THE END IS NOT YET IN SIGHT.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES, BALLOTS PRACTICALLY THE SAME.

Delegates for Each Candidate Seem Determined to Fight to the Last—Will Instruct for Bryan.

Charlotte, N. C., June 26—The platform committee has completed its work and has drafted an admirable declaration of principles that will please all true Democrats. It will include a resolution instructing delegates to the national convention for Bryan.

The publication in some papers that the refusal of the convention to entertain Bryan resolutions, indicated big anti-Bryan sentiment is incorrect. The convention determined to do nothing or hear nothing until a candidate for governor was chosen.

There is no doubt that resolutions instructing the delegates to vote for Bryan will pass by a big majority.

If there is an understanding between any of the candidates for governor relating to a shift of the strength of one to the other, it is not evident. The balloting continues, there being no material change in the vote.

There is an unusually large number of ladies present, and they are exerting all the rights and privileges of delegates so far as taking part in the demonstrations is concerned.

Following is the results of the ballots taken up to the nineteenth:

First ballot, 1 a. m.—Kitchin 376, Craig 335, Horne 147.

Second ballot, 2:30 a. m.—Kitchin 378, Craig 332, Horne 147.

Third ballot, 4:30 a. m.—Kitchin 377, Craig 334, Horne 146.

Fourth ballot, 5:14 a. m.—Kitchin 377, Craig 331, Horne 149.

Fifth ballot, 1:55 p. m.—Kitchin 378, Craig 328, Horne 152.

Sixth ballot, 2:40 p. m.—Kitchin 378, Craig 341, Horne 139.

Seventh ballot, 3:07 p. m.—Kitchin 378, Craig 324, Horne 155.

Eighth ballot, 3:45 p. m.—Kitchin 378, Craig 327, Horne 152.

Ninth ballot, 4:30 p. m.—Kitchin 376, Craig 320, Horne 161.

Tenth ballot, 9:39 p. m.—Kitchin 380, Craig 329, Horne 148.

Eleventh ballot, 10:19 p. m.—Kitchin 380, Craig 327, Horne 149.

Twelfth ballot, 10:58 p. m.—Kitchin 381, Craig 332, Horne 144.

Thirteenth ballot, 11:45 p. m.—Kitchin 381, Craig 335, Horne 140.

Fourteenth ballot, 12:49 a. m.—Kitchin 382, Craig 322, Horne 153.

Fifteenth ballot.—Kitchin 380, Craig 327, Horne 140.

Sixteenth ballot.—Kitchin 386, Craig 331, Horne 138.

Seventeenth ballot—Kitchin 382, Craig 336, Horne 138.

Eighteenth ballot, Kitchin 375, Craig 333, Horne 138, T. W. Mason 10.

Nineteenth ballot.—Kitchin 383, Craig 334, Horne 130.

On account of bad weather yesterday the music at Harper's palm garden was postponed until tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

COLLEGE WITHOUT MONEY.

Means Work—Busy Life of Girl Who Worked Way Through a University

It is an every-day matter for a girl without money to get a college education, she must be prepared to do a lot of hard work to make up for the lack of capital, says Laura, A. Smith, in the July Delineator. One girl relates the following experience: "I have been given charge of the advertising for the magazines and newspapers. I write publishers concerning rates, write and keep track of the advertisements of the college and receive about $100 a year. I had a little business training before I came to college which helps me now."

"I receive from seventy-five cents to one dollar an hour tutoring three freshmen in mathematics. I am an upper-class girl. The faculty selects tutors among us as we have been through the work so recently. No girl is allowed to tutor in several departments as it would weaken her own work in her studies."

"I do private coaching in domestic science and receive $2 a lesson. There are five young ladies in my class."

"I have charge of the Book Exchange. The girls who have books to sell let me know. I receive five cents on each book sold and give one-half of this to the college Christian Association. I make $8 or $10 doing this. Last year I earned $65 doing clerical work in the faculty office and cleared $10 making Tree day costumes. I earn money in vacation by sewing, receiving twenty cents an hour making oversleeves and doing similar work, and from fifty cents to one dollar sewing on braids and fixing skirts."

