TAKES STARCH OUT OF MEEKINS.

Republican Candidates Throws Out a Challenge That Puts Him in a Hole

Bethel, N. C. Oct. 26 1908.

The Republican county candidate of Pitt county met at Bethel Oct. 24th and as an inducement for a large crowd a barbecue was prepared and many invitations given to both Democrats and Republicans alike.

It was apparent that anticipations of a great speech from their "biggest gun", Hon. I. M. Meekins, had inspired the Republicans with enthusiasm which knew no bounds, and they felt entirely sanguine that the effect of Senator Overman's great speech upon the people here would be entirely canceled and torn in fragments by the eloquence and pathos of their candidate for congress for this district.

Mr. Meekins appeared before his smiling audience with an air of supreme egotism and with a spirit of defiance to any Democrat to answer the grand eulogy which he proceeded to deliver in behalf of the G. O. P. The speech savored of a school boy's oration, evidently prepared and memorized for the occasion.

He showed the great blessings which had flowed out of a high protective tariff and declared if elected that he could raise it to 200 per cent.

He also made the broad assertion that every panic was caused by Democratic low tariff except the panic of 1907, and this was caused by Wall Street contraction of currency to make the policies of Roosevelt unpopular.

At the close of his remarks with egregious gusto he invited any Democrat present to reply to his profound argument with the understanding that he could have a rejoinder of 10 minutes.

Dr. Grimes stated to him that the audience was evidently tired, being in a standing posture and the sun was near the western horizon, and he would content himself by asking him to make some statements to the audience which would reverse the impression which he had so eloquently and successfully made upon his audience.

He complied with every request except one and I think this he misunderstood.

He was asked by Dr. Grimes to state the average tariff before the late war which he claimed to be "high protective" and compared it with the tariff of 53 per cent since the war. Also to state that the panic of 1816 and 1836 were caused respectively by the embargo of Jas. Madison and the veto of the U. S. bank. He stated that this was true in regard to U. S. bank and then insisted on Dr. Grimes making any further statement.

The statements reversed entirely the impression made by two thirds of his speech and the aforesaid impression was made with emphasis and pathos rarely equaled.

Grimes then left the stand but the crowd cheered with derisive laughter which caused the immediate return of Grimes to the stand and in a short time he had Meekins completely "hors de combat" his "great speech" torn to atoms and the man who was so eager for a rejoinder had vanished and spoke "never a word".

The Democrats are jubilant and all agree that the only result of Meekins' speech is irreparable damage to the cause of Republicanism.

"VANDERBILT" TO "CITIZEN"

Grifton, N. C., Oct. 26, 1908.
Editor Reflector;

Please just say to that "feller" Citizen who delegates to himself the privilege of criticising the postmasters of this county for exercising their privileges as freemen in the county convention held in Greenville, Sept. 19th, 1908. Why, sir, it was the personification of the 'ole time political religion of our forefathers by the Republicans of Pitt county to hold mass meeting and put a ticket in the field after the old style, which opened the doors for all men who wish to preserve their rights as freemen to come and join in with us, put their shoulder to the wheel of the progressive party of this country and contribute their little mite in sustaining the principles of the party that protects the rights of the people of this country. This Feller Citizen arrogates to himself a judgment upon we poor little fellows who happen to hold some of the minor offices under the Republican administration and say we shan't hold office any longer than Bryan can be elected, that we will be removed because of such pernicious activity.

But look here, let me tell this "Feller" Citizen that the postmaster at Grifton is some of the old revolutionary stock that knows no fear of such cattle as this "Feller" Citizen. My great grandfather was a soldier in the war of the revolution and shed his blood as a sacrifice upon the altar of his country for me and all the rest of his posterity to enjoy all the rights that freemen should enjoy world without end, and I am here as his representative to put his curse upon the brow of this "Feller" Citizen who dares to hinder or make us afraid to enjoy our privileges as freemen, office or no office. If I live a thousand years I never will surrender those rights to this "Feller" Citizen or any one else, and I go further and say that I will never surrender these rights to this or any other government much less this "Feller" Citizen.

