

IS AFTER SENATOR SIMMONS, EX-REPRESENTATIVE McNINCH REPLIES TO MR. SIMMONS.

A Charlotte Supporter of Mr. Kitchin Says it is Not Proper For Senator Simmons to Throw His Influence Into Contest Between Democrats.

The News and Observer is requested to print the following reply to the letter of Senator Simmons, which appeared in the News and Observer on Thursday of last week.

Mr. McNinch's Letter.

Charlotte, N. C., 23.
Senator F. M. Simmons,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: I have just read your remarkable edict, proclaiming Mr. Craig our Governor-to-be, and suggesting by necessary implication that to vote against Mr. Craig is lese-majesty! Alas, after ten years of unflinching loyalty to you and your political fortunes I am now charged with the crime of treason against the king merely because I am advocating Mr. Kitchin. I emphatically plead "not guilty" to the charge. You say that those of us who may have criticised your unseemly interference in the gubernatorial contest have used that merely as a pretext for our criticism, but that the real cause is that we belong to a "certain element in the State which has long desired to get a lick at you." This statement I resent, because I never have sympathized with or belonged to any political element; inimical to you, but on the contrary have, as already stated, been your uncompromising friend. That I have criticised your participation in the present contest between Democrats is true, for I think your activity is unprecedented, in bad taste and unjustifiable. The gravamen of criticism is that you now occupy the exalted station of United State Senator by the support of friends of both Mr. Horne and Mr. Kitchin as well as the friends of Mr. Craig; that by reason of the high position we have helped elevate you to, you necessarily have greater political influence than you would have as a private individual; that having accepted our support to gain your vantage ground you now turn upon us and use it against us. Is that fair to your friends who happen also to be the friends of either Mr. Kitchin or Mr. Horne?

But you say, senator, that you would "hold your tongue" in this contest but for the "assaults" upon you and Mr. Craig. Let us see: Were you not actively supporting Mr. Craig long before it occurred to anyone to criticise you? Are not the "assaults" upon you, which you say are "unparallel" the direct and natural result of your "unparalleled" interference from Washington in a contest here at home between Democrats? You say that early in the contest you declared for Mr. Craig; did your colleague, Senator Overman, declare early or at all for either? Did ever before a senator from North Carolina "declare" for one Democrat against another in such a contest? And before you "declared" for Mr. Craig did you not write, or cause to be written, a letter to him, or to another, encouraging him to run, and pledging your support? And did not your secretary, about a year ago, with your consent and approval, make a visit to Mecklenburg and other counties, and let it be known that you were for

Mr. Craig? No "assaults" had then been made on you. But you say that "surely it is my duty, having special knowledge of the facts gained, as chairman, to see that a faithful party worker is not denied credit for his work" and elsewhere in your letter you exercise a commendable though tardy solicitude to reward Mr. Craig for his party services. When did you experience such a conviction of duty to reward him? Certainly you did not advocate his nomination for governor four years ago when the west was entitled to and got the nomination. And why, senator, did you refuse to lend your assistance to Mr. Craig when he ran for the senate against Hon. C. B. Watson and Hon. Lee S. Overman. All the party services of Mr. Craig to which you refer had then been rendered, and is it not strange that a sense of duty did not impel you to help reward him? And if so anxious to reward Mr. Craig did it occur to you when you stood for reelection in 1907 that you should magnanimously put aside the crown and help place it upon the brow of the man you now feel such a sense of duty to reward. But you may say, party precedent would have demanded that the senator should come from the east. I answer that party precedent demands that the governor should now come from the east.

Let me assure you that I join you in your desire to see Mr. Craig rewarded, for I fully appreciate his services and esteem him highly. But I am not willing in order to reward Mr. Craig, to reverse party precedent and also without reward from another Democrat, Mr. Kitchin, who has so richly deserved the high honor to which he aspires by reason of the lifelong devotion of his superior talents to the Democratic party.

Very truly yours,
F. R. MCNINCH.

News Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. May 27, 1908.

Misses Laura Cox and Ethel Carroll are attending the B. U. W. commencement at Raleigh.

Mrs. B. G. Taylor, of Ayden, spent Sunday afternoon here with her parents.

Rev. H. E. Tripp, of Ayden, filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning and night.

Prof. Lineberry made prohibition speeches at Black Jack and Grimesland Sunday.

Jno R. Carroll and C. J. Jackson, students of Wake Forest College, are at home for the vacation.

