SLUMBERLAND A GREAT SUCCESS

THE OPERETTA THE EVENT OF THE SEASON.

Greenville Amateurs Score a Hit in This Wonderful Production—Ladies Deserve Much Credit.

It is well known that when Greenville turns a hand to any undertaking it is with the determination to make it a success. Such was the case in the presentation of that charming operetta, Slumberland in Masonic opera house Tuesday night. True there was a good director in Mr. Harry Foote, of New York, and his training was fine, but unless there had been excellent material to work upon, for which Greenville is noted, these would have gone for naught. The selection of the participants in the operetta was indeed most happy, every group, and likewise the specialists, fitting to a nicety the parts to be rendered.

In a cast that embraced something like two hundred performers of all ages and sizes, we cannot undertake to single out any for special mention, for to do so would not be just to any whose names were omitted. Of course some had more important parts than others in the performance, but it took all together to make the rendition perfect, and the lesser acquitted themselves with equally as much credit as the greater.

Taken all together the operetta was a superb success, and the audience was given two hours of extravagant pleasure. Every scene was splendid, the sailor girls, the witch dancers, the panjo chorus, the Japanese girls, the college boys, the school boys, the foot ball crew, the inhabitants of Midget City, the cops, the specialists and leaders in the different scenes all winning a full share of applause.

It was an aggregation of beauty, and the lights flashed upon the stage from the gallery made the scenes all the more entrancing.

The audience was large and every one was delighted with the success of the entertainment.

The ladies under whose management the entertainment was given are to be congratulated upon its success. These ladies request that their thanks be returned to every one who took part in the operetta and to every one who patronized it or in any way helped to make it a success.

An Opportunity.

Our Mr. G. G. Fineman has severed his connection with us. Any one contemplating the purchase of a piano soon, will do well to write to us or direct to him in Greenville as we have several pianos scattered around the Greenville section which will be offered unusually low to keep from reshipping these instruments back. Mr. Fineman's resignation is to take place July 15th. Very respectfully,
Chas. M. Stieff,

Examinations for A. & M.

At his office, on Thursday, July 2nd, our county superintendent of schools, Prof. W. H. Ragsdale will conduct admission examinations for the A. & M. college at Raleigh. The college officers in charge of admission urge that all who expect to enter in September be examined at this time. The college offers 120 scholarships to needy young men. Pitt county has at this time one vacant scholarship, which should be taken up promptly.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

News Notes From Our Hurling Neighbor.

Prof. G. E. Liceberry is spending this week at his old home in Chatham county, near Siler City.

Miss Annie Carroll spent some days here with Miss Venetia Cox this week.

The quarterly conference of the Ayden circuit of the Methodist church was held here Saturday and Sunday by Rev. C. D. McCullen, presiding elder. He preached two most excellent sermons Saturday night and Sunday morning. He is a fine gospel preacher and all who heard him speak in highest praise of these sermons. He left on the evening train Sunday.

Rev. H. E. Tripp, the pastor, preached at night.

We deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Moye in the death of their baby Sunday night. It suffered several days with whooping cough. It was buried in the May burial ground Monday afternoon.

The A. G. Cox manufacturing Co. is taxed to its full capacity now filling the urgent orders for trucks and flues. They report business in excellent condition.

The Pitt county Oil Co. is installing another one hundred horse power boiler at their plant. They expect to greatly enlarge the equipment with a lot of new machinery. Manager Barnhill is a hustler. You may expect to hear things begin to hum over in that direction when the season opens up. He will be well equipped to do your work well and rapidly.

Mrs. Susan Jackson, who has been living for the past year and a half with her son, G. E. Jackson, near here, has moved into her new cottage near Dr. Cox's. Her sons, C. J. and D. R., and herself, will compose the family. We are glad indeed to welcome them to our town.

Mrs. B. F. Nunn, who had been suffering intensely for the past four weeks, died yesterday afternoon surrounded by quite a number of her relatives. Rev. T. H. King will conduct the burial service at the home about 12 o'clock after which the remains will be taken on the hearse to Ayden for interment. She leaves a husband and two beautiful little children and a large number of relatives to mourn their loss. They have our deepest sympathy.

HARPER'S PALM GARDEN.