Tell this "Feller" Citizen that Vanderbilt, (Sam Laughinghouse) is proud of the honor of introducing Mr. Settle to the people of Pitt county, and this "Feller" Citizen can criticise it and make all the capital he can out of my action in doing so. Tell this "Feller" Citizen this, and tell him, too, that if this country should be so unfortunate as to be afflicted with Bryanism for the next four years, and the axman demands my head for pernicious activity in asserting my rights as a freeman, he can take it and well done, and after he has partaken of this sweet morsel to himself he will find that he has more brains in his belly than there is in his head, Selah! Tell it in Gath among all Feller Citizen Goliaths, that there is no office any where in this land of ours, from constable to president, that I would accept in lieu of my privileges as a freeman. This world contains no office large enough to entice me to sell my birthright for it.

Tell this "Feller" Citizen to give us his name, and not hide behind "Citizen." It is not doing himself justice to put his light under a bushel as he has done under the cognomen "Citizen." I don't know whether he is or not, but just supposed he was some smart ellick who wanted to get his name in the papers, and did not have any more sense

BENEFITS OF BUILDING AND LOAN

[Extract from the address of Hon. O. B. Eaton at the State Convention of the North Carolina Building and Loan League at Winston-Salem.]

"We welcome you because your organization has come to stay in North Carolina. It has been created by the necessities of mankind and by the genius of men who have invented step by step the methods that are indispensable in modern life, without which you could not undertake to do what you are easily accomplishing every day. Of course the most essential part of your great organization is not the organization itself; it is the intelligence, the brain, the sense of truth and honor that reside in the men who conduct it and make it a vehicle of usefulness and an uplifting power in the world. Through your instrumentality millions of homes have been built where virtue resides in the warmth and purity of vestal fires and where contentment dwells like perpetual summer. Around these homes linger the sweetest memories and dearest associations of mankind, upon them hang the hopes and happiness of the nations of the earth and above them shines the ever blessed star that lights the pathway back to the paradise that was lost."

than to do it under the critical criticism of Citizen. Yes, Sam Laughinghouse, the postmaster of Grifton, introduced the Hon. Thomas Settle at the convention and was glad to have the honor of so doing. Now, "Feller" Citizen put that in your pipe and smoke it for all it is worth, and if you can make anything out of it crack your whip.

I could say more, but can't say less than I have said, and in conclusion let me tell this "Feller" Citizen that if I never get out of office until Bryan is elected president of these United States, Methuselah was a young man to what I shall be before I die. Selah! Goodbye, ole man. If you want any more, I've got a plenty laid up for all such men as I take you to be.

Very truly,
Vanderbilt.

Cleanly Towns.

We have always been a strong advocate of the Civic League. It has for one of its objects the ornamenting and making more attractive our smaller towns. Usually by the time a town has a population of ten thousand enough pride has been engendered, together with sanitary reasons, to tidy things up and make the town attractive as well as healthful. The ragged edge of a village of a thousand people is usually repellent to sight as well as to smell. Hog-pens fill the air with fragrance, and trash of all kinds litter the front yards. The eyes and nose are against a town like that, and yet they are the rule rather than the exception. It is surprising that we have so little public sentiment against a condition so repugnant to common decency. The farm houses of New England are a thousand times more attractive than our average town residences. Traveling through Pennsylvania recently we were charmed with the picturesque and inviting villages that front the railroad, and we were ashamed of the contrast between them and our North Carolina towns, where the prettiest thing to be seen from the car window is a turpentine still or a blacksmith shop. We have a long, long road to travel before we are in hailing distance of our Northern brethren in this respect.—Charity and Children.

Nice Canned Goods.

Mr. O. H. Jackson, of Witterville, who conducts a small canning establishment in connection with his farm, near that town, puts up as nice cans of vegetables and fruits as can be found anywhere. We have tried them and know of their excellence. Saturday he brought us some canned tomatoes that no cannery can surpass. Another great advantage of the goods put up by Mr. Jackson is the knowledge of their purity and cleanliness in packing.

OUR WOMEN.

Idle or Wrongly Busy—We Should Return to Simplicity.

