Chief of Police W. G. Rouse, of Dover, brought to the city this morning, William alias C. L. Grimes, a negro prisoner, who is wanted in Grimesland for shooting a constable. Card From Mr. King.

Some person or persons, have been ignorantly or otherwise persistently circulating a false statement to the effect that I have been receiving or charging the county of Pitt the sum of five dollars per day for my services in supervising as best I can the construction of the new bridge across Tar river at Greenville. There is not one word of truth in this report. I have never received or charged one cent for any services I may have rendered the county in any respect to the supervision of the construction of said bridge, never had any idea of so doing and will not receive one cent for said services. I make this statement in order that all the people of the county may know that the report has not the slightest foundation in fact.

Respectfully,
R. W. King.

Card from Mr. Little.

I have been informed that owing to the omission of my name from the list of registered candidates in last Monday's paper that a report is being circulated that I have withdrawn from the contest.

I wish to say to my friends and the people of Pitt county that I am in the race to the end, and will appreciate their support in the primary.

Respectfully,
Robert L. Little

Democrats! Lets Send J. F. Stokes to the Legislature.

We the undersigned citizens of the county of Pitt respectfully ask the Democratic party to nominate for house of representatives, Mr. J. F. Stokes, of Greenville, and our reason for doing same is that his standing, character, fitness and ability is second to none in the race for the nomination. He is thoroughly alive to the questions at issue, and in touch with the needs of the whole people—besides being able to cope with any problem effecting county State. His educational qualifications are surpassed by few, if any, in the county. As a tireless worker and able debator he can hold his own anywhere and everywhere he meets the enemy. Moreover there is in him those elements that tend to constructive statesmanship—a thing to be anxiously sought after at this time. Standing squarely and firmly on the true principles of Democracy, and always with a keen conception of eternal fitness of things, he will ever dare to stand for right as against wrong, and, if nominated, will carry himself in a manner befitting a true representative of the people of Pitt. Where is the man more acceptable at this time? Gentlemen, lets make his nomination unanimous, and a victory proper will be ours in November.

Yours for good government,

STATE NEWS.

Rocky Mount, Aug. 23.—While hunting squirrels near the Sandy Cross district about eight miles from this city in Nash county Mr. Reddick met his death in a peculiar manner. His death was caused directly from the kick of a shotgun in the firing of an ordinary loaded shell. Mr. Dixon was making his way around the tree in a crouched position with his gun ready to fire, the gun over his arm and the stock near his stomach. By some means the gun fired and the rebound caught Mr. Dixon in the stomach, causing internal injuries, from which he died Friday afternoon.

We suppose the wireless telephone will do away with the necessity of calling "central."

It is in accordance with Scripture that men sometimes fall into the trap they set for others.

If it was not for the pay connected with the offices there would not be near so many aspirants.

Certainly Taft wants the solid South broken up. He would like to break up anything that is against him.

You are not helping Greenville when you are fighting against somebody else instead of all pulling together to build up the town.

It is said that David B. Hill will in a few days declare for Bryan and will enter vigorously in the campaign in New York in behalf of the Nebraskan.

The Republicans are now journeying toward their state convention at Charlotte to put up a ticket for the Democrats to knock down.

Some of them had as well make up their mind not to take it too hard if they are defeated. The average to get there is only about one in four.

Bryan may not do much for that trick mule, but what he will do for the G. O. P. elephant will be worth talking about the morning after the election.

The Wilmington Star says "It looks like some politicians have got to go to work after their county conventions are held." That hits the mark for the Pitt county primary, too, Major.

There will be enough candidates left in the primary running to form a good sized campaign club to work for the winners. Of course they will take defeat gracefully and go to work for the nominees.

Mr. Bryan is sticking to his text "Shall the People Rule?" and strongly emphasizes what he has to say upon it. Mr. Taft is also sticking to his text, enunciated by Mr. Sherman, (for all Taft's utterances are second-hand) "Shall the people endorse the administration of President Roosevelt?" Quite a contrast in these texts, my countrymen.

Against Colonel Bryan's "Shall the People Rule?" Vice-Presidential candidate Sherman puts, "Shall the Administration of President Roosevelt be Approved?" And there you have paramount issue backed by paramount issue. But has Sherman the right to talk like he is the whole thing? Judge Taft is probably ruminating over that very question on this day of Sherman's publicity. - Charlotte Chronicle.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. WOMEN WERE SCARCE.

A Feminine Face Caused a Furore in California's Early Days.

There were few women in the California mining camps in the old days, and the advent of an emigrant wagon with a woman in it caused a furore, as is proved by the following incident from the reminiscences of former Senator William M. Stewart: "Women were so scarce in California at that time that this was sufficient to arouse the whole camp. The 'boys,' as we were called, were scattered along the coyote diggings for a distance of about four miles, and when anything unusual happened the words, 'Oh, Joe!' would be passed along the whole line. When I saw the feminine raiment I raised the usual alarm, 'Oh, Joe!' and this called the attention of the miners on Buckeye hills, where I was, to the clothesline which had attracted my notice. They gathered around on the hill, nearly surrounding the covered wagon and its contents. The rush of the boys in the immediate vicinity to see the wonderful sight attracted those farther away, and in less than ten minutes two or three thousand young men were anxiously watching the wagon, clothesline and fascinating lingerie. In alarm the man that belonged to the woman inside stuck his head out of a small tent beside the wagon. I assured him that no harm was intended, but that we were very anxious to see the lady who was the owner of the clothes. This aroused her curiosity sufficiently to induce her to pull the curtain of the tent aside so that her face could be discovered, but not fully seen.