Miss Janie Kittrell went to Greenville yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Cox and son, Fountain, are attending the B. U. W. commencement at Raleigh. Miss Dora Cox graduated this year.

J. K. Barnhill has moved to his new home near the oil mill.

The election passed off quietly yesterday. There was hard work done but every one seemed to be in excellent spirits. We were struck with one good sign, and that was nearly every young man voted for prohibition. These are the hope of our county and their actions yesterday are commendable indeed.

Rev. T. H. King returned from Goldsboro Monday morning and went back there today to conduct a funeral.

Mrs. T. H. King and Miss Nannie Braxton went to Greenville this morning.

PROHIBITION SWEEPS THE STATE BY 50,000

North Carolina Overthrows the Manufacture and Sale of Liquor

LESS THAN TWENTY COUNTIES GAVE US WET MAJORITIES

Pitt County Covers Herself in Glory by Giving Nearly One Thousand Majority For Prohibition—A Great and Memorable Day.

Tuesday, May 26th, will go down in history as a memorable day for North Carolina, as it registered the declaration of the State in overwhelming number against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

PITT COUNTY'S VOTE.

In Pitt county the election was quiet with plenty of hard work done that told in the result of 966 majority for prohibition. The vote by townships is as follows:

Township	Dry	Wet
Beaver Dam	70	32
Belvoir	35	33
Bethel	140	29
Carolina	52	100
Chicod	216	153
Contentnea No. 1	325	40
Contentnea No. 2	129	30
Falkland	113	59
Farmville	158	57
Greenville	408	215
Pactolus	33	38
Swift Creek	127	59
Total	1811	845

Majority for prohibition 966.

The vote of the town of Greenville is included with the township which brings the majority down to 193, while the majority in the town alone was nearly 300.

RESULT IN THE STATE.

Reports began coming in on the Western Union wires early after the closing of the polls, and from the outset showed that the State had given a large majority for prohibition.

The following counties gave estimated dry majorities: Rockingham 350, Beaufort 400, Anson 350, Cumberland 1000, Iredell 1,000, McDowell 500, Buncombe 2500, Madison 1500, Scotland

HOW SOME TOWNS VOTED.

Some of the larger towns gave dry majorities as follows: Asheville 746, New Bern 200, Winston Salem 841, Greensboro 767, Scotland Neck 49, Weldon 228, Charlotte about 800, Washington 322, Kinston 534, Weldon 600, Raleigh 77.

These towns gave wet majorities: Rocky Mount 3, Tarboro 17, Durham 300, Wilmington small.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

Whereas it has pleased the Great Spirit to enter the home of our brother H. B. Tripp, and removed therefrom his father, and whereas we know that the Spirit makes an error in His divine providence, therefore be it Resolved 1st. That we, the members of Withlacoochee Tribe, No. 35, I. O. R. M. extend to Brother Tripp our heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour which has befallen him.

Resolved 2nd. That we commend Brother Tripp to him who doeth all things well, and can heal our sorrows.

Resolved 3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy be sent to Brother Tripp and a copy furnished The Daily Reflector for publication.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Miss Ethel Bowling is visiting friends in Ayden.

J. L. Bunting came in from Norfolk Tuesday evening to look after the sale of some lots in Greenville Heights.

Dr. W. S. McClain arrived from Franklin, Ky., yesterday, and will open an office here for the practice of Osteopathy.

Miss Annie L. Joyner, who has been attending the Southern college of Osteopathy at Franklin, Ky., is here for the summer.

Colored People for Prohibition.

The colored people of Greenville could not take much hand in the voting Tuesday, but they showed their interest in prohibition by holding prayer-meetings and ringing their church bells. Those of them who voted put in the dry ticket.

AS TO MR. LOCKE CRAIG.

Letter From a Prominent Man Who Knows Him.

