PRESIDENT AND THE NOMINATION

Seems Satisfied That His Man Taft Will Win.

Washington, D. C., June 2.—The adjournment of congress didn't mean that President Roosevelt would have an immediate holiday. As a matter of fact, the president's work hasn't let up a bit. He got congress off his hands only to get the national convention on them.

The next two weeks will be busy ones at the White House, for the president is determined that if it be in his power to prevent it no eggs shall slip at Chicago. He is not unmindful of the fact that there will be in the convention a lot of determined third-term boomers, but he is serenely confident he can prevent the success of any effort on their part to start a Roosevelt stampede. The president is firmly convinced that the only thing now that can prevent Taft's nomination is the nomination of himself, and while taking every precaution he is not losing any sleep over the latter contingency.

The fact that the "allies" do not concede the nomination to Taft worries the president not at all. He only smiles when it is recalled to him that Seward in 1876, Grant in 1880 and Sherman in 1888, each went into the convention with the nomination apparently "sewed up" but that each failed to land the prize. He prefers going back no farther than 1896, when McKinley occupied a position very much the same as that occupied by Taft today, and the opposition dwindled to nothing. The president is something of a hand at citing precedents himself, and has more or less of a reputation as a precedent maker. He thinks he knows how to read the political barometer, and he can see nothing but Taft and fair weather.

Ashley Horne has been a working man all his life. Give the working man a chance. Vote for Horne, the working man's friend.

Baseball Thursday.

Don't fail to see the game of ball Thursday afternoon between the local school team and Tarboro high school. Our little left hand twirler, Con Lanier, will be on hand and what he doesn't know about the "merry widow" d.o.p. and the spit ball is unknown, even to Chesbro. Behind the bat will be seen Chas. Hasket—"nuffed". Capt. Burt James has had the boys in charge for several days and you may be assured that they are in fine shape for a good game. The game will be called at 4:30. Everybody come out. Admission 15 and 25 cents. Ladies free.

Mr. Horne is a constructive man. He believes in building up, not in tearing down.

Paving Will Go On.

The paving on Dickinson avenue has only been stopped temporarily. More brick have been ordered and are expected to begin arriving in about ten days, when the work will start again and be carried on to the two depots. This is good news, for the people are so pleased with what paving has been done that they are anxious for more.

We appeal to the merchants to support Ashley Horne. No business man has been named by the Democrats of North Carolina in 60 years.

If elected, Mr. Horne will be Governor, and he will not use the great office as a stepping stone to something higher.

Died.

Little Leonard Earl, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wilkinson, of near Farmville, was born September the sixth, 1906, and died May the 9th, 1908, making his stay on earth one year eight months and three days. He was taken very ill Sunday night and died the next Saturday night with the meningitis. All was done for him that a loving mother, father and the members of the family could do but they could not stay the hand of death. His bright eyes were soon closed in death. Oh! how sad it was to give him up, and hear his sweet little voice no more in the home that he once helped to make so happy and bright. He was a very pleasant, loving and kind-hearted child and was like a ray of sunshine in home. But God had called this little one to dwell with Him where there are no pains, sorrows and griefs.

Lying beneath the flowers, In the cold, cold grave Waiting for the happy hours Some bright shining day, Lucy A. Moore.

All kinds of Democrats will vote for Horne. He has no enemies.

Their Only Child Dead.

Every heart in the community was touched with sorrow at the death of little Elizabeth, aged about one year, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Baker, which occurred at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon of meningitis after only a few days illness.

About a year and a half ago their first born was taken, and death now claiming their last and only child, robbing the home of its light and joy, is sad beyond expression. Much sympathy is expressed for the heart broken parents, and may God comfort them in their great sorrow.

The funeral will take place at 5:30 this afternoon, services being conducted by Revs. M. T. Plyler and J. E. Ayscue. The pall bearers will be Messrs. J. F. Davenport, J. N. Hart, A. C. Holloman, B. W. Moseley, C. S. Carr, Drs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, E. A. Moye and R. L. Carr.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. June 3 1908. Rev. and Mrs. T. H. King are spending a few days with relatives at Fort Barnwell. Mr. King preached at Morehead Sunday.

Theodore Cox went to Robertsonville Tuesday. Rev. F. O. Cox and family spent Sunday here with relatives. They returned to Wake Forest Tuesday.

