Insurance Fraud.

State Insurance Commissioner J. R. Young is out in an official warning to hardware dealers of North Carolina against certain mutual hardware insurance concerns that are undertaking to do an "underground" business in this state, that is a business without taking out the North Carolina license required by the state law that makes the non-resident concerns liable for their contracts under the state law. He says one W. P. Lewis, secretary of two such companies, has flooded the state with circulars asking hardware dealers to give him their business. The commissioner calls attention to the fact that any business man taking insurance with one of these companies will be completely at their mercy, being powerless to proceed against one of them in the state courts. He takes the ground that any citizen of the state may well take the ground that any company that does an "underground" business in defiance of the state law and is defrauding the state of its proper revenue due her will not hesitate when the opportunity offers to defraud him.—Raleigh Times.

Flights of Oratory From Wm. J. Bryan's Speeches.

You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns; you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold.

The humblest citizen in all the land, when clad in the armor of a righteous cause, is stronger than all the hosts of error.

The individual is but an atom; he is born, he acts, he dies; but principles are eternal.

American civilization will imprint its flag upon the hearts of all who long for freedom.

Shame upon the logic which locks up the petty offender and enthrones grand larceny.

Awake, oh ancient Lawgiver, awake! Break forth from thine unmarked seculchre and speed thee back to clouderowned Sinai.

It is the voice of the serpent, not the voice of God, that bids us eat.

Millions for defense, but not one cent for conquest.

God made all men, and he did not make some to crawl on hands and knees and others to ride upon their backs.

No tomb was ever made so strong that it could imprison a righteous cause.

Silver will lay aside its grave clothes and its shroud. It will yet rise, and in its rising and its reign will bless mankind.

We cannot insure to the vicious the fruits of a virtuous life; we would not invade the home of the provident in order to satisfy the wants of the spend.

Not propose to transfer the rewards of industry to the up of indolence.

No government is worthy of the name which is not able to protect from every arm uplifted for its injury the humblest citizen who lives beneath the flag.

Truth will vindicate itself; only error fears free speech.

The people who, in 1776, rejected the doctrine that kings rule by right divine will not, in this generation, subscribe to the doctrine that money is omnipotent.

They (the Wise) invite you to accept the principles of a living faith rather than listen to those who preach the gospel of despair.

Alla, Priest's Slayer, Tries to Escape Doom.

Canon City, Col., July 14.—Seizing a moment when his guard's back was turned toward him and the door of his cell was unlocked, Giuseppe Alla, slayer of Father Leo, of Denver, fled the man he thought the only barrier between himself and liberty and made an attempt to fight his way out of the penitentiary.

The Italian was immediately overpowered by the men on the death watch seated in front of the cell door, and the almost unconscious deputy warden was taken from the cell. The door was locked on Alla and he resumed his usual phlegmatic demeanor.

A man has just sailed from Florida to New York in a paper boat, a distance of over 2,000 miles. This is nothing. We have known several men who have sailed into a big office by the aid of papers and they forget them as soon as they landed.—Greensboro Record.

Carrie Nation, the famous saloon smasher, who it was reported some time ago died in Washington City, has shown up in Chicago, where she is using her trusty little hatchet as vigorously as ever.

CHAS. G. JOYNER DEAD.

One of the Most Prominent Native North Carolinians in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., July 14.—Charles G. Joyner, one of the most prominent natives of North Carolina who lived in Baltimore, died at his home here today. He had for several months been suffering with a complication of diseases.

The funeral will take place Thursday morning from his home, 2824 St. Paul Street.

Mr. Joyner is survived by his widow, who was Miss Sallie W. Parish, and five children, Mrs. James H. Holt, of Burlington, N. C.; Leon L. Joyner, of Vicksburg, Miss.; Chas. G. Joyner, Jr.; Mrs. Bowman Hood and Miss Irma Joyner, of this city.

He had been in business in Baltimore for twenty years and was head of the large hat manufacturing company of Joyner, Witz and Company.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Mr. Joyner was a native of Pitt county and brother of Mrs. J. A. Lang, of this city, who was at his bedside at the time of his death. He had a great many friends here and throughout the county who learn of his death with great sorrow. He was one of Pitt's sons of whom she has always been proud.

Pity The Poor Rich.

For the millinaire pauper Mr. Pleasant Fish as he sails for a terrifying experience a kind word and a helping hand. "It is a great deal harder for a man who has been living at the rate of $200,000 a year to get down to a $50,000-a-year standard than it is for a man who has been living on $15 a week to get along on $10."