Hon. C. W. Mitchell, a prominent farmer and business man of Bertie county and whom his people have for years honored as their representative in the legislature and as State senator, writes the following letter to a citizen of Greenville that speaks for itself:

Anlander, N. C., May 23, 1908.
Mr. Joseph Rawls,
Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir:

Your letter received. I do not know the character of the slanders that are being used against Mr. Craig in your county. I desire to say that no man has ever lived and gone from Bertie county who is held in greater esteem by the best people of this county than Mr. Craig. Four years ago I represented the Democracy of the county without a dissenting voice instructed me to vote for him for U. S. Senator. I know that some of the men who were enthusiastic for him then are now traducing and trying to injure his good name. If by a united voice of the county he was worthy to represent the State of North Carolina in the U. S. Senate, surely he is worthy to be governor of the State. There has been no change in the man in the last four years. I think I know Craig almost as I know myself. Both of us were born in Bertie county on the same day of the same year. His father was a strong Baptist preacher, coming to the county prior to the war and marrying a Bertie county woman. I am told that his father, who was not a resident of the South, when the question of secession was agitating the minds of the people, held views against secession and his sympathies were for a united rather than a divided union. Many of our best men in the South held similar views. The Rev. Mr. Craig died leaving Locke and Braxton to the care of their mother, who, being without means to educate them, went to the University of the State, ran a boarding house and by that means educated her sons. Locke Craig located in the Western part of the State and by his own energies and ability has achieved distinction and standing second to no man in Western North Carolina.

I am told, and he does not deny it, that at the age of 21 the first vote he ever cast, having read the life of James G. Blaine and being strongly impressed with the greatness of the man, that he voted for Blaine electors. The balance of the State ticket he voted for the Democratic nominees, and this is the only instance where he has ever failed to support the party nominees. I think when we take an impartial view of this point in his life he should be commended rather than censured, considering the environments of his boyhood. I don't believe any man in the State has done harder work or made greater sacrifices for the cause of Democracy than Locke Craig, and it is a shame that men, who call themselves good Democrats, should seek to injure him before the people of State by vile slanders and malicious lies. To those who ensure Craig for voting when a boy for the Blaine electors, I would sight them to the example of Mr. Bryan in maturer years voting for Weaver electors. I don't know what will be the outcome of this fight, but I am firmly convinced that the best interest of the party will be served by his nomination. I consider his Democracy as good as any man. I trust Pitt county will give him a good vote and rebuke the vile slanders that are being circulated to injure a worthy and deserving son of our State, who for 25 years has labored for the best interest of the State.

Very truly,
C. W. Mitchell.

Good bye, booze.

Glory enough for one day.

God bless old Pitt county! As expected, she did herself proud.

Pitt county's 966 majority for prohibition is all right and shows what our people are.

Carolina has the distinction of being the only township in Pitt county that gave a wet majority. Pactolus came next with a tie vote.

North Carolina has shown that her people are on the right side of a moral question. The good old State continues to go forward.

We expect Mayor Boyden, of Salisbury, manager of the anti-prohibition side, feels like a cyclone struck him. His county and town both went dry.

Contentnea is the banner township of Pitt county. The Ayden precinct gave 285 majority and Winterville precinct 99, a total of 384 for the township.

Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis, chairman of the anti-saloon league in Pitt county, has the right to feel proud and rejoice at the result in the county, as does also Chairman Oates, of the State league, at the result in the State.

Congratulation to North Carolina's "grand old man", Governor Thomas J. Jarvis. He started the movement at the special session that brought about the election. Pitt county was regarded as doubtful and probably wet. Yesterday it gave a majority of about one thousand for prohibition.—Raleigh News and Observer.

RAISIN WEED.

Grass Rugs With Which the Sargasso Sea is Strewn.

When a ship approaches the Sargasso Sea it appears to be heading straight for a meadow thickly carpeted with coarse autumnal grass or a Scottish moor covered with yellow gorse. A nearer view discloses what appear to be innumerable small islets, generally round in shape and varying in width from 50 to 100 yards. These islets are intersected with lanes of clear water, and where the blue of a cloudless sky is reflected in these open channels the yellow color of the islets becomes intensified by contrast to bright golden. When a stiff breeze begins to blow they change form, lengthening out in broad, undulating strips, all moving with the wind. Each strip unites with the one ahead of it, but the distance between them on each side remains uniform and never becomes wide enough to admit of the passage of a ship or narrow enough to close up altogether. This produces the strange effect of a blue ocean evenly striped with parallel bands of yellow.

When the sea is perfectly smooth again the strips resume their usual round of oval shapes, and a vessel moving through them has the appearance of a ship sailing over a meadow. Closer inspection shows the floating yellow stuff to be composed of compact masses of a tropical species of seaweed, which, torn from the bottom of the gulf by the fury of the storms, drifts into the circular currents of the Sargasso sea and remains there until it slowly decays under the hot rays of the sun. The yellow color is due to clusters of amber hued berries exactly like bunches of grapes with which it is covered and which cause sailors to call it raisin weed. It is also full of marine life. Tiny crabs scurry to and fro across it, aquatic spiders lurk among the berries, and microscopic shellfish of various kinds cling to the stalks. Most people who cross the Sargasso sea want to take home a specimen of this curious weed, but an obliging sailor usually lowers a bucket over the side and scoops it up. Indlosed in a wide-mouthed bottle filled with sea water and tightly corked, it will keep a long time.—New York Press.

