TEDDY AND BILL.

South Bostonians Are Filled With Disgust

Now it came to pass in the seventh year of the reign of King Teddy, that is called the Terrible, that there was great murmuring among the people, and much clamor arose, and the people said, we will not have this man to rule over us, for, behold, our dinner pails that were wont to be full are empty and we have not wherewith to replenish them; and we dare not go into the market-place to buy food for ourselves and families for the prices are high, nor have we the shekels wherewith to buy, for the money of our country is held by the usurers in the street that is called Wall and we cannot obtain it; and behold also, our dinner pails have no bottoms. And great want was abroad in the land, for food was high and shekels were scarce, and the people said; Behold, for many moons the king has promised us relief and it is not yet; and, lo, we will choose one from among the people, a man mighty in wisdom and valor, and place him to rule over us; for the people were sore and spent and heeded no more the promises of the king.

And the king said within himself, I must needs depart into Africa to slay the lion, the tiger and the elephant, for I am weary and long for my sport, so I will call together my counselors and my centurions and my strong men from all over the land, yea, even also from the land of Dixie, whose voice has not for nigh three score years been heeded in the capital city, because, forsooth, they have not espoused the cause of myself and my political fathers; and I will cause a great throng to assemble in the city that is called Chicago, and there shall they proclaim to the people that hereafter Bill, who cometh from Ohio, shall rule over them, for, verily, is he not a great man, greater in girth than all others? And is he not my friend? And is it not divinely appointed that I, Teddy, shall choose him who shall occupy my throne until I return unto my own? And, moreover, is not Bill fat to bursting with "my policies?" And the throng assembled, and did as the king commanded, and the king did lift his hand, and the throng did shout, Hail, King Teddy; Hail, King Bill!

Now, it came to pass that in the tenth month the king sent out and called Bill into his presence. And when Bill was come into the presence of the king, he fell upon his face (after the manner in those days) and cried, O, King, live forever! Behold, have I not hearkened unto thy commands to obey them? And have I not gone at thy bidding to spread thy glory unto the ends of the earth, yea, even from the great ditch that is called Panama to the far Islands of the sea? And am I not filled with thy policies both inside and out? But what am I that I should lift mine eyes to behold thee? Then the king said, arise, Bill, and hie thee to the great city by the lake and there thou shalt enter the house of one that is called Pullman, and he will have ready his cars and his servants and they shall take thee in great state through a corner of my kingdom that is called Dixie, for the people of that land are benighted and have never beheld a real, live prince; and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the king, Behold, I and my fathers, the

NEGRO ON CURB MARKET.

First Time in History of Market Negro Appears as Active Trader.

New York, Oct. 23.—For the first time in history of the curb market a negro appeared as an active trader yesterday. He is Robert W. Taylor, who has an office and has been dealing in mining stocks for some time, most of his clients being negroes. Heretofore his transactions on the market have been through other brokers. Taylor was familiar with trading methods, which he is said to have learned in the employ of a stock exchange house.

kings of this land, have not heard your voice nor hearkened unto your supplication for, lo, these many years, because you have disobeyed our commands and voted as ye would and not as we directed you. Therefore, go to, now, and when the eleventh month is come, assemble ye and say, we will have Bill to rule over us; for thus saith the king! And if ye shall do this ye shall have exceeding great reward, and ye shall still be permitted to be a part of my dominion, and I will continue to receive tribute from you. And Bill went out and did as the king commanded. And it came to pass that there was in the land of Dixie a goodly province, the same that is called Halifax, and hearing this Bill said unto certain of his centurions, say unto the people of Halifax that at a certain hour on a certain day I will tarry a while in your land in a certain city that is called South Boston, and I will set myself before your eyes that ye may behold me, and with good advice will I delight your ears, and the people may look upon me and the faithful may kiss my feet. And the saying was noised abroad, so that a great multitude assembled to do him homage, for they said, Is he not the personal representative and heir of King Teddy. And the multitude strewed with flowers the way wherein he should go and with the timbrel and the harp and the trumpet and the cymbals and the voice did they make a joyful noise. And suddenly the cry was heard, Behold, he cometh; and caravan of pullman rested in their midst and the people clamored to gaze upon Prince Bill. And one tall and haggard and gray before his time (the same that is called Slemp) came forth and lifted his hands and said, Praise be unto Allah: peace be unto you; behold him that hath the bag, great is Shaw, hear ye him. And he lifted up his voice and said Behold, Bill sleepeth: wake him not, for he cometh not to stand before sinners. And the people clamor the more, and some said, he spoke not the words of truth and soberness. Then stepped forth one Alvah, that is surnamed Martin, and in his hand he held a cloth white as pure snow and he did wave it aloft and with it he did wig wag, and the caravan departed from the goodly land of Halifax, and with it departed Prince Bill and all the servants.