"I have the agency for fountain pens, banners, pillows and similar things. I make considerable in this way and keep down expenses by living in one of the dormitories where I help with the work."

Personality Has Value.

"Personality is either a tremendous asset or a handicap," says Verbena in the July Designer. "Sometimes I wonder if it isn't, after all, the fairy gift."

"I've seen personality wave a wand and accomplish desired ends where logic and money and influence and coercion failed."

"Personality is the mysterious attraction that draws us just as the moon does the tides of the sea. There is no defining it."

"It isn't beauty, and it isn't cleverness."

"I have seen beautiful women neglected and brilliant ones forgotten, while a woman without an effort, charmed the crowd."

"They say very often that the personality of this actress or that one is what draws, and not her art. She has the charm of each season and the bad weather of none in her disposition. That is what critics call her personality."

Mr. Cleveland Will Have Simple Funeral

Princeton, N. J., June 25.—Contrary to all precedent the body of Grover Cleveland will not lie in state. This was in accordance with the decision of Mrs. Cleveland today.

The widow of the former president decided the funeral of her husband should be of the quietest and simplest nature. She has told the intimate friends now with her at the Cleveland home that she could not bear a funeral that would be a great public function and while she appreciated deeply the sorrow Mr. Cleveland's death has caused among public men throughout the country, she wishes only a private funeral.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town, Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., June 26, 1908.

J. W. Glenn, of the firm of Glenn & Gentry, proprietors of the Ayden tobacco warehouse, has arrived and is hustling for the market. These gentlemen are men of experience, having just closed a successful year at Winston, N. C.

J. J. Grimsley, near Ormondsville, lost his baby on Wednesday with meningitis, this was his only child and his many friends deeply sympathize with him.

Smith Co. & Dixon will make tobacco hogsheads this season.

We are expecting a large crowd here tomorrow to attend the Sunday school convention dinner. It will be spread in Winfield park adjacent the graded school.

Miss Celia Nichols, of Beaver Dam, is visiting Mrs. W. J. Hemby.

W. L. Browning left Thursday for Seven Springs for his health.

F. C. Harding kept us posted Thursday on the maneuvers of the State convention. Mr. Barwick kept each ballot on his bulletin board, and it was watched with eager eyes.

Miss Lillian Munn, teacher of the primary department of the Baptist seminary, gave her class a picnic Wednesday. They all report a pleasant day spent in South Ayden. There was about 40 in attendance.

Rev. Mr. Cannon, of Greene county, has been spending the week with relatives here.

J. T. Smith, Jr., and family have come home from several weeks visit at Morehead. Mr. Smith, who had been seriously sick for quite a while, has entirely recovered and is behind the counter at Edwards & Son's.

The many friends of Mrs. Ada Ormond will be glad to hear she is getting on so well, having undergone an operation at the Wilson sanitarium.

Crops in this section never looked more encouraging than at present. A close observer tells us he has not seen a grassy crop around here this year. Ours are an industrious people.

Mrs. Celia Sullivant, of Snow Hill, spent part of last week in town visiting relatives and friends. She returned home Monday.

Mrs. Ferrebee, of Camden county, who has been visiting the family of Capt. D. G. Berry, left for her home Tuesday.

Charlie Nobles, wife and child, of Petersburg, who have been visiting C. A. Nobles, their father, have returned to their home.

J. A. Jarrell, of Grifton, was in Ayden a short while Wednesday.

J. H. Tripp spent a day in Greenville during the week.

Tom Moore came home from the A. & M. College at Raleigh Monday to spend vacation.

A large crowd is expected here today. The Sunday school convention, which embraces four counties will draw largely and the game of ball between Farmville and the Ayden boys will add materially to the crowd.

In items of last issue a certain paragraph should have read, "There has not been a case against a colored person in the court house of Tyrrell county in twenty years." The "colored person" was entirely omitted, which placed the writer in an embarrassing position.

Bryan on Advertising.

