AYDEN ITEMS.

News Notes From a Hustling Town, Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., July 28, 1908.

R. R. Meachem was in town Monday.

Our merchants are getting in new goods so as to be ready for the opening of the tobacco market August 5th, Wednesday week.

J. M. Blow, the Ayden scribe, is still recuperating at Seven Springs.

Mrs. J. C. Tripp is very sick at her home, on Third street, having suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

Our town was so full of people Saturday it reminded us of Kitchin day in politics.

Hurrah for Contentnea No. 1. She has a man each for sheriff, representative, and surveyor.

W. L. Browning and wife left Friday for Jamesville to spend some time. He is taking his vacation for his health, it has given way. Mr. Browning is bookkeeper for J. R. Smith Co., and a model young man.

At the beautiful home of the bride's father, Mr. W. H. Harris, on Main street, Sunday afternoon, Mr. Enoch Davenport led to the hymenal altar Miss Lena Harris. It being a very quiet marriage, only a few special friends were present. Rev. J. W. Alford said the words that made them one. They left immediately for Morehead City.

His honor, Mayor Barwick, asked us to drop a word of warning regarding the dog tax. Those failing to pay the said tax by August 1st, are subject to a fine, and the law will be strictly complied with.

Mrs. Willie Prince, of Hobgood, is visiting her mother, Mrs. S. R. Smith.

Miss Velma Harrington, of Kinston, is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Celia Garis. She has many warm friends in Ayden.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hart returned Friday from Morehead and report a fine trip. Mr. Hart tells us he ascended the light house, 165 feet high and took a look at Diamond shoals. He brought home many curious shells as souvenirs from the Atlantic coast.

At the morning service Sunday three united with the Christian church. The protracted meeting that was to have begun Sunday, has been postponed one week, Dr. J. D. Caldwell being in a meeting in South Carolina.

The district meeting I. O. O. F. meets in Ayden August 6th. Full attendance is requested. D. G. Berry is captain of degree team. Success is a surety.

Seeing such a quantity of tobacco hogsheds in town remind us so much of our neighbors, Greenville and Kinston. We hope soon there will be three of us.

The lawn party in Winfield park was a grand success. Quite a neat sum was realized for the Ayden band.

Our warehouse is now completed and our accommodations are equal to the occasion, the season will be opened Wednesday August 5th, for the initiatory sale.

The weeds at the rear of post office might be a good place for Mr. Roosevelt to come down and hunt "bear."

All low cut shoes in our store have been reduced 25 per cent. Come now. Frank Wilson.

COX'S MILL ITEMS.

Cox Mills, N. C., July 27th, 1908.

Misses Cora and Sallie Carroll, Lena Tyson, Helen Haddock and Tom Tyson, H. M. Stokes, J. H. Laughinghouse and wife, and Mrs. W. E. Tyson went to Raleigh Wednesday on the excursion. They reported a nice time.

A. C. Eyans has bought a new buggy. It makes a fine appearance. He was on our streets one day last week.

John Page spoke here Saturday evening. There was a large crowd out to hear him.

Frank Carroll went to Winterville Saturday.

Miss Lela Roach, of Coxville, spent Saturday night with Misses Cora and Sallie Carroll.

W. S. Cox went to Greenville Saturday.

Miss Kizzie Hardee is spending this week with relatives near Ayden.

L. T. Williams is all smiles. It is a fine girl.

Misses Halie and Retta Page spent last Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Bessie Moore.

Oscar Evans went to Greenville Saturday.

Summer Reductions.

Frank Wilson has reduced all straw hats and low cut shoes twenty five per cent. These goods are all new and up to date styles. You will do well to see them now, before all the best shapes are sold.

R. C. Flanagan Able to Be Out.

Postmaster R. C. Flanagan, who has been at the Washington Hospital for the past two weeks returned home this morning. We are glad to see him able to be out on the streets again, and hope he will soon be entirely well and back at his post of duty.

Notice.

In compliance with chapter 2, Section 1, of the ordinances of the town of Greenville you are hereby notified to clean the sidewalks around your premises of all rank weeds and grass by the 3rd day of August, 1908. Failing to comply with this notice will subject you to the penalty of the law.

By order street committee,
J. T. Smith,
Chief of Police.

Miss Mattie Havis Gets Married.

Miss Mattie Havis, the young lady who so mysteriously disappeared from the city two or three weeks ago and was later found at Columbia, S. C., was married in South Carolina Saturday night to Mr. Walter Harkey, of this city. With two or three witnesses the couple went over the line in an automobile. Mr. and Mrs. Harkey will make their home in Charlotte.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Cocaine and the Negroes.