And the people were sore vexed and murmured among themselves and said, We will not have this man to rule over us; and, moreover, is not the king the chief of the club that is called Ananias and is not Prince Bill his political son and heir? Verily, our land shall still be called solid.—South Boston, Va. Gazette.

BENEFITS OF BUILDING AND LOAN

[Extract from the address, of Hon. O. B. Eaton at the State Convention of the North Carolina Building and Loan League at Winston-Salem.]

"Your organization is not only adding, year by year, to the material wealth of our State, but it is building up a citizenship imbued with principals of life and duty who stand ready to fight our battles, win our victories, and who are the great conservators of liberty. Considering the scope and character of the work, I regard the Building and Loan as one of the greatest institutions the mind of man has ever devised or produced. Transcendent in its purpose, potent in its influence, wonderful in its achievements, it stands next to the school in power, in influence and in importance. It is an institution closest to the people, most characteristic of the people and fullest of hope for the people. It not only helps the needy, but at the same time yields a good dividend to the investor. The plan under which it operates has been reduced to a mathematical science and when run by men of good business judgment, it is an absolute safe investment."

COL. R. B. CREECY.

An Able Editor and Author Passes Away at his home in Elizabeth City.

Elizabeth City, N. C., Oct. 23.—Deepest gloom is cast over the city in the death this morning at 9 o'clock of her oldest and most honored and revered citizen Col. Richard Banbury Creecy. Col. Creecy, while always bright, had been gradually fading away for months and his death was not unexpected. He was entering into his 95th year and would have celebrated the occasion on the 19th day of December.

Col. Creecy was one of the state's most learned and beloved sons and had the distinction of being the oldest living editor in the world. He was also the oldest living alumnus of the University of North Carolina. Col. Creecy was born at Greenville, Chowan county, and was reared in Edenton. He moved to Elizabeth City in 1843 and began the practice of law. The year following he married Miss Perkins, daughter of one of the largest planters and slave-owners in this county. Col. Creecy won reputation as a writer by correspondence to different leading newspapers, and during reconstruction days the need for a strong newspaper was most apparent and Col. Martin, of this city; Edward Wood, of Edenton and T. J. Jarvis, then of Tyrrell county, established the Weekly Economist, and elected Col. Creecy as editor-in-chief.

The great power and influence that was wielded by the brilliant writer's pen is now a matter of history. No man in the State did more for the South's cause and no man was hated and feared more by the carpet-baggers and scalawags of that day than he. His mighty pen wielded a powerful influence also during the dark days of Russellism, and he was considered one of Democracy's mightiest champions in restoring the State into the hands of the white man. The grand old man's writings even up to the last never lost any of their strength or brilliancy, and beside him now on his death bed lies an unfinished editorial.

His last request was that Gov. Jarvis should write a history of reconstruction days and Sheriff Fred Cahoon was entrusted with the message.

"Willingham will 'write' you."

Opera House Tonight.

The beautiful pastoral comedy-drama, "Was She to Blame?" as presented by Jed and Emma Jean Carlton and company at the Masonic opera house tonight, is a story that for dramatic intensity and power has never been excelled. With special scenery and a carefully selected company, the intermingling of pathos and comedy, laughter and tears, make an entertainment never to be forgotten.

PATTERSON'S LIFE THREATENED.

Guard Lines Doubled and Reinforcements Ordered.

Samburg, Tenn., Oct. 23.—Because of threats against the life of Governor M. R. Patterson, who is personally directing the investigation of night rider depredations in this city, the detachment of troops assigned to safeguard the governor has been on the military camp here. Guard lines have been doubled and reinforcements ordered to report to Colonel Tatom, who is in command of the military forces.

T. C. Ward, proprietor of the hotel at Walnut Log, from which Captain Quentin Rankin and Judge R. Z. Taylor were taken by a band of masked men Monday night, and Knox Morgan and Elmer Tate, merchants, were taken into custody today. With their arrest the situation became so acute as to call forth instructions from the governor to Sheriff Dawson of Dyer county to report at once with a posse, and the recruiting at Union City of another posse of picked men to work in connection with the military and the forces of the sheriffs of this and Lake county, who are already on the scene.

Today Governor Patterson visited the scene of the killing of Captain Rankin and proceeded from that point to Union City to confer with State and county officials and map out a plan for further action.

Soil Survey of Pitt County.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 22.—W. E. Hearn, J. L. Burgess, Mr. Hardison and Mr. Brane have been detailed under the auspices of the United States and the North Carolina departments of agriculture to make a complete soil survey of Pitt county, having an area of 644 square miles, during the coming winter and spring, the survey to be similar to that already made with such marked good results in New Hanover, Duplin, Chowan, Perquimans and portions of Craven, Jones and Lenoir counties. The surveys have had the effect of greatly extending the trucking interests and it is intended that they shall extend ultimately throughout the eastern section of the State with this same object in view.