An Attractive Cold Drink Establishment.

J. V. Harper has certainly struck a popular chord in opening his palm garden in the White building. His garden is indeed most attractive and is going to prove an ideal resort for cold drinks.

On one side of the garden is a beautiful 14-foot innovation sanitary fountain of marble and onyx that is the latest improved of the factory's output. The fountain is backed by a mahogany cabinet the same length, richly carved and polished and set with veveled mirrors.

The open space is furnished with palm garden equipment, the tables and chairs being of pretty design, the combinations and children seats being especially attractive. The entire equipment for making and dispensing ice cream and cold drinks is most complete and modern. The cream freezers will be operated by electric motor, and orders for family use or receptions can be filled promptly.

Mr. Harper also carries a large line of cigars and smoking tobacco, and is preparing to add magazines, periodicals and fine stationery.

The fiscal year of municipal administration in Greenville, beginning July 1st and ending June 30th, there has been considerable activity today around the seat of local government.

The board of aldermen of the past year met at 10 a. m. to finish up its work and turn over the reins of government to the new board. Four members of the old board are continued on the new board, four new members being chosen at the last election.

The members of the new board came forward at noon and were sworn in by Mayor Wooten as follows:

First ward—J. B. White.
Second ward—C. S. Carr and W. A. Bowen.

Third ward—E. B. Higgs and D. W. Hardee.

Fourth ward—E. G. Flanagan and E. A. Moye, Sr.

Fifth ward—W. S. Moye.

Alderman Flanagan was chosen chairman and mayor pro tem, and Alderman E. A. Moye secretary.

The board then unanimously elected H. W. Whedbee as mayor for the coming year, and Aldermen Carr and E. A. Moye were appointed to inform Mr. Whedbee of his election. When Mr. Whedbee appeared he was given an ovation by the spectators and accepted in a neat speech in which he complimented the work of the retiring administration and promised his best efforts to promote the work of the present administration to the best interest of the town. The oath of office was then administered by Superior court clerk D. C. Moore. The mayor's salary was made $30 per month.

The board then proceeded to elect the following officers by acclamation who were agreed upon in caucus, and fixed salaries as stated:

Clerk, J. C. Tyson, $75 per month.

Treasurer, H. L. Carr $25 per month.

Chief police, J. T. Smith, $50 per month.

Assistant day police, G. A. Clark, $42 50 per month.

Night police, W. H. McGowan, $45 per month.

Dispensary commissioners, J. L. Wooten, J. C. Lanier and J. R. Moye, salaries for six months, chairman $62.50, others $50.

A communication was read from ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis advising that the term of D. C. Moore and himself as members of the board of trustees of the graded school had expired and their successors should be elected at once, that the board of trustees had recommended the re-election of both, but that he could not serve longer.

D. C. Moore was unanimously re-elected to succeed himself.

For the other member the names of S. T. Hooker, T. M. Hooker, C. D. Rountree and Dr. J. E. Nobles were presented. Three ballots were taken without election, and on the fourth ballot T. M. Hooker received a majority of the votes and was declared elected.

After appointing a committee to advise the dispensary commissioners elect of the action of the board, adjournment was taken until Thursday night, the time for regular monthly meeting.

A farmer voter and Democrat wishes to put in nomination for register of deeds a man who has always stood by the nominees, and did work for the party during the amendment election. We think he is entitled to the office. That man is J. C. Lanier.

Largest Farmer in the World.

David Rankin, a member of the Missouri delegation to the Republican National convention, is said to be the largest individual farmer in the world. He was the oldest delegate in the convention, having passed his eighty-third year. His farm in Atkinson county, Mo., comprises 25,000 acres, 18,000 being given to the cultivation of corn and the other 7,000 to pasturage. Last year his corn crop reached 1,000,000 bushels. He has 10,000 cattle and 15,000 hogs.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1, 1908.

Don't Greenville get there?

The ticket and the platform are both all right.

Sunday coming in between saved the day.

When Mr. Taft gives a smile it covers a broad surface.

The hand of the "Grand Old Man" of Pitt was recognized in bringing an end to the contest.

Charlotte now wants the Republican State convention. All right, let her have it, and anything else she wants.

No doubt the other towns envied Charlotte for having an opportunity at the delegates for so long a time.

