MR. GUS MILLS WAYLAI

He was Knocked Senseless and Robbed of $210.

Mr. Gus Mills, of Chicod township, who was here Monday selling tobacco, was waylaid and robbed of $210 on his way home early in the afternoon. His assailant attacked him about four-and-a-half miles below town, striking him on the head and knocking him from his buggy. He was robbed and left in a senseless condition. Sometime later he recovered sufficiently to get up and walk to Lee McGowan's home, a short distance further on, where his horse had stopped. He told Mr. McGowan as best he could what had happened to him and the case was then reported to Mr. W. C. Hines, who went to the scene of the robbery immediately with his blood hounds and put them on the track of the criminal. We have been unable so far to learn whether Mr. Hines succeeded in tracking him down or not.

Mr. Mills is reported to be in an unconscious condition today.

COMPETITION IS ELIMINATED

Leroy Steamboat Co. Absorbs N. & S. Lines.

Elizabeth City, N. C., Sept. 15.—An important deal and one most vital to this section was consummated today by which the Leroy Steamboat Company, of which J. Henry Leroy and H. D. Pardletor, of this city, are president and general manager, respectively, assumed control of all steamboats in North Carolina and Virginia owned and controlled by the N. & S. Railway, including all boats run by Banks, North Carolina, line from this city to Currituck county. This deal is a most important one and in causing considerable comment among business men here and in other sections interested. It means elimination of competition in water transportation, as Leroy line had been N. & S.'s strongest competitor and had built up a big business.

A number of prominent business men of Currituck appeared before the receivers of the Norfolk and Southern recently and strongly protested against Leroy absorbing the Banks' line. Leroy, however, says rates will remain the same.

BLIND MAN SEES.

He Now Sees Through the Eye of a Rabbit.

New York, Sept. 15.—A blind man has been made to see through a rabbit's eye as the result of an operation performed by Dr. Henry R. Lesser, of No. 4, West Ninety-third street. The operation consisted in the grafting the cornea from the eye of a rabbit upon the eye of the patient who had been blind for fifteen years. He now is able to count fingers at a distance of twelve inches, distinguished color and go about unattended. The operation, though not unknown to optical surgery, has seldom proven as successful as to the present case.

Dr. Lesser declined to discuss the case or the identity of his patient. It was learned that his name is Hyman Cohen, however, and that he is a piano tuner, 24 years old who has been blind since he was nine years old. The operation was performed last May and now the graft is in perfect position and the sight appears to be improving day by day.

Expelled for Honoring the National Hymn.

The officers of the United States marine corps at the Charleston navy yard today began an investigation of the incidents in connection with the expulsion of two privates of marines from a local theatre last night because the men stood when the theatre orchestra played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Under the regulations of the army and navy all officers and enlisted men are required to stand when "The Star Spangled Banner" is played indoors. Last night the two marines in question obeyed the regulations at the theatre, and were requested by the management either to be seated or leave the house. They chose the latter course. Officers at the navy yard said today that if the men had not stood when "The Star Spangled Banner" was played they would have been liable to severe punishment for disobedience of the naval regulations.—Boston Dispatch.

Advertisements, Like Clocks, Should Keep Running.

A store's advertisements tell the people what is "doing" at that store—what is new, what is inviting, why today is a good time to visit the store. People look for the ads. to tell them these things just as naturally as they would look at a clock to tell the time.

Sometimes a clock does not run—sometimes a store's ad. does not. A "run-down" clock or ad. are about equally unsatisfactory, unserviceable, misleading.

Curious things about it is that a merchant who would think it absurd to have a "run-down" or out-of-repair clock will, sometimes, deliberately let his ad. stop running. It's not wise, nor "good business," nor defensible on any known grounds—but, it's sometimes done.—Ex.

CORN THAT IS CORN.

Mr. Jackson Succeeds With Fine Variety.

Mr. M. L. Jackson was displaying this morning in front of his meat market on North Main street a dozen corn stalks with the ears on them picked at random from his 30-acre tract of the cereal on the northern suburbs of town.

There was nothing remarkable about the height of the stalks, but the number of ears on each one attracted much attention and evoked numerous inquiries especially from farmers who saw the display.

While the average number of ears to a stalk of corn of the variety usually grown by the Rowan farmer is but 1½ Mr. Jackson's yield from his crop will average 7, and he expects to realize from the thirty acres planted from 3,000 to 3,500 bushels, all of which he will sell for seed at $2.50 a bushel.

