IT IS WILLIAM WALTON KITCHIN. NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR ON SIXTY-FIRST BALLOT.

The Deadlock Ends in Withdrawal of Col. Horne—W. C. Newland for Lieutenant Governor.

The four days' contest in the State convention over the nomination for governor, came to an end late Saturday evening upon the withdrawal of Ashley Horne from the race.

The following specials received by The Reflector tell the story briefly.

Charlotte, N. C. June 27.—Upon the announcement of the 61th ballot showing that 399,707 votes had been cast for Kitchin, Horne came forward and withdrew from the contest in a speech that was met with great applause. Speeches were also made by Watson and Kerr, and there were shouts for Kitchin before the next roll call could begin.

The last roll call, 61st, showed as it progressed that Kitchin's nomination was certain.

Charlotte, N. C., June 27.—The nomination of Kitchin was made unanimous on the motion of ex Gov. Aycock, seconded by T. W. Bickett and C. Morrison. There were calls for Kitchin and Craig and those gentlemen also came forward and made excellent speeches.

The last ballot for governor was Kitchin 473,599, Craig 381,722, Horne 1,692, two counties casting small vote for the latter notwithstanding his withdrawal.

After the demonstrations the convention again got down to business and nominated W. C. Newland, of Caldwell county, for lieutenant governor. Gov. R. B. Glenn and Senator L. S. Overman were elected two of the delegates at large to the national convention in Denver. Senator F. M. Simmons was presented as another of the delegates, and the contention over his election prolonged the session until after midnight when there was adjournment until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

TROUBLED WATERS CALMED.

Simmons Delegate Almost Unanimously —Grimes, Lacy, Dixon Re-nominated

Charlotte, N. C., June 29.—The Sabbath coming in between gave time to calm the troubled waters and all was serene when the convention re-assembled this morning. Many of the delegates had gone to their homes, but there was still a good attendance left. The first business this morning was electing the remaining two delegates at large to the national convention at Denver. Simmons was first elected, the roll call showing 840 votes for him while only 10 were cast against him. The contest between Hale and Carr resulted in the election of Hale by a vote of 483 to 368 for Carr. The alternates are W. S. Parsons, E. F. Watson, J. W. Bailey and J. S. GRIMES, LACY, DIXON.

TICKETS GOING FAST.

See "Slumberland" Tuesday Night, June 30th.

There are so many features and pretty novelties in "Slumberland," the big musical extravaganza that will be presented tomorrow night, it is hard to tell which will be the most pleasing. The different groups in the play are all working hard to excel each other in their singing and dancing ensembles, and the principals are about letter perfect in their speaking parts. The regular Slumberland music, costumes and electrical effects will be used at Tuesday night's performance. Those desiring seat reservations should make them at once as a great number of tickets have been sold by the participants which guarantees a full attendance.

Tonight's full dress rehearsal concludes the practicing, when all the principals, college girls and boys, sailors, banjo girls, Japanese and foot ball boys are requested to be present. The children's dress rehearsal was held this morning. Slumberland will be given one night, Tuesday June 30. Prices 50 and 75 cents.

A Storm is Coming.

A life insurance policy is like an umbrella. During fair weather you don't need it at all and it is rather a nuisance to carry, but when you need it, you need it badly. Then get a good one in The old Mutual Life. H. Bently Harris will explain.

Fourth of July Rates.

The Atlantic Coast Line will sell tickets to Wilmington at rate of $4.50 and to Norfolk at rate of $5.00 for the round trip for regular trains, July 3 and 4, limited to return July 6th. #### Truth.

Up to middle age a man is said to "live for himself," after that "he lives for others." Very often, however, at the latter period he "lives upon others." Memo.—Have you an endowment policy? Get one in The Mutual Life H. Bently Harris.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., June 27, 1908. We were not able to get in our Wednesday items on account of sickness.

Rev. T. H. King filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Sunday morning and night.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry left Tuesday morning for the Democratic State convention at Charlotte. Rev. T. H. King accompanied him to Greenville.

F. F. Cox stuck a nail in his foot a few days ago, which made quite a painful and dangerous wound, but we are glad to say that he is getting along nicely.

We deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Worthington in the death of their baby Wednesday night from the effects of whooping cough. Its remains were interred in the Harrington burying ground Thursday.

Rev. T. H. King attended the Sunday school convention at Ayden yesterday and reported an excellent meeting. We expect "Bud Joe" to tell us all about the further particulars.

Mrs. E. E. Cox returned from an extended visit at Seven Springs Wednesday morning.

The town fathers are adding much improvement to the streets by having all the ditches cleaned out.

