A DELIGHTFUL DAY

For "The Mothers' Club" of Winterville.

At the home of Mrs. J. Haddock, of Winterville, Mrs. M. Louisa Cox, on the 76th anniversary of her birthday, entertained the Mothers' club most pleasantly.

She selected the 8th chapter of Romans for the Bible reading, after which was sung one of her favorite hymns, "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds." Mrs. A. D. Cox then offered a most suitable prayer.

The minutes of last meeting were read, and some unfinished business attended to. After this the program for the evening followed:

Readings: "The Care of the Body" by Mrs. B. T. Cox, "A Man's Mother" by Mrs. A. D. Cox, "A Clean Record" by Mrs. Maggie Butt.

A letter from Mrs. Cox to the Mothers' club was read by Mrs. J. D. Cox, after which the parting hymn was sung.

As a motion for adjournment was offered, an invitation came for all to repair to the dining room, where fruit, punch, cake and other nice things were served.

The table was beautifully decorated with flowers and dressed cakes, prepared mostly by the hostess herself.

Mrs. Cox is one of the oldest and most exemplary Christian ladies of this community. She has been noted through her whole life for the sacrifices made for others, and has obeyed the command "Bear ye one another's burdens."

In giving a further description of this gathering, it would be well to say "Lord speak to me that I may speak," it really was a sermon from on high, to teach us better and holier things. It was a treat to meet with this humble, Christian lady, and get the inspiration that went out to all present. It was not so much the repast that gave joy, but the fellowship of kindred minds.

It is sweet to behold one who is fast approaching the laying down of burdens with full and unwavering trust in Him who directs all our plans.

To add to the beauty of this report I take pleasure in giving Mrs. Cox's letter in full:

Oct 7th, 1908.

Dear Mothers:

We meet from time to time to talk of and to study home life and the training of children and I have just a few words I wish to say to you. If you would have a happy home, be kind, patient and loving and teach your children humility, love and obedience.

Provoke not your children to wrath, but bring them up in the fear and admonition of the Lord; teach them honesty, truth and nobility, for without these there is no true character and if you would help them add stars to their crowns, teach them to love the Lord and obey His commandments.

Today you meet with me to celebrate my 76th birthday and I feel that the Lord has blessed me in many ways, all through my life and I praise His name that it is as well with me as it is. I wish you all a very pleasant meeting and hope that love will reign supreme in our hearts for love is the fulfilling of the law.

In the sunset of my life, I would ask a question of you soft low! Will you love me now that that I am old and feeble?

May the Lord help us and grant all that is best for us.

Yours with many good wishes, and a heart full of love,

M. Louisa Cox,
Maggie Butt, reporting secretary.

TAFT'S VISIT TO N. C.

Statement of Its Purpose Much Reflection on State as Greensboro Speech Was on His Party.

Raleigh, N. C. Oct. 14th.—The reason given by Mr. Taft for his visit to North Carolina and other Southern States is as much of a reflection on the State as a whole as his speech in Greensboro to the Republican State convention in 1896 was to his party in this State. He is reported in the New York Tribune of last Sunday as follows:

"I am going South to make a few speeches—one in Kentucky, one in Tennessee, one North Carolina, one in Virginia, and one in Maryland—not so much with a view to carrying those States as to show the people down there that, no matter what they think they are a part of the union, and being a part of the union, they ought to vote for the Republican party, voting for which will make them a part of the nation, and give to them that influence which people of their intelligence and energy and progress and enterprise ought to enjoy."

This is nothing less than a charge that while the South is bodily a part of the union that its thought is not loyal to the union, and that the only means by which the South can establish its loyalty and become a part of the nation is by allying itself with the Republican party, of which Mr. Taft said, in speaking to the representatives of that party, assembled in convention in Greensboro just two years ago.

"In my judgment the Republican party in North Carolina would be much stronger as a voting party if all the Federal offices were filled by Democrats." All the State offices were filled by Democrats. And again: "As long, however, as the Republican party in the Southern States shall represent little save a factional chase for Federal offices in which business men and men of substance in the community have no desire to enter, and in the result of which they have no interest, we may expect the present political condition of the South to continue."