Mr. Jackson was first attracted to this variety—the Bigs 7-ear corn—which has given such a bountiful yield this year when he learned that the L. A. Carr farm at Durham had produced 432 bushels from three acres. He invested in seed, paying $3.50 a bushel for it, with the result that he has had one of the most productive corn crops in North Carolina and that too, with but little work. The superintendent of the State experimental farm at Statesville, who made demonstrations on Mr. Jackson's farm last month pronounced this the equal of any field corn in North Carolina.—Salisbury Post.

The Silver Trade Dollar.

The silver trade dollar is seldom seen or heard from these days, unless as a curiosity representing one of the freaks of our coinage system in the past. It was withdrawn from circulation many years ago but recently it has been making its reappearance in Brooklyn in sufficient numbers to cause the arrest of some caught passing it among small tradesmen, and a Wall street banking firm, which is charged with passing the coin at 75 cents on the dollar, may be halled into court to explain. These pieces were coined 35 years ago to facilitate trade with China and Japan, but soon outgrew their usefulness, if they ever had any, and have long been obsolete as money, notwithstanding the fact that they have seven and a half more grains of silver than the standard dollar of that metal.—Boston Transcript.

The Wedding Ring Tells When.

Someone wanted to know without asking directly how long a certain woman had been married.

"About fifteen years," said a man who is a jeweler.

"How do you know?" asked his wife. You don't know anything about her. You never met her until tonight."

"I can tell by the size of her wedding ring," said the man. "The width of wedding rings changes about every five years. Their size repeats itself at certain periods, but figuring that way, the woman must have been married fourteen years ago, if not fifteen. She isn't old enough for forty-five consequently she must belong to the fifteen year class."

Subsequent inquiry proved that the jeweler was right.—New York Sun.

SPEAKER CANNON'S WEALTH.

Friends Say From One to Five Millions—County Assessment, $15,115.

In the nature of a reply to Bryan's demand that he show how he obtained his fortune and the extent of his wealth, Speaker Joseph G. Cannon gave out a statement to-day regarding his finances. While he did not say what he was worth, his friends assert that the Cannon interests are valued at about $1,000,000. Others, however, assert that $5,000,000 would be nearer the figures.

"I do not know what Mr. Bryan said about the extent of my financial holding," said Mr. Cannon, "as I did not read his statements in the papers. In reply to what I have been told, I will say this:

"My statement regarding Mr. Bryan's possible wealth was intended as humor. I do not know what he is worth, nor do I care. I only know that I have been told that he was worth somewhere in the neighborhood of a million.

"For myself, I wish I had much more than I have. What I have is just a modest competency for my family. The fact that I have been in public life for thirty-four years speaks for itself."

Mr. Cannon came here with his brother from Tuscola, Ill., in 1858 as a young lawyer. It was largely through the brother, William P. Cannon, now dead, that the Cannon interests, which are generally supposed to be entirely the holdings of Speaker Cannon, were made.

Speaker Cannon's name appears on the records of this county and Douglass county and in Nebraska. According to the local tax books, the only real estate he owns in this county is his residence. His personal property assessment last year follows:

One cow, $40; one watch, $25, piano, $300; diamonds and jewelry, $350; moneys, $2,600; credits, $10,000; household and office furniture, $1,500; totals, $15,115.

In addition, Speaker Cannon is largely interested in the Danville National Bank and the Second National Bank. The former's capital stock is $100,000 and the latter's $200,000.—Danville, Ill., Dispatch.

Ferry Flat Sank.

About 9.30 o'clock this morning the ferry flat, which has been doing good service for about six months during the construction of the new steel bridge, sank about midway the river. There were several loads of tobacco on board, which were safely brought ashore. Luckily no lives were lost and there was very little damage done.

Wonder if the paving of sidewalks on Evans street and Dickinson avenue is to be allowed to progress as slowly as the work on the bridge has. From present indication it looks so to us.

Taft is in favor of the higher education for the negro. Wonder how many negro votes he thinks that will get for him.

The Democratic nomination for governor of New York seems to be between Lieut. Gov. Chandler and Justice James W. Gerard.

The Charlotte fair is advertising an airship flight of ten miles each day. Charlotte always comes one better. It is not Orville Wright's aeroplane that is to do the stunt however.

