GRAND JURY REPORT.

How They Find Matters in Pitt County.

To His Honor, O. H. Allen, Judge Presiding at the September Term of Pitt County Superior Court:

We, the grand jury for the September term of Pitt county Superior court, hereby respectfully submit the following report:

We visited the county jail in a body and found it kept nicely. The sanitary condition of our jail must be above the average, our county commissioners having installed a complete sewerage system for which they deserve credit. We think the officers in charge should be praised for the neat and cleanly manner they have kept the jail.

We also visited the county home in a body and found everything in good shape. We heard of no complaint whatever from any of the inmates, all say they are well fed and being treated well. We visited each house separately and found the occupants perfectly satisfied and contented. Their rooms and beds are all kept neat and clean, which speaks well for the gentleman in charge. He seems to take an interest in his work, trying to make what he can on the little farm. He also has 26 nice hogs and 3 milk cows. We find that the yard is kept nicely, also the cemetery, and under the present conditions we have no suggestions to make. We understand that a former grand jury have suggested the sale of our county home for the purpose of purchasing one in a more suitable place. We are of the same opinion, provided that a larger farm can be purchased in a suitable location at a reasonable price. A great deal of care and good judgment should be used in making change.

We went in a body to Pitt county's convict camp. We found Mr. Joe McLawhorn in charge with his full force at work, he manages his men with kindness, all seemed to be working willingly, having no complaint whatever to make of their treatment. The camp is well managed and kept neat. Mr. McLawhorn is doing splendid work with the convicts throughout the county in improving our roads, bridges, etc.

We would also call attention to the magnificent steel bridge which has just been completed at Greenville across the Tar river. There is also a bridge of the same kind in course of construction at Grifton. Both of these bridges do our county credit and we can only speak in the highest terms of our county commissioners in having so faithfully performed their duties. And we take pleasure in recording their names in full as Pitt county's faithful servants—R. W. King, John Z. Brooks, D. J. Holland, M. T. Spier and N. T. Cox.

We also visited the sheriff's, register of deeds' and clerk's offices, finding everything in first class shape, showing that we have officers that are thoroughly capable in every way to look after our county affairs.

We are glad to make mention of the work being done by the order of our county commissioners in re-indexing our county records. The work is being done by Register of Deeds R. Williams in a thorough and systematic way and will be a credit to that good officer in the years to come.

A. G. Cox,
Foreman of the Grand Jury.

"THE CLANSMAN".

Dixon's Drama Makes Second Appearance in Greenville.

Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s, first drama, "The Clansman", made its second appearance in the Masonic Temple opera house, Wednesday night, and was remarkably well presented by a strong company. Some who saw both performances say the play Wednesday night was even better than the appearance here in February, 1907. Unfortunately no programs were distributed in the audience, hence the names of the performers and their characters were not known, except to those familiar with the book by that name and the play.

The play was splendidly presented the acting of a high order, and the audience was enthusiastic in applause. The characters were well taken and there was not a poor actor in the cast. It is a pity that a play of such high standard did not have a larger audience, but this is accounted for mainly in the fact that it had so recently been here before. "The Clansman" is good, both for its historical setting and the cleverness with which it is presented.

PIN REMOVED FROM THROAT.

It Is Located Under the X Ray in Kinston Hospital.

On last Saturday night Harry Peed, 10 year-old son of Mr. J. B. Peed, swallowed a pin. Local physicians failing to remove the pin advised Mr. Peed to take his son to a hospital where he could be placed under the X Ray. He was taken to the hospital at Kinston, and Tuesday was placed under the X Ray, the pin located, and by a successful operation it was removed.

Mr. Peed returned Wednesday and reported his son to be getting along well since the operation. He has a photograph taken while his son was under the X Ray showing the pin lodged in his throat.

High Prices at the Gum.

We called up the Gum warehouse this morning to know how prices of tobacco were. Capt. J. R. Hutchings answered the phone and said: Prices are right, we sold Tuesday, Sept. 29th, over 25,000 pounds at an average of $12.18, for everything on the floor including scrap and damaged tobacco. How is that for a good average? He said the Gum is quietly sawing wood, not blasting any trumpets; but for a square deal and the best average the Gum is on the spot. You can not ring up anybody that is ahead of the Gum on good averages. On this sale he sold for J. W. Parrish 26 lbs. at $25, 54 at $25, 114 at $20, 124 at $30, 42 at $33, 116 at $40, 50 at $40, 52 at $45, 108 at $50, all out of one crop. Tell the people to keep an eye on the Gum if they want the best average.

Speaking at Ayden.

