WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., Oct. 10, 1908.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry went to Grifton Friday afternoon to deliver a lecture to the graded school of that place.

Rev. H. H. Mashburn, of Edenton, came over Friday morning and made a most interesting talk to Winterville High school. The students are always glad to see Mr. Mashburn for he always brings them a message worth hearing. He spoke yesterday morning upon the discouragements that pupils come across and gave them great encouragement in his talk.

Misses Hattie Kittrell and Kate Chapman went to Greenville Thursday.

Miss Vivian Roberson went to Gold Point Friday afternoon to spend Sunday at home.

F. A. Edmundson, F. C. Nye, G. E. Lineberry and Misses E. Boushall, Lottie Stone, Bonnor Kittrell and Miriam Johnson left this morning for Greenville.

In as much as the meeting at Ayden Baptist church will continue through next week, the protracted meeting at Mill's school house will be postponed till the week following the fourth Sunday in October. It will begin Monday night after the fourth Sunday.

J. D. Cox went to Greenville today.

Two new dwellings in the course of erection show that our town is on a move.

H. A. White, of Greenville was here Friday.

G. Tucker, one of our most enterprising merchants and citizens, is erecting a nice residence in South Winterville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Croom went to Greenville Friday.

Mesdames A. W. Ange and Louisa Cox went to Ayden Friday to visit relative.

We overlooked the name of Guy Moore among the students who entered W. H. S. last Monday morning.

Dr. B. T. Cox left this morning for Bethel where the county candidates will speak today.

Rev. T. H. King left this morning for Edenton where he will preach at the Baptist church there Sunday in the absence of Pastor Mashburn, who is holding a meeting at Ayden this week.

Farmers Beware.

It is an every day occurrence to run up with reports that tobacco is off at Greenville; and when traced it originates with drummers from other markets. All such drumming is rotten to the core, and intelligent men should not listen to it.

Our sales at the Gum warehouse deny such tales. Our entire sale today averaged $11.84. Our farmers were highly pleased and went home happy. Will Brown and Harris averaged 14c. for a load of tips.

C. D. Smith sold at 10, 160 at 13, 100 at 19.

"THE WHITE HAT" PLEASURES.

Large Audience is Thoroughly Delighted.

Such complimentary advance press notices had been printed of the appearance of the Wayne Musical Comedy Company in "The White Hat," and the management of the opera house had given such a strong guarantee that it would be all claimed for it, that Greenville people turned out in large number Friday night to witness its production. It can be truthfully said that no audience here was ever more thoroughly delighted, and nothing but expressions of appreciation and praise are heard of the performance. From the rise of the curtain on the first scene to the end of the elaborate program there was not a dull moment, nor was there a poor feature in the entire performance.

The people composing the Wayne Musical Company seem to have been selected for their especial fitness, not only for artistic ability but also for personal appearance. It is as pretty a bunch of chorus girls as ever appeared on any stage, every one young, graceful, bright and vivacious, their costumes fresh and beautiful, their singing and dancing excellent. And the men—well it is enough to say that they hold up their side all right, for they are a handsome, good appearing set. There is no mistake about the company fully making good in every particular.

This afternoon they gave a matinee at which "The Money Maker" was presented, and tonight the bill will be the big musical comedy "The Circus Girl" with new music, new costumes and new songs. The seat sales so far indicate another large audience tonight.

Snake Pulling in the Ground Squirrel.

Another snake story came to the notice of this reporter yesterday, and it happened Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kiker were on their way to Sunday school at Hopewell, Burnsville township. Mrs. Kiker saw a pretty ground squirrel apparently digging away at a hole in the ground and her husband decided that he would capture the squirrel. Taking hold of it, he found that he could not pull the little animal from the hole as easily as he at first supposed. Exerting more strength he managed to pull it loose, but was surprised to draw forth a black snake some five or six feet in length. The snake had swallowed the squirrel's head and inch by inch was completing the job, intending to make just one mouthful of it. The snake was killed.—Wadesboro Ansonian.

Teachers' Association.

The Pitt County Teachers' Association held its first meeting of the new school year today with a good attendance and interesting program. Owing to lateness of the hour we have to leave a report of the meeting over until Monday's paper.

SHOT DURING QUARREL.

Man May Die From Gun Shot Wounds—Haddock Arrested.

