.

One Man Who Lived That He Might Simply Eat and Drink.

In a little yellowed English magazine, dated April, 1804, I came across the following amusing scrap:

If the Duke of Q. does not extend his life to a still longer period, it will not be for want of culinary comforts and those other succulent arts by which longevity is best promoted. His grace's sustenance is thus daily administered:

"At 7 in the morning he regales in a warm milk bath perfumed with almond powder, where he takes his coffee and a buttered muffin, and afterward retires to bed. He rises about 9 and breakfasts on cafe au lait, with new laid eggs just parboiled; at 11 he is presented with two warm jellies and rusques; at 1 he takes a veal cutlet a la Maintenon; at 3 jellies and eggs repeat; at 5 a cup of chocolate and rusques; at 7:30 he takes a hearty dinner from high seasoned dishes and makes suitable libations of claret and madeira; at 10 tea, coffee and muffins; at 12 sups off a roast poulet, with a plentiful solution of lime punch; at 1 in the morning he retires to bed in high spirits and sleeps till 3, when his man cook, to the moment, waits upon him in person with a hot and savory veal cutlet, which, with a potation of wine and water, prepares him for further repose that continues generally uninterrupted till the morning summons to his lacteal bath.

"In this routine of living comforts are the four and twenty hours invariably divided, so that if his grace does not know, with Sir Toby Belch, 'that our life is composed of four elements' he knows at least, with Sir Ague Cheek, 'that it consists in eating and drinking.'"—London Chronicle.

A Reason For Thanks.

The impetuous author's wife was trying on a new dress and endeavoring to observe the hang of it by means of a round mirror on top of a high chiffonier. Every woman will appreciate what that means.

"Oh, dear," she exclaimed as she thought with some pathos, "I haven't seen the bottom of my skirt since I was married."

Her husband looked up, brute that he was, and remarked:

"Well, you can thank your lucky stars for that."—New York Press.

Had Left For Parts Unknown.

In a murder trial in Texas some years ago the counsel for the defense was examining a venireman regarding his qualifications to serve. The candidate admitted that he had once been a member of a jury which tried a negro for murder. It is not permissible in such cases to ask the result of the trial, so the counsel said:

"Where is that negro now?" "I don't know," was the reply. "The sheriff hanged him at the appointed time."

AN AUDACIOUS PLAN.

How Captain Haraden Bluffed the English Into Surrender.

A fight is a fight for a that, and just as an example of early American "nerve" a story unearthed by Ralph D. Payne in the old sea logs at Essex Institute, in Salem, is of much interest. It is told by Mr. Payne as follows in Outing Magazine:

The King's packet was a foe to test Captain Haraden's mettle, and he found he had a tough antagonist. They fought four full hours, "or four glasses," as the log records it, after which Captain Haraden found that he must haul out of the action and repair damages to rigging and hull. He discovered also that he had used all the powder on board except one charge. It would have been a creditable conclusion of the matter if he had called the action a drawn battle and gone on his way.

It was in his mind, however, to try an immensely audacious plan which could succeed only by means of the most cold blooded courage on his part. Hauling home his last charge of powder and double shooting the gun, he ranged alongside his plucky enemy, who was terribly cut up, but still unconquered, and hailed her:

"I will give you five minutes to haul down your colors. If they are not down at the end of that time, I will fire into and sink you, so help me God!"

It was a test of mind, not of metal. The British commander was a brave man who had fought his ship like a hero. But the sight of this infernally indomitable figure on the quarter deck of the shot rent Pickering, the thought of being exposed to another broadside at pistol range, the aspect of the blood stained, half naked privateersmen grouped at their guns with matches lighted, was too much for him. Captain Haraden stood, watch in hand, calling off the minutes so that his voice could be heard aboard the packet:

"One."
"Two."
"Three."
But he had not said "Four" when the British colors fluttered down from the yard, and the packet ship was his.

WONDERS OF WATER.

Extent to Which Fluid Mingles With Bodies Apparently Solid.

The extent to which water mingles with bodies apparently solid is wonderful. The glittering opal which beauty wears as an ornament is only flint and water. In every plaster of paris statue which an Italian carries through our streets for sale there is one pound of water to every four pounds of chalk. The air we breathe contains five grains of water to each cubic foot of its bulk. The potatoes and turnips which are boiled for our dinner have in their raw state the one 75 per cent and the other 90 per cent of water.

If a man weighing ten stone were squeezed flat in a hydraulic press seven and one-half stone of water would run out and only two and one-half stone of dry residue remain. A man is, chemically speaking, forty-five pounds of carbon and nitrogen diffused through five and a half pailsful of water. In plants we find water thus mingling in no less wonderful a manner.

A sunflower evaporates one and a quarter pints of water a day and a cabbage about the same quantity. A wheat plant exhales in 172 days about 100,000 grains of water. An acre of growing wheat, on this calculation, draws and passes out about ten tons of water per day.

The sap of plants is the medium through which this mass of fluid is conveyed. It forms a delicate pump by which the watery particles run with the rapidity of a swift stream. By the action of the sap various properties may be communicated to the growing plant. Timber in France is, for instance, dyed by various colors being mixed with water and poured over the root of the tree. Dahlias are also colored by a similar process.—London Tit-Bits.