Miss Lizzie Combs spent Sunday with Miss Bartha Carroll. She left Monday morning for Durham where she will enter Watts hospital to begin the study of a trained nurse. She is a pupil of W. H. S. and we wish her much success in her work.

Miss Meta Dew has returned from a short visit at the home of Miss Rosa Bell Taylor, near Grifton.

Tomorrow will be tax listing day here.

Bruton Bryan left Saturday morning to pursue a special course in banking in a business college in Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Tucker returned from Ft. Barnwell Monday morning.

FOR GOVERNOR.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

Your editorial suggesting ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis as the proper person to save the day in the present gubernatorial contest hit the bull's eye. [He has been tested, he is from the east, he is with the "dear people." He is an old soldier, he is not afraid of the Southern railroad nor the American Tobacco Co., he never was elected to office and spent his time looking for another to the neglect of the one he had, he does not want any position as a step to the senate, he never voted for Blaine and he never got in a scramble for office. In fact, this would be a good rebuke to the unseemly fight now on. Let such continue one cannot be governor unless he has a big bank account or a seat in congress. The poor now will have no show. Besides, he can make a speech, but does not depend on "hot air," he knows business, but he knows more than "business interests," he is for temperance, but he is not a "temperance politician," he is not one of the "big four," but he is equal to the "big four" and the other candidates combined. Give us Jarvis and let the Simmons machine, the trust buster and the farmer candidate have a rest. Give us the "dark horse" from the East. CITIZEN

Mr. Horne knows the farmer's life and his needs, and is pre-eminently the farmer's friend.

Rally Day.

The Memorial Baptist Sunday school has set apart next Sunday as rally day. For several weeks past, in fact ever since the school began to occupy its new class rooms, the record has shown an average above 200, and the purpose of the coming rally day is to make the attendance even larger. There are special features every Sunday that make the exercises very interesting, and the rally day program will be a good one. Everybody is invited to attend next Sunday.

A vote for Horne is a vote for political freedom from ring rule. Don't be fooled.

"MR. KITCHIN AND FUSION."

Chairman Howard A. Foushee Corrects New Bern Sun's Statement.

Durham, N. C., May 27, 1908. Mr. R. M. Phillips, Editor of New Bern Sun, New Bern, N. C.

Dear Sir:—Knowing you as I do, I was astonished to see in your paper of May 23rd your double column editorial entitled "Mr. Kitchin and fusion," in which you say that Mr. Butler fused with Mr. Kitchin in 1896 and gave him the populist vote against Mr. Settle, thereby bringing about what is claimed as a brilliant Democratic victory. This is unqualifiedly untrue. I was chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Durham county that year and a member of the Fifth district Democratic congressional executive committee and was then and have been since in close political touch with Mr. Kitchin. The populist chairman fused with Tom Settle and Marion Butler did everything he could to get the populists to vote for Tom Settle—confidential letters were sent out by the populist chairman urging the populists to vote for Settle. Some of them fell into the hands of the democrats and their contents were published throughout the district. After the campaign opened, it soon became apparent that Mr. Kitchin was getting the better of Mr. Settle and that many populists were going to leave their party and join the democrats and thereupon Marion Butler had the populists called together in their congressional convention and nominated Dr. A. J. Dalby, of Granville county, who had served as populist senator from that county. This nomination was brought about for the sole purpose of aiding Mr. Settle.

In the interest of fair dealing, I request you to publish this letter and to correct editorially the error into which you have fallen. Yours truly,

HOWARD A. FOUSHEE, Ch'm Durham Co. B'd Elections.

Now is the opportunity to make a successful farmer a successful governor of North Carolina.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Potato shipments are going forward.

Prayer meetings in the churches tonight.

The coming June nights will be fine for moonlight excursions.

Tax listing time is on. Do not put yours off until the last of the month.

An investigation of the Kitchin organization is an inspiration. Tige.

The young people are planning for a moonlight sail Thursday night.

J. L. Hassell is moving into his handsome new residence on Pitt street.

The baseball boys had a successful time at their lawn party Tuesday night.

The Greenville boys went up to Farmville to play a game, Tuesday, and the score was 12 to 4 in favor of Farmville.

President of one bank and closely associated with others. Mr. Horne knows, also, a few things about financial affairs.

The Sunday trains which the Norfolk & Southern railway will operate between Raleigh and Beaufort, beginning on the 7th, will run only every other Sunday.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Miss Mamie Hooker went to Farmville Tuesday evening.