The news from Raleigh that many negroes there have become addicted to the cocaine habit is to be deplored, but more than this it calls for rigid action looking to the suppression of the sale of the deadly drug. The sad tale of the use of cocaine is becoming too frequent and many places are now wrestling with the evil. Raleigh will have to follow suit, and still other places will have to keep a sharp look out. Strict laws relative to the sale of the drug, followed by vigorous enforcement of this law, is the proper step to take.—Wilmington Dispatch.

GRATEFUL FOR CUP OF COFFEE.

Old Woman Remembers Stranger Who Was Kind to Her—Gives $3,000.

A cup of coffee given by one woman to another in a Boston railroad station years ago has been rewarded by a gift of $3,000.

Mrs. B. Lilley, a wealthy New York woman, is the benefactor. The good Samaritan was Mrs. Harvey Bartlett, of Wellingsley. Mrs. Bartlett was in the Kneeland street station of the Old Colony railroad when an elderly woman, a total stranger to her, became ill. Mrs. Bartlett slipped out to the lunchroom and got a cup of hot coffee.

On the following Christmas Mrs. Lilley sent Mrs. Bartlett a box of gifts, and since then has remembered her with presents. A climax in her gratitude was reached the other day, when she sent Mrs. Bartlett $3,000 in stock paying 8 per cent dividends.

Chinese Matches.

A match factory (all the machinery for which was imported from Japan) has been installed in China at Tsing-Yuan. The matches produced are fully equal to those of Japanese make, and are highly popular with the people. The river on which the factory is situated waters a thickly wooded region, and if the investigations now being made of the forest should reveal the existence (as suspected) of wood suitable for the manufacture of matches, then the Japanese match is doomed, and several other factories will be installed locally. The irony of the situation lies in the fact that the inspection of the forests of Kwang-Tong are being carried out under the supervision of a Japanese engineer, who has been appointed by the Vice-Regal Government of the Kwang-Tong.—Ex.

T. L. Bland Leases Cambridge Hotel

Mr. T. L. Bland, proprietor of the Cuthrell Hotel, has leased the Cambridge Hotel, and will, pending the building of the large hotel on the site of the Cuthrell run it. Mr. Bland will take charge of the Cambridge on August 1st., at which time work will begin on moving the Cuthrell off its present site preparatory to building the new hotel. The terms of the lease are for one year with privilege of five.—Rocky Mount Record.

Sprinkle the Streets.

It seems to us it would be a mighty good idea to sprinkle the streets before the sweepers begin work every evening. It would be a great deal more sanitary and certainly save the people a lot of annoyance from the dust.

POPULAR AS LECTURER.

Three Lyceum Bureaus Urging Governor Glenn to Sign a Contract.

It will be of interest to Governor Glenn's friends to learn that three lyceum bureaus are urging him to sign contracts with them to go on the lecture platform, but the Governor has not yet decided whether he will lecture for a year or go directly back to the practice of the law.

Governor Glenn, within the past week, has received invitations to deliver addresses in Canada, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Ohio, Nebraska and Indiana, most of which he has been compelled to decline for want of time and on account of his official duties, but he has accepted the invitations to speak in Canada and at Rochester, N. Y., during the first week in December.

On August 5th, Governor Glenn will speak before the Presbyterian Assembly at Montreat, in the North Carolina mountains, and on August 19th he will deliver an address before the Confederate veterans of several counties at a reunion at Laurinburg. On August 11th, which is the governor's 54th birthday, he will speak at the Chataqua, at Pucellville, Va.—News and Observer.

GRAVES TO TAKE SECOND PLACE?

Understood That Former Georgia Editor Wishes to be on Hearst's Ticket Somewhere.

Chicago, Ill., July 27.—With the ratification by the Independence party's national committee of the plans for temporary organization all will be in readiness for the opening of the national convention tonight. Mr. Hearst has been selected temporary chairman.

There are six presidential candidates exclusive of Mr. Hearst, who announces he does not desire the honor. The candidates include Thomas L. Hisgen, Massachusetts, said to be Hearst's choice; John Temple Graves, of Georgia, and M. W. Howard, of Alabama.

Mr. Graves will likely be the vice-presidential nominee in the event of his failing to get the presidential place.

Mr. Hearst's keynote speech will outline the campaign policies. There are no seat contests. The adoption of the platform will probably be made by Tuesday noon.

