FREE EXPRESS DELIVERY.

The Greenville Chamber of Commerce Scores Another Point for Town.

The committee appointed at the last meeting of the chamber of commerce to take up with the Southern Express Company the matter of free delivery of express packages in Greenville, have been notified that free delivery service will begin September first. The necessary outfit for this service has been ordered and the harness has already arrived. The free delivery will be a convenience to the people that ought to mean more business for the company.

The Habit of Saving.

Recently we wrote for this column some observations on the habit of keeping busy. There are many reasons why most persons should all the while keep busy, and there are fully as many reasons why all persons should form the habit of saving. In order for one to be an industrious person all through life it is important that the habit of doing something be formed in early life; and in order that one may make savings from his earnings, it is quite as important that the habit of saving be formed in early life also. Parents can do no more helpful thing than to induce their children to make their little money in whatever way they can and then lay by a part of it as a special saving. It may not be necessary for a boy to put his dollar in the bank, though this is a good plan; but he does well to save as much of his earnings as he spends. If a boy does not quite understand how his little money will be safe in the bank and would prefer to have it where he can see it now and then, let him put it away in his trunk, or in some secret drawer, or in some place for safe keeping; and the boy who forms this habit of laying by a part of his earnings for emergency, will be apt to come to manhood's estate much more independent financially than the boy who spends all his money as fast as he makes it. Whether one makes much or little let him save a part of it.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

His Conscience Lashed Him.

Some 15 years ago one of Winston's tobacco manufacturing firms had certain fixtures installed and a northern firm sent men to do the work. When they departed a box of tobacco was missing. One day the past week a letter was received with a money order $4 enclosed, stating in substance how the tobacco had been taken by the writer, one of the workmen, and how God had since forgiven his sins and the money was sent in a spirit of restitution. The money will be returned with the wish that it be used as the man desires to advance the principles of honesty and the cause of Christianity. In this man's act is food for thought and many sermons in this subject of conversion and restitution, where the latter is possible—evening up the balance sheet upon the turning of the new leaf of a regenerate life.—Union Republican.

Getting Ready for Opening.

The board of directors of The Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company met here today to arrange final details for the next season's business which begins with the opening of the tobacco market Monday.

BOYS IN CAMP.

Every Day at Beaufort Filled With Pleasure.

The news from the drum corps and the boys' brigade in camp at Beaufort is that they are having a great time, and are attracting much attention from the citizens and many visitors in that town. The boys woke all the sleepers the first morning they were there with a 6 o'clock parade, and the rattling of drums and whistling of fifes had not a few tumbling out of bed to see what was going on. The afternoon of the second day they gave a dress parade that won them many compliments.

Every day the boys sail, swim, fish and play ball to their hearts' content, and are visiting the points of interest in and around Beaufort. They are experiencing much pleasure out of the trip.

ROCHDALE SPROUTS.

Rochdale, N. C., July 29, 1908.

Miss Lillian Lassiter, of Snow Hill and Misses Bertha Joyner and Henrietta Moye, of Grimmersburg, and Vernice Lang, of Farmville, were visiting at Ivy Smith's last week.

Eld. S. W. Sumerel preached a very good sermon at Smith's school house Friday night and went to his regular appointment at Rountree's Saturday morning. Misses Mattie Little and Virginia Mayo, of Wilson, came down Friday to visit relatives and friends for a while.

The young people of Smithtown took a hay ride Saturday night, and not having a load they came over on our road near Rochdale and picked up the young folks until they were loaded with a wagon full of a jolly set of pleasure seekers. Then for the fun they began their music, which was vocal, but very beautiful, as they were passing from place to place until about 10, or 11 o'clock when they retraced their way and deposited those they had picked up.

T. A. Willoughby died Sunday evening, and his death filled the neighborhood with sadness. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Willoughby and was an exceptionally nice young man in every respect. He was buried Monday evening in the presence of many sorrowing friends. We greatly sympathize with the bereaved family in this hour of grief.