Making It Clear.

A very young child was saying his prayers at the bedside in his grandfather's house. The grandfather, anxious to hear the boy, stood at the room door, which was sufficiently open for him to see and hear the child. After the usual asking God to bless his parents the child reached "God bless grandma and grandpa." At the mention of the last named, the boy's eye catching sight of his grandfather, he stopped and, pointing his little finger, said, "There he is!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

An Easy Job.

A schoolmaster set as an essay subject to a class of his young hopefuls "What I would like to be," and one pronouncement, delivered in a bold half text, was as follows: "I would like to be a horse driver. When you are driving a horse you sit and do nothing. You do that all day and feed the horse at night and your work is done for that day. Then when Saturday comes you get your pay, and then you get all Sunday to yourself."—Kansas City Newsbook.

A Long Wait.

"Did you and your wife take a long trip on your honeymoon?"
"It seemed long to me. Her father had promised to settle a snug sum of money on us as soon as we got back."
—Chicago Record-Herald.

The man who leads two lives is judged in the end by the worst of the pair.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The acts of this life are the destiny of the next.—Chinese Proverb.

OBEYED ORDERS.

The Lady Knew Just What to Do When a Fire Started.

Mrs. Wilcox had boundless faith in the wisdom and general effectiveness of her husband's advice, and consequently he had primed her with instructions for any emergency that might arise when he was absent. Among other things, he had repeatedly warned her in case of fire to spread a rug on the blaze and then telephone for the engines.

So deeply was this advice impressed on her subconsciousness that her actions the day of the fire in her home were purely automatic.

She had bought a new hat, and, the room being rather poorly lighted, she used the gas jet over her bureau as an aid to studying the new millinery achievement. Suddenly as she was lifting the lace creation off her head, it slipped and fell directly upon the blazing gas jet.

The expected happened. The hat was soon burning fiercely, still on the top of the gas pipe.

Mrs. Wilcox, mindful of Jack's advice, grabbed a valuable Persian rug on the floor and, spreading it carefully over the lighted gas jet and flaming hat, rushed out to the telephone.

At the doorway she collided with her maid, Estelle, who, hearing the rapid movements in the room, was coming to learn the cause.

Running over to the bureau, the girl turned out the gas and, throwing the rug on the floor, stamped out the flames, which had burned a hole through the valuable tapestry.

"Why, Mrs. Wilcox," she cried, "why didn't you turn out the gas?"

"Turn out the gas?" answered her mistress. "Well, aren't you bright! I never thought of that. Jack has always told me to put a rug on a fire."—Youth's Companion.

A STORY OF NELSON.

The Presence of Mind of the Great English Admiral.

Captain Mahan relates the following anecdote concerning Lord Nelson's letter proposing a truce to the crown prince of Denmark, dispatched in the midst of hostilities:

The decks being cleared of all partitions fore and aft and all ordinary conveniences removed, Nelson wrote in full view of all on the deck where he was, at the casing of the rudder head, standing, and as he wrote an officer standing by took a copy. The original, in his own hand, was put into an envelope and sealed, with his arms. The officer was about to use a wafer, but Nelson said:

"No; send for sealing wax and candle."

Some delay followed owing to the man's having had his head taken off by a ball. "Send another messenger for the wax," said the admiral when informed of this, and when the wafers were again suggested he simply reiterated the order.

A large quantity of wax was used and extreme care taken that the impression of the seal should be perfect. Colonel Stewart asked:

"Why under so hot a fire and after so lamentable an accident have you attached so much importance to a circumstance apparently trifling?"

"Had I made use of a wafer," replied Nelson, "the wafer would have been still wet when the letter was presented to the crown prince. He would have inferred that the letter was sent off in a hurry and that we had some pressing reasons for being in a hurry. The wax told no tales."

He Didn't Like Pledges.

Judge Martin Grover of Troy, N. Y., was at one time approached by a young citizen who wished to be nominated to the state assembly. The shrewd old judge had certain doubts about him, which he expressed somewhat freely, and yet he was willing to afford him a trial. He therefore addressed the aspirant in this way:

"Young man, if you will give me your word that you won't steal when you get to Albany I'll see what kin be done about sendin' you there."

"Judge Grover," replied the young man, drawing himself up with great dignity, "I go to Albany unpledged or I don't go at all."

Small Tacks.

How is this for a stunt? The center of the tack industry used to be Bromsgrove, a town in Worcestershire, England, where all work was done by hand. It was a common feat for experts to forge 1,000 to 1,200 tacks so small as to fill the barrel of an ordinary goose quill, their weight being only about twenty grains.—New York Press.

A Glittering Bargain.

"Yes," said the prospective investor to the Billville real estate man, "your terms at $2 an acre are very reasonable. Is there any gold in the land?"

The agent looked around as if to assure himself that no one was listening; then he leaned over and whispered:

"It's mostly gold!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Irresistible Attraction.

"What are you stopping for, John? If we don't hurry we'll miss our train!"