THE INLAND WATER-WAY.

Government Condemning Land on Intended Route—Credit to Small.

A correspondent of The New Bern Journal has interrogated that paper as to what progress, if any, has been made toward actual work on the inland waterway, and the question brings out the fact that something is being done. The Journal calls attention to advertisements in its columns in the nature of summons "to appear and take notice" that action had been commenced for its condemnation of certain lands, and the cases would be heard in the United States Circuit court at New Bern, Monday, August 3rd. The Journal explains that to those acquainted with these lands, now in progress of condemnation, it will be known that they lie in the vicinity of Adams creek, along the proposed line of route of the inland waterway, and that this legal process is necessary before work may be commenced upon this water route. Those who ought to know say, that with condemnation of land, and its purchase by the government, which is expected to be consummated as quickly as the legal process may be advanced, the work upon the inland waterway will be commenced.

This ought to be sufficient assurance that the inland waterway is not a project on paper, but that in the course of time, it is to be an accomplished fact. It has been really started, and that is the important thing. The government is laying the foundation. That being done, the completion of the project is assured. This inland waterway, Journal says, "is not merely a canal or water route for war vessels in time of trouble with foreign nations, but means a safety route for vessels engaged in the carrying trade, whereby they may avoid the dangers of the ocean storms, particularly Hatteras." And to Congressman Small be the glory.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Don't forget the excursion to Morehead City and Beaufort on next Sunday, August 2nd. The train will leave Greenville about 7:20 a. m. and returning leaves Beaufort at 6 p. m. This will be the best trip of the season thus far, giving those who go three hours longer at the seashore than any previous excursion.

Those who go on the excursion to Morehead City and Beaufort next Sunday will have an opportunity to make the trip each way during the cooler hours of the day, which will make it more enjoyable.

We have heard of quite a crowd who anticipate going to Morehead City next Sunday on the excursion. The additional three hours stay on the sea shore is quite an improvement over former excursions.

Drum Corps and Brigade at Beaufort.

A telegram from the editor, who is at Beaufort, says the drum corps and boys brigade which left here yesterday afternoon for Beaufort in a special car via N. & S. railroad arrived there safe and that the boys are thoroughly enjoying everything. They are quartered in the old Davis Hall, which is right on the water front an ideal place for fishing, boating and bathing may be indulged in free without having to cover any distance. It is a fine trip for the boys.

The Raleigh News and Observer advertises an "icely furnished room." As that is the kind needed in this weather it should be no trouble to find applicants for such a room.

It is not exactly the fair thing that the president wants to stretch out to great length what he has to say, and then wants to cut down his candidate's speech of acceptance from 20,000 words to 4,000.

The Raleigh Evening Times has been dismissed from the hands of a receiver in which it was placed by creditors last February, and it is getting on a solid footing again. This is gratifying.

It is sure that Mr. Cox does not want any job under the Federal government, so that if he consents to be sacrificed it will indeed be a noble sacrifice. And by the way it will cost him a good round sum of money.—Greensboro Record.

It is not probable that the Independence League people will enter the "demonstration" contest, in their national convention. Some of them may have the lungs, but there will not be enough of them to keep the bellows going.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Dr. Jenness Morrell.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

FLUNG INTO THE SEA

Experience of a Man Struggling In Midocean.

SENSATIONS OF DROWNING.

A Tangle of Wild Thoughts Combined With Vague Notions of Time and Space—The Dreamy Doze, the Rescue and the Knife In His Back.

Standing on a chair near the deck rail of an ocean liner, a sudden lurch of the vessel flung me into the Atlantic. Instinctively as I went over I held my arms out for the dive, and while I was still falling I heard the cry ring out, "Man overboard!"

Down, down I sank, for the fall was from a considerable height. Being able to swim a little, I was spared the first mental agony experienced by the non-swimmer who unexpectedly finds himself in deep water. The surprise caused by the suddenness of the fall filled my brain, but as I struggled to regain the surface, my lungs almost bursting, the horrible thought of the propeller churning out its 100 revolutions a minute flashed upon me.

Should I be mangled beyond recognition in a second? Oh, for another year's sweet life! Would my leg be cut clean off or—

I could see the sky again, and I took a great breath of fresh air, though sick with fear. Then I saw the steamer had passed. I was spared mutilation to die slowly by drowning.