We have been having very nice showers the last few days which, we think, is very beneficial to the growing crops.

R. A. Smith and Ben Joyner, of Farmville and S. J. Nobles, of Greenville, were here Monday to the burial of T. A. Willoughby.

C. L. Tyson and his two oldest boys went home Monday evening. Mrs. C. L. Tyson and little ones left for home this morning.

Gone Back to Robersonville.

J. W. Ferrell, who for some months has had on office here in The Reflector building, has moved his business headquarters back to Robersonville where he is buyer for the American Tobacco Company.

Attention Pythians.

The remains of Mrs. J. R. Whichard, who died Tuesday in Atlanta, arrived here on the A. C. L. train Wednesday evening, accompanied by Mr. Whichard and his daughter, Miss Ella. STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest Over North Carolina.

New Bern, N. C., July 29.—Two colored children, Theodore Richardson, aged two years, and James Gaylor, aged seven, were playing on the track of the Norfolk and Southern road, near Thurman, this evening and were struck by a train. The children were brought to this city and taken a sanatorium. The Richardson child's injuries resulted in death. The Gaylor boy is fatally hurt. Both of them were terribly mutilated.

Durham, N. C., July 29.—The merchants of the city have put into operation a private Bradstreet business of their own. This is for the purpose of keeping each merchant in touch with those who deal with other merchants and in reality it is a dead beat list. For more than two years the merchants of the city have been organized and they have done numerous things. They have made rules that would advertise a man for his account, after he had failed to give it his attention, and now the list that is being prepared will be private information that every merchant in the city will have in regard to the paying habits of every person that buys and has goods charged.

Asheville, N. C., July 29.—Rev. William G. Whitaker, "searcher after Whitaker heirs and Whitaker millions," who was recently convicted in the United States district court here, charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes, was this morning sentenced by Judge Newman to eighteen months in the Federal prison at Atlanta, and to pay a fine of $500. This is the maximum punishment. Judge Newman overruled the defendant's motion for a new trial and in arrest of judgment. The court declared that Whitaker had been given a fair trial and that he had been ably defended.

Next Sunday's Excursion.

The Norfolk & Southern railway excursion to Morehead and Beaufort next Sunday is going to be the best of the season, as it will give about three hours longer stay at the seaside than any previous excursion. The train will start from Wilson at 6 a. m., leave Greenville at 7:20, and returning will leave Beaufort at 6 p. m. The round trip fare from Greenville is only $1.50. It will give you a day's pleasure at the seaside at very little cost.

Bank Statements.

An examination of the bank statements now being published will show their excellent condition. Taking into consideration that these statements are made in the dullest season of the year, and when collections are unusually hard to make, they are indeed gratifying to all interested.

Sonia Along the Coast.

Those who have members of their families at Morehead and Beaufort need not be uneasy because of this north-east storm. The Reflector was advised today from Beaufort that while the storm is heavy no damage has been done. The storm is quite general along the coast.

Rev. Mr. Badell, of Durham, will preach in the Delphia Moyer chapel on Sunday, 2nd day of August, morning and evening. Public invited. 7 30 3td

CHUMMY ANIMALS.

Certain Beasts and Other Beasts They Do Not Fear.

If man's ancestor had been the majestic mastodon instead of a malicious and destructive ape the fear of him which has become a hereditary instinct in nearly all animals would no doubt be absent. Wherever man comes in contact with birds and beasts which have never been molested, as in the arctic, these display no emotions but those of curiosity and disdain. The classic example of alliance between animals of different species is, of course, the friendship between man and dog. When to the strength and cunning of man's monkey ancestor was added the speed of the dog an irresistible combination was secured which ended in the peridious enslavement of the lower creature by man.

Birds are nothing but snakes which have evolved feathers and wings during countless millions of years. The ineradicable hatred between monkeys and snakes has been beautifully changed into the friendly tolerance between birds and men. Owls, which are instantly mobbed by all birds should they appear in public, find friendly shelter in barns by reason of their rat catching proclivities. The long legged birds, such as storks, pelicans and cranes, have also procured immunity in most parts of the world.

