TUBERCULOSIS CONGRESS.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 23, 1908.
Editor Reflector:

I write to ask you to kindly call the attention of your readers to the great international congress on tuberculosis, now in session at Washington. While it lasts three weeks, the week beginning Monday, the 23rd, will be the most interesting and valuable for the reason that the seven different sections before which papers will be read and discussed will meet during that week only. It will be a real world's congress and the greatest men in the world in this line will be present.

In connection with the congress there will be held a great tuberculosis exposition, practically a world's fair on tuberculosis, illustrating what is being done around the globe in the fight against tuberculosis. The exposition and the sections will be housed in the National museum adjoining the Smithsonian buildings.

The membership fee is five dollars, which will entitle one to the transactions.

This is the opportunity of a life time, for we will probably not have another world's congress on this subject in the United States in a generation. Not only the medical profession, but large numbers of laymen are deeply interested in this most important subject and I trust that many of our people will attend if only for a day or two.

CARNIVAL NOTES.

Jumbo is certainly a big snake.

Every day adds some new nickel and dime catching tents.

"Dare Devil Cyclone" was right there with the goods, and his daring bicycle leap brought a shout from the crowd.

The band with the carnival is composed of the best musicians on the road. Their daily concerts are delightful and everybody enjoys them. The concert today was as fine as we ever heard.

Marshall's Old Plantation continues to be the leading attraction and draws large crowds. The prize contest among the amateur dancers, singers and cake-walkers, Friday night, is looked forward to with much interest.

Capt. Curley Wilson's big lion Louis gets sleepy for his late at night stunts; but a little coaxing from the captain arouses him to action. Capt. Wilson has wonderful control of his group of animals and has no fear of even the most ferocious of them.

Hopp, the frog boy, has made numerous friends among his many callers. His real name is S. D. Parks, and he is a clever conversationalist. While he was born in Brazil, his parents are Americans and he has been in this country since he was three years old.

Mlle. Theresa gave another splendid balloon ascension Wednesday afternoon with two parachute drops in the descent. It was thrilling and gave the spectators fear as to her safety, but the nifty little woman after getting back to the grounds chatted about it just as if her feat was nothing unusual. She has been at the work less than a year, yet none can surpass her aerial flights. Her husband, Charles Broadwick, is the leading aeronaut of the country.

SUPERIOR COURT.

September Term in Session—Judge Allen Presiding.

The following cases have been disposed of:

Isom Johnson, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty, judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Jim Jones, forcible trespass, pleads guilty, judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Raymond Davis, larceny, not guilty.

Wiley Brown, (col.) larceny, guilty, judgment suspended on payment of costs.

The grand jury returned a true bill for murder against Thomas Highsmith charged with the killing of Walter Simms.

John Clark, assault with deadly weapon, pleads guilty, sentenced twelve months with leave to hire out.

John Robert Dawson, larceny, pleads guilty, 4 months on roads.

George Wingate, forcible trespass, guilty, fined $5 and cost.

Henry Williams, larceny, not guilty in one case, guilty in another 12, months on roads.

John Bailey, carrying concealed weapon, not guilty.

W. B. Bland removing crops, submits, judgment suspended on payment of cost.

Just before adjournment Wednesday evening Tom Jefferson, against whom the grand jury had returned a true bill for murder, was arranged. The trial was set for Wednesday, 30th, and a special venire of one hundred was ordered summoned from which to select the jury.

SEAT SALE SATURDAY.

Seats for "The Clansman" May All be Sold Before Date of Performance.

The seat sale for "The Clansman" at the Masonic opera house next Wednesday, Sept. 30, opens at the Reflector Book Store Saturday morning, and judging by the talk around town the entire house is likely to be sold out before the date of the performance. Never before has the announcement of a play enlisted such widespread local interest. Not only the regular theatre-goers but business men, politicians, church members—in fact every thinking citizen is eager to see "The Clansman" and judge its merits. From coast to coast "The Clansman" has been advertised as the great white man's play. While not hostile to the negro or to the yellow or brown races, it sets forth the natural superiority of the white race.

In view of the yellow peril and the other momentous problems facing the American people, its significance is tremendous. But, though written by a former eminent divine of the Baptist church, "The Clansman" is not a sermon. Its aim is to please, and it has delighted every audience with its story of reconstruction days in the South and the work of the Ku Klux Klan. Nearly four million people have witnessed "The Clansman." New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other large cities have stamped it with their approval. Unquestionably "The Clansman" is the play of the hour, and those who miss it will deprive themselves both of an esthetic pleasure and a new insight into the form and pressure of the time.

GRADED SCHOOL OPENS.

Large Attendance of Pupils and All the Teachers on Hand.