Mr. Taft's surprising statement can be accounted for on no other theory than his propensity for making breaks. North Carolina's loyalty to the union, in thought and sentiment as well as in fact, will not be questioned by any one but Judge Taft or Judge Montgomery, and for the simple sake of convincing them it will no more ally itself with Judge Taft's "unfit North Carolina Federal office-seekers" than it will support Judge Taft in his party's alliance with the trusts and protected interests upon which he relies to purchase his election to the presidency.

Fire in Wilson.

Wilson, N. C. Oct. 14th, 1908.—Early this morning fire was discovered in the Caswell building and the stock of J. D. Lee occupying two stores was badly damaged before the flames were extinguished. Mr. Lee had insurance of $15,000 which will cover his loss. The upper floor occupied by Snakenburg Bros., printers, and Turner's studio were badly damaged, their loss being practically covered by insurance.

Some folks say there was a little frost this morning.

ENCOURAGE YOUR PLAY HOUSE.

Good Attractions Deserve Good Patronage.

Manager R. Williams, of Masonic Temple opera house, is to be commended for the good class of plays he has recently secured for the pleasure of Greenville theatre goers. Two weeks ago he had "The Clansman", last week both "The White Hat" and "Circus Girl", and for Monday night of next week he has "The Runaways". When plays of this kind come the house should be liberally patronized, for without this such plays cannot be secured. The troupes are very quick to learn which are good show towns and which are the poor ones, and of course they avoid the latter. If Greenville wants good plays they can be secured with the proper patronage. Neither "The Clansman" on its last visit nor the Wayne Musical Co. received the patronage here that they deserved, therefore our people should do better and fill the house next Monday night. All know what to expect and that they are taking no chances when they buy tickets to "The Runaway".

An Incident at Greensboro.

It's altogether in knowing how. A woman stood on West Market today when the parade went by. She had five children and seemed perfectly at home. Another woman, solicitous for her, asked if she could not help her. Oh no; she was all right; her husband had the others across the street. How many others? Four—nine in all. And the good woman was happy.—Greensboro Record.

Barred in Presence of Gentler Sex.

Little Francis, seven years old, was being questioned, in the parlor, by his oldest sister's beau as to what constituted his studies at school. "Reading, writing, spelling and arithmetic," promptly replied the little fellow. "Do you know anything about vulgar fractions," was asked. "Yes," replied the indignant child; "I know they are something you oughtn't to be talking about before sister!"—The November Delineator.

Seat Sale for Monday Night.

Quite a number of seats for "The Runaways" next Monday night have already been subscribed for. The sale of seats will begin at Reflector Book Store at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and from 9 to 12 o'clock the sale will be only for advance subscribers, after 12 o'clock to the general public. If you want to get on the advance list you should see Manager Williams before Friday evening.

Aks Payment for Note 137 Years Old.

New York, Oct. 14.—A ten pound note, issued by the English Colony of New York 137 years ago has been presented to Comptroller Metz with a request for payment. If the city has to pay the note it will have to fork over $32,000. The Comptroller has asked the Corporation counsel for advice.

Another Fire Alarm

Early Wednesday night there was another fire alarm, caused by fire originating from the explosion of an old lamp in the kitchen of Mrs. Bettie Pomes on Twelfth street. It was put out without any damage of consequence.

THE PIE HUNTERS OUT.

Radical Speeches at Fountain Are Harmless.

Fountain, N. C. Oct. 14.—Early yesterday the Republican candidates of Pitt county pitched their tent in this place. It was advertised that they would begin at one o'clock. But when the time came no crowd had come, so they waited until 2:15 to begin.

The audience consisted of thirty-eight persons, including ten or more candidates and the town people. Not more than a dozen men from the adjoining counties being present.

The only speech of any consequence was made by one W. R. Dixon, once a Democrat, later on a Populist, and now a Radical. But he holds Farmville postoffice as his part of the Republican pie.

He was followed by W. J. Manning, who began his speech with profane language and entertained his faithful few with smutty jokes and boomed up by trying to organize a Republican club, but made a complete failure as he did not secure a single member.

All of the candidates present were dissatisfied Democrats and pie hunters, because they were not nominated for some office.

The writer does not think they have done any damage to our cause, if anything they have stung behind it.

Everything is bright and the prospects are good for rolling up the usual Democratic majority.

Jurors for November Term of Court.

First week—D W McGlowhorn, J Harvey Boyd, W L Bryant, C L Thigpen, S M Crisp, Isaac Baldree, A J Moye, T A Duke, C D Whitehurst, M M Ewell, J F Evans, C P Moore, W K Woolard, James Brown, R F Tugwell, E F Williams, T H Bowers, C A Bridgers.