How rapidly the steamer was vanishing! I could catch a glimpse of it when a green wave lifted me high in the water. I would only be able to swim for ten minutes—ten little minutes—though I was still in the prime of life. Surely that cry as I fell would have roused somebody to action! And yet I was alone in the Atlantic, with possibly two miles of water between me and the bottom.

I looked round anxiously to see whether a lifebuoy had been thrown. There was nothing in sight but a wide waste of water and the fast disappearing steamer.

My arms were growing heavy. All I tried to do was to keep my head above water, but I seemed to have been doing that for an hour. My legs, too, were refusing to bend. The end could not be far away.

My arms must both be broken, for they would hardly move, and they ached terribly. What a long time a man could keep afloat! I was vaguely glad I could not swim very well, because it would have meant waiting for the end such a long time. It made one drowsy.

Another wave lifted me up, and I saw the steamer had changed its position. It must be going back to England to tell them at home what had happened to me. How soothing the sea was! If only I could stop trying to work my arms that aching pain in them would cease and I might go to sleep.

Sometimes when I saw the ship, which never seemed to get any farther away now, I remembered I was fighting for another minute's life. It had been harder at first, but now the sea lulled me into happiness.

What on earth were they playing at on the steamer? I had nearly caught it up again, only somehow I had got in front of it. It grew bigger quickly, and it was coming straight on. If those ridiculous people were not careful they might run over me yet.

Perhaps it would be better to go to sleep, after all. My arms were easier, and I did not want to breathe so much now. It was getting dark and ever so much colder than it was last night. The steward must give me an extra blanket.

Why was everything so hazy and the room stuffy? I could hardly breathe. And yet it didn't matter. Nothing mattered, but I wished dreamily that some one would stop digging a knife into my back, for I was just dropping off to sleep nicely.

Next day I found the "knife" had been the point of a boat hook with which they picked me up as I came to the surface. The steamer had turned in a circle and arrived just in time.—London Answers.

Exaggerated.

The knack of looking at the bright side of things was never developed to such perfection as in the case of a man who, after a railway accident, telegraphed to his friend's wife:

"Your husband killed in railway accident; head, both arms and both legs cut off."

But later this correction was received:

"First report exaggerated. Your husband killed; head and legs cut off, but only one arm."

EATERS OF CLAY.

These Queer Folk Are Found in Nearly Every Country.

In every country there are to be found people with a peculiar appetite that regards earth as a delicacy. It is difficult to account for this curious perversion of taste. At the present time in some parts of Germany, Sweden and Italy earth is baked into bread and is a marketable commodity.

In Germany there is what is called "stone" butter, made from clay. It is spread on bread. The Indians of South America mix clay with their food as a relish, and in west Africa it is quite a common practice to chew a yellow oleaginous clay.

Probably the habit of eating earth had its origin in famine, when it was taken to appease hunger. But in many places it was taken as a tidbit or a delicacy (as some benighted folk in America regard chewing gum) to satisfy a craving of the palate.

In Java the people make regular little red earth cakes, which they carry to market to sell. They are the "fancy" biscuits of that island.

The Chinese eat a white clay which could not by any stretch of imagination be called nutritious, and in India one can get from the chemist pills manufactured from earth of a yellow color, supposed to contain great medicinal properties.

Many women in Assam are addicted to the earth eating habit. In Bengal, more particularly among the middle and lower classes, the habit is widespread. All over India the people indulge their partiality for mother earth. No class or caste is exempt from the practice, though they try to keep it secret. In Calcutta one can buy in the bazaars thin wafers of edible clay.—Pittsburg Press.

Speechless With Rage.

"Strong emotion," says Darwin, "interrupts the steady flow of nerve force to the muscles." This prevents the proper working of those muscles which are used in speaking; hence the stumbling and incoherence of the speech. "The voice sticks in the throat," to use the words of Virgil. In some cases speech is for a short time impossible, as is seen where a person is said to be "speechless with rage." The hoarseness of the voice is due partly to the fact that passion causes an overaction of all the organs, partly by the fact that for generations harsh and fierce sounds have been made use of to terrify opponents in quarrels, and so have come to be associated instinctively with anger. Possibly the fact also has its influence that the utterance of sounds such as those referred to is in some way or the other a relief to the feelings.

So Simple.

The little man at the back of the pit had been vainly trying to see round the big, stout fellow in front of him, but not one glimpse of the stage could he obtain. At last he leaned forward and touched the other on the shoulder.

"Excuse me, sir," he said meekly, "but I can't see the stage at all."

"Can't see the stage?" repeated the big man sarcastically. "Well, what do you want me to do—lift you on my shoulder?"