Hon. B. F. Aycock, Democratic candidate for corporation commissioner, and Hon. J. W. Bailey, one of the Democratic electors at large, will speak at Ayden on Saturday, Oct. 3rd. Speaking will begin at 1 o'clock p. m. 10 1 2td

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

First Meeting Saturday, October 10th, 1908.

10:45 a. m. Opening exercises, Rev. M. T. Plyler.

10:55. Reading of minutes of last meeting.

11:00. Election of officers.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO

11:15 a. m. (a) Working for the children, H. B. Smith.

11:30. (b) Working for the community, G. E. Lineberry.

11:45. (c) The House and Surroundings, Miss Wright.

12. (d) Things the community ought to do for the teacher, J. B. Martin.

12:15 p. m. (e) Conditions under which we take up the year's work, W. H. Ragsdale.

It will be seen from the above program that the first meeting of the teachers association will be held in the graded school building in Greenville on Saturday, October 10th, 1908. The work done in previous years by this association has counted for much towards the uplift of the county educationally. The enthusiasm and support which has prevailed in the past few years has been due more largely to this association than to any other force in the county. The work of the present session now lies out before us. How shall this work be done? I am frank to say that the attendance and interest which may be manifested in these meetings, determine very largely what will be the character of the work done in the school.

I desire to appeal to every teacher in the county, whether they are now at work or not, to be present at this first meeting, so that all of us may receive an inspiration that will create an enthusiasm and educational spirit which will show itself in every school in the county. Attendance upon these meetings is just as much a part of the teacher's work as the daily program in school, and I should regret very much to find any teacher who has a position in this county who is lacking interest in the work of this association.

I have often said here and elsewhere that we have the liveliest teachers association that exists anywhere, and I feel that its usefulness and power ought to be increased as the years come and go. This can be done by an earnest and active interest in the work by all of us. I believe that it is only necessary to call your attention to the importance of attendance upon these meetings, in that you may have your determination at once fixed to do your part in the future. An enthusiastic beginning will insure better results than have ever been had heretofore.

You are cordially invited to be present promptly at 10:45 o'clock Saturday, October 10th, 1908.

W. H. Ragsdale,
Supt. of Schools Pitt County.

Runaway Marriage.

On Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock Mr. Jasper Taylor, of Bethel and Miss Lottie Ward, of Grifton, were married in the parlor of Hotel Bertha, Justice H. Harding performing the ceremony. The couple had eloped and came here to be married. After the ceremony they drove back to their home.

The rally day exercises of the Methodist Sunday school have been postponed until the second Sunday in October.

THURSDAY, OCT. 1, 1908.

It is an off day when Mr. Bryan and Mr. Roosevelt fail to exchange letters.

Mr. Taft is so busy making speeches that he even crowds them in on Sundays. Same thing with Mr. Roosevelt's letters.

Roosevelt may think he is making something for Taft by his numerous open letters to Bryan, but he is making Bryan's chances surer.

No Pitt countian need to feel ashamed of the report of the grand jury to the court. It states conditions that can be pointed at with pride.

We hear that in some sections of Pitt county Republicans are busy, on the quiet, organizing Taft and Sherman clubs. This should remind Democrats not to go to sleep on their oars.

Up in New York betting is about even on Democratic and Republican success in the election. Of course betting has nothing to do with the result except to show in advance how they feel about it.

Only two contributions—$5 each from Messrs. John and Henry Harris, Sr.—have been handed in at The Reflector office for the Bryan and Kern campaign fund. If there are others who wish to contribute they should not be long in doing so.

Mr. Taft was getting pretty close to the truth when he once said in a speech at Greensboro that it would be better for the Republican party if there was not a Federal office holder in North Carolina. He will see things moving around to that condition after the next election.

Certainly the Republicans are scared, but Democrats must not drop back into indifference on this account. Folks sometimes just put up their hardest fight when they are scared and the Republicans will do everything in their power between now and the election. Democrats should be ready to meet and route them.

Ex-Senator McLaurin, of South Carolina, is different from the most of them, as he acknowledges the corn when confronted with a charge. Some letters between him and the vice president of the Standard Oil Co. in which McLaurin asked for financial aid in conducting his campaign, were stolen and fell into Hearst's hands and the latter made them public. McLaurin stated that he needed the help, asked for it, and saw no impropriety in so doing.

hold the idea that they should at least take a newspaper but many seem to care but very little what kind that they take, whether it is weekly or monthly, whether it is printed in the county or State or several thousand miles away, whether it is sold for ten, fifteen, twenty-five or fifty cents or one dollar per year makes but little difference. Nor does it matter if it contains articles which poison the minds of the young as is true of many of the cheap story papers. An unprincipled firm may send out an advertising sheet which recommends only humbugs but if it has a worthwhile story in each issue it is called a good paper. If any paper is taken it is almost impossible to sell another no matter how good it may be. A paper is a paper and anything called by the name is considered good enough for the home reading.