Second week—C W Bailey, D W Hardee, B F Tripp, J W Gay, A V Lang, Elisha Holloman, D F Lang, Peter Brown, James L Little, L I Brown, H R Johnson, F L Andrews, L A Curbett, J D Thorne, J W Flake, J F Cox, W E Moye, J R Gay.

Governor Brown is Happy.

Marietta, Ga., Wednesday 14—Governor-elect Joseph W. Brown has issued an open letter addressed to the people of Georgia expressing his thanks for the big majority in the election. He said Democrats, Populists and Republicans joined in supporting him, hence his thanks went to all of them.

Teddy Again Denies.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Secretary Loeb to-day made a denial of the statement issued at Democratic headquarters that President Roosevelt offered the position of Commissioner-General of Immigration to Daniel J. Keefe in return for the latter's support of Judge Taft.

Dixie Theatre Ben'fit.

The Dixie Theatre this evening and Friday evening from 5 to 11 o'clock will be for the benefit of the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church. A liberal patronage, is asked. There will be good pictures.

Republican Speaking.

Hon. Claudius Dockery will be with the county candidates at Ayden, Saturday, October 17th, 1908. All are invited to hear this distinguished speaker.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

D. C. Moore went to Grifton today.

H. McClellan went to Baltimore today.

Miss Jackie Moore, of Whitakers, is visiting her sister, Mrs. B. H. Hearne.

J. C. Albritton left Wednesday evening for Sanford, Fla., to spend sometime for his health.

Miss Pattie Coffield went to Rocky Mount Wednesday evening to attend the Baptist association.

Miss Daisy Harris, of Enfield, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Holmes, returned home today.

Attend the Quilting.

The quilt for the box to be sent to one of the frontier missionaries is to be packed at Mrs. W. R. Smith's Friday afternoon at 2:30. Every member of the Missionary Society of the Baptist church is given an invitation to attend. Plans for packing box will be discussed.

Pitt Wins Prizes at Fair

Mr O. L. Joyner returned this morning from the state fair at Raleigh. He had 14 head of Hereford cattle from the Ingeltarre stock farm on exhibition at the fair and was awarded two first prizes and four second prizes. One of the first prizes was for the best herd of beef cattle and the other for best grade Aberdeen Angus cow. Mr. Joyner has fine stock at his farm, and it pays to raise that kind.

REPUBLICAN FALSEHOODS.

You Republicans are dirty boys. You must have forgotten that the good people of Pitt county are now, and have always been, opposed to such false reports as you are spreading over this good county. You must sit up and take notice that the Democrats are going to correct these falsehoods. We would pity you if we thought such reports were due to ignorance. For an instance, you have circulated the report that the county commissioners have entered into a contract whereby the convicts are to be worked on one mile of road in Greenville township for a period of from one to two years, at the expense of the tax payers of the whole county.

Now, boys, you know this is false. As a matter of fact, in the first place, the agreement is that the convicts shall work on this road not to exceed fifteen days, and in the second place the laws of North Carolina say that the township in which this work is done shall bear every cent of the expense. We will not ask you to take our word for this, but respectfully refer you to the records of the board of county commissioners, and to the private laws of 1905, passed by a Democratic legislature. You are spreading abroad a thousand other false reports which we expect to take up later.

We wonder where the Department of Justice was when one noted Federal criminal from Pitt county, after having been duly convicted, went to Washington City accompanied by Judge Adams and succeeded in evading the law?

About the next step now due in the line of civic improvement and cleanliness for Greenville is to stop spitting on the new sidewalks. Big gobs of tobacco juice leave ugly stains that are not ornamental.

An Indiana woman has sued for divorce from her husband on the ground that he has been drunk thirteen years. He might have known something would happen when he run up to that unlucky number.

The Charge of Extravagance.