The graded school opened this morning with the following teachers in charge: First grade, Misses Irvine and Harding; second, Misses Herndon and Mitchell; third, Miss McEnery; fourth, Miss Minor; fifth, Miss Bennett; sixth, Miss Beaman; seventh, eighth and ninth, Misses Cox and Wright; drawing and assistant in the fourth grade, Miss Lewis; music, Miss Gaston. The attendance in all the grades was large. The enrollment in the primary grades was full almost to overflowing. Before Nov. 1st, the first section of the first grade will enroll seventy-five children.

The Valise in the Aisles.

One of the most amusing things in railroad traveling on some of our Southern roads is to see a woman leave a valise in the aisle for every passer-by to stumble over, says a writer in The Meldrim (Ga.) Guidon. The valise selected for the purpose should not be placed parallel with the aisle, but should extend diagonally. The angle should be such that the edge of the valise may hit the shin of a passenger and the valise ought to be put about the middle of the car. The curtains of the windows ought to be let down so as to throw a dim cathedral light in the aisle. When these arrangements are properly made the owner of the valise should throw her head back, close her eyes apparently in sleep and enjoy the fun. The woman with the baby stumbles over it. The irrepressible drummer hits it and utters a short prayer. The small boy lands on his head when he strikes it. But the charming woman thinks how clumsy people are and never deigns to move this disturbance of the peace. Is there no balm in Gilead?

COX'S MILL ITEMS.

Cox's Mill, N. C., Sept. 23, 1908.

Oscar Evans and Miss Helen Haddock attended church Sunday at Black Jack.

Miss Lillie Carroll spent Saturday night and Sunday with Misses Hallie and Retta Page.

Ed Moore went to Greenville Saturday on business.

James Williams and Thomas Moore went to Greenville Saturday.

"Old Booze" had some of our people talking loud Saturday evening.

Guilford Page is on the sick list.

Miss Annie Carroll left last week for Greensboro where she will take a course in the State Normal.

Eld. W. H. Laughinghouse passed through our town today on his way to Greenville.

Miss Lucy Galloway, of Grimesland, is visiting this week with Misses Sadie and Cora Carroll.

New Firm Here.

The secretary of state has granted a charter of incorporation to the Hines-Murphy Bottling Company, of Greenville. The firm has bought the bottling works of Ed. H. Shelburn.

It is a pretty sight to see so many children on the graded school campus.

And the crowd Wednesday night was as large as ever.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville N. C., Sept. 23, 1908.

Dr. E. St. Clair delivered a most interesting Masonic lecture at the academy Sunday at 3 o'clock to a large audience.

Quite a number from Ayden attended services at the Baptist church here Sunday. Rev. T. H. King preached an excellent sermon to a large congregation. At the close of the morning service two young ladies were baptised.

Mrs. G. E. Lineberry and children left Monday morning for Roberson county where they will visit relatives.

O. W. Rollins and Theodore Cox went to Ayden Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, of Greenville, was here a short while Sunday evening.

J. F. Harrington, Josephus Cox and Amos Braxton left Tuesday morning for Baltimore. Mr. Harrington will purchase his fall stock while away.

The A. G. Cox Mfg. Co. is shipping school desks by the hundreds and selling buggies galore. Our people are selling tobacco and cotton and the merchants are kept busy. The oil mill will soon be in operation. The machinery has been greatly enlarged and they are prepared to do much more work the coming season. Winterville High school is full of energetic students and every thing is moving along nicely. Miss Waldrop has organized a vocal class comprising a large per cent of the entire school. Music has its charms as much now as of old and the school is laying great stress on this feature. We do not want anybody to think Winterville is asleep. She is awake, and wide awake.

Thos. Buck, who is attending a business college at Richmond, spent Sunday and Monday here. He returned Tuesday morning.

Harvey Cox and Bruton Byran went up the road Sunday.

W. C. Jackson and family, of Middlesex, are visiting relatives here this week.

B. F. Manning's headquarters are in the tank building. See him for prices on your cotton.

There is another boarder at J. F. Harrington's home. It is a boy.

Rev. N. C. Duncan will fill his regular appointment at the Episcopal church here Sunday afternoon.

Several of our citizen are attending court this week.

Ask the postmaster about the latest joke going. The boys are all enjoying it except one.

Needless Expense.

A prisoner was charged with felony at Bow street police court. On his way to the police station he became quite confidential with his captor and remarked:

"There is one thing I am sorry for."

"What is that?" said his captor, expecting to hear a confession.

"I had my hair cut last night," said the prisoner in a dejected tone.

"I might have saved that trispendence. It's just my luck."—London Mail.

Information.

Paddy was sowing potatoes in his garden when Lord A. came along.