Apostolic Delegate Falconio, in a recent address in St. Louis, is reported to have said that the American woman is too idle one way and too busy another. She doesn't devote enough attention to womanly affairs, he added, and meddles too much with the concerns of others. "I think," he said, in answer to a query if, in his opinion, woman should take more part in public affairs, "she should attend to her husband's home and take care of his household and see that dinner is well cooked. If she will see to her own business and keep busy in the home she will be happy."

Monsignor Falconio might have carried his remarks on this head a little further. The truth is, as he has probably observed and most of the rest of us know, there is no land in the world in which the difficulties of maintaining a home are greater than in this land of plenty. One chief reason is that it is a land of such plenty that temptation to engage in business or employment besets our girls during the formation period of life and prevents their acquiring the tastes, knowledge, habits or tendencies involved in home-making. When, later on, they feel the effect of the nervous strain incident to their employment, they begin too late to think of matrimony, often not as a condition in which to create happiness but rather as a refuge from business, drudgery. They are by that time frequently helpless to do for others—they must have it done for them.

The home, if such it may be called in which this type of woman is the partner is a fiction. It has rather the attributes of an encampment—a shelter to which adheres no sentiment and a refuge from which on every occasion, both parties seek to escape. Food and material are brought in dearest market, already prepared and served, and correspondingly costly. Waste, want, and anxiety, the result of display and pretense, rule. This is because so many of our girls—and they deserve to be excused, because the fault is not theirs—are forced into these artificial, temporarily luxurious but eventually disappointing lives.

What we need in America is a return, so far as possible, to simplicity in which the men may work abroad in the land and the land and the women remain to work in the home. It will require a decided reversal of our thoughts and habits to make such a return possible, but unless we have it, American homes, in cities at least, will become memories.—Washington Times.

Opera House Wednesday Night.

Some people are going to the devil all the time, but not many of them have ever had the chance of seeing him. You now have that opportunity of seeing one of the finest representations of Molnar's famous play of the "The Devil" on Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple opera house. This is truly a fine performance and we can guarantee you will see a play that will set all men and women to thinking. Nothing in the play that will offend the most refined. Don't fail to see it.

Visiting Preacher.

Rev. R. H. Herring, of Siler City, preached in Memorial Baptist church here Sunday morning and night. His sermons were excellent and much enjoyed.

MONDAY, OCT. 26, 1908.

The Democratic candidates in Pitt are conducting a clean campaign, while the Republicans are conducting a campaign of misrepresentations. The people should find no trouble in choosing between them.

From the way the Republican speakers in this county are abusing and misrepresenting our educational interests, it might be inferred that they would destroy every public school house in the county if it was in their power to do so.

There was a cabinet meeting in the White House a few days ago in which the president ordered all the members to devote this week to making speeches for Taft. That is using the "big stick" some, and is "pernicious activity" to a disgusting degree.

The record of the two parties in Pitt county on the matter of education should easily convince the voters of the county which they will support. To put the Republican party in control would mean the crippling of educational progress and setting the county back many years.

One of the things the Republicans in Pitt county are attacking and misrepresenting is the issue of bonds by which the Eastern Training School was obtained. If the Democrats had never done anything else for education than to secure this school, this would be enough to merit the lasting gratitude of every voter in the county.

Pitt county has issued bonds to secure the Eastern Training School and to build two steel bridges, matters that will be worth many times more to the people of the county than they cost. Yet there are no measures that the Republican speakers in the county criticize and misrepresent so much as these. Their acts show that they are opposed to both education and progress, and the people should bear this in mind when they go to vote on the third of November.

The Republicans have no hope of electing any of their ticket in Pitt county, in fact they are not going to poll as many as a thousand votes in the county, but they are trying to make as big a show as possible so as to stand in more with the administration in case Taft should be elected president. In the hope of misleading a few people and gaining some votes in the county they are resorting to all kinds of misrepresentations in the speeches they are making over the county. They may think the people will be fooled this way, but will find out differently when election day comes.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

IF SIXTEEN MILLIONS VOTE.