"Hardly that," replied the little man deprecatingly, "but I thought perhaps—"

"Look here," interrupted the big man; "I know how to manage it. Just you keep your eye on me and laugh when I laugh!"—London Chronicle.

Derivation of the Word Sunday.

The word "Sabbath" is a Hebrew term for a period as well as quality of time and means "rest." In the Bible it is used only with this meaning. Periods of one year or of seven years were thus characterized. Every seventh day was observed by the Hebrews as a weekly "Sabbath." In addition to this day others were appointed in which the obligation to cease from labor was as binding as the observance of the weekly "Sabbath." "Sunday" is so named from the day which was dedicated to the worship of the sun. Christian nations observe it as their "Sabbath," but "Sabbath" is not "Sunday."

A Conundrum.

"I heard the following conundrum," said the observer, "which struck me as distinctly clever: 'What character is there in the Bible who possesses no name, who suffered death in different form from any inflicted before or since that time, a portion of whose shroud is in every household and the cause of whose death has been made famous by a modern author?' 'Give it up, eh? Well, the answer is, Lot's wife. She possesses no name. No one else met death through being turned into a pillar of salt. Salt is in every household, and Edward Bellamy wrote 'Looking Backward.' So there you are."

WILL OPERATE WAREHOUSES THE COMING SEASON AT

Greenville, Robersonville, Wilson, and Kinston.

It is the experience of every stockholder in this company that he never made a better investment, for the five years of its operations the original stockholders have been paid 113 1-2 per cent in cash dividends. That is the result of co-operation, good management and sound business methods.

Again it is the experience of every farmer who has sold his tobacco at the warehouses of this company that he received higher prices than other houses could obtain. For the coming season the company is prepared to even surpass the fine record it has made in the past, hence it is to the interest of the farmers to sell their tobacco with this company.

THE HONEY IN FLOWERS.

Pits and Pockets In Which It is Carefully Concealed.

Before "the bee sucks," as Ariel put it, he must find the wonderful places where the flowers hide away their honey, to be found like the priests' hiding holes in ancient mansions by the right sort of visitor, and to keep away all intruders.

In the recesses of the crown imperial lily at the center can be seen six large honey pits, one on every floral leaf, and each is brimming over with a big drop of honey and glistening like a tear drop. Shake the flower and it "weeps" as the big drops fall from it, soon to be replaced by other tears in the rapidly secreting flower. The simple folk call the flower "Job's tears."

The snowdrop is literally flowing with honey, for in swollen veins traversing its fragile whiteness are rivers of nectar. The petals of the columbine are ingeniously and elaborately designed with a view to providing good places of hiding for the honey. Each is circular, hollow, shaped like a horn. In each the honey is secreted in a round knob at which would be the mouth-piece end of the horn, and the five are arranged in a ring side by side with the honey knobs aloft. Though the honey store is obvious from without, yet the insects who would sip it must creep into the flower and penetrate with a long nose up the curving horn to the knob.

Sometimes the petals are all joined together into a tube, and the sweet nectar simply exudes from the inner side of the wall and collects at the bottom. This is the case in the dead nettle, the tube of which forms so toothsome a morsel that some children call it "suckies." The honeysuckle is similarly planned, and its sweetness is so striking as to have furnished its name.

The monkshood has quaint nectaries. If the hood be drawn back there suddenly spring into sight two objects on long stalks which are sometimes like a French horn, sometimes like a cowl or, looked at sideways, not unlike a pair of doves. Their presence within the hood has provided the nicknames Adam and Eve and Noah's Ark. Thus the honey bags are carefully tucked away and protected.—Chicago Tribune.

Gold the First Metal Used.

Gold was probably the first metal known to man, because it is generally found native. The oldest metallic objects to which we can assign a probable date were found in a royal tomb at Nagada, in Egypt, supposed to have been that of King Menes. In one of the chambers were some bits of gold and a bead, a button and a fine wire of nearly pure copper. If the tomb was properly identified, these objects were at least 6,200 years old at the time of their discovery. Nearly all the ancient gold that has been examined contains enough silver to give it a light color. It was gathered by the ancients in the bed of the Pactolus and other streams of Asia Minor.

He Was Noncommittal.

A Philadelphian who crosses the Atlantic several times each year happened during his last visit to London to be out on the street quite early one morning. He had noticed that the reflected light gave the sun the appearance of rising in the west.

To a policeman he met the Quaker City man pointed out the place from which the sunlight seemed to stream. "Ah," said he jocularly, "so the sun rises in the west in London?"