Lord A., evidently wishing to test Paddy's knowledge of the different varieties of potatoes, called out in an authoritative tone:

"I say, Paddy, what sort of potatoes are you sowing there?"

Paddy, not caring to let his lordship have the better side of the joke, politely touching his hat, replied, "Raw ones, yer lordship."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

D. M. Clark went to Grifton today.

W. J. Boyd, of Ayden, spent Wednesday night here.

Rev. J. A. Hornaday, of Roxboro, spent Wednesday night here.

Miss Nannie Moye Lang, of Farmville, is visiting Miss Alice Lang.

Mrs. A. B. Cosby and Miss Nora Bradley, of Tarboro, spent today here.

Miss Margarite Higgs has returned from her summer visit to Scotland Neck.

Mrs. O. G. Calhoun, of Shermardine, took the train here this morning for Suffolk.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Skinner and Frank Skinner returned to New York Wednesday.

Rev. D. W. Arnold returned Wednesday from Martin county, where he had been conducting a meeting.

Mrs. W. J. Boyd, of Ayden, came in Wednesday afternoon to visit Misses Nannie and Mary Johnson.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Moye left this morning for Delaplane, Va., where they will spend several months.

Mrs. Henry Crawford, of Williamston, who has been visiting Mrs. E. H. Shelburn, returned home Wednesday evening.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., September 23.

Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond, Va. and vicinity:

Business conditions generally show improvement over comparative period of last month, and manufacturers and wholesalers report a gradual increase in orders. In the wholesale dry goods market considerable filling in orders are being received and merchants from nearby districts are in evidence in the local market. Wholesalers of shoes and rubber goods report orders fair and those who have travelers out with spring samples report orders equal to a comparative period of last year. Wholesale grocers report business active. The better grades are now being marketed and prices are good. Produce shows more activity.

Warm weather retards retail trade. Collections continue slow. In Virginia winter wheat is being seeded. Tobacco has practically all been cut. The apple crop is reported better than in recent years.

Evans Has Plenty of Books.

We wish to announce to the public that we have on hand large supplies of the following books for sale at the lowest consistent prices:

Tarr and McMurry's Europe and the other continents. Steps in English, book 1; Buehler's Practical Exercises in English, Wentworth's New School Algebra, Gunnison and Harley's First Year of Latin, Maxwell and Smith's Writing in English, Milne's Arithmetic, book 1; Stories of Great Americans for Little Americans, Stepping Stones, No. 3; Makers of American History, Ward's Second Reader, Evangeline, and Char-denal's French.

While our name did not follow the titles in the lists out today, we wish to remind the public that we have these books and bid for a fair share of the trade.

Yours to please,

New Bern seems to be a prolific field for blind tigers, but if the authorities go on arresting them in big bunches the traffic may be broken up.

Governor Glenn has appointed W. J. Shuford, of Hickory, a member of the board of agriculture to succeed W. A. Graham recently appointed commissioner of agriculture.

The president does not practice what he preaches. He makes it appear that he does not want government officials to be active in politics, while at the same time he is one of the most "perniciously active."

There are 15,000 Confederate pensioners in the State this year, an increase of 400 over last year. State Auditor Dixon says the pensions will be the same as last year, $72 first class, $60 second class, $48 third class, $25 fourth class and widows.

A Chicago preacher dubs the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon as "a scalawag who should be ignored by the people." Mr. Speaker is not being what you might call ignored, but he is getting a lot of notoriety that is quite conducive to his "cussing" proclivities.

Because some Winston young ladies stayed home to attend a dance to be given in honor of their departure, and were a day late of the date advertised for registration, President Foust, of the Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro would not allow them to be enrolled as pupils of that institution. It is all right to have rules and discipline, but sometime they are carried too far.

MR. COX'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

Mr. Cox has accepted. He says as much in a carefully prepared letter and discussion of the situation, which he published a few days ago. There is one peculiar feature of the Republican State platform which is accentuated by this letter: The Democrats have had the management of affairs in this State for a decade, and the only thing in the entire record of ten years with which their platform finds fault is with the passenger rate legislation, which has already saved the people of the State $1,400,000, while Mr. Cox, in his letter of acceptance, practically abandons this quarrel with the Democrats and goes back upon his own sworn testimony in Washington City and says now that he is in favor of "strict regulation" of the railroads.