Much money may have been spent in getting the nomination, and it is going to take much more to get elected.

The final action in regard to Senator Simmons was wise, for his services are going to be needed in the campaign.

The length of time the delegates had to stay in Charlotte meant much for the city and she reaped the benefit of it.

The strenuous ante-convention campaign and the even more strenuous convention now being things of the past, the newspapers have a harder time to find something to talk about.

All is well that ends well. The convention has spoken and named the ticket. Now let all forget the previous differences and unite for the success of the ticket, for the common enemy that will have to meet in the election is going to be a stubborn one.

The gratifying statement is made that with the beginning of July the Southern Railway will restore to employees the ten per-cent reduction in wages that was made in February. Improved conditions in business has brought about this restoration of the former wage scale.

Monday night of next week, July 6th, is the date for the regular quarterly meeting of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce. As these meetings are held only once in three months, there should be a large attendance of business men. This is the last meeting before fall business opens, and it might be well to discuss some matters to the benefit of both the mercantile and tobacco interests of the town. In fact there is constantly something the chamber might be doing to help the town along, and it is always easier to bring things to pass through concert of action than by individual effort. Lets make Greenville grow.

A ROMANCE OF STEEL

The Rise of a Great Industry and Enormous Fortunes.

KELLY AND THE AIR BLAST.

The Flash of Genius Which Provided the World With a New Metal—Robert Mushet's Device—Captain Bill Jones and Andrew Carnegie.

As late as the middle of the last century cheap steel was unknown. It was then sold at 25 cents a pound. The railroads were using iron rails which wore out in less than two years, and the total output of iron and steel in a year was less than is now made in four days.

Then came to William Kelly, a Pittsburgh Irish-American, that flash of genius which provided the world with a new metal, something as strong as steel and as cheap as iron.

Kelly was an iron maker and needed charcoal. In time all the wood near his furnaces was burned, and the nearest available source of supply was seven miles distant. To cart his charcoal seven miles meant bankruptcy unless he could invent a way to save fuel.

One day he was sitting in front of the "finery fire" when he suddenly sprang to his feet with a shout, and rushed to the furnace. At one edge he saw a white hot spot in the yellow mass of molten metal. The iron at this spot was incandescent. It was almost gaseous. Yet there was no charcoal—nothing but the steady blast of air. Like a flash the idea leaped into his excited brain—there was no need of charcoal; air alone for fuel.

But people said he was crazy when Kelly asserted that pig iron could be changed into malleable iron by the air blast, for every iron maker believed in those days that cold air would chill hot iron. "Some crank will be trying to burn ice next," said one manufacturer, and Kelly, through lack of means, could not turn his idea into the success he deserved.

Then, seven years later, came Bessemer, who made the new process a commercial success by the invention of his celebrated "converter" and received $10,000,000, worldwide fame and a knighthood as his reward. Kelly received $500,000 and comparative oblivion, although his idea was the nucleus of the Bessemer process by which iron is purified from carbon by the direct introduction of oxygen, for when Bessemer applied for and obtained a United States patent for his "pneumatic process" Kelly claimed priority for his invention, and his claim was allowed by the patent office.

Another pioneer of the steel trade, Robert F. Mushet, a Scotsman, who hit upon a device for removing a difficulty that baffled Kelly and Bessemer, fared even worse than Kelly, for he lost his patent by failing to pay the necessary fees and in his later years was dependent upon a pension of $1,500 which he received annually from Bessemer.

The difficulty which Mushet removed was this: "The air blast clears the molten metal of carbon and of all impurities, including sulphur and phosphorus. But a certain quantity of carbon is necessary to harden the metal into the required quality of steel. Instead of endeavoring to stop the process at exactly the right moment, Mushet asked, 'Why not first burn out all the carbon and then pour back the exact quantity that you need?' This was a simple device, but no one had thought of it before."

The man who took the invention of Kelly and Bessemer into his hands, developed it into one of the wonders of the world and made the Carnegie millions was Captain William R. Jones—Bill Jones, as he was known—who seemed to live with the sole desire of toppling over the idea that England owned the steel trade. He could have been a millionaire many times over, but he cared little for money. When he was offered a partnership he replied:

"No, Mr. Carnegie, I don't know anything about business, and I don't want to be bothered with it. I've got trouble enough here in these works. I'll tell you what you can do—these were his exact words—"you can give me a thundering big salary."