SATURDAY, OCT. 24, 1908.

The campaign is turning into the home stretch.

The recent lynching of prominent citizens of Tennessee by "night riders" is an evidence of the dangerous extremes to which such outlawry can be carried. It is an evil that ought to be suppressed.

Ex-Judge Montgomery is reaching around after the Raleigh News and Observer because that paper published the letter Tom Dixon wrote about him. The judge evidently wants to soothe his wounded feelings in damage suits.

The campaign of misrepresentation the Republicans of this county are making is not at all creditable to men who make any claim to decency. We do not believe that men who have regard for truth and honesty will be influenced by such misrepresentation.

We learn with sorrow of the death of Col. R. B. Creecy, of Elizabeth City, which occurred on the 22nd. He was nearly 95 years of age and the oldest active editor in the world. Much of his life was spent in journalism and he was a writer of ability. He was especially beloved by the newspaper men of North Carolina.

It is too late to talk about registration now, as the time for that is over, but you men whose names are on the registration books should bear in mind that it is your duty to go to the polls on the third day of November and vote the entire Democratic ticket from president to township constable. No other party promises you good government, as the records show.

The Democratic county ticket in Pitt deserves the support of every voter in the county. Take the record of these men and compare it with those on the Republican ticket, and your duty is plain. The Republicans are trying to bolster up their side by falsehoods that any thinking man knows are untrue. Do not be deceived, but stand by the party that gives you good government.

The campaign in Pitt county is reaching the warm stage, and the Republicans in their desperation are resorting to all manner of falsehoods and misrepresentations in the hope of making votes for their ticket. It is the same old dodge that they follow in every campaign, and they will find on the third of November that the thinking people of Pitt county will not stand for nor encourage it with their support. Such methods will be rebuked by a big Democratic majority.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

No Woman President—Yet.

Israel Zangwil, who has just stepped into the limelight by altering a new play, in accordance with the suggestion of President Roosevelt, says something naively, "Why should not a woman be president of the United States?"

As Israel appears to be in earnest in the question we will help him out, which is more than we would do for everybody, by assembling a few good and bad reasons why a woman ought not to be president.

To begin with, in times of peace the president is obliged to meet politicians from all parts of the country and to listen to applications for office, all urgent, some pathetic, some nearly truthful, and probably not one of which would be satisfactorily settled by reference to any published fashion plate.

In the second place, a president must be ready at all times to receive visitors and to discuss subjects of diplomatic, internal, partisan or non-partisan importance, without taking any time between audiences to do up his back hair.

In the next place a president must be ready to dismiss office-holders for pernicious activity in politics—such, for example, as being too partial to Mrs. Smith's baby, and not giving sufficient recognition to that of Mrs. Jones. This is a hard, cruel duty, but it must be done.

A woman cannot pass on these trifling points; yet there are others, of even greater importance and severer consequence, which in view of those named it is needless to mention.

Could a woman be president of the United States? No, Israel, she could not. That is, she couldn't do the job at all well.—Washington Times.

This very solemn communication appeared in the New York Herald Tuesday:

"The other day I went in a drug store to order a glass of soda water, but I happened to see how they washed their glasses, and the sight made me leave the place in disgust. Since then closer examination has made me acquainted with the fact that many drug stores have no other outfit for this purpose than a slop pail, which serves as much to wash the hands of the operator as to rinse the glasses, and which after a while assumes a most disgusting appearance." Isn't it the same everywhere?—Charlotte Observer.

Dear Sir:

During the summer you prevailed on me to buy a disability policy in the Maryland Casualty Company. Within a very short time after purchasing same, I found that it was necessary for me to have a slight surgical operation performed on account of which it was necessary for me to remain away from my business for a period of about two weeks.

The check presented me to-day in full settlement of lost time, also covering cost of operation is very much appreciated, and I can highly recommend the Maryland and yourself for the prompt service rendered.

Very truly yours,

If You Need a Piano

THREE POINTS

SHOULD BE CONSIDERED WHEN YOU PURCHASE

First: Is the Piano strictly high-grade, of a lasting tonality, and made by a reliable factory?

Answer—From Start
Finish

The use of best materials, best construction by skilled workmen, profiting by the experience the STIEFF FACTORY has had in its sixty-eight years of continued manufacture under the same management, places the STIEFF PIANO at the head of High-Grade Instruments. Its sweet tone does not change, as does the so-called "good as" variety, so often sold by dealers to unsuspecting purchasers because there is more profit in the sale.