It is the lot of the wise man to be asked fool questions. In fact, the asking is an acknowledgment of the wisdom of the man of whom the inquiry is made. Nobody ever asks a fool question of a fool, for a fool answers a fool according to his folly, and there is no question whereto the asker so honestly wants a wise answer as a fool question.

This being so, the man who asked William Jennings Bryan whether he really believed in advertising paid Mr. Bryan a compliment. It happened in Reading, Pennsylvania, last winter, and the modern Commoner indeed showed that he was a wise man by the reply he made. It was:

"The fellow who tries to attract business without advertising is like the fellow who throws a silent kiss in the dark. He knows what he is doing—but no body else does."—The Saturday Evening Post.

"Slumberland."

Everything is ready for the full dress rehearsal of "Slumberland" on Monday night. The adults are expected to appear in costume and the entire play will be gone through with. All children in the play will have their dress rehearsal on Monday afternoon at three o'clock which, will be the last. "Slumberland" has created considerable enthusiasm in Greenville, and the Tuesday night's performance promises to be a treat in the musical and dramatic line. Some of the principals in the singing roles have been secured from Raleigh, who will be here Monday for the last rehearsal.

The costumes have arrived and are being distributed in order to have photographs taken of the participants.

Space will not permit giving the names of the children in the different groups as we would like to do. There will be 200 appearing as old men, old women, school girls and boys, foot ball boys, banjo girls, sailor girls, imps, etc. The principal characters will be published in the program.

Slumberland is not a children's play exclusively, there are many groups of adults. This gigantic play will be presented at the Masonic opera house Tuesday night June 30.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Mrs. C. D. Tunstall and little son left Thursday for a visit to Belhaven.

Miss Dessie Kittrell returned this morning from a visit to Raleigh.

Mrs. J. S. Tunstall and daughter, Miss Mamie Ruth, returned Thursday from Morehead City.

Mrs. Walter LaRoque and children, of Kinston, who have been visiting friends here, left today.

Miss Bernice Lang, of Farmville, spent Thursday here with Miss Lucy Outerbridge, and left on the evening train for Kinston.

It Deserves Your Patronage.

The Kings Daughters are to be commended in getting Mr. Harry Foote to present the beautiful opera "Slumberland" here. They have worked hard for it and success in its presentation will crown their efforts.

There is nothing being left undone to make it a great success, and it will be well worth the prices of admission. It is for a worthy cause, too—The Stonewall Jackson Training and Industrial School—and deserves a packed house.

Keeping Up Appearances.

Frederick Van Feden, the Dutch poet and economist, at a dinner in New York attacked the extravagance and ostentation of the rich. "When I think of these multimillionaires' doings," he said, "I am reminded of the young nobleman they talk about in Amsterdam. This young nobleman on a visit to the country was seen by a friend smoking two cigars at once."

"Why are you doing that?" the friend inquired.

"Well, you see," said the other, taking the right hand cigar from his mouth and putting in the left hand one, "I can't get in this beastly hole the florin weeds I am in the habit of smoking, and so I have to make shift with two half florin ones."

Paying Debts In Japan.

Foreigners in Japan find a great opportunity to purchase curios at the beginning of each new year. Every one in Japan is expected to clear up his books and pay his debts by the last day of the old year. The tradesmen send in their yards—more often miles—of bills to "the honorable lady of the house," and presents are politely exchanged all around. Shopkeepers hold bargain sales to enable them to pay the wholesale houses, and if a man cannot raise sufficient money to pay his creditors it is not an uncommon thing for him to sell off sufficient or even all of his property at a sacrifice to enable him to meet the new year with a smiling face. The only other honorable way out of his difficulties is for him to commit suicide.

Celluloid.

Celluloid is a plastic material composed of gun cotton and camphor. The gun cotton, or nitro-cellulose, is made by treating tissue paper with a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids. The product is mixed with camphor and various pigments to produce the desired color, and the materials are thoroughly incorporated by means of heated rolls. It is subsequently submitted to great pressure. It is afterward molded into form by means of heated dies under pressure. It is very hard and elastic and takes a high finish.