There is no issue upon which the Democratic speakers of North Carolina have appealed to the people with more success this year than that raised by the Republicans in charging Democrats extravagance in government; increased expense in State administration. Extravagance is the expenditure of money for unnecessary purposes; expenditure beyond the ability of the individual or the State. Considered so—and this is the true meaning of the term—there has been no extravagance in Democratic government in North Carolina for each dollar has been by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

spent for a useful purpose. Expenses have increased? Of course they have. Population has increased and public needs grow, year by year. The question is whether or not any public money has been diverted, dishonestly applied, wasted or expended on unworthy objects. No. The charitable institutions of the State are more nearly fulfilling their missions than ever before; there are more schools than ever before, and better; the pension payments are larger. The State is more nearly than ever before giving its citizens a full return for their tax money, and no charge of extravagance can lie against the Democratic party. With a developing civilization, with an increasing demand for the accessories of modern life, with an increasing need for things which we have always needed but could not afford and can now afford—as for instance a reformatory, provided by the last legislature—public expenditures will continually grow larger and larger; you need not have any doubt about that; but they ought to, if our people are increasingly able to meet them, and it is certain they will be. Extravagance is one thing; the wise and honest expenditure of public money for useful and necessary purposes is another.

The liberality and judiciousness with which the State is spending the money for the people is one of the chief glories of the governing party. In vain it will be sought to make head against it on this account.—Charlotte Observer.

Our Republican friends are unlike the old negro who had been a fearful rascal, but was converted and gave in his experience. He said he wanted to tell the people what a bad man he had been, but was afraid, whereupon the preacher told him to go ahead, the Lord was with him. "Yes," said the converted darkey, "but the Lord does not sit on the grand jury." The Republicans don't mind their meanness, for while the Lord does sit on the grand jury, they have a way of protecting themselves.—Greensboro Record.

Dear Sir:

During the summer you prevailed on me to buy a disability policy in the Maryland Casualty Company. Within a very short time after purchasing same, I found that it was necessary for me to have a slight surgical operation performed on account of which it was necessary for me to remain away from my business for a period of about two weeks.

The check presented me to-day in full settlement of lost time, also covering cost of operation is very much appreciated, and I can highly recommend the Maryland and yourself for the prompt service rendered.

Very truly yours, W. E. HOOKER.

Female Weakness

"Last Fall," writes Mrs. S. G. Bailey, of Tunnelton, W. Va., "I was going down by inches, from female disease, with great pain. After taking Cardui, Oh! My! How I was benefited! I am not well yet, but am so much better that I will keep on taking Wine of Cardui till I am perfectly cured."

Despite the envious attacks of jealous enemies and rivals, Cardui still holds supreme position today [as in the past 70 years] for the relief and cure of female diseases. It stops pain, tones up the organs, regulates the functions, and aids in the replacement of a misplaced organ.

OUTWARD DISPLAY.

It Characterizes the Social Life All Over Italy.

Social life among the Italians is really not so different from social life in other countries, although certain national peculiarities must be remarked, says Harry Quimby in Leslie's Weekly. Italians even in the most elaborate homes do not wear evening dress for dinner unless there is a party. The particularly fashionable wear a smoking coat and a black tie, but the plain black coat is more universally used. All over Italy social life is characterized by great love of outward display. In Naples particularly the afternoon drive or promenade is important to reputation and happiness. The following will illustrate the prevailing feeling: An American who had taken a flat in a palazzo, the first floor of which was occupied by a noble family in reduced circumstances, noticed every day a servant going up the steps carrying a pair of carriage doors. Upon investigating he found that the noble family shared a carriage with other families and that each had its coat of arms upon its own doors.

Fewer Italians go to the famous watering places than people of any other country. The popular annual tonic of the Italians consists of eating grapes. The treatment includes grape juice and grapes, as much as can be taken, in the morning and at noon a rare beefsteak. In the afternoon more grapes and grape juice are partaken of, and at 7 in the evening another rare beefsteak. This is continued for three weeks, when the patient is said to look and feel like a different person. The grapes purify the system, and the beef acts as a tonic and keeps up the strength, according to the Italian physicians.

Birds With Lamps.

"As we rowed softly in the still, cold night," said a nature student, "we saw a number of faint blurs of light along the shore. They were like fairy lamps that had been swathed in some pale sort of gauze. 'What on earth can they be?' I asked.

"Them's kingfishers," said my guide. "Them's kingfishers a-fishin'."

"But the lights?"
"The lights is the phosphorescence on the birds' breasts," said the old hunter. "In the soft down on a kingfisher's breast there is a phosphorescence that glows in the dark. The bird is aware of this here natural light o' hisn, and he uses it. He stands on the edge o' the stream, the same as them fellers there, puttin' his breast to the water, an' the faint light draws the fish to him, consumed with curiosity, an' he has no difficulty in pickin' up a square meal for himself an' family."
Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Sausage.