We regret so much to hear of the death of Rev. R. C. Jackson, of Clinton. He was pastor of the Free Will Baptist church here at the time of his death. He was a strong gospel preacher and was a favorite among our people. He held service here quarterly and was always greeted by large congregations. The church has made rapid progress under his watch care.

Our young people's meetings are making fine progress. They hold their meetings on Saturday evening and they are well attended. Sometimes we wish vacation could last all the time as we could have all our young men and young ladies with us. They render us such excellent help, but we must not be selfish. Others need their valiant service also. We do not know of a town that can show up a brighter and more consecrated set of young people than ours, and we are proud indeed of them.

During the storm Thursday R. E. Mosely, while standing in his store door, was stunned by lightning but not seriously, we are glad to learn.

Little Lucile, the eleven months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Nye, passed away Thursday morning at 5 o'clock. She had been suffering severely for three weeks with whooping cough. All was done for her that loving hands could do for her recovery, but God knew best. On account of the rain the funeral exercises were conducted Thursday evening at 6 o'clock in the home by their pastor Rev. T. H. King. At 6:30 the little form was born away to the new cemetery to await the resurrection morn. Through these columns the parents wish to express their heartfelt thanks for the many expressions of sympathy and help rendered during the sickness.

Miss Hulda Cox left Friday evening for Seven Springs to visit relatives. J. B. Carroll went to Greenville today.

Thos. Buck, who was so badly hurt at Rocky Mount, is at home now.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Mr. J. W. Aycock and little daughter, of Rocky Mount, who were visiting relatives here, have returned home.

Mrs. Tom Washington, of Winterville, who had been visiting Mrs. J. L. Wooten, returned home Saturday evening.

Dr. R. L. Carr has gone on a trip through the western part of the State, and will also attend the State dental convention in Charlotte.

C. T. Mumford, W. J. Hardee, R. Williams, Charles Cobb, H. C. Edwards, J. S. Norman reached home Friday night from the State convention, and D. C. Moore, G. J. Woodward, D. J. Whichard and David Moore came in Saturday morning.

Funeral of Mr. B. E. Patrick.

The funeral of Mr. B. E. Patrick, who died Saturday morning, took place Sunday afternoon. Services were held at the late residence on Greene street at 5 o'clock, conducted by Revs. J. E. Ayscue and M. T. Plyler. The interment followed in Cherry Hill cemetery, where the Knights of Pythias, of which order the deceased was a member, conducted the burial service of that order. The pall bearers were Messrs D. L. James, F. M. Wooten, W. S. Atkins, Wiley Brown, T. M. Hooker, S. T. White, Frank Wilson, W. B. Greene, C. S. Carr, J. L. Wooten, J. S. Mooring and J. L. Starkey. There was a large attendance at the funeral and there were many beautiful floral tributes.

Farewell Service.

On Sunday night Rev. J. E. Ayscue preached his farewell sermon closing his three years' pastorate of Memorial Baptist church. He referred with some feeling to his labors in Greenville, and the uniform kindness shown to himself and Mrs. Ayscue, and that he would always feel most kindly towards the people of Greenville.

Mr. Ayscue and family will leave Tuesday to spend a few days with relatives in Wake and Vance counties, and from there will go to Chicago where he is to take a special course of study in Chicago University. The church has prospered much under his ministry and gives him up with regret.

AN AFTER WORD.

Hon. W. W. Kitchin is the standard bearer of the party for governor, and it is now the duty of every one to rally to the support of the nominee. Quit talking about others, and let all dissensions that arose during the contest come to an end. Mr. Kitchin won the nomination fairly, and both Mr. Craig and Mr. Horne acted honorably in their efforts to secure the prize. These gentlemen will give the candidate loyal support, and their friends should do likewise. It matters not, what individual preferences were before the nomination was settled, each one had a perfect right to his opinion and discussions and criticisms along that line should cease. We are all Democrats, and there is need to be united in facing the common enemy to the party that must be met on the first Tuesday in November. The Republicans will try to make capital of every discordant word or act in the Democratic ranks, and that is further reason why all differences in the party should come to an end and all work together to give Mr. Kitchin a great majority in the election.

It is Kitchin now.

We have almost got our sleep back.

And now it will be on to Denver.

Sixty-one ballots to select a nominee for governor is a record breaker.

When Charlotte gets ready for us to come again she only has to say so.

Some of the Republican papers' stunts at the expense of the convention were really amusing.

Thousands of folks in Charlotte, as well as many who hurried home after the contest for governor was over, spent Sunday in bed trying to catch up on sleep.

Charlotte can pat herself on the back some more over the nice things said of her entertainment of the convention, and raise the sky scraper light still higher if she wants to.