As the result of an altercation between Jno. Williams and William Haddock, both white, this morning on the Fleming farm near Washington Heights, the former is in the Fowle Memorial hospital in a serious condition. It is not known what the cause of the trouble was, but after hot words Haddock fired both barrels of a shotgun into Williams, the charges entering the face and lungs. The shots were of small size, but the full charges took effect and may prove fatal.

Haddock was arrested by Sheriff Ricks shortly after the shooting occurred.—Washington Messenger.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., October 10 1908.

Bradstreets' today will say for Richmond and vicinity:—

Trade conditions continue about as reported for the past few weeks.

Local trade has been stimulated by many people who have been attracted to the city by a fair. This is especially true of retail trade. Wholesalers of dry goods and shoes report fair filling in orders.

The produce market is active. The apple crop in Virginia is reported full.

Tobacco is being marketed in larger quantities and satisfactory prices are being received. There is an especially active demand for sun wrappers.

The peanut crop of 1907 has been well used up and dealers anticipate an active demand for the present crop which is reported well up the average.

Collections continue slow, some improvement, however, is noted principally attributable to many bills becoming due for discount the first of this month.

With our Colored People.

At the A. M. E. Zion church tomorrow, Rev. H. Bell, D. D. P. E., of the Washington district, will hold our 4th quarterly meeting for the year of our Lord 1908. Everybody is invited to be with us. Preaching at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Come one and all.

R. Henry Sawyer, Jr., Pastor.

Where They Fail to Prosper.

If farmers would raise their own supplies at home, they need give themselves no concern about reported advance in the prices of flour meat and hay. But just as long as they cultivate exclusively what is called the money crops and depend upon purchasing their supplies in the West, they are going to have a hard time and fail to prosper.—Ex.

The show at the Dixie Theatre Monday night deserves your patronage. It is for the benefit of the public library, hence the community. You help yourself by helping the community in which you live. So spend 10 cents for a ticket. You will get value received even in the entertainment.

Don't Forget.

The constant drop of water wears away the hardest stone; The constant gnaw of Towser, Masticates the toughest bone; The constant cooing lover Carries off the blushing maid, And the constant advertiser Is the one who gets the trade.

About Hoarding

The accumulation of money for the purpose of hoarding it is a great wrong. We are persuaded that many do not stop to study the moral qualities of such a life. That which they gather and deposit in their private coffers is so much taken from forces designed by God to be for the salvation of a lost world. He who would divert from the stream rolling all that he can, if not all, above the necessities and comforts of himself, is in the judgment of all, moved by a prodigiously wrong impulse. For the necessities, the comforts, and even probably the lives of many others below depend upon the water supply of that stream. Suppose seventy million dollars were enough money to effect the preaching of the gospel to all the world and one man inherited or accumulated and died at last holding this amount for himself! What under the supposition is the character of the hoarding before God of the several, a greater or smaller number, whose holdings aggregate seventy millions! Better not let men die of hunger when you have enough and to spare.—Presbyterian Standard.

Editor Weather Prophet.

The editor of a weekly received the following query: Can you tell me what the weather will be next month? In reply he wrote, "It is my belief that the weather next month will be much like your subscription." The inquirer wondered for an hour what the editor was driving at, when he happened to think of the word "unsettled." He went in the next day and squared his account.

Please Keep Your Dogs Shut Up.

All persons owning dogs in the town of Greenville are requested to keep them confined, so that they will not walk on and break up the concrete side walks in course of construction. Those who have not paid the dog tax due the town will do well to heed this request.

PURE WATER.

In an advertisement elsewhere in this paper the superintendent of the water and light plant calls attention to the analysis of the water by the State chemist in which that official declares it is pure water. As a safeguard to health of those using city water the law requires that samples of the water must be analyzed not less frequently than once a month. It is gratifying that all analyses from the Greenville plant have shown that the water is good and wholesome. From the standpoint of health, convenience and cheapness it is to the interest of every home in town to use city water. It is better and more conducive to health to use this water than to use it from open wells or pumps. It is more convenient to have a spigot in the house that gives an abundance of water merely by a turn, than to have to go out and draw from a well or work a tiresome pump-handle. It is also far cheaper to use city water. Enough can be had for domestic use—3,000 gallons—at a cost of only $1.00 per month, and in most instances it will cost that much to keep a well or pump in repair. These are good reasons why the people should use city water.

There is an opening in Greenville for a profitable business if some enterprising man will take hold of it. It is a collecting agency or collecting bureau. We believe such an enterprise would not only prove profitable to the promoter, but would also be a convenience to business men who would like to get some responsible person to collect their accounts. If the houses in town that are rented could be placed under one collecting management, losses through failure to pay rent would be reduced to a minimum. The benefit would be as great in other lines of collecting. There are a number of professional and business men who would place accounts for collection in the hands of a responsible agency.