Impossible.

Mr. Wickwire—What ridiculous, impossible things these fashion plates are!

Mrs. Wickwire—I know they used to be, but most of them are reproduced from photographs nowadays.

Mr. Wickwire—This one can't be, I'm quite certain. Here are two women going in opposite directions, both with brand new dresses on, and neither is looking back at the other.—Exchange.

FRIDAY, JUNE 26, 1908.

It is a surprise to many.

After the rain the convention is cooler.

Have you noticed the difference it makes to have main street paved.

The Editor is expected back today and the force will be glad to see him.

The other candidates have had all the time they wanted to "saw wood" and say nothing.

Almost every paper has a different name for the disease that killed Ex-president Cleveland.

Wonder what the right name is.

Bryan will have the strongest following in the West this year that he has ever had.

Those people are revolting against Republican ring rule.

Since Cleveland is dead watch out for praise which might have been given while he lived.

But honor to the dead is the safest kind of honor.

The Raleigh News and Observer says that "Chicago is outdone in demonstration" at Charlotte.

The United States should opt do all that that convention has planned to do.

It is a wrong spirit not to be willing to support the winning candidate.

If many were to take such an attitude it would be bad for the state of thing.

Then too, it shows most strength of character when a man can endure defeat bravely.

There is no dishonor in being defeated, and the brave man holds his peace.

Some folks were so eager for news from the Charlotte convention that they began calling on this office as early as Tuesday night to know who had been nominated Governor.

That's no joke, but as true as Holy Writ. —Wilmington Star.

Same here, brother.

Reform Necessary.

The campaign which has just ended with the convention at Charlotte emphasizes in unmistakable terms the dire need of a legalized primary in this state.

We held so-called primaries, it is true; but the results in this and most other counties were unsatisfactory.

The vote was light and the will of the people was obtained very imperfectly, in many instances.

Give us a legalized primary with a modification of the Australian ballot system and the condition of things will be entirely reserved.

The people will speak out on primary day and it will all be over with.

Thousands of dollars will be saved; much anxiety will be escaped; considerable bitterness will be avoided; and the man behind the ballot will have his voice heard and registered in a way impossible under the present hybrid method of nominating state and county officials.

The legalized primary with the Australian ballot is a political reform that we must have.

Let the next legislature get ready to give it to us. —Kinston Free Press.

CURING A TOOTHACHE.

Remedy of a Cowboy That Proved Remarkably Effective.

One of the cleverest old customers we ever knew was Judge Booth, who lived on the Bell ranch along the Red river in the northeastern part of New Mexico. One morning out on the range the judge rolled out of his blankets with a jumping toothache, and, although he exhausted all the remedies in camp, nothing had any effect.

It was forty miles to the nearest town, with the chances against finding a dentist there, and it was finally decided to appeal to one of the Texas cowboys riding herd five miles away. He came over in response to the message, and after taking a look at the tooth, which was a double one on the upper jaw, he said, "Judge, I can shoot that tooth out as slick as grease if you don't mind the scar it will leave on yer cheek."

"Shoot it out?" shouted the judge at the top of his voice. "Why, man, you must be crazy!"

"Waal, then, mebbe I kin pick in 'nuff powder to blow it out."

"Blow it out? Never!"

"Might possibly hammer it out with a piece of iron," mused the cowboy.

"And you might go to Patagonia and beyond!" exclaimed the indignant sufferer.

"Yes, that's generally the way with folks. I'm only tellin' you how we do it out here, but if you don't want the tooth out of course you'll have to stand the pain."

The cowboy started back to the day herd, but after a gallop of half a mile he returned to beckon the other boys aside and say: "The judge seems to be a purty squar' sort o' man, though a leetle techy, and I'm sorry fur him. Kin he sit on a boss?"

"Some of the time!"

"Kin he shoot?"

"Only now and then."

"Then I think I can cure that toothache."

He spent five minutes unfolding the plot and then went over to the sufferer and said, "Judge, I've come back to say that ye are a booby and a coward."