"As to that, sir," replied the officer, with great dignity, "I really can't say."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The "Pivot" Age.

When is a man old? Is it a matter of looks or feeling or age or professional custom. Writers, for instance, are held to be old at fifty. But at that period of life statesmen, barristers, actors, bishops and judges are accounted young. Athletes of all kinds are deemed old after forty or thereabouts. The board of trade regulations say that railway men and others are old for their work at sixty. Old age pension scheme makers consider sixty-five as the pivot age on which to hang their plans. The point is certainly a very debatable one.—Hearts of Oak Journal.

Marine Insurance.

Marine insurance is the oldest kind of modern insurance. Its principles were first employed in the fourteenth century by the merchants of Barcelona, in Spain, when that city was the capital of the kingdom of Catalonia and when its hardy mariners were second to none in the world. About the same time, and also at Barcelona, the famous code of maritime laws known as the "consulado del mar," was promulgated, which is the foundation of the present shipping laws of every country.

When Woman Arrives.

The emancipation of woman having at length worked out to a logical and symmetrical finish, the bride and her best woman waited at the altar, while the groom came up the aisle on the arm of his mother, who gave him away.

The groomsmen wore crepe de chine and carried groom roses.

Three clergymen assisted at the ceremony.

The groom's father sat in the family pew. He was dressed in wine colored silk, with ropes of pearls.

The streets in the vicinity of the church were packed with a mob of onlookers, mostly men and children, prompted thither by curiosity.—Puck.

Conceit of a Child.

The long suffering parent was about to tell his four-year-old daughter a story to bribe her to go to bed. She hadn't been on any too good behavior that day, and he thought the story might do better than to make a scene.

"Well, once there was a good little girl," he began, "a very good little girl. Oh, she was an extremely good little girl. One day"—
"Aw," cut in the child, "don't just tell a story about me. Tell about some other little girl."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Imposition.

Magistrate—So you acknowledge having stolen the overcoat. Anything more to say? Prisoner—Yes, your honor. I had to have the sleeves re-lined.—Punch.

Why is it that the only time the newspapers spell a man's name right is when he is arrested for street fighting?—Los Angeles Times.

HINDOO SERVANTS.
Honest if They Are Watched and Everything Locked Up.
Excellent servant as the Indian is in many respects, honesty is not one of his qualities, and he has to be strictly looked after when either money or goods are intrusted to him. A mistress cannot go into her kitchen, consult the cook as to what the meals should be and what should be ordered from the shops and leave the rest to him. She has to give him out from her locked up stores every spoonful of everything that is required for the day's cooking, else the goods would be sold outside.

The dusters, the name in India for every description of kitchen and pantry and stable towel, have to be doled out every day or every two days, the soiled ones being counted and locked up till they are given to the dhobi (washerman), who must not be allowed to keep the clothes of the household longer than is absolutely necessary or he will let them out to his friends for small sums—silk handkerchiefs for feast days, stockings and woolen undergarments in the cold weather, so that holes appear in unaccustomed places.

A khitmatgar (table servant) will be observed to wear a pair of cotton socks one day, silk ones the next, woolen ones the next, not belonging to his master—detection would be too easy in that case—but hired from some one else's dhobi at a pice (a farthing) a pair. As the house servants of course never wear shoes indoors, the stockings suffer considerably.

The cook goes to the bazaar every morning to buy meat, fish, ghie (native butter), vegetables—all the food in fact that cannot be stored, and his book is brought for inspection every day or else expenses would increase in a surprising manner. He, of course, pockets a percentage on all he spends. That is dastur, the custom of the country, and so long as it does not exceed an anna in the rupee (6 1/4 per cent) no one objects. But it is only by long experience that one gets to know proper prices, and newcomers are woefully imposed upon, 100 or 200 per cent being often charged.

The cook arranges his prices to suit the circumstances of his master, and as soon as promotion with increased pay comes up goes everything, so that a colonel's beef or mutton costs more than a major's, a major's than a captain's, a captain's than a subaltern's, though there may be no change at all in the style of living or in the number of the family.

In the civil service the same thing happens. The pay of every post in the various services is published in the official lists, and the servants know to a halfpenny what their master gets. Some ladies try to do their own marketing, but things are always much dearer for them than for the natives in the bazaar, so that there is no advantage in it, and it is besides extremely disagreeable, for the less one sees of the stalls there, particularly the meat stalls, the better.—Britannia.