Among the fishes sharks extend a peculiar protection toward a fish of the remora family, which, too lazy to propel itself through the water, attaches itself to the larger fish by means of suction ridges upon the head. In South Africa, where insect life is perhaps more abundant than in any other part of the world, sheep may often be seen placidly grazing while birds of a certain species hop busily about their backs engaged in the destruction of insect parasites.

The lion, which will kill and eat nearly all species of wild game, never molests the jackal, who, slinking behind him, finishes the half eaten prey. Hunters will hear his long drawn howl succeed the musical roar of the big cat when he comes to devour his master's leavings. But the lion has an inveterate enemy in the honeybird, which will fly toward the hunter and lead him through the thick bush till he has pointed out the lion's lair or sometimes a store of honey.—Harper's Weekly.

There Was a Difference.

When Dr. Randall Davidson, archbishop of Canterbury, was a curate, one day at Dartford he took a Sunday school class in a neighboring parish. The subject was King Solomon, and after the lesson he proceeded to catechise the children.

"Tell me, boys," he said, "what was the difference between Solomon and other men?" No answer. "Come, come!" said the future archbishop. "Was there any difference, for instance, between King Solomon and myself?"

A tiny hand went up and a tiny voice replied, "Please, sir, Solomon was wise!"—London M. A. P.

THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1908.

The burning at the stake of a negro in Texas will bring some more anathemas on the South.

Possibly the national conventions will all be over in time for the election, that is if they get a hurry about it.

The prospects for good crops in this section, and Democratic National, State and local success, is indeed encouraging.

So Mr. John Temple Graves, of Georgia, has got something by joining himself to the Hearst editorial staff.

Notice has been officially served on Mr. Taft that he has been nominated by the Republicans for president, and he stood up and said his speech like a big tin soldiers.

And Miss Havis, of recent notoriety for disappearance, had a little love affair at the bottom of it, and seemed to know enough about what she was doing to get married.

The Independence party, launched by W. R. Hearst, has added another presidential ticket to the already long list. That party in its recent convention nominated for president Thomas L. Hisgen, of Massachusetts, and for vice-president John Temple Graves, of Georgia.

The Democratic convention of Iredell county, held on the 27th inst., nominated Zeb V. Long for the Senate and Z. V. Turlington and N. D. Tomlin for the House. It seems that the name of Zeb Vance carries good luck to Democrats in North Carolina.

There is being quite a stir made over the recent Baxter Shemwell affair. The Southern railway is pushing the prosecution against Shemwell for assaulting the conductor with two pistols for the latter's refusal to stop the train, and Shemwell has brought suit for damages against the railroad for the manner in which the conductor treated him. There will likely be a big stir over it before the matter ends.

The Republicans are admitting that they have on hand a tough fight to retain their supremacy in the nation. This admission and the fact that the Democratic party is worse united than it has been in many years, is good reason for us to take new courage and press the contest to its utmost. Knowing that there is nothing that so warms the Democratic heart and arouses the blood as the prospect of a good stiff battle, we are getting our roosters together for a vigorous crowing spell in November

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

BARNUM'S OLD LION.

How the Great Showman Turned His Death to Account.

Among the features of the parades of the Barnum circus was formerly one that never failed to attract attention. On the top of one of the wild beast cages lay an enormous lion. He was not confined in any way, and nervous people watching the parade would shudder at the sight and contemplate the terrible possibility of the lion springing into the midst of the crowd.

But the venerable old king of beasts had reached the leonine dotage, and stiffened muscles and blunted claws rendered him harmless. He was as mild as a kitten and in the winter quarters, where he was allowed to roam at will, sometimes had to be protected from the onslaughts of irreverent and mischievous puppets.