"What!" yelled the judge as he sprang up from his seat before the campfire.

"A booby, a coward and a squaw, judge, and likewise a durned old liar!"

The judge jumped for him, but the cowboy ran for his horse. There was another near at hand, with two guns in the holsters of his saddle, and the judge sprang aboard, and gave chase.

Half a mile out on the prairie the two men began to shoot at each other, and it was not until the judge had fired his twelfth bullet that the kind hearted cowboy rode away and left his enemy to ride into camp and declare, "Well, by thunder, if that infernal toothache hasn't stopped so dead still that I feel just like singing!" —Denver Field and Farm.

A Curious Musé Box.

In the South Kensington museum, in London, is a curious musical box. It was originally the property of Tipu (or Tippoo) Sahib, the "Tiger of Mysore," who died in 1799, being killed during the British assault and capture of Seringapatam, the capital of Mysore.

He always hated the British, and to show his enmity he had this instrument constructed. The box is a life sized statutory group showing the symbolic tiger of India at the throat of England, represented by a British officer.

When Tippoo wished to amuse his court one of his attendants turned a handle, when the tiger emitted horrible growls and the man raised and lowered his arms and uttered terrifying shrieks. Inside the tiger are four rows of pipes and a set of ivory keys, which are either of French or British manufacture.

Vaccinated the Rifles.

Orders that were issued by the German West African officials some years ago that all firearms in the hands of natives should be stamped and registered aroused much discontent.

Lieutenant Eggers, in Damaraland, however, got along with no trouble. He had inoculated cattle for the rinderpest three years before, as the Damaras saw, with good results.

He therefore announced that he was ready to vaccinate their rifles so as to insure their shooting straight and doing no hurt to their owners, and the Damaras crowded to him to get their guns stamped.

It's Sometimes Like That.

They were rehearsing for the amateur theatricals.

"You mean to say," cried the heroine, clearing her throat, "that the people in the back of the house can't hear us speak our lines?"

The professional trainer held up his hand with a soothing gesture.

"Yes, but don't let that worry you," he said. "They can hear the prompter, so they won't lose touch with the play." —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is, at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Walking.
 Firm, regular steps are said to denote a steady, reliable nature, while jerky, uneven movements indicate the reverse.

The energetic person walks quickly and stops suddenly. The dreamer saunters along with slow, abstracted mien. The obstinate man goes straight ahead, refusing to turn aside for anybody.

On the other hand, the person who is ready to step out of any one's way is not necessarily weak willed. He may be afflicted with too much courtesy.

The long, swinging step usually marks the generous, broad minded person, while the small, petty tread shows the walker to be of a mean and narrow character. This last rule applies, of course, far more to men than to women.

How Many Bricks Have You Sent Away?

That sounds like a funny question, addressed to every citizen of this town and community, but it's really a serious one. Listen: There is now just completed a magnificent building of red brick exterior and concrete interior right in the business heart of one of the biggest of American cities. It occupies a whole block and calls itself in a large lettered sign "The Largest Monolithic Building in the World." It has many floors, with about a hundred acres of floor space. The entrances are of solid marble. The floors are beautifully tiled. Altogether it is a credit to the big city in which it stands. Oh, it's a Jim Dandy!

Now, how many bricks have you sent to the city to go into this big building? Honest, how many? Of the hundreds of thousands of bricks put into the walls of this building the city where it stands has contributed not a single red brick. Country people, the people of small towns and cities far away from the big metropolis, have sent in the bricks for the construction of this splendid edifice.

You may have sent in a few hods of bricks yourself without knowing it. Listen: This magnificent structure, which ornaments a city you probably never will see yourself, is built of bricks bought with the dollars of people living in towns just like ours—towns that would like to have some new brick buildings themselves now and then. Every dollar contributed to the city building fund means a nice, hefty hod of bricks for this big, beautiful skyscraper, "largest in the world" of its kind. This building was put up, through the kind donations of their unknown country cousins, by a firm that ran a small store in that city a few years ago.