"After this, captain," replied Carnegie, "you shall have the salary of the president of the United States—$25,000."

The famous scrap heap policy was originated by Jones. He did not believe in waiting until his machinery was worn out. The moment that an improvement was invented old machinery was dragged to the scrap heap and the latest devices put in its place. He made the shareholders gasp on several occasions by asking permission to smash up $500,000 worth of machinery that was as good as new, but outgrown. Jones died, as he had lived, in the midst of an industrial battle at the head of his men. He was killed in an accident in the company's works. "Carnegie, looking upon poor Jones as he lay in the hospital, sobbed like a child."

"The Romance of Steel," by Herbert N. Casson.

The Wind.
The senator pushed into the crowd that surrounded the automobile.
"What is the trouble here?" he inquired.
"Punctured tire," replied a man with a dinner pail. "Make a speech into it, will you, senator?"—New York Press.

Inquisitive people are the funnels of conversation. They do not take in anything for their own use, but merely to pass it to another.—Steele.

PASSING TO THE LEFT.

An English Custom Which Puzzles When Met in Canada.

When you go abroad you expect to find things different from at home, and you try to take everything as a matter of course. So in England when you learn that railroad trains pass to the left and not to the right, as with us, and when you find that the same rule of the road applies in city streets and country highways and byways, you may be inconvenienced, but you try to remember and get along somehow.

But when you go to Canada and find this left handed state of things existing you are bewildered. There has been no ocean trip to prepare you. You pass from Yankee soil to Canadian soil without knowing when, and somehow you expect to find the ordinary affairs of life moving along as you have been accustomed to.

One day you are in Portland, Me., the next day in St. John, N. B. You face the direction in which you wish to go and stand beside the right hand trolley track waiting for a trolley car. The car comes, but it is going the wrong way—for you. Then you shift to the left.

But the next day when you are out in the country you have forgotten the trolley car episode. You go driving. Another team approaches. You tug gently on the right hand rein, expecting Dobbin or Maude or whatever the beastie's name is to turn out.

But you get no response. On the contrary. The argument is not concluded when the horses stand face to face and the one you are driving says unkind things about you to his brother of the shafts.

By that time you have remembered, and after an apology you proceed.

The matter is especially puzzling, since the driver's seat is on the right. But the Canadians find this handy. There the men do most of the talking, and when two teams are passing the horses are checked and the men find themselves close together.

With us in like case the women have the preferred positions from a conversational standpoint. And that's how it should be.

Railroad trains don't pass to the left in Canada. In fact, they don't pass at all except at sidings. There is only one track.—Washington

Imperialistic Notions.

Some of the "excuses" which schoolteachers receive from late or absent pupils are weird and wonderful. Here are a few:

"Sir Frederick can't come today, as he ain't got any nickers, and if the bord man fetches him he'll have to come naked. Yours respectful."

"Sir, I must strictly forbid you to punish Thomas again for anything he does, as we never do so except in self defense."

"Dear Sir—I strongly object to my boy learning Algebra. In my humble opinion the only letters to put with money are £ s. d. Perhaps you'll be kind enough to inform me how much this is, Ab4-wqx5-yd9 pounds. I'm plain by name and plain by nature and won't have any newfangled imperialist notions put into his head. Yours without offense, James Plain."—London Scraps.

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You!
Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean.

You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the demerit bowwows, you say, because of the un-curbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hodcarrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gourmandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey! Didn't we!

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey!

Didn't that ever occur to you?

N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home instead of helping to build up a trust that hurts your home place?

A GHOST STORY.

The Spectral Horseman That Visits Wycollar Hall.

This ghost story is contributed by a correspondent of an English magazine: "Wycollar Hall, near Colne, was long the seat of the Cunliffes of Billington. They were noted persons in their time, but evil days came, and their ancestral estates passed out of their hands. In the days of the commonwealth their loyalty cost them dear, and ultimately they retired to Wycollar with a remnant only of their once extensive property. About 1819 the last of the family passed away, and the hall is now a mass of ruins. Little but the antique fireplace remains entire, and even the room alluded to in the following legend cannot now be identified. Tradition says that once every year a spectral horseman visits Wycollar Hall. He is attired in the costume of the early Stuart period, and the trappings of his horse are of a most uncouth description.