If all the reports concerning the Democratic campaign that is being waged in the western part of the state, then the future of Mr. J. Elwood Cox and his revenue doodley must appear to them as very dark and discomforting.

The Democratic gains in Vermont and Maine, the support of the labor element, the favor which the public is giving to the platform, the division among the Republicans and the getting together of the Democrats as never before, point to a political landslide favorable to the election of Bryan and Kern.

They are after Harry K. Thaw again. He was declared a bankrupt some time ago and in order to get him before a referee they have taken steps to declare him in contempt of the court. And at the same time a judgment has been filed against Evelyn Nesbit for $253.25 in favor of a milliner.

A month ago the Republicans were criticising Bryan for making speeches all over the country, saying that it was undignified and unbecoming in one who aspires to the presidency. They have evidently changed their opinions and have started Mr. Taft out on general inteneracy, to speak from the rear end of a railroad car wherever he can find a crowd. Surely somebody must be scared.

The apple crop in the mountains of western North Carolina this year breaks all records. The apples range in size from a baseball to a football. The latter are of the yellow variety and grow only in Watauga county. Why they do not find their way to the outside markets is a question that has never yet been explained. Lack of transportation facilities is perhaps the chief reason, and they are so bulky and inconvenient to carry that returning tourists seldom bring even a sample down from the mountains.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Great Scott! Think of an apple as big as football! Brother Harris was certainly seeing things on his trip in western North Carolina.

But if we should pass a law making candidates live up to their promises we would not have so much fun out of the campaigns.—Durham Herald.

If Judge Parker had been given the earnest support by all Democrats that he is now giving the nominee of the party who would now be President?—Wilmington Star.

WAITING FOR RAIN.
Exultation That Comes With the Storm After the Drought.

Did you ever notice the difference in your feelings when a long drought breaks?

Everybody feels depressed—a little as if the crack of doom were about four minutes away. Grass is khaki instead of green. The shrubbery is wilted. The tree leaves hang dejectedly. Everything looks as if it would if the last rain had fallen that would ever fall, and the feeling that such may be the case cannot wholly be fought off. Clouds—nice, gray black, damp looking clouds—have gathered time and again and filled you with hope, but they drifted away after only a stiff breeze and maybe a little lightning and thunder.

This time it looks the same way. A cool wind is blowing, but it can't mean rain. That's just the way it acted before when you got fooled. It is lightning in the north and east, and you hear a distant peal of thunder. But that doesn't mean anything, for it did that before. There are clouds boiling up—a roly proscenium arch over a plain drab curtain reaching to the horizon.

That looks more hopeful, but your heart is fighting against hope. You are depressed and afraid to get over it for fear you will just have to go to the trouble of getting depressed again.

Then comes a gust of wind—a sharp, defiant gust—and there are wet drops in it. Your heart stops beating for a moment through downright deliciousness of joy. But you won't let yourself be too—

There! It's raining cats and dogs! Get that window shut! Bring in that chair off the porch!

Now you can take a deep breath and resume the plans for the future that you had left off involuntarily and hopelessly, a week or ten days ago, your whole existence having been unconsciously merged into one waking and sleeping day and night prayer for rain.

You smile with the joy of a child. Things that looked ominous to you a day ago—why, you can laugh right in their faces now. It has rained! It has rained! And living once more is worth while.—Chicago News.

Furniture in China.
Manufacturers of furniture for the Chinese market have their troubles. In the months of June, July and August excessive dampness is prevalent throughout the entire country, especially in the southern parts. During these damp months furniture which is put together with glue falls apart, drawers stick, rolling tops refuse to work and flat tops warp and split. Furniture for use in this climate must, therefore, be well seasoned before its manufacture. During the winter months in north China the climate becomes extremely dry, and in and about Pekin and Tientsin the country is visited by heavy dust storms. Furniture which has buckled and warped during the summer returns to its normal state or else goes to the other extreme and exhibits cracks of ten half an inch or more in width.

BENEFITS IN DISEASE.

Typhoid, if You Pull Through, Gives You a New Stomach.

GOOD EVEN IN RHEUMATISM.

That Painful Affliction Keeps Other Miseries Out of the System and is a Promoter of Long Life—Blessings of Colds and Smallpox.

