THE PITT COUNTY MAP.

Secretary of State Grimes Gives Some Information.

Raleigh, July 11, 1908.
Editor Eastern Reflector:
Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir:

In your editorial of July 10, I notice that you say the Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee for co-operating with a committee from the boards of county commissioners and education, looking to procuring and circulating a map and statistical information of the county."

The United States department of agriculture, bureau of soils in co-operation with the North Carolina department of agriculture, are preparing and publishing maps with soil surveys of different sections of North Carolina. These maps are topographically exact and show all rivers, creeks, branches, swamps, road, railroads, towns, houses, &c. in the county. They also give the character of the soil and the subsoil and the elevations of every point in the county. Accompanying these maps is a description of the area—giving its history, geography, industries, transportation facilities, educational advantages, development &c., &c., also a full and detailed account of its climate, agriculture, soils, &c.

The department of agriculture sometime ago issued maps and soil survey booklets of the Craven area, and has just recently issued map and publication of the Edgecombe area.

These surveys in North Carolina are made by W. Edward Hearn, assisted by G. M. MacNider of the North Carolina department of agriculture, and field operations in this State are directed by Prof. B. W. Kilgore, State chemist and director of the State experiment station.

Last year Prof. Kilgore told me he thought he could take up the work for Pitt county this past spring. He now informs me that the next work in the State will be Caswell county, but that they may be able to get to Pitt county sometime late in the fall.

The topographic base map for Pitt county has already been made, and if the Chamber of Commerce of Greenville is sufficiently in earnest, I feel that the North Carolina department of agriculture could be persuaded to press this work in Pitt at once. If the N. C. department of agriculture hasn't sufficient funds allowed to North Carolina to do the work in Caswell and Pitt counties at the same time, the Hon. F. M. Simmons, who is a member of the senate committee on agriculture, could doubtless prevail upon the Hon. Milton Whitney, chief of bureau of soils, or the Hon. James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, to direct that an additional force be put to work in this State at once.

The Chamber of Commerce would do a service to the county and also expedite this work by now having prepared descriptive and statistical matter to accompany the government publication.

Arrangement could doubtless be made with the department of agriculture or by Senator Simmons for the publication by the government of thousands of additional copies, to which might be added a fuller supplement setting forth the splendid opportunities and unequalled resources of the progressive county of Pitt.

I am sending you the soil survey publication and map of Edgecombe county.
J. Bryan Grimes.

COUNTY TREAS. COMPLIMENTED.

State Superintendent Says His Reports are "Made in Excellent Form."

Another man who has a hand in Pitt county's public school affairs is Treasurer S. T. White. He has had the paying off of teachers' vouchers and there is not a teacher in the county who will not testify to the courtesy shown by him at all times. But what we started out to say was in reference to the reports submitted to the board of education last Monday. The very day the board of education checked up the reports and vouchers, the treasurer's financial report on the general school fund and two high schools went forward to the State superintendent. In acknowledging the promptness with which these reports went to him, Superintendent J. Y. Joyner also added that they were "made in excellent form." We have seen duplicates of the reports and they are a fine piece of work.

DEEP BREATHING.

Some Advice to the Woman Who Wants Better Symmetries.

One of the best ways to obtain a graceful carriage and beautiful figure is by practicing deep breathing in conjunction with various exercises, says a writer in the August Designer.

The modern woman, whether she be in the crowded cities or the smaller towns and country places, does not exercise enough and as a consequence her body suffers. Or perhaps she does exercise vigorously in one particular direction, thereby developing one portion at the expense of another. This is wrong. She should be symmetrically developed throughout.

I know every woman desires a prettily-rounded neck and shoulders, so she can wear the filmy summer dresses we all love; and I am going to give you a simple exercise that will gradually cause your neck and shoulders to take on soft, pretty curves. Try the following exercise in the morning when you first get up:

Begin by bending your head over to the right side as far as it will go, and, while holding it in this position, slowly turn it back to the left and to the front. Now reverse the movement, keeping this up for about ten minutes. In a short time you will begin to notice a gratifying change as regards contours. This exercise can also be used with great benefit when you are afflicted with a raging headache. Try it and see if it does not relieve you.