Though marked by more boisterousness and noise than ever known in a previous convention, the humor and good feeling that prevailed through it all was remarkable.

Baseball cut a poor figure in popular favor while the convention deadlock was going on. The diamond sports can now come up to the head of the column again.

It is not amiss to repeat several times over that Charlotte did the fine thing in taking care of the convention. The "Queen City" is simply great and all North Carolina is proud of it.

There is yet some good reading in what the papers are saying about the convention. The newspaper boys were a faithful set of workers, and the readers hardly realize how much they are indebted to them.

Gov. Jarvis said in his speech as temporary chairman of the convention "Let us not be in a hurry to leave Charlotte". His advice was taken literally. It can also be said in passing that the honors bestowed upon the "Grand Old Man" while in Charlotte made the hearts of his friends swell with pride.

A Fable of the Future.

In 1920 A. D. the Stingiest Man in Stringtown carted his Household Goods to the Depot and bought a ticket for Millionville, the Metropolis.

"Why are you moving to Millionville?" inquired a Citizen.

"To save postage," replied the Stingiest Man. Whereat the Citizen marveled mightily.

Now, be it known that the Stingiest Man in Stringtown was wise in his Day and Generation, for along back in 1907 A. D. or thereabout it became the Settled Habit of the Stringtown people to purchase Large Sheets of Little Stickers bearing portraits of G. Washington, B. Franklin, W. McKinley and other Late Illustrious Ones, which Specimens of Art they straightway stuck on envelopes and sent to a Large and Luring Mail Order Concern in Millionville. Wherefore it came about that the Seven Stores in Stringtown Shut up Shop, one after the other, until along in 1919 A. D. the Stingiest Man found it incumbent upon him to begin purchasing these Small Specimens of Art to present to the Maw of the Monster in Millionville, and the Aforesaid was Simply too Stingy to stand for the Same.

WHY FIVE ACTS?

Shakespeare's Plays and the Work of His Commentators.

Shakespeare was a professional playwright, and he had no merely academic theories. In composing his plays he followed unhesitatingly the principles that had guided his immediate predecessors. He was seeking ever to give the playgoing public what it had been accustomed to enjoy in the theater, better in degree, no doubt, but the same in kind. Like these predecessors, he kept to the traditions inherited from the mediaeval mysteries, and he thought in terms, not of acts and of scenes, as a modern playwright is forced to do, but of a continuous narrative shown in action. There is no reason to suppose that he would have approved of the attempt of the editors of the folio to cut up his plays, each into five acts. There is every reason to suppose that he would have been greatly annoyed if he could have foreseen the way in which later editors have chosen further to subdivide the acts into an infinity of scenes—a subdivision which we may be sure was never his intent.

Nowadays we have been so accustomed to read Shakespeare in one or another of the trim and tidy modern editions, with a division into acts and scenes, each of which indicates a change of place and each of which seems to suggest a change of scenery, that it is only by a resolute effort of the will that we are able to shake off the prepossessions derived from this misleading and confusing presentation of his text. Probably even today a majority of those who enjoy reading Shakespeare would be surprised to be told that there is no warrant whatever for this alleged change of scene and for those superabundant subdivisions of his story. Many of these readers would be taken aback by the unexpected discovery that all this cutting up of Shakespeare's text was the work of his commentators, with Rowe at the head of the procession. Some of these readers would feel as though they were deprived of a precious possession if they had only an edition in which all this useless machinery was swept away.—Brander Matthews in Forum.

His Quick Answer.

Under the heading "Peasant Repartee" the Frankfurter Wochenblatt tells of a farmer who, on his way to the fields, was attacked by a savage dog. "The man saw the dog coming toward him, growling and showing all signs of anger. As the animal sprang upon him he used the pitchfork which he was carrying with such good effect that the dog was killed. The owner of the animal sued the farmer for damages, and when the evidence had all been taken the judge said to the defendant, 'Would it not have been just as well to have used the other end of the fork first?' 'I might have done so,' answered the peasant, 'if the beast had rushed toward me with its other end first.' No damages were awarded, and the people at the trial thought that the quick answer had something to do with the decision."

Tough Tars.

Playing about one day, a blue-jacket aboard one of our cruisers accidentally ripped up the back of his shipmate's jumper.

"Ow am I goin' to mend that, and the bugle goin' for divisions in three minutes?" demanded the victim.

"I'll do it in two two's. Turn around," said his mate.

Without troubling his chum to remove his jumper, the seaman quickly sewed up the rent in time for both to fall in at the call.