To be struck down by disease seems a most undesirable thing, yet there are many living today in the fullest enjoyment of very excellent health who but for an attack of some disease would have lived a life of almost perpetual misery.

These people were, first of all, victims of indigestion in its worst form, and only those who have experienced it know what true indigestion is. Struck down by typhoid fever, they came through the trying ordeal cured of indigestion, for one outstanding eccentricity of typhoid is that if you pass through an attack safely it gives you a new stomach. In fact, after an attack of typhoid the victim is usually left with a stomach like an infant.

That is the grand chance offered to one who has suffered, it may be, for long years from acute indigestion. If only he takes care, after an attack of typhoid he need never know indigestion again.

Be it remembered that any one troubled with severe indigestion is not advised to go hunting around for typhoid fever. That might prove to be a disastrous course to follow.

A chronic cold is just one of those things which none of us want, yet even a chronic cold has its good points, more especially if you happen to be up in years a bit—not too old, of course. People who are up in years and who suffer from chronic bronchitis seem to get remarkably well. It keeps the blood in good circulation, for, of course, the victims have to cough, and that gives the heart a jerk and sends the blood coursing nicely through the veins and arteries.

If the cold be not too acute, old people derive considerable benefit. An acute attack, on the other hand, may cut off an old person in a day or two. It is the chronic type only which yields benefit.

Smallpox is a dreaded scourge, so much so that if it be reported that a case exists in a neighborhood a thrill passes through the whole community.

Yet those who suffer from smallpox and recover usually live to a green old age. It seems to renew life in some mysterious way by thoroughly purifying the blood.

If, however, you desire to attain to a ripe old age, you cannot get on at all without rheumatism. Consider the hosts of old folks you encounter hobbling about, grumbling all the day about their bones and joints. In all probability these old people would have been in their graves years before but for this very rheumatism.

The reason is that if rheumatism is in the system it keeps other ills out. It makes a grand fighting force and keeps most other enemies of the human frame at bay, especially those of the germ type.

Very naturally if you have such a grand friend at hand you have to pay something for aid rendered, but the pain of rheumatism, if shockingly severe at times, is not deadly, and that is why one gets so little sympathy when suffering from rheumatism.

But the plain fact is that a slight malady always benefits you, even if indirectly. As an example of that, say a very bad spell of weather comes along, cold and wet, and you contract a slight chill.

What do you propose to do? Why, to take the greatest care of yourself and make as certain as possible that your cold gets no chance of developing into anything worse. Now, did that very slight cold not make its appearance and cause you to be extremely careful of what you did there is no saying what might happen to you any day during a spell of evil, cold weather. You might have exposed yourself so much that a severe chill would have seized you, followed by inflammation of the lungs.

Accordingly a slight cold may easily save you from many worse ills.

In this way minor afflictions act as warnings that worse things are coming along, but unfortunately many persons quite neglect these warnings. A man, for example, has indigestion more or less constantly, yet pays little heed, always expecting that it will disappear one day. Now, if he had just paid attention to the matter at the beginning-headed the warning, in short—he might not have been let in for a severe liver attack later on.

Every pain, every ache, every headache—all these are warnings that something else is on the way and will be along shortly.—Pearson's Weekly.

An Idea of Business.

"Does your titled son-in-law know anything about business?"
 "Well," answered Mr. Cumrox doubtfully, "he has had a lot of experience with promissory notes, and he knows how to get a check raised."—Washington Star.

The Lightweight Champion.

Simkins—You say that little man was formerly the lightweight champion? Timkins—Yes. Simkins—How did he lose the title? Timkins—Oh, he didn't lose it. He merely sold his grocery and retired.—Chicago News.

To feign a virtue is to have its opposite vice.—Hawthorne.

ENGLISH TITLES.

Why Inferior Honors Are Sometimes Refused by Commoners.

Although it costs money to be made a peer, no sum can actually buy a British title, as may be done in some European countries. Honors of this description are in the giving of the king, or, rather, his majesty bestows them on persons at the recommendation of the prime minister, who really has the final say in the matter. Titles are conferred either directly or indirectly—directly when no third person recommends a candidate for royal recognition and indirectly when a third person brings a candidate's name forward, he having good and valid grounds for doing so. The former method, however, is the one which is usually adopted. It is the duty of the prime minister to distinguish a name celebrated in politics, science, art or literature and to decide whether the merits of any given prominent person deserve recognition at the hands of the king.