Star by His Dad.
Once when John Van Buren, son of President Van Buren, was making a speech in behalf of his father in the Democrat Post in the audience and applauded him as a leader. Few men were more effective on the stump or quicker at repartee than John, and he replied to the charge with an anecdote something like this:

"One day a man on horseback came up with a boy who was contending with an overturned load of hay. Instead of tossing the hay back in the wagon, the boy was energetically tossing it hither and thither, regardless of where it landed. The traveler halted and said: 'My young friend, why do you work so furiously this hot weather? Why do you not toss the hay back in the wagon and be more deliberate in your labor?' The boy stopped, wiped the streaming perspiration off his face on his shirt sleeve and, pointing to the pile of hay on the roadside, exclaimed, 'Stranger, dad's under there,' and then he set about work more furiously than ever."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

How Many Bricks Have You Sent Away?

That sounds like a funny question, addressed to every citizen of this town and community, but it's really a serious one.

Listen: There is now just completed a magnificent building of red brick exterior and concrete interior right in the business heart of one of the biggest of American cities. It occupies a whole block and calls itself in a large lettered sign "The Largest Monolithic Building In the World." It has many floors, with about a hundred acres of floor space. The entrances are of solid marble. The floors are beautifully tiled. Altogether it is a credit to the big city in which it stands. Oh, it's a Jim Dandy!

Now, how many bricks have you sent to the city to go into this big building? Honest, how many?

Of the hundreds of thousands of bricks put into the walls of this building the city where it stands has contributed not a single red brick. Country people, the people of small towns and cities far away from the big metropolis, have sent in the bricks for the construction of this splendid edifice.

You may have sent in a few hods of bricks yourself without knowing it.

Listen: This magnificent structure, which ornaments a city you probably never will see yourself, is built of bricks bought with the dollars of people living in towns just like ours—towns that would like to have some new brick buildings themselves now and then. Every dollar contributed to the city building fund means a nice, hefty hod of bricks for this big, beautiful skyscraper, "largest in the world" of its kind. This building was put up, through the kind donations of their unknown country cousins, by a firm that ran a small store in that city a few years ago.

But this firm conceived the cute idea of having thousands of strangers contribute bricks, to build its fine, large, new store.

And the building is a Mail Order Store. See?

SUN SILHOUETTES.

The Specter of the Brocken Seen on Mount Washington.

Seldom seen in this country, the specter of the Brocken is of somewhat common occurrence in the Harz mountains, Germany, whence it takes its name. There the summit of Blocksberg, rising to a height of more than 3,300 feet, is almost continually enveloped in mist, on which the parallel rays of the sun, low down on the western horizon, throw strange and uncanny shadows of men, animals and other objects. As the screen of mist on which these shadows are projected changes its position in the varying currents of air the weird sun silhouettes seem to be endowed with motion, increasing and diminishing in size as the mist curtain recedes from and approaches the object casting the shadow, giving rise to many strange fantasies and legends.

Some years ago the writer was one of a party of five to cross Mount Washington, New Hampshire, and was so fortunate as to witness this specter in all its weird distinctness. We had left Mount Washington behind and were following the bridge path over Mount Monroe just as the sun was reaching the level of the western hills. At our left a dense, shifting bank of mist swayed backward and forward, at times almost enveloping us in its moist embrace and again swirling away so far as to disclose faint outlines of crag and summit to the eastward.

Suddenly emerging from behind a ridge, we came into the full glare of the setting sun, and one after another each member of the party saw his figure silhouetted distinctly on the semitransparent veil of mist. Trudging as we were in single file, each shadow was projected separately and framed in a brilliant circle of prismatic colors. The head, feet and finger tips of each person when the arms were extended at full length touched the inner edge of the rainbow circle. Every peculiarity of outline was faithfully duplicated, even to knapsacks and long staffs carried by the party, and as the light air moved the mist bank farther away the silhouettes grew in size from that of nearly normal to heroic stature. Always the halo of prismatic light encircled us, but became less brilliant as its size increased.