The sausage dates back to the year 897. It has been asserted that the Greeks in the days of Homer manufactured sausage, but this prehistoric mixture had nothing in common with our modern product. The ancient so called sausage was composed of the same materials which enter in the makeup of the boudin of the French market and the blood pudding of the French Canadian. The ancient sausage was enveloped in the stomachs of goats. It was not until the tenth century that sausage made of hashed pork became known. It was in or near the year 1500 that, thanks to the introduction into Germany of cinnamon and saffron, the sausages of Frankfurt and Strassburg acquired a universal reputation.—Philadelphia Record.

CHINA'S GREAT WALL.

It Was Undoubtedly the Work of a Real Genius.

The Great Wall is often stigmatized as a monument of human shortsightedness and folly by many who are willing to rhapsodize over the Great Pyramid. A great architectural work the pyramid was not. It was simply a stone tumulus, and everything goes to prove that it was nothing more than a superlative mausoleum, a monument of the vanity of the monarch who was entombed beneath it, and considered either as mere bulk or as an engineering feat it sinks into utter insignificance beside the Great Wall, a work of vast practical utility.

It is in fact the Great Wall more than anything which stamps its founder for all time for what he was—a man of the highest order of genius, possibly the greatest genius who has borne sway on the earth. The Chinese of the second century B. C., like the Romans of the first, had arrived at a critical stage in the course of their development, and each nation succeeded in producing a hero at the right moment to lead it to the accomplishment of its destiny. The prescience with which Julius Caesar, confronted with the problem of finding a suitable defensive frontier for the Roman empire, solved it by the occupation of the line of the Rhine is rightly considered as one of the chief reasons for his pre-eminent place in the world's history. The guarded river that the genius of the great dictator had made the frontier of the Roman empire was the terminus of barbarism for nearly five centuries. Chi Huang Ti was confronted with the same problem. He solved it with equal prescience and greater success by an inspiration of genius unparalleled in history. Where nature had placed no barrier he reared an artificial one, and for ten centuries the northern barbarians pressing down from the great central tableland strove in vain to burst through the bulwarks which he had interposed between their ravaging hordes and the rich plains of China.

Probably the Great Wall was a more formidable obstacle to the barbarians of central Asia than the Rhine to the Germanic hordes of Europe. It was at once a well-defined frontier, a magnificent military road and an impregnable intrenched picket line along the border. The towers were probably all occupied by pickets and communication maintained by cavalry patrols, a very easy matter on the platforms of the wall. The gates were doubtless strongly garrisoned, and at strategic points along the wall and to its rear bodies of field troops collected in permanent fortresses and intrenched camps. The wall itself was a formidable obstacle to a band of marauders. If they succeeded in scaling it there still remained the nearly insuperable difficulty of bringing across their horses, and a Tartar without his horse is well nigh helpless. Did a stronger force make an attack it must still have been an easy matter to concentrate on the threatened pass in any numbers.—Edward Ford in Contemporary Review.

Curiosities of Our Calendar.

There are some curious facts about our calendar. No century can begin on Wednesday, Friday or Sunday. The same calendars can be used every twenty years. October always begins on the same day of the week as January, April as July, September as December. February, March and November begin on the same days. May, June and August always begin on different days from each other and every other month in the year. The first and last days of the year are always the same. These rules do not apply to leap year, when comparison is made between days before and after Feb. 29.

Ancient Smithfield.

Smithfield is probably the oldest cattle market in the world. It was already ancient when Fitz-Stephen made an allusion to its existence in 1150. Then a place for live cattle only, it lay outside the city walls and served in the absence of the cattle as a place of recreation. Two hundred years later the corporation assumed official control over the beasts and the butchers. But these did not have the complete monopoly of Smithfield, as the blood of the martyrs and the revelers of Bartholomew fair testify—London Chronicle.

He Knew by Experience.

A little boy who had just this season joined Sunday school was asked by his mother how he liked it. "Why?" exclaimed Charlie disgustedly. "they don't know much. The teacher asked what was the colic, and I was the only one who knew."
"And what did you say, dear?"
"Why, I told them pretty quick that it was a pain in the stomach."

If You Need a Piano THREE PONTS

SHOULD BE CONSIDERED WHEN YOU PURCHASE

First: Is the Piano strictly high-grade, of a lasting ton-quality, and made by a reliable factory?