We have already averted to the fact that the number of registered voters in New York City this year falls slightly under 1904 and that reports of very light or slow registration are also coming from the country at large. Political apathy is remarkably prevalent, especially when we consider the admitted closeness of the contest. But the same attitude on the part of many voters has been observable in more than one campaign year now past. Millions of American citizens entitled to vote, do not exercise the privilege. Successive elections have left records of an indifference varying only in degree. In 1900, a presidential year which lends itself well to study along this line because also a census year, there were 21,329,819 persons of voting age in the United States as against 13,959,658 actual voters. More than one-third of the persons of voting age cast no ballot. Disfranchisement of negro voters in the South and consequent indifference of white voters toward elections virtually uncontested account, together, for a good part of this third. Massachusetts and one or two other Eastern and Northern States have educational qualifications. Many foreigners cannot vote because of naturalization requirements unfulfilled. Residence requirements render voting impossible or impracticable each year for many citizens who have changed their abode. Poll tax requirements are likewise a factor. But after all conceivable allowances, the evident fact remains that the merely indifferent or else purposely abstaining voter is not confined to any section of the country and in the aggregate is very numerous.

On the basis of estimated population increase since 1900 there are now about 24,400,000 citizens of voting age in the United States. If the proportion of the whole number voting four years ago is maintained this year the total vote will approximate sixteen millions. An undiminished proportion, however, would have to reckon with the facts of negro disfranchisement pushed further and general voting requirements in the country at large made more strict. Against these obstacles, and with apathy prevailing to an unusual extent, sixteen million votes would almost necessarily involve a change in political complexion. They would mean, most probably, that the Democratic party's two wings, one or the other of which has in large part kept away from the polls for three presidential elections past, had resumed voting solidly together and thereby brought about Mr. Bryan's election. Let us hope that the returns of Tuesday week will make an aggregate vote impressively large in its Democratic constituent if not otherwise.—Charlotte Observer.

If You Need a Piano

THREE POINTS

SHOULD BE CONSIDERED WHEN YOU PURCHASE

First: Is the Piano strictly high-grade, of a lasting tone-quality, and made by a reliable factory?

Answer—From

Finish

The use of best materials, best construction by skilled workmen, profiting by the experience the STIEFF FACTORY has had in its sixty-eight years of continued manufacture under the same management, places the STIEFF PIANO at the head of High-Grade Instruments. Its sweet tone does not change, as does the so-called "good as" variety, so often sold by dealers to unsuspecting purchasers because there is more profit in the sale.

Second: How can I obtain the BEST PIANO for the least money, value being considered?

All STIEFF PIANOS ARE SOLD TO THE CUSTOMER BY THE MANUFACTURERS thus guaranteeing against excessive profits often obtained when an instrument passes through several ownerships before reaching the customer.

Third: How am I to know what I select will prove all claimed for it?

If you buy a STIEFF. There are more STIEFF PIANOS in use in North Carolina than any other three makes of high-grade Pianos. Some of the STIEFFS in use have been in the same homes for over half a century, and to all STIEFF purchasers we gladly refer.

The STIEFF is sold for cash or on terms to suit purchaser.

TALES OF THE DERBY

Some of the Winners That Were Not Liked as Youngsters.

BOUGHT FOR A MERE TRIFLE.

Little Wonder, Who Carried Off the Blue Ribbon in 1840, Cost His Owner Only $325—The Successes of Voltigeur and Thormanby.

Stories of Derby winners having been sold as youngsters for exceedingly small sums are fairly numerous, and without going too far back into the recesses of the past at least two instances can be cited of animals destined ultimately to win the "blue ribbon of the turf" which as yearlings no one thought good enough to buy. Voltigeur was one of these, and the other was Thormanby.

Voltigeur was bred by Robert Stephenson in 1847 and as a yearling was sent up to be sold at the Doncaster sales, a reserve price of $1,750 being placed on him. Not a man was found to bid that much for him; consequently he was withdrawn.

In all probability he would have remained unsold had not Williamson, a relative by marriage of Lord Zetland, seen him and, having taken a fancy to him, finally persuaded his lordship to buy him.