Edward Hearne returned from Washington today accompanied by Harold Moore, who will visit him.

Maj. and Mrs. H. Harding went to Washington Saturday evening to visit their daughter, Mrs. Latham.

Mrs. E. H. Shelburn went to Washington Sunday to see her brother R. C. Flanagan, who is in the hospital there.

Miss Jennie Congleton came home from Rocky Mount Saturday to spend a few weeks with her parents.

Miss Maude Evans, of Goldsboro, who has been here on a visit to her mother, returned home Saturday.

Mrs. James T. A. Baker, of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. Martha Hagan, of Nashville, Tenn., came in Sunday evening to visit Mrs. D. L. Duffy.

GREENVILLE IS AHEAD.

New Bern Does Not Hold the Tomato Record.

The New Bern Sun says that Mr. Fred M. Scott, of that city, has broken the record on tomato growing, having exhibited a basket of twelve tomatoes that weighed 16 pounds, and that three in the lot weighed 4 1/2 pounds. Greenville is ahead of that, Mr. D. D. Haskett has raised a plenty of tomatoes this season weighing as much as 1 1/2 pounds each, and in a basket he sent The Reflector for our Sunday dinner was one that weighed 2 pounds. He does not have just a little garden patch of these big fellows, either, but raises bushels of them, and their flavor is equal to their size.

WATER TANK FALLS.

A Little Flood in Immediate Vicinity for Short While.

On Sunday morning the large water tank of the American Tobacco Company suddenly and without warning came crashing down to the ground. The tank and tower were both built of wood and stood just in the rear of the factory. Some rotten timbers which could not stand the strain of the immense weight caused the collapse. The tank held 20 000 gallons and when it fell there was something like a small flood in the immediate vicinity for a few minutes. There was no damage except to the tank.

MATTHEWS-HILL NUPTIALS

A Popular Couple Married This Morning.

Miss Nannie Eugene Hill became the bride of Mr. Edward Mathews at her home on East Water street this morning at 7 o'clock, Rev. N. Harding officiating.

The couple left on the A. C. L. northbound train for Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

The marriage was a quiet affair, only the relatives of the bride and groom being present. Quite a number of friends of the couple were at the depot to see them off and also to cover them with rice which was freely thrown.

The bride is one of Washington's most popular young ladies, and the groom is a young man of many true friends.—Washington, Messenger, 11th.

Received Letter Thrown Into Ocean.

Benjamin S. Pender, near Coakley, has received a letter from D. F. Jones, which was thrown overboard from the transport Sherman at the 180th meridian, while enroute to the Philippine Islands. Every person on board the boat placed a missive into a barrel, which was securely corked and covered with canvass. The barrel of letters washed ashore at Morganton, California, and Uncle Sam sent the letters to the directed parties. It required the letter six weeks to reach its destination after being thrown overboard.

Mr. Jones, who sent the letter, is a son of Orren Jones, near Coakley, and is a member of the 35th Co., Coast Artillery, stationed at Corregidor Island, Manila. He is well pleased with the climate and conditions, and has written an interesting account of his trip across the Pacific.—Tarboro Southerner.

MONDAY, JULY 13, 1908.

If we do not get good times and tariff reform until the Republicans give them to us they will be a long time coming.

Ex-Gov. W. L. Douglas, of Massachusetts, says there is no use for the tariff and gives his reason forcibly therefor. And he is exactly right.

One of Charlotte's building and loan associations just maturing a series of shares amounting to $92,000.00 brings us to hope what Greenville may be doing some of these days.

It was just like Governor Glenn in his speech at Denver to put in some good words as to the progress of North Carolina and the South. If we all loved North Carolina as well as Bob Glenn does we would try harder to advance the State.

We wonder what a foreigner or some person who never heard of base ball would say should he drop in at a hot game. He would probably think he had struck a lunatic asylum.—Greensboro Record.