As the party came together their shadows merged into one, encircled by a single rainbow frame. The unusual phenomenon lasted many minutes, disappearing suddenly as the sun sank.—W. J. Scandlin in Boston Post.

Origin of the Maypole.

"May day ceremonies were not in origin a mere sign of rejoicing that the leaves were on the trees again and the flowers blooming once more," says J. Ernest Pythian in his "Trees in Nature, Myth and Art." "They were religious observances, believed to secure the blessings the spirit could bestow. The spirit that inhabited the tree inhabited also the Maypole taken from the tree, and the dance round the Maypole was a religious ceremony. The May queen and Jack-in-the-green were in origin human forms of the tree spirit. The belief that the Maypole insures fertility is not yet extinct in Europe, and in some parts of Germany on May day the peasants set up May trees at the doors of stable and cowbyre, a tree for each horse and cow, to insure fertility and that the cows will give plenty of milk."

An Ancient Drinking Game.

Drinking bouts have been accompanied among all peoples by curious diversions. Cottabus is the most classical, having been in vogue over most parts of the ancient world. The player lay on a couch and without moving his position attempted to throw from his goblet a few drops of wine at a mark in a high curve without spilling any of the liquor. The mark consisted generally of a little image of Hermes, placed on a bronze saucer, which sometimes floated on water, so that until it was filled by a sufficient quantity of wine to sink it the game continued. To play cottabus well was a mark of good breeding in Athens.—Harper's.

Evicting Corpses.

"It is bad enough to evict live people, but to evict corpses does seem hard."

"They never evict corpses." "Don't they? You wouldn't say that if you knew Porto Rico. In the native cemeteries of Porto Rico it is a common occurrence to see a hard-hearted landlord evict with a shovel a corpse whose rent has not been paid."

"You see, they don't sell lots in those cemeteries. They only rent them, and they who don't come down with their annual rental promptly are apt to suffer the mortification and grief of seeing their dead turned out."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A GREAT GAME.

Walking Suits Every Mood, Softens Trouble and Tempers Sorrow.

There is no substitute for the art of walking. It permits no proxies. Books may be retold by the reader, sermons repeated by the hearer, pictures may be described by the art critics or the humbler visitor. No one can portray the pleasures of walking, nor can its advantages be secured at second hand. It must be one's own individual employment. Walking is game for any mood. The sad, the downhearted, the exultant, the serenely content, all, and those in any other mental condition, may find satisfaction in wandering out upon the earth. Walking softens sorrow, tempers trouble and adds a halo unto happiness. It gives health and vigor to body and mind. Many a headache has been chased away by walking and many a headache lifted or lightened. The best thing for the inside of a man is the outside of the earth. Unlike other games, walking may be played in company or alone. It may be for one, two or more. It is at its best, of course, when played by two who are really one. Yet a solitary journey is better far than a continual stay in the house at toil or in company gay. Better loaf and invite one's soul than work or play overmuch and leave one's spirit atrophied. Sunshine and fresh air are twin agents in the promotion of happiness and health and peace.

Every man who walks should be a lover. He should be not merely a lover of his companion, but of the birds and buzzing bees, the bursting leaves and the blue ceiling of the sky beyond. One may walk in winter days full of frost and in summer when the days are full of fire. 'Tis in the year's rosy dawn, when nature is robing in garments of green and gold, that she gives most of her beauty to him who loves and worships her. The man who slowly walks adown the street or through the country fields may then, if ever, look through the nature up to the nature's God.—Walter Williams in Columbia Herald.

A Curious Looking Egg.

A shark's egg is one of the most odd looking things imaginable and has no more resemblance to an egg, strictly speaking, than it has to a paving stone. In one variety it is pillow shaped and has a long "horn" or "feeler" at each corner. It is about two inches long and the color almost pure black. It is unprovided with shell, as we understand that word, but the contents are protected by a thick, leathery covering which has almost as much elasticity about it as a covering of rubber would have. The "feelers" mentioned catch hold of and wind themselves around pieces of seaweed and other floating objects and hang until the egg is hatched. One variety of the shark lays eighteen eggs during the month of April. These float about until early in December, when the little sharks emerge.

Rarest Bird In Cuba.