Dr. Edward Greene went to LaGrange Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. W. Hight returned Tuesday evening from a visit to Louisburg.

E. H. Thomas, E. H. Shelburn and W. H. Hill, Jr., returned Tuesday evening from Williamston.

Hon. W. W. Kitchin, candidate for governor, will speak in Ayden Friday afternoon and in Greenville Friday night.

Mrs. Agnes Blount and Mrs. W. C. Buhman, of Ayden, who were visiting here, returned home Tuesday evening.

R. Hyman and G. A. Clark returned Tuesday evening from Raleigh where they had been attending Federal court.

Charles Horne, of Clayton, spent Tuesday here looking after his father's interest in the race for the gubernatorial nomination.

We Democrats have never nominated a merchant or business man for governor. Now is the time and Horne is the man.

JUNE GERMAN TO BE HELD 26

Arrangements Being Made to Make it one of the Nicest Dances Ever Held Here

The german which is to be held here June 26th will be one of the largest dances held here this year. We have engaged an orchestra of twenty five men from Washington, and it is said to be the finest dance music in Eastern Carolina. We are expecting many visitors from nearby towns and if the young ladies who are expecting company, will phone 303 their engagements will be made.

We will have enough stags to secure all engagements so invite as many friends as you wish, and all engagements will be made. We have a committee appointed to look into the matter and see what arrangements can be made to have banquet at Carolina Club rooms after the german, and if this can't be done, the young ladies will have late lunches served at their homes.

W. B. W.

It will take the "most" votes in the next election. Horne is the man to poll them.

Democratic Primaries.

The Democratic executive committee have called the primaries to meet at the various voting places in Pitt county, Saturday June 6th, 1908, at 2 1/2 clock p. m. Let every "Kitchin Man" remember that unless he attends the primary at his voting place he will have no voice whatever in saying who will be the next governor of North Carolina. E. A. Moye Jr., Pres. Pitt county Kitchin Club. J. L. Fleming, Sec'y.

Excursion Postponed.

On account of the primaries Saturday, in which the men are too interested to leave home, Cap. Ola Forbes has postponed the excursion on the Eagle to Morehead City.

Stand by your neighbor. Vote for Ashley Horne, the farmer and business man.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1908.

It is not safe to bet on who will get it.

The New Bern Sun says "Mr. Cannon has adjourned." Right! Go up head.

If the political pot does not boil over, it is going to come very close to it.

The greatest interest now is in those counties that have not held their conventions.

The poor folks are going up to interview the tax listers. There are never any rich ones in June.

There are folks saying and doing things in this campaign that they will regret when the war is over.

Don't let your interest in who is going to be the next governor make you forget that Greenville is growing.

Indications are that the Charlotte convention is going to be the largest attended of any ever held in the State.

The little boy in Nash county killing his playmate with an air rifle is another warning to parents against giving their boys these dangerous weapons for playthings.

The report comes all the way from Kentucky that a man in that State died of a snake bite. Who would ever have thought a thing like that could take place in Kentucky?

Former United States Senator James K. Jones, of Arkansas, and at one time chairman of the national Democratic executive committee, died Monday afternoon at his residence in Washington City.

Mr. La Follette's speech of nineteen hours must have been an effort to outdo in length the messages of the president. It is up to Mr. Roosevelt to be putting in his spare time on his next message to congress. As he has six months before him he may go ahead of La Follette.

If you want to know where The Reflector stands, it being a fight entirely within the party we are not caring over-much which one gets the nomination. But after the convention speaks we shall be for the man who is nominated. That is more than some of the others are saying.

Many people are acting like they thought the salvation of North Carolina depends entirely upon who gets the nomination for governor, and overlook the fact that the State convention will have other important things to do besides nominate some one for governor. It is time they were cooling down a little, and stopping this bitter fight within the ranks of the party.

MEN SITTERS PREFERRED.

Portrait Painter Says Women Do Not Keep Appointments.

An artist who has enjoyed an undeniable success as a portrait painter and especially as a painter of the portraits of women was asked, after looking at a galaxy of beauty and distinction, if he did not prefer to paint women, says the New York Herald. "Their skin is so smooth, and the accessories in the way of chiffons and surroundings seem to make the painter's task so varied and interesting," was urged in argument.

"Like to paint women!" he exclaimed. "No, a thousand times no! I'd rather any day paint a man. A man treats an appointment to sit as a business matter between man and man. He never disappoints and is as prompt in arriving as if it were an affair of millions or as if I were a dentist. When he poses he is equally faithful to my convenience and his obligation. He does his part and gives you your opportunity."