But this firm conceived the cute idea of having thousands of strangers contribute bricks to build its fine, large, new store. And the building is a Mail Order Store. See?

ATE HIS FILL.

The Sharp Traveler Had His Money's Worth and Caught the Coach.

There was a coach that used to run between Nola Chucky and Paint Rock, a matter of some forty miles. For lunch the coach stopped at a halfway house in Tin Can, and here a good fifty cent meal was put out—cake and pie, coffee and tea and all the cold meats you could mention.

But the landlord of the halfway house had a mean little secret dicker with the driver, whereby as soon as the travelers had paid for their lunch and got fairly settled to it a call would come for an immediate start. So off they'd all go, grumbling. They'd have paid for 50 cents' worth of food and only eaten, you see, about 5 cents' worth.

But along came one day a traveler with a sharp, bright eye. The landlord found this chap some ten minutes after the coach had started on again still tucking in pie and ham at a terrible rate.

"Why, man," he said, "you've let the coach go without you."

"I know it," said the traveler calmly. "I was too blessed hungry to stop eating."

Suddenly the landlord's face paled. "Good gracious," he said, "all my silver's gone!"

It was too. Not a knife, fork or spoon was left except the sharp eyed man's.

He said as he kept on eating that he had noticed a suspicious looking character among the passengers, a man with a red beard, a hump and a limp—oh, very suspicious!

The landlord sent a hostler off to overtake the coach and bring it back. In about forty minutes the coach returned. Then the sharp eyed man came forth, wiping his mouth. But he made no effort to identify the suspicious looking passenger. Instead he got aboard the coach, took his seat and said coolly:

"Thanks, landlord, for the good food. You'll find the spoons and things in the coffee-pot. Now, driver, off we go again."—Washington Star.

PAYING BY CHECK.

References Required to Open a Bank Account in England.

"I like the American custom of carrying money loose in the pocket," said D. H. Lieban, a retired banker of London. "In England gentlemen and business men carry very little money with them. Nearly everything is paid for by check, except, of course, money enough to pay the small incidental expenses of a day."

"If a man goes into a store to buy a hat, he does not pay money for it, but gives a check. If he is dining at a public place, he very likely pays for his meal with a check. The system of credit in England is different from that in this country, and the mere fact that a man has an account in a bank serves to give him standing."

"One cannot open an account with a bank in England merely by carrying money to the bank and depositing it. He must have two first class references before a bank will accept his account, and when reference is given it means that the person giving it would endorse or stand for the person to whom it is given."

"A reference in England means more than a mere phrase. Checks on banks in England cannot be obtained for the mere asking, and a man must have an account in order to get checks from any bank. They cannot be picked up on bank counters or in public places."

"Private accounts in English banks are not accepted unless they are paid for, the general charge being $50 a year. There are one or two banks in England which discriminate so carefully in the accounts they accept that when a person is fortunate enough to be permitted to open an account with them he can get credit in any city in England or the continent of Europe."—Washington Post.

Disease Has Freaks.

No medical man needs to be told that even disease has its freaks and that recovery has occasionally been brought about by means inexplicably trivial. One of the most remarkable of these unaccountable eccentricities of disease took place at Haiver, in Westphalia. The case was that of a boy who, as the result of a very heavy fall backward on his head while skating, had for a year and a half been deaf and dumb. One morning his brother went to awake him and, finding him sleeping heavily, tapped him lightly on the forehead. To his amazement the deaf and dumb boy awoke with a loud cry. Both speech and hearing had been restored.—Kansas City Journal.

Between Fifty and Sixty.

The sixth decade of life has been most prolific in human achievement and may well be designated as the age of the master work. In action alone its accomplishments have revolutionized history, and it would be most difficult to conceive what would be the present status of the world's affairs had these ten years of individual life never existed.—W. A. N. Dorland in Century.

A COMPLICATED PLOT.

It Would Be Interesting if Worked Out to a Finish.