For eight months ill-fortune has been grinding the face of the rich, and no association for the improvement of their condition has rained one cent to relieve their distress. The bread line gathers nightly at Fleischman's, but neither Sherry's nor Delmonico's is providing midnight "handouts" of terrapin and pete de foies gras for starving railroad presidents and bank directors. The cruel July sun beats down mercilessly upon the sweltering tenements of Fifth avenue, but no charitable organization offers free excursions to the seashore or in search of the tonic air of mountain farms for the wives and babies of poverty-stricken Wall street brokers. Unfeeling city authorities have not announced that on these hot, breathless nights the residents of the summer colopists at Newport and Bar Harbor will be permitted by the police to sleep on the Central Park lawns or on the sand at Coney Island.

A bitter and relentless fate pursues the man of expensive tastes in these hard times. He cannot economize without experiencing the pinch of want and going without something he enjoys.

Happy the lot of the $10 a-week man who is not forced by sudden misfortune to scrape along on a paltry $50,000 a year.—Raleigh Times.

Peary Leaves Eagle Island For Trip to Pole.

Portland, Me., July 14.—Commander Peary, accompanied by his wife, left Eagle Island, his summer home, today for Cape Breton, where he will join the Roosevelt and continue on the northern cruise for the pole. Mrs. Peary and children will go as far as Sydney.

GIRL MURDERED IN NEW YORK.

Died at the Hands of Unknown Party While Fighting for Her Honor.

"Another horrible murder has been committed in the state of New York, this time near Troy. Hazel Drew, a beautiful young governess, died while fighting for her honor at the hands of a scoundrel who is yet unknown. Miss Drew's body was thrown in a small pond to convey the impression that she committed suicide. The clues of her murder were carefully concealed, but the authorities think they will soon have enough evidence to make arrest as they have several clues leading to the guilty party.

Evidence at the coroner's autopsy shows that the girl had not been ravished but died fighting for her honor.

Crushed Under Wheels of Log Trains.

Kinston, N. C., July 14.—On entering the yards of the Kinston Lumber Company about dark last night the Kinston-Carolina log train ran over Berkley Smith, a white man, who lives in Trent township, completely decapitating him, mashing it into a pulp, and cutting off the right arm and part of the shoulder. There were severe gashes and bruises on other parts of the body. The man must have been lying close in on the track, for at the time the accident occurred the colored flagman of the train was standing on the engine pilot and absolutely failed to notice any one lying there.

It occurred in an obscure part of the yard where great piles of lumber rose on each side. Just how he got there no one knows, the first intimation that the train crew had of anything wrong, was the crushing of the body under the engine wheels.

$2,000 Fire in Kinston.

The second floor of the brick stables belonging to Messrs. Hooker, Churchill & Co., and occupied by the D. E. Wood undertaking establishment and the Second Regiment band, was entirely consumed by a fire which originated in a mysterious manner about 9:30 o'clock last night. The fire had gained such headway that the entire second floor was ablaze before it was discovered and an alarm turned in. The firemen kept the flames confined to the second floor, after a three hours' stubborn fight. The loss to Hooker, Churchill & Co., is about $2,000, covered by insurance; Wood's loss is about $1,000, no insurance, and the Second Regiment band slight damage, covered by insurance. The band had gone Monday morning to Chocomauga encampment, carrying all instruments with them.—Raleigh News and Observer, 15th.

United States to Spend $75,000,000.

Washington, D. C., July.—Plans are going forward with all haste for the expenditure of $75,000,000 by the government for necessary supplies. That amount was voted to be disbursed for necessities in every department controlled by federal power and it is thought the disbursement will do much toward restoring good times.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1908.

It looks like Watson and Hearst will have small following in their side shows.

Taft has been playing base ball. Possibly it was to get used to the feeling of being "struck out."

With conventions about over the press dispatches have gone back to filling space with Harry Thaw.

It is a good sign when even some of those who are opposed to Bryan are afraid he is going to be elected.

And Boni wants to get married again, too. Possibly he thinks he can take a second dose as well as Anna.

From the way those who opposed Bryan in 1896 and in 1900 are now declaring they will give him their support this time, makes a good prospect of his election.

Tom Watson has the reputation of being a truthful man, but he certainly missed it in his charge that Bryan said he (Bryan) would not give his vote or endorsement to a Confederate veteran.