"But women! Have you any idea how much time a painter squanders in waiting for women sitters? Everything, anything, is an excuse for being late or for not coming at all. The most trivial engagement will set aside an appointment with an artist. You are all ready, palette charged, brushes in hand, and a half hour after the last moment there is a ring at the telephone. 'Very sorry, but can't come.' That is what artists undergo with women. They have absolutely no sense of responsibility where it is an affair of sitting for a portrait.

"When they do come and do sit they feel that they are doing you a favor. Sitting is a bore, something rather incidental, or perhaps they are vague and restless. One came to me the other day, and her face was so covered with powder that it was absolutely vacuous. Her expression was buried. I was tempted to tell her to go and wash her face.

"In fact, so strongly do I feel about this matter that I get through with painting women as quickly as possible and do everything I can with their portraits by using other models."

Persians Love Mirrors.

Persia is the ideal place for a looking glass peddler to live and move and have his trade, for the Persians are as fond of the shiny reflectors as are savages of beads. Every year immense numbers of mirrors of all sorts and kinds are shipped into the country of the shah. In addition to having a fondness for seeing themselves as looking glasses show them, the Persians know no more pleasing parlor decorations than brilliant mirrors in gilt frames. Some of the Persian drawing rooms are so completely hemmed in by great pier glasses that visitors often become bewildered and try to walk through the glasses down the long aisle that seems to stretch in front. So bumped noses, knees and toes are not uncommon in that land of oriental splendor and mystery.

Keeping Up Appearances.

Frederick Van Feden, the Dutch poet and economist, at a dinner in New York attacked the extravagance and ostentation of the rich. "When I think of these multimillionaires' doings," he said, "I am reminded of the young nobleman they talk about in Amsterdam. This young nobleman on a visit to the country was seen by a friend smoking two cigars at once.

"Why are you doing that?" the friend inquired.

"Well, you see," said the other, taking the right hand cigar from his mouth and putting in the left hand one, "I can't get in this beastly hole the florin weeds I am in the habit of smoking, and so I have to make shift with two half florin ones."

Two Little Slips.

Admission slips to the hospitals are pretty likely to be matter of fact records and more or less tragic, but occasionally, the New York Sun reports, a bit of unconscious humor is found in them.

A slip at Gouverneur recently reported that a driver of a hansom had received his injuries by "falling off a perch," and the man's name was Bird.

Another Gouverneur slip announced that the patient was hurt by "falling off water wagon"—a fall it might be added, which is always dangerous.

Giving Him a Hint.

"John," she said softly, "have you been saying anything about me to mother lately?"

"No," replied John. "Why do you ask?"

"Because she said this morning that she believed you were on the eve of proposing to me. Now, I do not wish you to speak to mother when you have anything of that kind to say. Speak to me, and I'll manage the business with mother." And John said he would.

$100 REWARD. $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

How Many Bricks Have You Sent Away?

That sounds like a funny question, addressed to every citizen of this town and community, but it's really a serious one.

Listen: There is now just completed a magnificent building of red brick exterior and concrete interior right in the business heart of one of the biggest of American cities. It occupies a whole block and calls itself in a large lettered sign "The Largest Monolithic Building In the World." It has many floors, with about a hundred acres of floor space. The entrances are of solid marble. The floors are beautifully tiled. Altogether it is a credit to the big city in which it stands. Oh, it's a Jim Dandy!

Now, how many bricks have you sent to the city to go into this big building? Honest, how many?

Of the hundreds of thousands of bricks put into the walls of this building the city where it stands has contributed not a single red brick. Country people, the people of small towns and cities far away from the big metropolis, have sent in the bricks for the construction of this splendid edifice.

You may have sent in a few hods of bricks yourself without knowing it.

Listen: This magnificent structure, which ornaments a city you probably never will see yourself, is built of bricks bought with the dollars of people living in towns just like ours—towns that would like to have some new brick buildings themselves now and then. Every dollar contributed to the city building fund means a nice, hefty hod of bricks for this big, beautiful skyscraper, "largest in the world" of its kind. This building was put up, through the kind donations of their unknown country cousins, by a firm that ran a small store in that city a few years ago.

But this firm conceived the cute idea of having thousands of strangers contribute bricks to build its fine, large, new store.