"On the evening of his visit the weather is always wild and tempestuous. There is no moon to light the lonely roads, and the residents of the district do not venture out of their cottages. When the wind howls loudest the horseman can be heard dashing up the road at full speed, and, after crossing the narrow bridge, he suddenly stops at the door of the hall. The rider then dismounts and makes his way up the broad oaken stairs into one of the rooms of the house. Dreadful screams, as from a woman, are then heard, which soon subside into groans. The horseman then makes his appearance at the door, at once mounts his steed and gallops off.

"His body can be seen through by those who may chance to be present; his horse appears to be wild with rage, and its nostrils stream with fire. The tradition is that one of the Cunliffes murdered his wife in that room and that the spectral horseman is the ghost of the murderer, who is doomed to pay an annual visit to the home of his victim. She is said to have predicted the extinction of the family, which, according to the story, has been literally fulfilled."

THE CRITICS.

These Observers Were Wholly Personal in Their Judgments.

"The critical faculty is rare," said an editor and critic at a Philadelphia art club. "It must be impersonal. But most of us incline to be wholly personal in our criticism. The fact was brought home to me at one of the exhibitions at the Academy of Fine Arts."

"Passing from picture to picture, I overheard many criticisms. Thus a lady in a rich gown said:

"What a superb portrait of a young girl! It should certainly win the Carnegie prize. It is easy to see that the gown was made by Paquin."

"A fat, red nosed man in a fur lined overcoat halted before a picture entitled 'The Luncheon.'

"This still life," he exclaimed, "is the most admirable I have ever seen. Terrapin, canvasback, champagne, lobster, even Perigord pie—ah, what a genius!"

"In this historical painting," I heard an antiquary say, "the costumes are accurate in every detail. The painter is a second Raphael!"

"That horse there," said a young polo player, "is exactly like my Poda sokus. It's the best picture in the exhibition."

"An athlete uttered a cry of delight before a daub called 'The Gladiator.'

"What shoulders! What arms! he said. 'I bet anything the jury gives this painting the highest award.'

"And half the throng, departing, said: 'The picture in the last room is the best. No, we didn't see it—couldn't get to it, in fact—but it draws far and away the biggest crowd.'"

Celluloid.

Celluloid is a plastic material composed of gun cotton and camphor. The gun cotton, or nitro-cellulose, is made by treating tissue paper with a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids. The product is mixed with camphor and various pigments to produce the desired color, and the materials are thoroughly incorporated by means of heated rolls. It is subsequently submitted to great pressure. It is afterward molded into form by means of heated dies under pressure. It is very hard and elastic and takes a high finish.

Impossible.

Mr. Wickwire—What ridiculous, impossible things these fashion plates are!

Mrs. Wickwire—I know they used to be, but most of them are reproduced from photographs nowadays.

Mr. Wickwire—This one can't be, I'm quite certain. Here are two women going in opposite directions, both with brand new dresses on, and neither is looking back at the other.—Exchange.

THE FREAKISH WIND.

Pranks It Has Played With Smoke, Dust and Grain.

During a volcanic eruption in the Hawaiian Islands the smoke rose to a height of between five and six miles and then drifted away to the northeast. At a distance of 600 miles it settled on the surface of the sea and was then carried back by the northeast wind to its place of origin, where it arrived a fortnight after its original departure and covered the entire group of islands with its heavy pall.

Not long ago a steamer was on her way along the north African coast from Asia to England and had entered the Galita channel between the island of that name and the coast of Tunis when a fine dust began to darken the air and soon afterward to fall on deck. Some of this dust was collected and subjected to chemical analysis in Europe. Its constituents proved that it had been carried high in the air from the Sahara desert and had finally dropped into the Mediterranean.

More extraordinary still was a dust shower that fell in Hungary some years ago. Analysis showed that this dust was identical with the sediment of the Nile. The dust was believed to have been brought by the wind all the way from Egypt, a pretty long journey for a shower of that description to accomplish.