One night he wandered from the quarters. In the course of his travels he chanced on a barn where a meek-eyed cow was placidly chewing her cud. A faint flicker of the slumbering jungle spirit stirred his pulse, and with a crashing blow of the huge fore paw, the cow was slain; then, lying down beside his victim, he went to sleep and dreamed of the time when he was a shaggy little whelp playing with his brothers under the bright sun of his far-off African home.

In the morning the owner of the cow, a stalwart female with the blood of Irish kings in her veins, entered the barn with milk pail in hand. She was filled with wrath at the sight that met her gaze. With a keen-edged ax in her hand and grim determination in her eye she fearlessly approached the sleeping lion, and when the men sent out to search for him arrived he lay cold in death. Barnum promptly paid for the dead cow and engaged to appear on exhibition "the woman who in mortal combat had slain a lion."

Two Gifts to the Orchestra.

On one occasion when Von Bulow had to conduct an orchestral concert at which a piece written by an aristocratic amateur was to be performed the composer requested permission to direct a rehearsal and on obtaining it opened a parcel containing seventy pencils, which he handed to the members of the band, asking them to mark his intentions in their parts, as he would give them by word of mouth.

Hans von Bulow noted this matter of detail and left the hall. Presently he returned, also with a parcel, and on resuming his place at the desk gravely handed out seventy pieces of india rubber, with which the players were to erase the directions which the composer had given them.

THE HONEY IN FLOWERS.

Pits and Pockets in Which It is Carefully Concealed.

Before "the bee sucks," as Ariel put it, he must find the wonderful places where the flowers hide away their honey, to be found like the priests' hiding holes in ancient mansions by the right sort of visitor, and to keep away all intruders.

In the recesses of the crown imperial lily at the center can be seen six large honey pits, one on every floral leaf, and each is brimming over with a big drop of honey and glistening like a tear drop. Shake the flower and it "weeps" as the big drops fall from it, soon to be replaced by other tears in the rapidly secreting flower. The simple folk call the flower "Job's tears."

The snowdrop is literally flowing with honey, for in swollen veins traversing its fragile whiteness are rivers of nectar. The petals of the columbine are ingeniously and elaborately designed with a view to providing good places of hiding for the honey. Each is circular, hollow, shaped like a horn. In each the honey is secreted in a round knob at which would be the mouth-piece end of the horn, and the five are arranged in a ring side by side with the honey knobs aloft. Though the honey store is obvious from without, yet the insects who would sip it must creep into the flower and penetrate with a long nose up the curving horn to the knob.

Sometimes the petals are all joined together into a tube, and the sweet nectar simply exudes from the inner side of the wall and collects at the bottom. This is the case in the dead nettle, the tube of which forms so toothsome a morsel that some children call it "suckies." The honeysuckle is similarly planned, and its sweetness is so striking as to have furnished its name.

The monkshood has quaint necessities. If the hood be drawn back there suddenly spring into sight two objects on long stalks which are sometimes like a French horn, sometimes like a cowl or, looked at sideways, not unlike a pair of doves. Their presence within the hood has provided the nicknames Adam and Eve and Noah's Ark. Thus the honey bags are carefully tucked away and protected.—Chicago Tribune.

Gold the First Metal Used.

Gold was probably the first metal known to man, because it is generally found native. The oldest metallic objects to which we can assign a probable date were found in a royal tomb at Nagada, in Egypt, supposed to have been that of King Menes. In one of the chambers were some bits of gold and a bead, a button and a fine wire of nearly pure copper. If the tomb was properly identified, these objects were at least 6,800 years old at the time of their discovery. Nearly all the ancient gold that has been examined contains enough silver to give it a light color. It was gathered by the ancients in the bed of the Pactolus and other streams of Asia Minor.

He Was Noncommittal.

A Philadelphian who crosses the Atlantic several times each year happened during his last visit to London to be out on the street quite early one morning. He had noticed that the reflected light gave the sun the appearance of being in the west.