And the building is a Mail Order Store. See?

MRS. VIXENHEAD.

The Story of a Berlin Shrew and Her Likeness in Stone.

This quaint equivalent of the German term neidkopf is applied by travelers to an effigy carved in stone and fixed in a niche in the second story of a house in the Helligengeiststrasse in Berlin not far from the emperor's palace. The neidkopf represents a hideous, harpy faced woman with snakelike curls and tongue protruding in mocking derision.

One day some 200 years ago, the legend runs, Frederick William of Prussia, more familiarly known as Old Fritz, was walking about the streets of the city in the unconventional way he affected when he chanced to look through a window and observed a hunchbacked goldsmith hard at work. The king entered the little shop for a chat.

The result of his interview was an order for a gold table service for the royal household, an order that made the fortune of the hunchback. Later his majesty made other visits to the shop to see how the work was advancing, and on one of these occasions he observed a woman in the window of the opposite house contorting her face in the most hideous grimaces and pointing with derisive finger at the crippled workman.

To the king's query as to what all the old woman the goldsmith replied: "It is envy, sire. She is the wife of a rival goldsmith, and ever since your majesty so graciously gave me this order, she and her daughter have reviled me."

Frederick William, paternal in punishment as well as in reward, at once investigated as to the ownership of the house in which the shrew lived. He found that it belonged to her husband and therefore reasoned that there was little likelihood of the family moving, an idea that seemed greatly to please his majesty. His next move was to consult a sculptor, whom he commanded to make the bust of a woman with the most shrewish, Xantippe-like face he could imagine. The king then bought and renovated the house in which the hunchback had his workshop, presented it to him, and caused the bust to be placed conspicuously above the workshop window. Thus whenever the envious woman across the street looked forth from her casement the first object on which her eyes fell was this intended portrait of her amiable self.

For more than a hundred years the neidkopf—spiteful vixen head, as one would say in English—stood in proud prominence, a reproach to the envious woman and her descendants. It afterward mysteriously disappeared, but in 1840 or thereabouts it was found in a forgotten collection of bric-a-brac. Frederick William IV. bought the bust for a large price and had it replaced in its original niche, where it stands today.—New York Tribune.

The Senate Band.

The press gallery of the senate does not look unlike a band stand, with its elaborately decorated front, and it is never occupied by the scribes prior to the opening of the proceedings. A young lady seated in the gallery opposite the press gallery had been looking intently at the empty seats for quite awhile. Her curiosity got the better of her, and, going to the doorkeeper, she said, "Mister, will you please tell me when the band begins to play?" The doorkeeper was amazed. "No band will play, miss," said that gentleman. "There is no band. Why do you ask?" The young lady looked disappointed and embarrassed when she said, with hesitation, "Isn't that the band stand?" pointing to the press gallery.—Washington Herald.

Bray's Mythical Vicar.

It is curious to reflect that there are scattered about the world many scores of places whose chief claim to distinction consists in their association with some famous ditty or other. Take, for example, the village of Bray, in Berkshire, always associated with the world famous "Vicar of Bray." The most curious part of the business is that, though Fuller, in his "Worthies of England," asserts that the cleric who is the hero of the song was one Simon Alleyn, careful search of the parish registers has failed to substantiate the story.—London Musical Home Journal.

A Strenuous Task.

"Your honor," said the witness, "can't you order a recess?"

"A recess?"

"Yes, sir. I've stood on this stand and told the whole truth two hours on a stretch, and I'm teetotally wore out! I never told the truth that long before—not in all my life!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Shattered Hopes.

He (anxiously)—I understand your father speaks very highly of me? She—Yes, but he doesn't mean a word of it. He—Are you sure of that? She—Certainly. He does it just to torment mother.—Chicago News.

An Eyewitness.

"Have you any witnesses of the accident?" asked the Brentford county court judge recently.

"Yes," was the reply, "my uncle. He is not here because he is blind."—London Telegraph.

Take Care of the Pennies, Etc.

"Make anything on that deal?" Gobsn Golde inquired.

"Only a million," Mydnss gloomily replied.

"Well, every million counts."—New York Press.

Grief should be like joy—majestic, equable, sedate.—Aubrey de Vere.

PSYCHIC FORCES.

Their Existence Proved, Yet Scientists Cannot Grasp Them.