The rarest of all birds in Cuba is the ara tricolor, commonly known as the Cuban macaw. Its habitat is the swamps, and the following general description will illustrate its beauty: Forehead, red, becoming yellowish on top and shading into bright yellow on the neck; back feathers, cinnamon edged with green; under parts, scarlet, with a dash of orange on the throat; secondary feathers, bright blue on the upper surface, pale brown underneath; legs, brown; eyes, yellow. Seen in the dusk resting on the lily pads of a swamp, the ara tricolor is one of the handsomest specimens of the bird life to be found in any land or any clime.

A Serious Joke.

A noted joke immortalized in Lever's "Charles O'Malley" was actually perpetuated by Mr. Frederick Welcome, a student in Trinity college, Dublin. Mr. Welcome pretended to hear a voice in the sewer and persuaded the mob that a prisoner had escaped into the sewer from the jail and that he was perishing there. The mob excavated the street. The troops were called out, and a riot followed.

Brascoe Bell for Register of Deeds.

Pactolus, N. C., May 26, 1908
To the Democratic Voters of Pitt County:

As most all the townships in the county have a candidate for office, except Pactolus, I beg to add one more to the number for register of deeds. The most of the older people in this county have always known my attitude in politics since the war, beginning in the dark days of eighteen and sixty-eight, when white men had to march to the polls to vote under a bayonet in the hands of a negro.

As some of the leaders of the Democrat party know, I have always given my time, money and blood to the Democratic cause when it became necessary to do so, and still stand on the same platform.

I never split a ticket in my life, have never asked the party for any office, and never was a candidate for but one office; that was overseer of the road and a negro beat me. I now ask in behalf of my nephew, Brascoe Bell, subject to the action of the Democratic convention of the county, the nomination for register of deeds. Mr. Bell has been an unfortunate cripple since childhood. He now possesses a good education, has had a good business training, devoted a portion of his time in teaching school, now mayor of Pactolus, and said to be one of the best magistrates in the county. He writes a good hand and is well skilled in mathematics, has a quick and active mind and possessed with accurate and positive decision.

Hoping the party will nominate him.
Yours Truly,

A MIGHTY DRAFT.

The Great Draft That Saved the Town of Rothenburg.

Whitsuntide of each year witnesses in the historic town of Rothenburg, on the Tauber, the acting of a drama which recalls a deliverance in the Thirty Years' war, when the victories of Gustavus Adolphus had endangered the Catholic league.

Tilly came to besiege Rothenburg, which was in league with the Swedes. The town was at that time wealthy and well fortified, standing upon steep cliffs above the Tauber and having massive tower crowned walls.

Against this town came Tilly with great guns that soon put fortune on his side. The defenders of the place, however, contested every inch of ground. Not until the powder tower exploded, through a grenade of the enemy, did the Swedish garrison and citizens reluctantly hang out the white flag after a fight of thirty hours.

Tilly would hear nothing of terms of capitulation. The Swedes might withdraw, but unconditional surrender was demanded of the town.

When he had taken possession of the beautiful rathaus he sent for the senate, with Burgomaster Bezold at their head, and announced their condemnation to death for their obstinate resistance and their disobedience to the imperial commanders.

In vain did the women and children crowd into the market place, throwing themselves at the feet of the victors and begging for mercy. Tilly had already summoned the executioner when some of the wives succeeded in penetrating into the council hall.

The conqueror at last allowed himself to be softened, but he coupled his clemency with a clause that apparently made it of no avail. The senators should be spared if one of their number could empty at a draft the great loving cup of Tauber wine presented to the victor.

Hopeless as the case seemed, the condition was fulfilled by ex-Burgomaster Nusch, who thus saved his own life and the lives of his colleagues.

The cup, which is of glass and holds about three quarts, is to this day in the possession of one of the lineal descendants of the mighty drinker.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The best evidence of merit is the cordial recognition of it whenever and wherever it may be found.—Bovee.

CASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This in Greenville.

Scores of Greenville people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

John G. Latham, 907 Cotanche St., Greenville, N. C. says: "Doan's Kidney Pills in my case far surpasses any kidney remedy I had previously used. For some time my kidneys had been in a disordered condition, the secretions being too frequent in action and the passages attended with pain. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I was so impressed that I procured a box at John L. Wooten's drug store. They went directly to the seat of my trouble and gave me relief in a short time. My kidneys were restored to their normal condition, the secretions gave me no trouble whatever and I felt better in every way. My wife also used Doan's Kidney Pills when suffering from dull nagging backaches accompanied by headaches and the results derived were highly satisfactory."