If, in the opinion of the prime minister, such a given person deserves elevation to titled rank, before the minister takes any steps in the matter the favored individual is apprised of the prime minister's intentions by a personal letter, in which is conveyed the degree or title it is proposed to confer on him, subject to his approval. In four out of five cases the approval is given. The fifth person, who may have been offered a knighthood or perchance a baronetcy, refuses because his refusal may increase his chances of obtaining at a later day a higher title still—a peerage. Armed with the person's approval, the prime minister now takes the next step—that is, obtaining his majesty's sanction, which is rarely refused.

It is seldom that a plain "Mr." blossoms straightforward into a "lord" unless the circumstances are very unusual, such as the reason why a peerage was conferred on Mr. Morley or honors conferred on successful generals in the field, as in the case of Wolseley, Roberts and Kitchener. As a general rule a plain "Mr." is transformed into "Sir"—that is, knight or baronet—and one who is already a "Sir" and has done some signal recognition finds his reward in his ultimate service to the state entitling him to royal elevation to the peerage.—Chicago News.

WOMEN OF PARAGUAY.

Patient and Good Natured, Barefooted and White Robed.

Paraguay is rich in local color. The picturesque character of the native population, with their quaint Indian features and habits of everyday life, is interesting to anybody fond of observing strange phases of human life. By nature these people are patient and gentle, seldom complaining, chattering and laughing from sunrise to sunset and taking small thought of what the morrow may have in store for them.

It is hard to imagine how Lopez could have drilled them into fighting material of strength enough to keep in check the combined forces of Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay for five long, weary years, and it speaks volumes for the indomitable energy of the man that he was able to sustain his position for so protracted a time.

Clothing is very much of a superfluity in Paraguay, says the Boston Transcript. The attire of the women is a cotton chemise with a long sheet-like shawl, or manta, passed over the head and around the body in Moorish fashion. The dress of the men is equally simple, consisting only of cotton shirt and trousers. Both sexes are guiltless of foot covering. At times an almost uncanny feeling rises when a group of these white robed, dark haired maidens pass suddenly with the silent tread of unshod feet.

Of a morning in the market places the women folk flock to sell their wares, carrying on their heads the baskets containing the few cents' worth of native produce they have been able to gather together for disposal in the towns. The soft Guarani language, the common tongue of the Paraguayans, adds further charm to the scene.

No Discharge.

"Maggie," said the inexperienced young thing to the cook, "the biscuits were a slight. If you can't do better next time, I will have to discharge you."

"Ye will, will ye?" Maggie retorted. "I'll have ye know, mum, that I've bin workin' out two years, an' I've worked fer eighty-nine of the best families in town, an' I ain't never bin discharged yet, I'm leavin' this afternoon fer a better place."—Judge.

None For Her.

"Pop!"
 "Yes, my son."
 "When a person saws wood it means they say nothing, don't it?"
 "Yes, my boy."
 "And do women ever saw wood?"
 "No; women believe that sawing wood is a man's work."—Yonkers Statesman.

To Make Them Smart.

"Mr. Pedagog is an oldtime teacher. He believes in the rod to brighten up dull boys."
 "Well, isn't that the natural way to make them smart?"

The Burned Church.

Jim (regarding damage to church by fire)—Good job it wasn't a factory. Bill—Bill—You're right, mate. Only one man put out of work, and he draws his money.—Punch.

The Rule of Three.

Stella—What is the rule of three?
 Bella—That one ought to go home.—New York Sun.

Nelson and the Spaniards.

There is an amusing anecdote about that gruff sea dog Nelson. Two Spanish captains came on board with a request to be allowed to see "the greatest seaman in the world." Nelson grumbled, but gave in and went on deck, forgetting that "at that moment his legs were bound up at the knees and ankles with pieces of brown paper soaked in vinegar and tied on with red tape." This had been done to allay the irritation arising from mosquito bites. Quite forgetting his attire and the extraordinary appearance which it presented, Lord Nelson went on deck and conducted the interview with the Spanish captains with such perfect courtesy that his singular appearance was quite obliterated by the charm of his manner, and the Spaniards left the ship with their high opinion of him thoroughly confirmed.

PREPARED INSTANTLY. Simply add boiling water, cool and serve. 10c. per package at all grocers. 7 flavors. Refuse all substitutes.