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday night, 13th, and it should be made a good meeting. There are some important matters that should be attended to, and others that might be discussed with profit. The organization has already accomplished much for Greenville, and more is possible with proper effort. The members of the Tobacco Board of Trade are cordially invited to be present and take part in the meeting Tuesday night. All working together is the way to bring things to pass.

Ain't it funny that so many of the big Republicans are dumb as oysters? The shut-up came so sudden like.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Mayor Whedbee has ordered that dogs be kept off the street while the sidewalk building is in progress. Would it not be delightful if such an order was made permanent?

The rivalry will be between Raleigh and Greensboro next week.

As the days get shorter it takes turning about to get through in time.

Have you registered?

How to be Loved.

How seldom you see a lovable old woman, whose age is as beautiful as was the bloom of her youth. And when you do, you wonder how it has happened? Well, this is how:

She learns how to forget disagreeable things.

She did not give way to her nerves, and inflict them upon her friends.

She mastered the art of saying pleasant things.

She did not expect too much from her friends.

She made whatever work she had to do congenial.

She did not lose sight of her illusions, and would not think all the world wicked and unkind.

She helped the miserable and sympathized with the sorrowful.

She never forgot that kind words and a smile cost little and are treasures to the discouraged.

She did unto others as she would be done by and her reward is love and consideration in her old age, and she has learned the secret of a long and happy life.

Greenville N. C.
September the 17th 1908.

Mr. H. A. White,
Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir—

During the summer you prevailed on me to buy a disability policy in the Maryland Casualty Company. Within a very short time after purchasing same, I found that it was necessary for me to have a slight surgical operation performed on account of which it was necessary for me to remain away from my business for a period of about two weeks.

The check presented me to-day in full settlement of lost time, also covering cost of operation is very much appreciated, and I can highly recommend the Maryland and yourself for the prompt service rendered.

Very truly yours,
W. E. HOOKER.

Miles and the Reporter.

"General Nelson A. Miles always did like to have fun with new reporters," said an old newspaper man. "I remember some years ago he told an unfortunate Washington correspondent a long story about a new gun metal that some genius was supposed to have just discovered. It was a wonderful alloy which was as tough as steel and as light as aluminium. By its use, the general said, it would be possible to build guns which would weigh no more than the immense projectiles which they fired.

"The correspondent was delighted and went off and wrote a beautiful article, which produced spasms of laughter throughout the entire artillery service. You see, it doesn't require a very profound knowledge of ballistics to know that if a gun and projectile both weigh exactly the same amount they would fly in opposite directions with exactly the same velocity when the piece was fired."

City of Mexico Street Cars.

The street car system of the city of Mexico is a fine one, but here is one arbitrary rule that strangers must learn as soon as possible—that is, the cars do not stop except at certain points, where you will notice the electric light poles have a band of white painted on them. These stopping places are very close together in the crowded parts of the city, so you must look out for them. You are expected, too, to enter at the back and go out at the front door. Apart from this, the conductors will be found courteous, ever ready to tell you things and anxious to assist you.—Houston Post.

No One Questions It.

An automobile party was touring through a mountainous district of one of the states and had made a stop in one of the small towns to make some repairs to the machine. While they waited the attention of one of the party was called to an intelligent looking lad of about fourteen who seemed to be very much interested in the work and of whom the following question was asked:

"Say, son, what do you live on out here?"

"Nuthin," replied the somewhat surprised youth. "Dad's a preacher."—Judge.

Object, Matrimony.

"I want to put an ad. in your paper," said the weary looking man. "Make it, 'Wanted, a situation—any old job.'"

"Shall I say 'wages no object?'" suggested the clerk.

"No; make it 'object matrimony.' If I could get acquainted with a decent job I'd be willing to marry it for life."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Gaining the End.

D'Aubist—Do you think my battle picture expresses, as I have meant it to, all the poignant horrors of war? Krittik—Oh, yes; it's the awfulest thing I ever saw!—Cleveland Leader.

The Coveted Hand.

The young man had gone to the heiress' father—always a ticklish job—but he took his courage with an iron grip. "Sir," he blurted out, "I want to ask you for your daughter's hand." The old man, not in the least disconcerted, said: "Which hand? The one she signs checks with. I suppose?"

WHAT COLORS TELL.