His judgment was triumphantly vindicated, for not only did Voltigeur win the Derby and St. Leger, but he succeeded in establishing a line of thoroughbreds which is at present dominant on the English turf and likely to remain so for some time to come.

Thormanby, too, was sent up to be disposed at the Doncaster and, like Voltigeur, did not reach a nominal reserve. Desirous of getting rid of him, however, Plummer, his breeder, requested his famous trainer, Matt Dawson, to come and have a thorough look at him.

This Dawson did and, perceiving at a glance good points about him, which no one else apparently had noticed, bought him for Merry, his patron. Strange enough, Dawson gave the same figure for Thormanby as that paid for Voltigeur.

As a two-year-old Thormanby ran fourteen times and out of this number scored nine wins, and in the Derby of the following year he beat a field of thirty. It was said that the race netted Merry the nice sum of $200,000.

The cheapest horse that ever won the Derby was Little Wonder, which was successful in 1840, for he cost his owner, Robertson, the meager sum of only $325.

Spaniel, too, winner of the race in 1831, was picked up for a very small sum, Lord Egerton, his breeder, letting him go for $300.

Pyrrhus J., which won in 1846, was purchased by John Day, the noted trainer, as a yearling at Doncaster, Gully, the puglist, taking a half interest in him.

As a two-year-old the horse never ran, and seemingly his abilities were then of an unknown quantity, for at the end of the season Day agreed to sell his half share in him to Gully for $500. Day's chagrin at his subsequent victory in the Derby was very great.

Teddington, the winner of 1851, was bred by a blacksmith, who sold him as a foal, together with his dam, to Sir Joseph Hawley for $1,250 and a further $5,000 if he won the Derby.

Sir Joseph and his confederate, Massey Stanhope, to whom the horse really belonged, profited largely over the success, and the jockey, Marson, who rode the horse, received $10,000 as a token of victory, which in those days was unprecedented.

Sainfoin, which carried the colors of Sir James Miller to the front, was an exceptionally fortunate purchase by John Porter, the trainer. He bought the colt out of the Hampton Court lot of yearlings in 1888 for the very reasonable price of $2,720. Sir Robert Dardine taking a half interest in him.

As a two-year-old he was seen only once in public, and he won his race with the greatest ease. The year following he won the Esher stakes in a canter, after which he was sold to Sir James Miller for $30,000 and a contingency of half the stakes if he won the Derby. It was indeed a profitable deal for Porter and Sir Robert.

Another instance of Porter's shrewdness as a horse dealer was his purchase of the great horse Isonomy for the bagatelle figure, comparatively speaking, of $1,800. The real owner was Fred Gretton.

Isonomy gave no real promise of his worth as a two-year-old, his only victory being a nursery stake in the latter part of the season. As a three-year-old he was not seen in public until the Cambridgeshire, which he won easily by two lengths and incidentally earned no less than $200,000 in bets for his owner.

Had he been in the classic races he would in all probability have cleaned the board.

As a four-year-old he won the gold cup at Ascot and the Goodwood and Brighton cups and crowned these feats by literally running away with the Great Ebor handicap, carrying the crushing weight of 130 pounds.

The following year Isonomy proved himself a better horse than ever, not only winning the Ascot gold cup again, but also the Manchester cup with the almost impossible burden, one would think, of 138 pounds.

It has been calculated that altogether Isonomy won for his owner upward of $500,000 in stakes and bets, which for an $1,800 investment was a colossal profit.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Plenty More Just Like This in Greenville.
Scores of Greenville people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?
John G. Latham, 907 Cotanch St., Greenville, N. C., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills in my case far surpasses any kidney remedy I had previously used. For some time my kidneys had been in a disordered condition, the secretions being too frequent in action and the passages attended with pain. When I read of Doan's Kidney Pills I was so impressed that I procured a box at John L. Wooten's drug store. They went directly to the seat of my trouble and gave me relief in a short time. My kidneys were restored to their normal condition, the secretions gave me no trouble whatever and I felt better in every way. My wife also used Doan's Kidney Pills when suffering from dull nagging backaches accompanied by headaches and the results derived were highly satisfactory."