If the base ball game failed to give him that opinion, one of our modern conventions would do the work all right.

A 72-year-old boy of New Haven, Conn., run away with and married a girl of 22, at which his 65-year-old mother became furiously mad and got a slipper ready to give him a spanking when he arrived home with his bride. When children don't behave themselves they may expect to feel the touch of the maternal slipper.

A visitor in Greenville Saturday who had not before seen our street paving and other improvements going on, expressed gratification at the progress the town is making and said he hoped at not a far distant day to be numbered among our citizens. That is one way Greenville grows, and there is a welcome for all good people who want to cast their lot with the best town in the East.

It is indeed a compliment to Congressman John H. Small, of this district, that the Democratic national congressional committee in compiling a campaign hand book of extracts from the Congressional Record, should quote one of his speeches as an argument against the ship subsidy policy of the Republican party. Out of forty-three congressmen, portions of whose speeches are used in the hand book, Mr. Small is the only one from North Carolina. He has made a most faithful representative in congress, and the people of his district are going to show their appreciation by giving him an unanimous re-nomination at the convention to be held in Plymouth this week.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. ## RECKLESS AARON BURR.

The Dramatic Story of His Marriage in Old Age.

The story of Aaron Burr's marriage in his old age to the widow of Stephen Jumel, who was well known in the early history of New York city, is a dramatic one.

Conceive, if you will, the picture of Burr, gifted adventurer that he was, broken in health, branded in the popular mind as the murderer of Alexander Hamilton and returning from a long exile to find himself an outcast in the city where he had once been the political monarch of all he surveyed and a distinguished figure in society and at the bar. Conceive, if you can, this lamentable old man, smirking through his wrinkles, bowing and prancing rather stiffly because of his rheumatic joints and with his mouth full of pretty platitudes, paying court to the widow of Stephen Jumel, herself in the prime of years and health. Remove from the picture its surface incongruities, and you have a bit of pure pathos unequalled in the annals of foolish great men.

But something of his old time power to charm the gentler sex must have stood by him in his years of mental and physical misery, for in his suit for the widow Jumel's hand and fortune he won gloriously, dramatically. Rebuffed repeatedly, Burr finally declared in passionate rage that on a given day he would arrive at the Jumel mansion accompanied by a clergyman, who should marry them on the spot. He would give his prospective bride no quarter, no chance of escape from the inevitable.

She was amused at the threat and dismissed the old man with more than her usual coldness of demeanor. Burr stuck to his avowal and one July day rolled up in a carriage, and with him was a minister, the same who fifty years before performed the marriage ceremony for Burr and the mother of his daughter, the beautiful Theodosia. There was something of a scene in the old house on this day. There were tears of anger on the part of Burr. Relatives remonstrated; Burr remained immovable. All feared a scandal. The minister, book in hand, stood nobly in the background. There were more tears, more declarations of undying love, and the widow Jumel became Mrs. Aaron Burr.

They were married in the great drawing room of the Jumel mansion. Burr squandered with reckless hand the wealth acquired by Stephen Jumel and left for the enjoyment of his marital partner. There were many bitter quarrels between the ill-mated pair, and they were soon divorced. Burr died in 1836, but madam lived until 1865, dying a recluse and a miser, the money received from the Jumel estate hoarded in an unused chamber.

Stones and Glass Houses.
The origin of the saying, "Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones," is as follows: At the time of the union of England and Scotland London was inundated with Scotchmen, and the London roughs used to go about at night breaking their windows. Buckingham being considered the chief instigator of the mischief, a party of Scotchmen smashed the windows of the duke's mansion, known as the Glass House. The court favorite appealed to the king, who replied, "Steele, Steele, those who live in glass houses should be careful how they sling stones!"—New York American.

Very Thick.
"I wonder why Damon and Pythias were such great friends?" queried the young lady who writes type between meals.
"They were like a couple of girls, chums, I guess," rejoined the bachelor with the ingrowing hair. "Got so thick they couldn't see through each other."

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard."