The Way the Spectroscope Reads the Sun and Stars.

When one lights a common sulphur match in the dark it is worth while to notice what happens. First, its phosphorus gives out faint yellow rays, and almost at the same time the sulphur begins to burn with bluish beams.

As yet the flame yields little light. In a moment or two the wood of the match takes fire, and then a stream of clear white light pours forth. Each of the materials of the match—its phosphorus, sulphur and wood—has shone in burning with a color of its own.

In a street lighted by electricity and gas the eye detects at once the difference between the white rays of the one and the yellow beams of the other. If nitrate of strontia is set on fire we have a splendid red flame. Filings of copper burn with a glow of greenish blue, and a fine, pure blue is had when filings of zinc are ignited. These and other such substances furnish the maker of fireworks with his materials.

Rockets, roman candles and bombs all derive their beauty from the special tints which attend the combustion of their ingredients. And any one who has once seen the colors peculiar to common salt, iron or antimony as they trace themselves on the evening sky will always know what is aflame when he sees those colors again.

Sir John Herschel was the first to understand that colors of this kind tell a wonderful story. He will know how the stars varied in tint—that Aldebaran was ruddy, Arcturus yellow and Sirius, the most glorious of all, white. Might not the colors of a body aflame, whether on earth or in the sky, really be telling us of what that body was composed?

His suggestion was taken up, and its fruit is that marvel of ingenuity, the spectroscope. One of its principal parts is a prism employed to break up the hues. These hues, which are divided by many dark lines, make known to us that the sun and stars are built of such materials as compose our own globe.

Yet more, they tell us what kind of atmosphere surrounds them and, most astonishing of all, give us the rate at which a remote star is moving toward or from the tiny orb we inhabit.—New York Herald.

NEW YORK WAITERS.

They Spoiled the Appetite of the Transplanted Citizen.

"These New York waiters have got on my nerves," said a transplanted citizen from a smaller town. "Dining in the magnificent hotels and restaurants would be a joy if some one would kindly remove the waiters while you ate. I can think of nothing but the big, black buzzards that hover over your head in Florida.

"There are so many waiters standing around, all in black, and they look so big and get their faces or their hands so close to you and your dinner that you feel like throwing the china at them. When your waiter has disappeared a smaller edition keeps right after you, filling your glass, removing dishes, giving you more butter, and if you look away from him the head waiter has his eye on you.

"The most maddening thing of all to me is the way the waiter orders your dinner for you. One took me in hand the other night, and I let him have his way just to see what he would do to me. I hate fish, but he averred that fish was the best thing I could eat and one particular dish was the chef's masterpiece. He brought it and, ye gods, it was fish all greasy with a dope made of cheese and mushrooms that about finished me; but, fortunately, he only let me take two bites when he whisked my plate away and set down a salad that had several kinds of fruit laced to lettuce leaves, with strips of red and green peppers and French dressing over that. I barely looked at that when he took it away in triumph and gave me an ice cream thick with chestnuts and fruits.

"Now, I dine on rare roast beef, plain lettuce and never take dessert, so you see how near he came to sulking me. 'Come again, sir,' said he. 'Not if I'm conscious,' said I.'—New York Times.

FIRST CHEAP WATCH

The Story of the Famous Old Long Winding Waterbury.

SCHEME OF AN OLD COBBLER

How the Connecticut Shoemaker's Idea Was Taken Up and Worked Out—A Timepiece That Came to Be Known All Over the World.

In a small country town in Connecticut lived a cobbler. He was a poor man and a peculiar one. The boys called him a "gee," and some thought him crazy. But he kept on in the even tenor of his way, living his own life and thinking his own thoughts. One of these thoughts was that he could make a watch that would have only three wheels.

A watchmaker out of a job heard of the cobbler and called at his little shop. This was the beginning of the famous Waterbury watch, which was the first cheap watch to be manufactured. It is now a thing of the past. But its cheap price and its remarkably long "wind" (it was a stem winder) were known around the world.

The Waterbury was named for the town where it was made. It had more than the three wheels that the cobbler had planned, but the little old shoemaker's idea was the original germ from which was evolved the successful cheap watch.

Having got the idea, the purchaser of the cobbler's rights found that the first difficulty in his path was lack of money. He looked about for a man with money enough, nerve enough and imagination enough to lead him to render the financial aid without which no first step could be taken. He was found, because it was a Yankee with an indomitable will that was looking for him.

"How much money will it take and how long a time do you want before you can begin to make your watches in sufficient quantities to make the thing a success," he inquired.