"I am writing a story," said the budding author to a dear friend, "but I'm rather in a muddle. The plot has grown so complicated that I hardly know how to elucidate it so that my readers will grasp its true outcome or what should be its outcome. Now, listen. There are only four characters, Jack, Charles, Mary and Ethel. Jack is in love with Mary, and Charles with Ethel, but Mary loves Charles, and Ethel loves Jack. That's the commencement. Simple enough, isn't it? But wait. They all intend going to a masked ball. Jack has settled to go as Napoleon, Charles as Richelieu, Mary as Elizabeth and Ethel as Esmeralda. Still simple, eh? Now we're coming to the mixup."

"Before the masked ball takes place all the four in some way find out what costumes each of them is going to wear, so just for fun the men hit on the idea of exchanging their costumes—that is, Jack will wear the costume of Richelieu which Charles was going to wear, and Charles will wear the costume of Napoleon which Jack was going to wear. The girls don't know Jack and Charles are going to do this, but they, funnily enough, hit on the same idea themselves—that is, Mary will wear the costume of Esmeralda that Ethel was going to wear, and Ethel will wear the costume of Elizabeth that Mary was going to wear. Well, that's not half the complication."

"Jack, who was going as Napoleon, makes love at the ball to Ethel, who was going as Esmeralda, but who now is in the costume of Elizabeth, while Charles, who was going as Richelieu, but now appears as Napoleon, devotes himself to Mary, who changed her costume from that of Elizabeth to Esmeralda. See the point?"

"Just before they unmask the same idea strikes the men and the women, and they change dresses back again—that is to say, Jack, who was going as Napoleon, but who now is in the dress of Richelieu, appears as Napoleon, and Charles, who was to have appeared as Richelieu, now assumes that dress instead of being Napoleon, which was Jack's original idea. Well, Mary and Ethel—Why, what's your hurry?"—New York Press.

An Unpalatable Dish.

In "The Gourmet's Guide to Europe," by Lieutenant Colonel Newnham-Davis, there is an amusing anecdote of Manolito, the proprietor of a famous Madrid restaurant:

Manolito is a small, gray haired Spaniard, who has a twinkle in his eye. He says little, but what little he says is always to the point. A young Spaniard who owed him a large sum for dinners fussed so much over the ordering of the meal that he annoyed Manolito. "I will bring you a dish, a most extraordinary dish, a dish that you have never seen before," said Manolito and disappeared to return immediately with a large dish capped by a great cover. The dish was put before the overparticular Spaniard and the cover whisked off. On the dish lay the very long and much overdue bill.

Slightly Absentminded.

"Does your husband ever help you about taking care of the baby?" was asked the wife of a young professor in a neighboring city.

"Not often, though sometimes he does. Last evening he said he'd take Willie for an airing, as he was going to walk down to the postoffice. Half an hour later I saw my husband sitting in the parlor reading a scientific magazine, but I could see nothing of the baby."

"Where's Willie? What have you done with him?" I asked.

"Why," said the professor, "I forgot all about him. I think he is sitting in the postoffice."

Brunettes Are Lucky.

"You are lucky," said the first mother to the second, "in having a brown eyed baby."

"Where does the luck come in besides that of his being good looking?" inquired the second.

"Because brown eyed babies are immune from many of the infantile ills that blue eyed children always have. I've seen it work dozens of times and heard doctors admit it. Blonds catch everything, but brunettes get off easy."

Delicious Banana Cream.

This recipe is highly recommended by one of our correspondents; try it for desert to-morrow.

Peel five large bananas, rub smooth with five teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add one teaspoonful cream beaten to a stiff froth, then add one 10c package of Lemon Jell-O dissolved in 1-2 to a cups boiling water. Pour into mold when cold, garnish with canned cherries served with whipped cream, or any good pudding sauce. JELL-O is sold by all Grocers at 10c. per package.

THE AGE OF CHIVALRY.

It is Now Rather Than in the Days of Knights Errant.