To a policeman he met the Quaker City man pointed out the place from which the sunlight seemed to stream. "Ah," said he jocularly, "so the sun rises in the west in London?"

"As to that, sir," replied the officer, with great dignity, "I really can't say."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The "Pivot" Age.

When is a man old? Is it a matter of looks or feeling or age or professional custom. Waiters, for instance, are held to be old at fifty. But at that period of life statesmen, barristers, actors, bishops and judges are accounted young. Athletes of all kinds are deemed old after forty or thereabouts. The board of trade regulations say that railway men and others are old for their work at sixty. Old age pension scheme makers consider sixty-five as the pivot age on which to hang their plans. The point is certainly a very debatable one.—Hearts of Oak Journal.

Marine Insurance.

Marine insurance is the oldest kind of modern insurance. Its principles were first employed in the fourteenth century by the merchants of Barcelona, in Spain, when that city was the capital of the kingdom of Catalonia and when its hardy mariners were second to none in the world. About the same time, and also at Barcelona, the famous code of maritime laws known as the "consulado del mar" was promulgated, which is the foundation of the present shipping laws of every country.

WILL OPERATE WAREHOUSES THE COMING SEASON AT

Greenville, Robersonville, Wilson, and Kinston.

It is the experience of every stockholder in this company that he never made a better investment, for the five years of its operations the original stockholders have been paid 113 1-2 per cent in cash dividends. That is the result of co-operation, good management and sound business methods.

Again it is the experience of every farmer who has sold his tobacco at the warehouses of this company that he received higher prices than other houses could obtain. For the coming season the company is prepared to even surpass the fine record it has made in the past, hence it is to the interest of the farmers to sell their tobacco with this company.

THE GUM WAREHOUSE

on the Greenville market, will this season be in charge of that prince of warehousemen, Capt. J. R. Hutchinson, formerly of Wilson, whom you have only to try to be convinced of his ability to please you.

THE STAR WAREHOUSES

on the Greenville market will again be in charge of that veteran warehouseman and champion of high prices, F. D. Foxhall, whose record in the past is a guarantee of what he can do for you in the future.

The warehouses at Robersonville, Wilson and Kinston will be under capable and efficient managers who will carefully guard the interests of all who sell with them. The wise farmer will sell his tobacco with

EATERS OF CLAY.

These Queer Folk Are Found in Nearly Every Country.

In every country there are to be found people with a peculiar appetite that regards earth as a delicacy. It is difficult to account for this curious perversion of taste. At the present time in some parts of Germany, Sweden and Italy earth is baked into bread and is a marketable commodity.

In Germany there is what is called "stone" butter, made from clay. It is spread on bread. The Indians of South America mix clay with their food as a relish, and in west Africa it is quite a common practice to chew a yellow oleaginous clay.

Probably the habit of eating earth had its origin in famine, when it was taken to appease hunger. But in many places it was taken as a tidbit or a delicacy (as some benighted folk in America regard chewing gum) to satisfy a craving of the palate.

In Java the people make regular little red earth cakes, which they carry to market to sell. They are the "fancy" biscuits of that island.

The Chinese eat a white clay which could not by any stretch of imagination be called nutritious, and in India one can get from the chemist pills manufactured from earth of a yellow color, supposed to contain great medicinal properties.

Many women in Assam are addicted to the earth eating habit. In Bengal, more particularly among the middle and lower classes, the habit is widespread. All over India the people indulge their partiality for mother earth. No class or caste is exempt from the practice, though they try to keep it secret. In Calcutta one can buy in the bazaars thin wafers of edible clay.—Pittsburg Press.

Speechless With Rage.