But the most serious joke of this letter is the statement by Mr. Cox that he wants to be elected governor so that he can give the State a "business administration." Mr. Cox is tremendously mistaken about that. He just wants the job. And wants it bad enough to drag in with him in order to get it, the How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. entire Spencer Adams brigade into every department of the State government, even including the public school system which has been so thoroughly well-managed that, personally, Mr. Cox wanted to see the present management continued, and in which he was so easily beaten and overwhelmed by a Sampson county Butler, while his honors were fresh upon his brow. There is no doubt that Mr. Cox is a good business man. In fact, he has succeeded so well in business that it is said he has a world-wide monopoly of the shuttle block business. But if he should undertake to apply the same kind of business principles to his shuttle trust that he proposes to apply to the State government, he would find his business destroyed as quickly as his ideas of a non-partisan school system were shattered in the Republican Convention. Suppose, for instance, that his shuttle factory has for the last ten years been under management so thoroughly faithful, efficient and successful that in all that period he could not find anything to criticize, and that he should call up his general manager and all his subordinates and say to them, "I have no complaint against you, but you are discharged, and I am going to re-instate the crowd I had here ten years ago, who brought disaster and even dishonor upon my business." The application is automatic. The State penitentiary, for instance, under four years of management by Mr. Cox's party associates—Jno. R. Smith, to be specific, and his Parson Babb, to whom he sent the classic message that he would have to "hold up on preaching for a while,"—spent $227,616.60 out of the State treasury in addition to its earnings. In seven years of Democratic management it has earned for the State a net profit of $449,288.86.—Nearly a half million. Now Mr. Cox wants to put "business" into this by turning down this sort of management and putting in such as "Judge" Adams and Butler would force into it.

Let's analyze this "business" idea a little further, for, as that term is generally used by a man who wants to get a job by it, it is the most genuine kind of demagoguery. We have already admitted Mr. Cox's business qualifications. His success in piling up a private fortune attests that. Suppose he wanted a man to run one of the machines in his shuttle trust factory; he'd get a man who had had experience in that kind of work. If prosecuted under the anti-trust law he'd get a lawyer to defend it, and if he would apply his business acumen to the selection of a governor for the State (and didn't want the job himself), he would select a man who had given his life to a study of public questions, like W. W. Kitchin, instead of to a man who had given his life to private fortune building. Mr. Cox is doubtless a man of good character, the Industrial News to the contrary notwithstanding. But he has less of control of his party than a one per cent stockholder would have in his shuttle block trust. If he should get his fingers scorched in a vain effort to scratch a few chestnuts out of the boils he will find that he has exactly met the expectations of his sponsors.

Dear Sir—
 During the summer you prevailed on me to buy a disability policy in the Maryland Casualty Company. Within a very short time after purchasing same, I found that it was necessary for me to have a slight surgical operation performed on account of which it was necessary for me to remain away from my business for a period of about two weeks.

The check presented me to-day in full settlement of lost time, also covering cost of operation is very much appreciated, and I can highly recommend the Maryland and yourself for the prompt service rendered.

Very truly yours,

STAR AND CRESCENT.

The Use of the Oriental Symbol by the English.

It is related in the Book of Judges that Gideon took from Zedah and Zalmunnah, kings of Midian, ornaments like the moon that were on their camels' necks. The Midianites were Ishmaelites and thus ancestors of the Turks, so it is not improbable that the symbol was derived from them and in use long before the taking of Constantinople in 1453. What lends some confirmation to this theory is the fact that Richard Coeur de Lion adopted this badge after he returned from the Crusades, having assumed it in commemoration of the victory which he with his galleys gained over the great Turkish dromon off Beirut in the year 1191. This, practically the first English naval victory, was celebrated both in song and history by the chroniclers of the period.

The Englishmen seem to have been greatly impressed with the enormous size of the Turkish ship, which must have been a very Dreadnought of her day. She was bigger, they say than anything ever seen at sea, gaudily painted in yellow and green and carried no fewer than 1,500 men, among whom were seven emirs and eighty chosen Turks for the defense of Acre, and was laden with bows, arrows, Greek fire in jars and "200 most deadly serpents prepared for the destruction of Christians." Possibly these "serpents" were a species of fire-work or rocket.

King Richard's galleys attacked her in vain for a long time, as their crews could not climb up her lofty sides despite the encouragement held out to them by their royal leader, who promised to crucify the last man to board her. Eventually several galleys drew off and, putting on full speed, rammed the big war vessel together in the same spot, with such effect that she began to sink. The English were now able to get possession of her and to throw overboard and drown the remainder of her crew, according to the pleasant custom of the days of chivalry.

Portsmouth at this time was, as now, one of the principal naval ports, and when in 1194 King Richard set sail from thence at the head of a fleet of 100 ships, he as a special honor bestowed the royal crescent badge upon the town as its coat of arms. "A crescent of gold in a shield azure with a blazing star of eight points or rays of silver between its horns" is the exact description of the device which to this day meets the eye everywhere in the municipality. Thenceforward, too, the crescent and star became the official badge of the admiralty and was used as such up to the year 1545, when it was superseded by the anchor.—Exchange.