No wonder so many young people have foolish notions and are so hard to control when they are allowed to read such trash. In the selection of papers for the home some thinking should be done. People do not buy farm implements and household goods without giving the matter considerable thought. It does look like the literature of the home deserves at least as much consideration.

We advise you not to take cheap papers and do not take such of any kind as stand for nothing. What is the use of reading unless something is to be learned from it worth knowing. Take papers which have principles and stand by them. Take as many good papers as you can read.—Smithfield Herald.

Dear Sir—
 During the summer you prevailed on me to buy a disability policy in the Maryland Casualty Company. Within a very short time after purchasing same, I found that it was necessary for me to have a slight surgical operation performed on account of which it was necessary for me to remain away from my business for a period of about two weeks.

The check presented me to-day in full settlement of lost time, also covering cost of operation is very much appreciated, and I can highly recommend the Maryland and yourself for the prompt service rendered.

ROBERT FULTON AS A LAD.

Incidents Illustrating the Young Man's Interest in Mechanics.

There are several anecdotes which relate to Robert Fulton's early interest in mechanics—the first steps of progress toward his later skill. In 1773, when he was eight years old, his mother, having previously taught him to read and write, sent him to a school kept by Mr. Caleb Johnson, a Quaker gentleman of pronounced Tory principles—so pronounced, in fact, that he narrowly escaped with his life during the Revolution. But Robert Fulton did not care for books, and he began at a very early age to search for problems never mastered and bound in print. This greatly distressed the Quaker teacher, who spared not the rod, and it is said that in administering such discipline on the hand of Robert Fulton he one day testily exclaimed, "There, that will make you do something!" to which Robert, with folded arms, replied, "Sir, I came to have something beaten into my brains and not into my knuckles." Without doubt he was a trial to his teacher.

He entered school one day very late, and when the master inquired the reason Robert, with frank interest, replied that he had been at Nicholas Miller's shop pounding out lead for a pencil. "It is the very best I ever had, sir," he affirmed as he displayed his product. The master, after an examination of the pencil, pronounced it excellent. When Robert's mother, who had been distressed by his lack of application to his studies, expressed to his teacher her pleasure at signs of improvement the latter confided to her that Robert had said to him, "My head is so full of original notions that there is no vacant chamber to stow away the contents of dusty books."

These incidents to the contrary, it is nevertheless true that Robert Fulton did absorb a good knowledge of the rudiments of education.—Century Magazine.

Didn't Wait For It.

A couple of Scotch ministers were taking dinner together one summer day in a little manse in the highlands. It was the Sabbath day, the weather was beautiful, and the bubbling streams were full of trout and the woods full of summer birds. One turned to the other and said:

"Mon, don't ye often feel tempted on these beautiful Sundays to go out fishing?"

"Na, na," said the other, "I never feel tempted. I juist gang."

Hit Him Hard.

"I presume," said the lodger icily at the conclusion of the little dispute with his landlady—"I presume that you will allow me to take my belongings away with me?"

"I am sorry," was the icy reply, "but your other collar has not yet come home from the laundry."—Kansas City Independent.

If You Need a Piano

THREE POINTS

SHOULD BE CONSIDERED WHEN YOU PURCHASE

First: Is the Piano strictly high-grade, of a lasting tone-quality, and made by a reliable factory?

The use of best materials, best construction by skilled workmen, profiting by the experience the STIEFF FACTORY has had in its sixty-eight years of continued manufacture under the same management, places the STIEFF PIANO at the head of High-Grade Instruments. Its sweet tone does not change, as does the so-called "good as" variety, so often sold by dealers to unsuspecting purchasers because there is more profit in the sale.

Second: How can I obtain the BEST PIANO for the least money, value being considered?

All STIEFF PIANOS ARE SOLD TO THE CUSTOMER BY THE MANUFACTURERS thus guaranteeing against excessive profits often obtained when an instrument passes through several ownerships before reaching the customer.

If you buy a STIEFF. There are more STIEFF PIANOS in use in North Carolina than any other three makes of high-grade Pianos. Some of the STIEFFS in use have been in the same homes for over half a century, and to all STIEFF purchasers we gladly refer.

Because all they have to do is mark off with a trowel just where they want to break it to fit a joint and first one breaks right.

REASON. There's no twist. They're MADE.