"You can go on if you want to, Maria. I'm going to see how they get that balky horse started."

Out of a Job.

Minister—Is your father working now, Johnny? Small Johnny—No, sir. Minister—Why, only last week he told me he had a job. Small Johnny—Yes, sir. But the man he was working died.—Chicago News.

Against God's wrath no castle is thunder proof.—Spanish Proverb.

A Fable of the Future.

In 1920 A. D. the Stingiest Man in Stringtown carted his Household Goods to the Depot and bought a ticket for Millionville, the Metropolis.

"Why are you moving to Millionville?" inquired a Citizen.

"To save postage," replied the Stingiest Man. Whereat the Citizen marveled mightily.

Now, be it known that the Stingiest Man in Stringtown was wise in his Day and Generation, for along back in 1907 A. D. or thereabout it became the Settled Habit of the Stringtown people to purchase Large Sheets of Little Stickers bearing portraits of G. Washington, B. Franklin, W. McKinley and other Late Illustrious Ones, which Specimens of Art they straightway stuck on envelopes and sent to a Large and Luring Mail Order Concern in Millionville. Wherefore it came about that the Seven Stores in Stringtown Shut up Shop, one after the other, until along in 1919 A. D. the Stingiest Man found it incumbent upon him to begin purchasing these Small Specimens of Art to present to the Maw of the Monster in Millionville, and the Aforesaid was Simply too Stingy to stand for the Same.

RUNNING AN ENGINE.

Force of a Locomotive Going Sixty Miles an Hour.

At sixty miles an hour the resistance of a train is four times as great as it is at thirty miles—that is, the fuel must be four times as great in the one case as it is in the other. But at sixty miles an hour this fuel must be exerted for a given distance in half the time that it is at thirty miles, so that the amount of power exerted and steam generated in a given period of time must be eight times as great at the faster speed. This means that the capacity of the boiler, cylinders and the other parts must be greater with a corresponding addition to the weight of the machine. Obviously, therefore, if the weight per wheel, on account of the limit of weight that the rails will carry, is limited, we soon reach a point when the driving wheels and other parts cannot be further enlarged, and then we reach the maximum speed. The nice adjustment necessary of the various parts of these immense engines may be indicated by some figures as to the work performed by these parts when the locomotive is working at high speed. Take a passenger engine on any of the big railroads. At sixty miles an hour a driving wheel five and one-half feet in diameter revolves five times every second. Now, the reciprocating parts of each cylinder, including one piston, piston rod, cross head and connecting rod, weighing about 650 pounds, must move back and forth a distance equal to the stroke, usually two feet, every time the wheel revolves, or in a fifth of a second. It starts from a state of rest at the end of each stroke of the piston and must acquire a velocity of thirty-two feet per second in one-twentieth of a second and must be brought to a state of rest in the same period of time.

A piston eighteen inches in diameter has an area of 254 1/2 square inches. Steam of 150 pounds pressure per square inch would therefore exert a force on the piston equal to 38,175 pounds. This force is applied alternately on each side of the piston ten times in a second. —Chicago News.

Highest Lake in the World.

On the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains is a lake known to tourists as Lake Tahoe. It is the highest body of fresh water in considerable volume known to this or any other country, for the geodetic survey reports its level as nearly 8,000 feet above the level of the sea. Its temperature never rises higher than 40 degrees F., and it runs off into the Truckee river, which discharges itself into the lakes of Nevada, that have no outlet, but whose waters are drunk up by the thirsty alkali soils of the Great American desert. While it is a favorite resort for fishermen, its waters offer but one kind of fish, the lake trout, as locally known, but in fact the Salmo fontinalis of eastern streams, only larger, stronger and more prolific in their development. —Exchange.

Not Only Could, but Did.

Sometimes there is a drop of regret in the cup of joy served by fate to the husband of a brilliant talker. "I should think it would be a privilege to sit at the table with your wife three times a day," said one of Mrs. Grandon's ardent feminine admirers. "Only twice a day," said Mr. Grandon, with a bow. "I do not go home at noon." "Too bad!" said the admirer. "We could not get on without her at the club, I am sure. Why, I believe she could talk intelligently on a thousand topics!" "She can—and does," said Mr. Grandon, and with another bow he slipped out just as his wife appeared. —Youth's Companion.

If You Doubt It, Try It.

A man once backed himself for a large amount, which he subsequently lost, to move an ordinary brick attached to two miles of cord along a level road outside Chichester. He failed to move the brick, and it may roughly be estimated that the friction of the cord on the road increased the weight of the brick (about seven pounds) and cord to a dead weight of not far short of a ton. —Fry's Magazine.

What Makes a Bank Strong

In judging a Bank, always remember that it is Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits that give security to the depositor, because that money is what stands between you as a depositor and any possible shrinkage in the securities held by the bank.

Few banks in the State have a larger margin of safety than THE BANK OF GREENVILLE which, with the watchful interest of a very capable and conservative board of directors and the constant inspection of the Corporation Commission, has built up here one of the best financial institutions in the county, one whose Capital, Surplus and PROFITS now amounts to over Sixty - Eight Thousand Dollars.

Business respectfully solicited.