"I then proposed that we make a donation to the first lady that had honored our camp with a visit. I took from my camp a buckskin bag, used for the purpose of carrying gold, and invited the boys to contribute. They came forward with great eagerness and poured out of their sacks gold dust amounting to between $2,000 and $3,000. I then proposed to appoint a committee to wait on the lady and present it. The motion was unanimously carried, and one of the gentlemen appointed on the committee suggested myself as chairman. I took the sack of gold and went within about thirty feet of the tent and made as good a speech as I could to induce the lady to come out, assuring her that all the men about her were gentlemen, that they had seen no ladies for so many months and that the presence of one reminded them of their mothers and sweethearts at home. I told her that the bag of gold was hers on condition that she would come out and claim it. Her husband urged her to be brave, but when she finally ventured out about halfway the cheers were so vociferous that she was scared and ran back.

"She repeated this performance several times, and I kept moving slowly back far enough to get her away from the little tent so the boys could have a good view of her. I suppose half an hour was occupied with her running back and forth while the boys looked on in admiration, when I finally gave her the bag, with all the good wishes of the camp. She grabbed it and ran into the tent like a rabbit. The next morning the wagon, oxen, man and owner of the inspiring apparel were gone, and we never heard of them in after life."

F. C. Harding,
Chairman Dem. Ex. Com.
This the 20th day of Aug. 1908.

An Announcement.

I hereby announce to the Democratic voters of Pitt county that I desire the nomination of the party for State Senator from the county of Pitt, and that my name will be before the Democratic voters at the Democratic primaries, to be held on the 29th day of August, 1908.

The people of the county are familiar with my services to the party to which I have been attached from my birth. I have labored for its success in the days of prosperity and in its hours of adversity. I will very greatly appreciate any support that I may receive in every section of the county, and if it shall please the party to make me its candidate for senator I shall be very grateful and do what I can to roll up a big majority in the county. If elected senator I shall labor to represent the county in the upper branch of the legislature in a manner that shall reflect credit upon myself and honor upon the county that favored me with its confidence.

The result of the primaries will in no wise effect my allegiance to the party or earnest support of its nominees.

CANNIBALISM.

It Still Flourishes in Many Remote Corners of the Earth.

That cannibalism still exists in certain remote corners of the earth may surprise people who were under the impression that in the twentieth century the restraining influences of civilization were at any rate powerful enough and sufficiently widespread to stamp out entirely any custom so revoltingly barbarous.

Since the beginning of the twentieth century white men have been slain and eaten on the island of St. Matthias, in the south seas; in New Guinea, the New Hebrides, in New Britain, one of the Solomon islands; along the Kongo, in central Africa; in the wilds of Haiti and in Nigeria. They have human sacrifices in Dahomey, but no cannibalism. In the Kameruns the Makas tribe eat only their criminals.

When a "tambu," or chief's house is dedicated on the island of St. Christoval, one of the Solomon group, there is sure to be a cannibal feast. If a victim cannot be secured by a raid on some neighboring tribe, he is generally selected from among the men originally purchased by the chief. It is not etiquette to let the doomed man know his fate. He may have assisted in the erection of the very house for which his life is to be forfeited. One blow with a club on the head, aimed from behind, is all. Sometimes a human body is necessary for the launching of a war canoe, and one of the men who help launch it may be the victim.

The islanders of Santa Anna abstain from eating human flesh, but make a handsome living by purveying it to their neighbors on adjacent islands. Sometimes there is even a gleam of tender feeling when the man selected as the victim has lived so long among them as to become almost one of themselves.

With some cannibals the eating of human flesh is part of their religion. It must be practiced. With others it means simply the addition of an extra dainty to an otherwise monotonous daily bill of fare.

Weird and wild are the rites in those faraway spots where cannibalism is a religion. Strange music on queer instruments, crooning songs, unearthly yells and cries are part of the ceremonies. Men are eaten to music.

The wives of the Solomon islanders are their slaves, to fondle or kill as they please. Should a wife displease her lord she is promptly killed, and her husband and his remaining wives partake of the dainty.—Baltimore Sun.

The Prodigal's Return.

The prodigal son approached the ancestral homestead with a considerable degree of pleasurable anticipation, only to be met afar off by his elder brother, who straightway lifted up his voice, saying:

"Our beloved father begs me to inform you that, owing to the fact that he has but recently been invaded by a prodigal daughter and her titled and impoverished husband, he does not at this time feel equal to the task of providing for you the reception you doubtless expect and probably deserve. However, he bids me request you to repair to one of the plain but serviceable restaurants in the village and there sojourn until he can get the present incubuses, or incubi, as the case may be, off his hands, when, if there is anything left of the fattened calf and the other comestibles, he will be delighted to share the same with you."—Pack.

Brusque Brahms.

A young Hungarian violinist, who was continually talking about his wonderful skill and great fame, had his flatteries addressed to Brahms cut short with the brusque remark, "More finger exercise and fewer phrases, young man!"

A young woman who played the pianoforte asked the composer as to the advisability of giving a concert in Vienna.

"Are you all ready?" inquired Brahms.

"Certainly, dear master! May I play something for you?"

"Oh, no, no! I meant only have you a new gown and gloves?"

"Yes, sir."

"Pity; otherwise I should have advised you not to give the concert."