Some of the counties have already organized Bryan and Kitchin campaign clubs. We ought to have a big one in Pitt, where before the convention there was a Kitchin club with the largest enrollment in the State.

The Taft notification committee are going to turn loose 50,000 small balloons when they go to officially inform the nominee that he was the choice of the Chicago convention. Further evidence that the Republican campaign is to be largely filled with hot air.

How our language does get close by in its progress. We have already heard the expression "near beer" as touching a certain drink, and now some of them talk about "near win" base ball games as the kind that the fellows who lose play. Those expressions can go in the "also ran" class.

Judge Walter H. Neal is a level headed judge. In his charge to the grand jury of Wake county Monday, he took occasion to refer to the number of homicides in this county, and in comparison with other countries gave as a reason for the larger number here that our juries fail to convict. He said the jury system is responsible for this, and that where the law gives the defendant the privilege of twenty three peremptory challenges for no reason the juries can hardly be expected to do otherwise than fail to convict. Our jury system is in great need of reform.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for a refund and testimonials. Address: F. J. # THE CHINESE LILY.

A Pretty Fancy Is the Legend of Its Fairy Origin.

Once upon a time there lived in China two orphan brothers. The elder brother, not satisfied with having inherited the larger share of the parental estate, seized the most valuable part of the younger's, leaving him but a few acres of rocky, unfruitful soil.

The younger brother bore the greediness of the elder one until he was finally overcome with poverty and hunger. Then, in great despair, he threw himself upon the ground and lay there sobbing and bewailing his cruel fate.

Suddenly he heard a sweet voice calling his name. Opening his eyes, he saw a fairy bending over him, who bade him arise, saying:

"Thy patience and forbearance have been noticed, and now great shall be thy reward. Thou shalt find riches and fame beneath the soil where thy head but a moment ago rested. To reach the treasure will be no easy task, but be patient and persevering. Rest not until thou hast found that which shall cause thee to be honored and loved for a thousand generations."

Then the fairy vanished, and the young man rubbed his eyes and looked about him. His rocky ground was still there, and he was jubilant with a newborn courage and hope. With resolute will he applied himself to the task of finding the buried treasure.

For many days he dug faithfully, and finally he found a flower bulb. Believing in the fairy's promise, he planted the bulb and nourished it until from it there grew a flower more delicately sweet and fair than had ever before been seen.

Hundreds of people came to see the new flower. Other bulbs sprang from its roots, and the young man's name and his bulb patch soon became famous. Riches and honor came to him because, strange as it may seem, the flower would not grow in any other part of China, and thousands came to buy from him.

He named his treasure the "Shuey Seen Fah," or flower of the water fairy, a name that it has ever since borne, though in common parlance it is known simply as the Chinese lily.

Editorial Reparatee.

A western weekly prints the following:

"Paterfamilias asks, 'How can I get an article into your esteemed paper?' It all depends on the article you want to get into our paper, Pater. If it is small in bulk, like a hairbrush or a tea caddy, spread the paper out upon the floor and, placing the article carefully in the center, neatly fold the edges over it and tie with a string. This will keep the article from slipping out. If, on the other hand, the article is an English bathtub or a clothes-horse you will find it more suited to one of the New York Sunday papers."—Everybody's Magazine.

What Is the First Law of Nature?

"Self preservation is the first law of nature," answers Johnny Jones.

Correct, Johnny. Go right up to the head of the class. This law applies to a community as well as to an individual. Under the severe operation of this law a town that does not take care of itself, that does not look after its own interests first, that does not look out for Number One, soon falls into a bad way.

That's just as sure as shootin'. It's the law.

We must obey the law or take the consequences. If we in this town and community do not work together for our own good, the mutual good of all of us, in all lines of business, we have only ourselves to blame if the place slides down the inclined plane instead of climbing the golden ladder of prosperity and progress.

For instance, if we do our retail trading with big city stores that have no interest in us except to get our money and keep it, local trade must suffer and shrink, town property values and farm land values must decrease—and there you are!

Johnny Jones, who knows the law, is a wise lad, but how about his papa and mamma?

Do they obey the first law as applied to the old home place? If they don't, Johnny may have to apply the law to himself when he grows up. He may have to go to the city to make a living. Let's all think it over.

Delicious Banana Cream.

Peel five large bananas, r. b. smooth with five tea-spoons of sugar. Add one teacup sweet cream beaten to a stiff froth, then add one 10c package of Lemor JELL-O dissolved in 1 1/2 cups boiling water. Pour into mold when cold garnish with candied cherries. Serve with whipped cream, or any good pudding sauce. JELL-O is sold by all Grocers at 10c. per package.