As they were going to bed that night the tar with the repaired jumper, after struggling in vain for some minutes to get out of it, yelled wrathfully:

"You buglin' ass! You've sewed it to my skin!"—London Tatler.

A Kansas Girl's Advice.

A Lincoln county girl writes this advice: "Why do young men do so much loafing? Go to work! Push ahead! I am but a young girl, but I clothe myself and have money in the bank. I lay up more money every year than any young man within three miles of my home. When they get a dollar boys go to a dance and go home a dollar out. I advise all girls to cut clear of loafing boys. Stand by the boy who works and never put your arm through the handle of a jug."—Kansas City Star.

The Dear Old Days.

Touched by his sad story, a Harrisburg woman recently furnished a meal to a melancholy-looking hobo who had applied therefor at the back door.

"Why do you stick out the middle finger of your left hand so straight while you are eating?" asked the compassionate woman. "Was it ever broken?"

"No, mum," answered the hobo, with a snuffle. "But during my halcyon days I wore a diamond ring on that finger, and old habits are hard to break, mum."—Harper's Weekly.

The Candidate's Course.

"When a candidate thinks he's right he must stick to his belief."

"But supposing all his constituents think differently?"

"In that case he must show his true greatness by casting aside all personal bias and emphatically assuming that a majority cannot be wrong."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Everybody Pleased.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED.

Some Greenville People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them.

And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys.

Mrs. J. W. Wallace, of 1130 Albeville St., Tarboro, N. C. says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be an excellent remedy in my case and I am pleased to recommend them. I suffered constantly from backache and had distressing pains through my pains through my loins. I was restless at night and when morning came I felt tired, languid and all worn out. I had little strength or energy and at times found it very difficult to attend to my household duties. If I stood sharp darting pains would catch me in my back and I was also caused considerable annoyance by a weakness of my kidneys. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills procured them and they banished the backaches and pains and regulated the action of my kidneys. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I am feeling better than before in several months and can highly recommend them to anyone suffering from backache or a kidney weakness."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Fussy Woodsman.

Did you ever find yourself in the woods with a "fusser"—that is, a man who only sees the disagreeable side of everything and publishes his views early and often? For such a man the trail is frightful. The woods that occasionally slap him playfully across the cheek are anathema, the water is too wet, his rod or cast or something or other gets broken or lost, his shoe pinches one foot. About an hour before dark, just at the time when it is worth a king's ransom to be beside the favored waters, he wants to get back to the boat, and as you unwillingly wind up your line to prepare to depart your disgust is too deep and sacred for common words. Forest and Stream.

ARGUMENT OF SLUMBERLAND.

Act I.

Senator Fiske's son Richard is a student at Sagehurst College. Owing to the fact that he has been devoting his study periods to the writing of a novel, Professor Napoleon, the German instructor at the college, advises the Senator of his son's misdemeanor. Senator Fiske, accompanied by his grandchild, visits the college, and is greeted by Richard, who in the meantime discovers the whys and wherefores of his father's visit, and introduces Mr. Phiz, the professor of chemistry as Professor Napoleon. Professor Phiz has conceived the idea that by a mixture of certain lotions and chemicals everlasting youth can be restored to the most aged persons. He greatly interests Professor Napoleon in his theory, and while Madam De Williard, the preceptress at the college, is entertaining Senator Fiske, Captain Murry, of the Iowa, and the other guests, Professor Napoleon drinks a solution of Phiz's experiments, which soon tires him and he is overcome by sleep, during which time he dreams Professor Phiz's theory is a success, having been aided by the marvelous skill of a wonderful wizard, who possesses the power of transforming all the inhabitants of a place by the name of Midget City from old age to youth, at the sacrifice of the Senator's grandchild, who becomes old instead. After Professor Napoleon goes to sleep the plot of the piece is an exact reproduction of his dreams, acted in reality.

Act II.

The second act finds Napoleon taking the Wizard's place below. He is still in a dream. Richard Fiske receives word from a publishing firm that his novel has been accepted, and informs his father that the writing of the same was the cause of his negligence of his studies. Senator Fiske is greatly pleased with Richard's literary success and informs Professor Napoleon of the fact. Professor Napoleon has awakened and discovers that his delightful dream was far from being real. Madam De Williard has given the girls permission to have a festive night honor in of the Senator and other guests, and after telling his dream, the Professor and his guests attend the Japanese tea.

The prevailing rage now, in domestic life, is Spring Cleaning. While you are at that, get out your spring dresses, suits, etc., and have them cleaned up-to-date and ready to wear. Also have your winter clothes cleaned and treated with my special chemical solution to prevent moth eating, and pack them away until winter. RIGHT NOW IS THE TIME.

Yours to please,