It must have been a high wind indeed that brought a shower of wheat on one occasion to the villagers in a place on the southern coast of Spain. The wheat fell like rain. There were so many witnesses of the occurrence that it was impossible to doubt that it had appeared. But for some months it could not be accounted for.

Then came the other side of the story. It was learned that shortly before this fall of wheat some farmers near the northern coast of Morocco had been thrashing wheat with flails when suddenly a tornado swept over the ground and carried all the wheat and chaff on the thrashing cloth into the air. The cloth was swept away by the storm, and the farmers fell to the ground, but were not injured. When the storm had passed they were horrified at discovering that the result of their labors had totally disappeared. There seemed little doubt that the wheat that fell in Spain was that which belonged to the Moroccan farmers. It had been blown clear across the Mediterranean.—Pittsburg Post.

MEN SITTERS PREFERRED.

Portrait Painter Says Women Do Not Keep Appointments.

An artist who has enjoyed an undeniable success as a portrait painter and especially as a painter of the portraits of women was asked, after looking at a galaxy of beauty and distinction, if he did not prefer to paint women, says the New York Herald. "Their skin is so smooth, and the accessories in the way of chiffons and surroundings seem to make the painter's task so varied and interesting," was urged in argument.

"Like to paint women!" he exclaimed. "No, a thousand times no! I'd rather any day paint a man. A man treats an appointment to sit as a business matter between man and man. He never disappoints and is as prompt in arriving as if it were an affair of millions or as if I were a dentist. When he poses he is equally faithful to my convenience and his obligation. He does his part and gives you your opportunity."

"But women! Have you any idea how much time a painter squanders in waiting for women sitters? Everything, anything, is an excuse for being late or for not coming at all. The most trivial engagement will set aside an appointment with an artist. You are all ready, palette charged, brushes in hand, and a half hour after the last moment there is a ring at the telephone. 'Very sorry, but can't come.' That is what artists undergo with women. They have absolutely no sense of responsibility where it is an affair of sitting for a portrait."

"When they do come and do sit they feel that they are doing you a favor. Sitting is a bore, something rather incidental, or perhaps they are vague and listless. One came to me the other day, and her face was so covered with powder that it was absolutely vacuous. Her expression was buried. I was tempted to tell her to go and wash her face."

"In fact, so strongly do I feel about this matter that I get through with painting women as quickly as possible and do everything I can with their portraits by using other models."

CAN'T BE SEPARATED.

Some Greenville People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both. Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers. You can't separate them. And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache. If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health. Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys. Mrs. J. W. Wallace, of 1130 Albatross St., Tarboro, N. C. says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be an excellent remedy in my case and I am pleased to recommend them. I suffered constantly from backache and had distressing pains through my pains through my loins. I was restless at night and when morning came I felt tired, languid and all worn out. I had little strength or energy and at times found it very difficult to attend to my household duties. If I stood sharp darting pains would catch me in my back and I was also caused considerable annoyance by a weakness of my kidneys. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills procured them and they banished the backaches and pains and regulated the action of my kidneys. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I am feeling better than before in several months and can highly recommend them to anyone suffering from backache or a kidney weakness." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Not on Time.

The curtain did not go up on time in the opera house Wednesday night, though The Reflector had been asked to say in advance that it would do so. For once, be it said to Greenville's credit, most of the audience were pretty nearly on time, but the making up of the large company of performers behind the stage was rather slow, putting it a little past 9 when the curtain rose. But the audience got more than enough to pay them for waiting.

For Rent at Low Prices.

Slumberland Not to be Repeated.

Since the announcement from the stage during the performance of "Slumberland" Tuesday night the ladies have decided not to have the operetta repeated tonight as stated.

Must Be Consistent.

In one of the police courts the other day there appeared before the magistrate a certain old Irishwoman who has been a continual offender for years, her besetting sin being the flowing bowl. The court failed to treat her as an old acquaintance until she calmly announced her age at thirty; then he stopped her.

"See here, Mary," he said, "you've been coming here for ten years, and all that time you have given your age as thirty years. I won't stand it any longer. Why do you do it?"

"Sure, your honor," was the quick reply, "I wouldn't be after telling you one story at one time and another next time. 'Twouldn't sound right."—New York Globe.