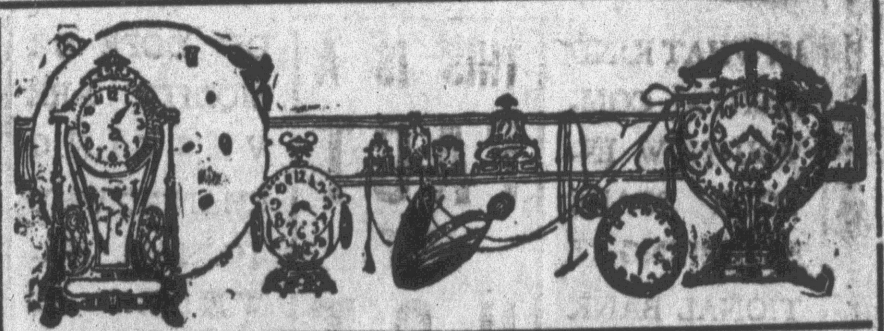

Think of the saving of TIME in this to say nothing of the brick broken up of other kinds in trying to break one right. See the point?

POWDER ON PEANUTS

Used to Make the Goobers Look Clean and Pretty.

LONG AND CAREFUL TOILET.

Besides Being Powdered, the Nuts Are Brushed and Polished and Sized Before They Are Roasted—Cooked at the Mill by Experts.

There is not much to a peanut, to look at it. It grows on a farm and is ready to eat after it has been roasted. A careless deduction would link up the farmer, the commission merchant, then the grocer or Michelangelo. That would be a mighty careless deduction, though. The first time a lot of unroasted peanuts are encountered rub one on a piece of dark cloth and observe the white mark it leaves. That is talcum powder. They powder peanuts to make them look pretty, which is just why sister powders her face, and in that particular peanuts and girls are both alike.

Any farmer can grow peanuts, but no farmer can sell them to the consumer. The peanut he grows is not fit to put on a stand, at least not until it has been touched up. Look at the peanuts on the next push cart and see how even they run as to size. They have all been sorted. Observe how clean they are and how white this lot is, how gray that lot is and how uniform all the different lots are. They have been sorted.

When the peanut is grown it is gathered and carried to a miller, who puts it in a great bin and later carries it over to his mill, where he has a contrivance just chock full of brushes. These brushes get almost every feck of sand and dirt out of the peanuts, which is more than the farmer could have done if he had spent the summer trying. Then the brushed peanuts go on to another sort of mill, and by being tossed about they get their hulls polished, and while that is being done they are peppered with talcum powder, so that by the time they come out of this machine they are as white as they are to appear in public.

But the peanut is not ready for market yet. It is alongside a lot of larger or smaller ones, hurting the appearance of the larger ones, while it does not enhance the value of the smaller ones. To even up matters the output of the talcum powder polishing machine is run out on to a great canvas belt, which travels for fifty feet or more slowly. On either side of this belt are boys and girls. These sort the peanuts as they pass; this squad picking out the biggest, that squad taking the next largest, and so on down till the smallest are left. Shells that have dodged the powder rag are thrown back into the mill, and broken hulls are thrown away.

That is about all for the peanut now, excepting the roasting. It has to be roasted. There is a popular superstition that the Italian vender roasts the peanuts in his little push cart. All he does is keep them hot. They are roasted at the mill, tons at a time, cooked to a nicety by experienced men, who have thermometers and all sorts of appliances to show them when a peanut is "done." This roasted product is the one that the Italian buys, and when he gets it he pops it into his little fake roaster and warms it over. It takes a long time and a lot of work and hosts of boys and girls to get the nickel's worth of hot roasted peanuts in the red and blue striped bag, but there is a reason for it all, and the reason is that a sack of even small sized peanuts will find a buyer quicker than a sack of big and little ones all mixed up together. The stomach likes the eye to make a good report and the peanut commission merchant understands that a shining shell, with indentations filled with talcum, pleases the eyes, and he has no compunctions about the powder box, because he has found out that in roasting the heat drives off the surplus talcum, so that is why if one wants to find out for true about this trick of the trade it will be necessary to get hold of an unroasted and not a roasted peanut.

By way of good measure it might be added that the shelled peanuts, generally sold salted, have been run through a thrashing machine, which breaks the hull and blows it out of the way. Only "Spanish shell" nuts can be so treated. The tougher hulls have to go to Signor Italiano.—Kansas City Journal.

Bible at Fault.

Little Helen, who had but recently mastered her catechism, confessed her disappointment with it thus: "Now, I obey the Fifth Commandment and honor my papa and mamma, yet my days are not a bit longer in the land, for I'm put to bed every night at 7 o'clock, just the same."—Philadelphia Ledger.