"I will be frank with you," replied the inventor. "It will require $25,000, and I shall need eight months for preparation."

"Go ahead," said the daring capitalist.

He went ahead. He met unexpected difficulties and had spent $250,000 and used up twenty-eight months before he turned out a single watch. But the capitalist never faltered. Then the factory, for which every piece of machinery had to be invented and specially made, turned out its first thousand watches.

Not one of them would go! Among other things, it was found that the sheets of brass out of which were stamped the wheels of the watch had a grain somewhat like wood. The wheels cut out round would not stay round.

This difficulty being remedied, a second thousand watches were made. A large number of these went, but the percentage of "stoppers" (watches that refused to go) was still too large.

New study, new experiments, however, finally perfected the cheap little timekeepers to the point of perfection that only about 10 per cent were stoppers. The good watches were tested in six positions—lying on the face, on the back and in four positions on the edge. The maker of each part stamped his mark on the part he made, so that if fault was found in that part he must make it right.

Then came the question of selling the watches, and over $300,000 was spent in the years of its vogue in advertising the Waterbury watch. Some of the methods used were interesting.

A negro minstrel troupe were paid to open their show by saying, "We have come from Waterbury, the land of eternal spring," referring to the long time required to wind the Waterbury watch.

One day the owner of one of these timepieces was winding it on the train. Across the aisle a traveler noted that his neighbor was winding his watch. It caused no thought until a second look and then a third showed the winding still under way. Then the astonished man spoke. "Excuse me, sir, but are you winding a watch?"

"Yes," said the winding owner, "and I'm tired of it. You wind awhile, will you?" This led to explanations and resulted in the ordering by the stranger, who had never before seen a Waterbury, of 50,000 watches for the use of his business house in his China trade.

The great business went on, and large sums of money were made in it. All over the world people were buying these watches, so cheap were they. All over the world people laughed at the "long wind." The old backer of the enterprise had died, and one of his successors felt indignant because his son in traveling in some remote part of Hungary was asked if the Waterbury he came from was the place where the watch with a long wind was made.

"And," said the man, "I don't want the product of my factory laughed about all over the earth." But his ambition led him to try to make a good watch. The new field he soon found was by this time occupied by most successful competitors, and after getting into hopeless indebtedness the old Waterbury Watch company died in the house of those who should have been its friends.—John F. Simmons in New York Tribune.

If You Need a Piano

The use of best materials, best construction by skilled workmen, profiting by the experience the STIEFF FACTORY has had in its sixty-eight years of continued manufacture under the same management, places the STIEFF PIANO at the head of High-Grade Instruments. Its sweet tone does not change, as does the so-called "good-as" variety, so often sold by dealers to unsuspecting purchasers because there is more profit in the sale.

Because all they have to do is mark off with a trowel just where they want to break it to fit a joint and first one breaks right.

REASON. There's no twist. They're MADE.

Even the Hash.
Embarrassed in the fashionable restaurant by the menus written in French, the Wall street man of business exclaimed:
"Hang these froids, entremets and hors d'oeuvres! Bring me a plate of good plain hash if you've got such a thing on the premises."
"You mean an olla podrida, sir," said the waiter in a tone of dignified reproach. "And afterward?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Perhaps He Was.
One pupil whispered to the next. "Our teacher is a regular duffer."
The professor, who had just put a question to the class, thought the boy was framing a reply and said, "Come, my lad, speak up. Perhaps you are right."—Pathfinder.

Women of a Dutch Village.
The village women of Holland take special care to keep the tips of their white lace hoods stiff with starch, which is as necessary a perfection in their toilet as polished linen and spotless collars with ours. This delicate hood is worn over a black skullcap that fits the closely clipped head very much like the headgear of a nun. The elderly women, widows, often wear a straw bonnet over it. A jacket of dark blue, with a breastpiece of cream cloth and dark blue border of the same cloth at the hips, constitutes the dress of the women and the girls. The skirts protrude at the hips in a grotesque fashion on account of the many flannels which they wind about the body, evidently a fad with them as with many peasants of the Black forest, where the custom prevails to wear as many skirts as the spare box will allow, adding at least one skirt every year.

Bible at Fault.
Little Helen, who had but recently mastered her catechism, confessed her disappointment with it thus: "Now, I obey the Fifth Commandment and honor my papa and mamma, yet my days are not a bit longer in the land, for I'm put to bed every night at 7 o'clock, just the same."—Philadelphia Ledger.