I have seen enough to make me believe in Zoller's fourth dimension, but I don't. My mind is so constructed that such wonders as we meet in seances produce very little effect on me. They are as normal to me now as the popping of corn or the roasting of potatoes. But as for belief—well, that is not a matter of the will, but of evidence, and the evidence is not yet sufficient to bring me to any definite conclusion. In fact, in the broad day and especially the second day after I have been through one of these experiences I begin to doubt my senses. Richet speaks of this curious recession of belief and admits his own inability to retain the conviction that at the moment of the phenomenon was complete. "No sooner is the sitting over than my doubts come swarming back upon me," he says. "The real world which surrounds us, with its prejudices, its scheme of habitual opinions, holds us in so strong a grasp that we can scarcely free ourselves completely. Certainty does not follow on demonstration, but on habit."

Maxwell says: "I believe in these phenomena, but I see no need to attribute them to any supernatural intervention. I am inclined to think they are produced by some force within ourselves." Just what he means by that I can't precisely explain. It's harder to understand than the spirit hypothesis. He goes on to say that, while he is certain that we are in the presence of an unknown force, he is convinced that the phenomena will ultimately be found orderly, like all other facts of nature. "Some future Newton will discover a more complete formula than ours," he prophesies. "Every natural fact should be studied and, if it be real, incorporated in the patrimony of knowledge." He then adds, with the true scientist's humble acknowledgment of the infinite reach of the undiscovered universe, "Our knowledge is very limited and our experience young."

—Hamlin Garland in Everybody's Magazine.

CUBE ROOT.

Do You Know the Method of Extracting It Without Pain?

Think of the inestimable value of knowing how to extract cube root! Ah, there is the priceless boon! Knowing that has saved us money many and many a time, to say nothing of the social blunders it has assisted us to avoid. Do I know yet how it was done? Certainly, I know it just as well as if it were yesterday that I studied it. You take the number whose cube root is paining it so that nothing but extraction can relieve it, put it down on a piece of paper or on your slate and divide it off into periods of three figures each. Write 4-11-44 to the left, multiply that by 300, divide it by something, then pour some red ink on your handkerchief, tell teacher you have the nosebleed and go home.

That's the way I usually did it. No doubt it is done much the same way by the ingenious youth of the present generation.

Is there a successful man living today and holding up his head among other successful men who cannot painlessly extract the cube root without giving the number an anaesthetic? If so, he should be ashamed of himself. He is a freak, and he attained distinction by a fluke. Some day the muck rakers will get to probing around, and when they discover that he can't extract the cube root of anything his career will be ended and his gray hairs will sink in sorrow to a dishonored, Jimson grown grave. The jails and asylums are filled with vacant faced and craven hearted wretches who never learned the way to remove a cube root, no matter if the number containing it was threatened with blood poison. They don't know whether to run a horsehair loop down its throat, as in the case of gapes, or whether to use tweezers.

Let us try to impress upon our children—by precept—the importance of cube root extraction, but let us have business elsewhere in case they ask us to show them how.—Strickland W. Quillan in Chicago News.

As a manufacturer but few, if any, men are furnishing employment to more labor than does Ashley Horne in the cotton factories, fertilizer factories and the various other industries with which he is associated. We Democrats have never nominated a manufacture for Governor.

Good for the Horse.

In Nottingham, England, a few weeks ago, a teamster loaded his wagon so heavily that the horses could not start it. He began lashing them and swearing, and a crowd gathered, but no one would take a lift at the wheels and help the horses get a move on the wagon. The driver was still lashing away when a grocer's horse standing across the road rushed at him with open mouth and seized him by the arm and bit him so savagely that he had to go to the hospital for treatment.

If the horses would stand by each other this way there would soon be an end to the cruelties seen every day in the cities. The man who lashes a horse because the horse can do no more than he can deserves a sentence to jail every time.—Chicago Ledger.

BLOCKADED

Every Household in Greenville Should Know How to Resist.

The backaches because the kidneys are blocked.

Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lot's of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

A. A. Tyson, 124 Lexington street, Rocky Mount, N. C., says: I feel it my duty to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I used them and found them to be a valuable kidney remedy. For years my kidneys were in a disordered condition and their action was so frequent that I was obliged to rise several times during the night, thus being unable to obtain my proper rest. I also had dull pains across my loins and was bothered by a constant dull backache. Having heard about Doan's Kidney Pills I decided to try them and procured a supply. I had taken them but a short time when I noticed their beneficial effects and this encouraged I continued their use until cured.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