HE SOUGHT DEATH.

The Unfortunate Napoleon III. at the Battle of Sedan.

Sarah Bernhardt mentions in her memoirs that Napoleon III. had two horses shot under him at Sedan. Some having thrown doubt on her statement and denied that the emperor was ever in personal danger at the time, Baron Verly, son of the late colonel of the Cent Gardes, gives what he affirms to be the authentic account of the unhappy sovereign's persistent attempts to court death when he saw that defeat was unavoidable. On Sept. 1, 1870, at 6 o'clock in the morning, Marshal MacMahon, returning wounded to Sedan, met the emperor riding out to Bazelles. Napoleon III. realized that the situation was desperate. He rode slowly out, depressed and thoughtful, under a hail of shot. During an hour he inspected the positions. Bullets rained on his escort. Captain d'Hendecourt was killed a few feet away from the emperor. The latter, deliberately seeking death, alighted, ordered his escort to remain behind an embankment and walked up to a cemetery on a height, where he stayed for another hour, exposed to fire. He mounted again and rode to another part of the field. General de Courson and Captain de Trecesson were dangerously wounded by his side, but not a bullet hit him. The emperor, at last seemed to despair of meeting his death as he sought it and rode back to Sedan at noon. In the town itself shells fell thick, and while the emperor was riding with his escort up the Grand Rue one burst just in front of him, wounded one of the Cent Gardes and killed the horses of two aids-de-camp. Napoleon III. looked on stolidly, understanding, perhaps, that it was not his fate to die in action. The story that he had two horses killed under him is, therefore, not correct. But there is no doubt that the unfortunate emperor, beaten and ill, a pathetic and tragic figure, did deliberately seek death on the field to escape the disgrace of Sedan which he foresaw.—Paris Letter.

A SERPENT STORY.

Terrifying Experience With a Deadly Lancehead.

The Paris Belair tells a blood curdling serpent story, the scene of which was the island of Martinique and the dramatic personae Sergeant Legrand and Private Durand and the snake a deadly lancehead.

The soldier had been punished with a night in the cells for some trivial offense, but as the night was very hot the sergeant had left the door open. In the morning at 5 o'clock Legrand went to wake his prisoner and, to his horror, beheld a lancehead snake coiled up and fast asleep on the man's breast.

The sergeant did not lose his presence of mind. He stole noiselessly away, ran to the guard room and, followed by all the men on duty, returned to the cell with a bowl of milk and a tin whistle. Placing the bowl of milk at the entrance to the cell, the sergeant began to play the "Blue Danube." It is needless to remark that the weakness of the lancehead is milk and music. The serpent, which was a six foot specimen, awoke, glided from the soldier's body toward the bowl, but it had no sooner buried its head in its beloved drink than ten angels descended on it with terrific force, killing it outright.

The soldier Durand, who was in a swoon, was taken to hospital, where he lay for many days on the verge of madness. He finally recovered and related his horrible experience—how he had awoke in the middle of the night as the serpent was coiling itself on his bare breast and how he had lain there in an agony for hours, not daring to move a muscle.

Durand was sent back to France as soon as he had sufficiently recovered. The only trace of his terrible experience, adds the Belair, is that his hair is now snow white.

Love's Young Dream.

Another case of the bad boy rudely interrupting love's young dream. A Maltese girl and her Romeo sat in close proximity on the couch in the drawing room lost to the world. They were brought back from Eden by her little brother, who, like many of his kind, makes it a practice to butt in at the wrong time. He walked into the room, planted himself in front of the young man and asked:

"Was you ever tied to a fish line?" "I certainly was not," was the reply. "Well," responded the boy, "I heard pa tell ma last night that you'd make a good sinker."—Manila Gossip.

As to Quotations.

How many persons can unhesitatingly name the source of the familiar quotations? Many a man goes through life without reading a single play of Shakespeare, but probably no English speaking man goes through life without quoting him. If he sneers at "a woman's reason," he quotes Shakespeare; if he refers to "a trick worth two of that," he quotes Shakespeare again.

Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" is not a popular work, but one line of it—"Ask me no questions, and I will tell you no lies"—is known and used by everybody.

DOCTORS' DILEMMAS.

The Question of Revealing the Employee's Condition.