When we speak of the age of chivalry we are apt to imagine the existence at an earlier period of a finer sense of honor, of loftier ideals, of sublimer courage and of more devoted unselfishness than are found in the practical workaday world of today. As a matter of fact, "very gentle parfit knights," such as Chaucer describes, who rode about with squires, rescuing distressed damsels and redressing wrongs generally, were very few. The age was comparatively a harsh and cruel one. Oppression and violence prevailed, and human rights and justice were little regarded. Poverty was more general and the condition of the poor more abject than anything we know, and the richest enjoyed little of the comfort which is today well nigh universal.

People were supposed to bear the ills to which they were born, and all the efforts of a dozen knights in mail and plumed helmets did not go as far toward alleviating misery in a month as do the ministrations of a single visiting nurse now. We live in an age of chivalry vastly expanded. Where there was one worker for others in the knights' days, there are a hundred now, and chivalry permeates the spirit of all the good causes which enlist so many willing hands.

Between the tenth and fourteenth centuries it was but in the bud. Now it is in flower, and later on the full harvest of fruitage will come. There never was a time when there was such universal war against oppression of the weak and helpless, when every form of cruelty was so indignantly frowned upon, when womanhood and childhood were more sturdily championed and protected, when the poor and sick were so tenderly regarded and cared for or when the lower animals were made the object of such solicitude and shelter from harm and suffering. There never was a time when, at peace as we are with all the world, there were more constant exhibitions of quiet, modest courage and splendid heroism than are constantly occurring in the records of our daily lives. In all sorts of accidents—by fire and flood, by the forces of nature, by travel and by the operation of great industries—there is always some one ready, generally some unknown, unheralded person, to risk his life in order to save others. If that isn't chivalry there never was such a thing. We do not yet by any means possess all the virtues, but courage and unselfish devotion in times of stress are very good to build on.—Washington Post.

Obesity and Genius.

The annals of genius are filled to overflowing with the names of men who toiled and achieved fame under a full habit. Nothing can be more unjust than the gibe about "fat and folly" and fatness and indolence. Martin Luther was as fat as Calvin was thin. Ernest Reban's obesity did not obscure his insight and brilliancy. Many writers and speakers have too long spoken invidiously of fatness, but the best re-tort we have been able to glean in our researches into this weighty subject is that of C. H. Spurgeon, the famous preacher. "People," said Spurgeon, "say I am fat. I am not fat. I am bone and flesh. My limbs, thank God, are amply clothed, and I am in my right mind."—Strand Magazine.

Where Four States Meet.

It is odd to reflect that it is possible for one to be in four states at the same time. Yet there is one such spot in the United States. Glancing at a map of the United States, one finds an intersection between two straight lines, where Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona meet. The place is not often visited, as it is not easily reached. The stone erected by government surveyors is on the top of a spur in the Carrizo mountains. The nearest railway town is Mancos, Colo., nearly a hundred miles from the "four corners." The region about was once densely populated by cliff dwellers, but there are now no human beings within miles. Some years ago the Indians destroyed the boundary shaft. It was not replaced until 1904, probably because a long time elapsed before the authorities knew the old one had been wrecked.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED.

Some Greenville People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers:

You can't separate them. And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys.

Mrs. J. W. Wallace, of 1130 Albe-marle St., Tarboro, N. C. says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be an excellent remedy in my case and I am pleased to recommend them. I suffered constantly from backache and had distressing pains through my pains through my loins. I was restless at night and when morning came I felt tired, languid and all worn out. I had little strength or energy and at times found it very difficult to attend to my household duties. If I stood sharp darting pains would catch me in my back and I was also caused considerable annoyance by a weakness of my kidneys. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills procured them and they banished the backaches and pains and regulated the action of my kidneys. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I am feeling better than before in several months and can highly recommend them to anyone suffering from backache or a kidney weakness."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sale agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The prevailing rage now, in domestic life, is Spring Cleaning. While you are at that, get out your spring dresses, suits, etc., and have them cleaned up-to-date and ready to wear. Also have your winter clothes cleaned and treated with my special chemical solution to prevent moth eating, and pack them away until winter. RIGHT NOW IS THE TIME.