Answer—From

The use of best materials, best construction by skilled workmen, profiting by the experience the STIEFF FACTORY has had in its sixty-eight years of continued manufacture under the same management, places the STIEFF PIANO at the head of High-Grade Instruments. Its sweet tone does not change, as does the so-called "good as" variety, so often sold by dealers to unsuspecting purchasers because there is more profit in the sale.

Second: How can I obtain the BEST PIANO for the least money, value being considered?

ALL STIEFF PIANOS ARE SOLD TO THE CUSTOMER BY THE MANUFACTURERS thus guaranteeing against excessive profits often obtained when an instrument passes through several ownerships before reaching the customer.

If you buy a STIEFF. There are more STIEFF PIANOS in use in North Carolina than any other three makes of high-grade Pianos. Some of the STIEFFS in use have been in the same homes for over half a century, and to all STIEFF purchasers we gladly refer.

CAMELS HARBOR HATRED.

Will Wait Until an Opportunity Arrives For Revenge.

The Arab who has angered a camel will throw his clothes upon the ground, and the infuriated beast after stamping on them and tearing them asunder with its teeth goes on its way, and the driver is thereafter quite safe, as it seems to be an axiom with the camel that no man shall be put in peril of life twice for one offense.

The camel is stupid save when angry and then seems to become almost preternatural in carrying out its vengeful designs. Palgrave relates the following story of a camel's revenge, which serves to illustrate this point: "A lad of fourteen had conducted a large camel laden with wood from one village to another at a half hour's distance. As the animal loltered or turned out of the way its conductor struck it repeatedly and harder than it seemed to have thought he had a right to do; but, not finding the occasion favorable for taking immediate quits, it 'bode its time.' That time was not long in coming.

"A few days later the same lad had to reconduct the beast, but unladen, to his own village. When they were about halfway on the road and at some distance from any habitation the camel suddenly stopped, looked deliberately round in every direction to assure itself that no one was in sight and, finding the road clear of passers-by, made a step forward, seized the unlucky boy's head in its monstrous mouth and, lifting him up in the air, flung him down again on the earth with the upper part of his skull completely torn off.

"Having thus satisfied its revenge, the brute quietly resumed its pace toward the village, as though nothing were the matter, till some men who had observed the whole, though unfortunately at too great a distance to be able to afford timely help, came up and killed it."—London Telegraph.

Why He Drowned.

Describing the stringent police regulations of Berlin, a citizen of that city by way of illustration told the following story:

"Schmidt and Krauss met one morning in the park.

"Have you heard," says Schmidt, "the sad news about Muller?"

"No," says Krauss. "What is it?"

"Well, poor Muller went boating on the river yesterday. The boat capsized, and he was drowned. The water was ten feet deep."

"But couldn't he swim?"

"Swim? Don't you know that all persons are strictly forbidden by the police to swim in the river."—Philadelphia Record.

Not Mentioned by Herodotus. Xerxes was meditating upon his good luck in having been made king by his royal father in preference to the eldest son.

"Still," he said, "if the succession had been determined by a primary election I would have got it just the same. Naturally everybody would have marked an X opposite my name."

Subsequently, however, the Greeks gave him the double cross at Plataea.—Chicago Tribune.

A Poor Place.

"And you say you almost starved to death in your last position?" said the kind housewife. "What position was it?"

"I was treasurer of a poets' union, mum," replied the dusty wayfarer, with a deep sigh.—Exchange.

GOOD WATER MEANS Good Health

Analytical tests made by the Director of the STATE LABORATORY OF HYGIENE under the control of the NORTH CAROLINA BOARD OF HEALTH at RALEIGH, N. C., shows that the water supplied by the Greenville (municipal) water works is PURE.

For the protection of patrons samples of water are submitted monthly and the reports of the Chemist are always on file in the office of the Commission for inspection.

Discard the old well or pump and get the benefit of the advantages offered by the Water Department. It not only means that you will always have good water to drink, but it will prove a great convenience. Nothing to do but turn the spigot. No more pumping and drawing.

We furnish 3,000 gallons per month for $1.00 and allow you a discount of 10 per cent, if bill is paid by 5th of month succeeding month in which service is rendered. This makes the cost only 90 cents.

Information gladly furnished to anyone regarding cost of making tap, etc.