Many dilemmas arise from the doctor's duty of keeping his patients' secrets. There was recently the much discussed case of a doctor who discovered that a signalman on a railway was in such an unsound condition that he might have been the cause of an accident. What was the doctor's duty? Was it right for him to keep the patient's secret, or should he have disclosed the fact to the directors of the company? It seemed quite clear that the signalman could have brought an action for damages against the doctor, but it is very doubtful if any jury would have let the doctor suffer in the circumstances.

Lay, legal and medical opinion differed greatly in the matter. Of course it was the doctor's duty to use all his influence to get the man voluntarily to permit him to report the case. It was urged by some that if doctors consistently disclosed the condition in such cases it would merely mean that they would not be consulted. The ailment would be concealed, and the doctor would lose the chance of treating the case properly and using the moral influence to get the patient to disclose his condition. The moral of the whole case was that employees in important positions should be frequently examined by a doctor representing the company.

The less serious problem arises—ought a doctor to disclose the condition of an employee to an employer where there is no public danger involved? An employee, for instance, may be ill or incapacitated through drink. Here the doctor must be guided entirely by the patient's consent and should, even at the risk of offending the employer, keep his patient's secret. In England the law is indefinite on the point, and the unfortunate medical man may be held guilty of contempt of court if he refuses to answer questions in the witness box, or if he does so he may have an action for damages brought against him by the patient.

In 1896 the Royal College of Physicians took the opinion of eminent counsel—Sir Edward Clarke and Mr. Horace Avory—on the question of professional secrecy, and their view was that a doctor should not reveal facts which had come to his knowledge in the course of his professional duties even where there was suspicion of a criminal offense having been committed. Mr. Justice Hawkins (afterward Lord Brampton), however, held that in very serious cases, involving the screening of criminals, it was the duty of medical men to speak out.—London Mail.

Guided by a Spider.

A spider was the direct cause of most serious loss and injury to the Dutch nation at the time of the attack upon Holland by France in the year 1794. A French prisoner at Utrecht, who had spent some of his long, lonely hours in studying the habits of spiders on the walls of his cell, was able by watching them to forecast the coming of rain or of frost. At a time when a sudden thaw raised the prospects of the Dutch and seemed to destroy the prisoner's hope of rescue by his countrymen his humble friends upon the wall gave him sure signs of a renewal of the frost. Upon this he managed to send a message to assure the French generals that within a few days their troops would be able to pass over the frozen waters, a prediction that was soon fulfilled, and so it came to pass that a spider was responsible for the release of Quartermaster Disjonval and for the conquest of the Dutch.

P. S.—Do not forget to send your violoncello.

The baroness had not long to wait for the artist's reply. It ran as follows:

My Dear Baroness—A pressing engagement necessitates my leaving Brussels immediately, so I am forced, though with great regret, to decline your very kind invitation for Thursday. Sincerely, SERVAIS.

P. S.—In accordance with your wish I am sending you my violoncello.

At a meeting of the Democratic executive committee of Pitt county, held in Greenville on Saturday, July, 11th, the following resolution was adopted relative to the holding of primaries at all the voting precincts of the county to nominate candidates:

Be it resolved by the Democratic executive committee of Pitt county, in session this day, that a primary election be held for the county of Pitt, on Saturday, the 29th day of August, 1908, for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for the legislature, for county officers, for township officers, and for members of the township executive committees, at which election all Democratic voters who are entitled to vote at the general election, to be held in November, 1908, shall be allowed to vote.

That said election shall be held and conducted in the several townships at the places that are provided by law for holding general elections, and that the same shall be opened and kept open from 9.00 a. m., until 6.00 p. m., in all of the voting precincts of said county, except in Greenville, Contentnea No. 1, and Contentnea No. 2, which shall be opened at 9.00 a. m. and kept open until 7.00 p. m. And that said primary election shall be held and conducted in accordance with the plan for primary elections prescribed by the State Democratic executive committee

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Greenville Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick. Backache and many kidney ills follow. Urinary trouble, diabetes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. J. Frank Powell, living in West Bayboro, N. C., says: "I suffered a severe attack of LaGrippe which left my kidneys in a disordered condition. Standing on my feet so much during the day greatly aggravated the pains in my back, and frequently I was forced to sit down to relieve my trouble. A dull aching across the small of my back kept me in almost constant misery and whenever I attempted to stoop or lift anything sharp shooting pains would dart through my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me relief in a short time. I have not suffered from backache since, and my kidneys have been regular in action. I am pleased to recommend this excellent remedy to other sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