Second: How can I obtain the BEST PIANO for the least money, value being considered?

Answer—BUY
Straight
from the Factory

ALL STIEFF PIANOS ARE SOLD TO THE CUSTOMER BY THE MANUFACTURERS thus guaranteeing against excessive profits often obtained when an instrument passes through several ownerships before reaching the customer.

Third: How am I to know what I select will prove all claimed for it?

Answer—You are Safe
Fraud

If you buy a STIEFF. There are more STIEFF PIANOS in use in North Carolina than any other three makes of high-grade Pianos. Some of the STIEFFS in use have been in the same homes for over half a century, and to all STIEFF purchasers we gladly refer.

The STIEFF is sold for cash or on terms to suit purchaser.

OUR TREES.

Some Varieties Have a Different Name In Every State.

What is called black locust in Pennsylvania is yellow locust in Massachusetts, white locust in New York, red locust in one part of Tennessee and green in another. In Maine it is simply locust, in Louisiana acacia, in Minnesota honey locust and in Maryland post locust. These many names overlap and are not strictly separated by state lines.

On the other hand, the true honey locust (which belongs to an altogether distinct genus from the black locust) is known also as black locust, sweet locust, thorn locust, locust, three thorned acacia, thorn tree, honey shucks, piquant amourette, confederate pintree and a few other names.

White pine is a tree of so distinguished appearance that it is entitled to one name among lumbermen as well as among botanists. But it does not have it.

In both Massachusetts and South Carolina it is sometimes known as Weymouth pine, which is its universal name in Europe. Pennsylvanians occasionally speak of it as soft pine, Tennesseans as spruce, and in other parts of the south it is called northern pine.

The loblolly pine is a southern tree, and the people of the south have been liberal with names, sometimes applying several in a restricted locality. In North Carolina it is loblolly oldfield, torch, rosemary, slash, short-eaf, sap, Indian, yellow, swamp and longstraw, each being followed by the word "pine." In Maryland it is longshucks, in Delaware longschat, in Virginia cornstalk, foxtail, spruce, swamp and others. It is called meadow pine in Florida.

From New England to the Carolinas the tulip poplar is frequently called whitewood or tulip tree. Yellow poplar is its usual name in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky and on the market in the form of lumber. It is tulip poplar in Illinois, poplar in Ohio, white poplar in Indiana, blue poplar in Delaware, hickory poplar in Virginia, popple in Rhode Island, cucumber tree in New York and canoe wood in Tennessee.

The birches are equally rich in names, and some of the names cling after the lumber reaches market. "Cherry" and "mahogany" furniture may be made from what in Maine is known as sweet birch, but which changes its name at the crossing or almost every state line as the tree's habitat is traced southward.

Scarcely half a dozen of the almost 500 species of forest trees found in the United States are popularly known by their botanical names. A few, however, are so known, among them being catalpa and sassafras. But even these suffer through mispronunciation by those who try to speak them.—Forestry and Irrigation.

Preferred the Pavement to Luxury.

Thackeray's crossing sweeper who kept his carriage was not entirely a creation of his imagination. "I knew a man," says Dagonet in the London Referee, "who took his stand daily outside a public house, fetched cabs and did odd jobs. His relations were very well off indeed, and a year or two ago they persuaded him to go to live with them. After leading a life of luxury for a couple of months he reappeared one day outside the public house. I, knowing his circumstances, asked him why he had left comfort for the cold pavement. 'I had to,' he said. 'I stood it as long as I could, but when they wanted me to dress for dinner every time they had company I chucked it.'"

And That Ended It.

Two officers once appeared before one of the crowned heads of Europe to ask permission to fight a duel, as one had grievously insulted the other.

"Certainly, my friends," said the king. "I will be present myself at the encounter."

On the day appointed the king appeared on the scene accompanied by a sinister looking person, who proved to be the public executioner. Pointing to the two combatants, the king said:

"You see those two men? Immediately after their duel you will behead the survivor."

Economy!

Maidie, nearly four, brought to her mother two little branches which she had broken from a bush and stripped of their leaves.

"Here, mother," she said—"here are some switches to switch the boys when they are naughty."

"But," objected mother, "you do not want your dear little brothers to be switched, do you?"

"Well, when they're naughty," Maidie emphasized. "They're such nice little switches"—lovingly—"it would be a pity to waste them."

Better Than Spanking.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

An Interrupted Wedding Feast.

While a wedding breakfast was in progress in the village of Noverly, in Savoy, the floor gave way, and the guests fell through into a cow house below. The bride dropped on the neck of a cow, which took fright and dashed out into the field with the bride clinging to its horns. The bridegroom went off in pursuit and found the bride hanging by her hair from a branch beneath which the cow had passed. She was rescued in a badly bruised condition.