"Strong emotion," says Darwin, "interrupts the steady flow of nerve force to the muscles." This prevents the proper working of those muscles which are used in speaking; hence the stumbling and incoherence of the speech. "The voice sticks in the throat," to use the words of Virgil. In some cases speech is for a short time impossible, as is seen where a person is said to be "speechless with rage." The hoarseness of the voice is due partly to the fact that passion causes an overaction of all the organs, partly by the fact that for generations harsh and fierce sounds have been made use of to terrify opponents in quarrels, and so have come to be associated instinctively with anger. Possibly the fact also has its influence that the utterance of sounds such as those referred to is in some way or the other a relief to the feelings.

So Simple.

The little man at the back of the pit had been vainly trying to see round the big, stout fellow in front of him, but not one glimpse of the stage could he obtain. At last he leaned forward and touched the other on the shoulder.

"Excuse me, sir," he said meekly, "but I can't see the stage at all."

"Can't see the stage?" repeated the big man sarcastically. "Well, what do you want me to do—lift you on my shoulder?"

"Hardly that," replied the little man deprecatingly, "but I thought perhaps—"

"Look here," interrupted the big man; "I know how to manage it. Just you keep your eye on me and laugh when I laugh!"—London Chronicle.

Derivation of the Word Sunday.

The word "Sabbath" is a Hebrew term for a period as well as quality of time and means "rest." In the Bible it is used only with this meaning. Periods of one year or of seven years were thus characterized. Every seventh day was observed by the Hebrews as a weekly "Sabbath." In addition to this day others were appointed in which the obligation to cease from labor was as binding as the observance of the weekly "Sabbath." "Sunday" is so named from the day which was dedicated to the worship of the sun. Christian nations observe it as their "Sabbath," but "Sabbath" is not "Sunday."

A Conundrum.

"I heard the following conundrum," said the observer, "which struck me as distinctly clever: 'What character is there in the Bible who possesses no name, who suffered death in different form from any inflicted before or since that time, a portion of whose shroud is in every household and the cause of whose death has been made famous by a modern author?' 'Give it up, eh? Well, the answer is, Lot's wife. She possesses no name. No one else met death through being turned into a pillar of salt. Salt is in every household, and Edward Bellamy wrote 'Looking Backward.' So there you are."

From Any Other Shoes We Know

You'll say the same if you will drop in and look over our Spring Styles—they're beauties.

You may not be able to tell by looking at them that they're different from shoes costing one or two dollars a pair more. But try on a pair and you'll FEEL the difference.

Owing the fact that they are foot moulded while being made, Ralston shoes need no "breaking in."

This is a FACT, not merely a claim.

A Bare Possibility.
In his diary, which is incorporated in the "Life and Letters of Sir Richard Claverhouse Jebb," the great Greek scholar recorded a flash of his own wit which is of a most appealing variety.
At a dinner at Cambridge Sir Richard, then Mr. Jebb, took in a young woman, who got through the first course with little conversation. Suddenly she startled him by saying in the most unprovoked way while she was still dining with apparent good appetite:
"Professor Jebb, do you think women ever die of a broken heart?"
"Perhaps other organs may have something to do with it," he preferred in reply.

Books.
When I consider what some books have done for the world and what they are doing, how they keep up our hope, awaken new courage and faith, soothe pain, give an ideal life to those whose homes are hard and cold, bind together distant ages and foreign lands, create new worlds of beauty, bring down truths from heaven, I give eternal blessings for this gift.—James Freeman Clarke.

"Mother."
One of the first words that a baby says is mamma or mother, and it is not strange, therefore, to find it one of the first and simplest words in every language. There is no word easier for a child to say than "ma" unless it be "pa." In Hebrew and Arabic mother is "em" and "am." It is "mam" in Welsh and "moder" in Anglo-Saxon. In other languages it is slightly different, but near enough like our own "mother" to make it an almost universal word so that a child crying in any language could be understood in almost any other language. Here are a few of the names: "Madr" in Persian, "matr" in Sanskrit, "meter" in Greek, "mater" in Latin, "madre" in Spanish, "mere" in French, "moder" in Sweden, "moder" in Danish, "moder" in Dutch, "mutter" in German, "mate" in Russian, "mathair" in Celtic.
