AYDEN ITEMS.

Notes from a Hustling Town,
Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., Nov. 10, 1908.

Patrick came down town today morning with a double dose. Yes, Eddie was smiling twice, in fact both sides of street was lit up with his smiles, and well it was so for the k had visited his home the previous night and left him a pair of pretty Misses Patrick as rarely sees. And now Eddie continues to smile. Who wouldn't smile?

In this town on the 5th inst. Miss Jane Lemon and Mr. Eber Sweet were happily united in marriage.

Two happily extremes do meet, Jane and Ebenezer; is no longer sour but sweet, and he's a lemon squeezer.

Miss Agnes Dixon went to Greenville shopping yesterday. It is said the wedding bells will soon ring out merrily in the bosom of joy to waiting hearts. There was a big rush of cotton to the market yesterday.

When the farmers are holding cotton for high prices, they never one time realize they sometimes cause the poor merchant to lose his credit because he can't get that guano note he signed to spring to make the crops. The poor merchants can't govern the price of cotton, but all he is behind those notes, all the same.

W. F. Hart, attended the late Will Baptist conference at Catawba last week and reports a splendid meeting and that the Catawba people are noted for their unbounded hospitality, and show how to entertain company.

We are proud to see our home town so much in demand, as teachers. Miss Lena Hines is teaching at the Ellis school house, Miss Arah Davis at Jacksontown, Miss Jimmie Davis at Cobb's X roads, Miss Julia Bready at Mountaintop, Prof. W. A. Hobstetter at Pierce's, and still we can have more.

The Loyal Temperance Legion rendered a splendid program at the Seminary Sunday evening. Remarks were made by Misses Smith, Joyner and Harris. This order is under the leadership of Mrs. T. E. Peden, she is like Sathaniel, doing good, is her motto.

Capt. G. F. Cooper has resigned his position with J. R. Smith Co., and has gone back to running the log train for the Ayden Lumber Co. He is like Spharim, joined to his idol, logging.

Thanksgiving is approaching. Let us remember the less fortunate.

Died.

A telegram from Bailey, N. C., announces the death of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Edwards, which occurred at 10 o'clock this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards recently moved to Bailey from Greenville.

AMERICA NEEDS THE GIFT

In the Wake of Strong Drink Follow
Countless Miseries.

If I had the power to give this country the one thing that I think it most truly needs next to the religion of Jesus Christ, and which in my judgment would be most conducive to the industrial education and moral up-building of the nation, I would unhesitatingly give it a strong national temperance law, and compel its enforcement by the proper officers, says R. B. Glenn, Governor of North Carolina, in a symposium, "If I Were a National Santa Claus," in the December Delineator.

They assert that all the wrongs and iniquities of the tariff, and all the robberies, oppression and greed of monopolies, do not compare with the sorrow, the ruin, the misery, the crime, the poverty, the madness, the vice, the degradation, the death and damnation produced by strong drink. It destroys home life; breaks the hearts of mother and wives; takes the clothes off the backs of little children and substitutes rags; degrades manhood; makes lewd women out of virtuous maidens; stifles ambition, destroys hope, weakens the body, blights the mind, blackens the soul, until it turns this earth, made for man's happiness and use, into a hell for his ruin and misery.

In the interest, therefore, of business; for the protection of helpless women and children, for the suppression of crime; the amelioration of want and poverty; the prevention of disease; the preservation of life; the salvation of human souls, and for the sake of more than eighty-six millions of true, brave and noble American men, women and children, I would bestow this gift of national temperance, thus destroying a fearful curse, and restoring man to the godlike image in which he was created. I would offer this gift to the American people.

Future of the Exposition Grounds.

The government evidently knows that it is a waste of postage to be sending duns to the managers of the Jamestown exposition to come forward with that balance of a million or so, and is not disposed to press the claim, as the land is there whenever the government gets ready to take it. The plan has been for the government to take over the exposition grounds and establish a naval base at Norfolk. This will be done. Later, the old junk houses at Annapolis may be abandoned, and a Naval academy in keeping with the dignity of the United States established at Norfolk. The first step has been taken by Rear Admiral Pillsbury, in his annual report. He calls attention to the fact that the land of the exposition is well located for barracks and a naval training station and he recommends its acquisition. The Chesapeake Bay is a natural place of assembly for our Atlantic fleet. Pending the building of barracks and a training station on Chesapeake Bay, it is recommended that temporary structures be erected at Norfolk, not to exceed $60,000 in cost. Norfolk will probably be the port of the greatest naval base on the Atlantic, as it should be, and eventually the location of the best equipped Naval academy in the world. For that purpose, the lay of the exposition land is too fine to be resisted. And besides, it is a case with the government of taking it or leaving it.—Charlotte Chronicle.

INTERESTING FIGHT IN NASH.

Court Will Decide Whether Register of Deeds-Elect is Eligible.

Spring Hope, Nov. 9.—The after election interest here centres in the fight that is to take place concerning the man who is to be register of deeds in Nash county. J. B. Boddie, who was postmaster in Cleveland's administration, was nominated by the Democrats and endorsed by the Republicans. It is said here that Republicans went into the Democratic primary and helped nominate him, and endorsed him when they held their county convention. Two days before the election E. T. Griffin, a Democrat, announced himself as an independent candidate. Boddie received 2,895 votes and Griffin only 133. As was noted in this correspondence some days ago, Boddie once confessed to irregularities while serving as postmaster at Nashville and was sentenced to a term in the penitentiary and served a term in jail with jail bounds. It is now said that he is not eligible to the office. Because of this E. T. Griffin announced his candidacy at the eleventh hour, and, it is said, will make a strong pull for the office. It seems that a number of eminent lawyers has said that Boddie is ineligible. Others say that he can hold the office. The fight will begin in earnest when it comes time to swear in the new officials. The courts will be asked to decide the matter.

There is no question that has come before the people of this county in years that has created so much interest and discussion. Each and every man has an opinion to offer. A final adjustment of the matter will be awaited with interest.

Kern Would be Senator.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—John W. Kern, defeated Democratic candidate for vice president, announced tonight that he is a candidate for United States senator to succeed James A. Hemenway. The incoming Indiana legislature will be Democratic on joint ballot by a majority of 12. Others mentioned as probable candidates are: John E. Lamb, Terre Haute, who was in charge of Democratic national headquarters at Chicago during the last campaign; Thos. Taggart, formerly national chairman; State Senator Ert Black, Benjamin Shiveley and Edward Hoffman, of Fort Wayne.

After declaring that it has always been his lifelong ambition to represent Indiana in the United States senate, Mr. Kern tonight said:

"I do not want the place unless the Democrats of Indiana so desire. If a majority favor my election, I feel that I am entitled to it. It is scarcely necessary to say that I have no money to put into the race. If I am elected it will be because the people favor me and so declare through their representatives."

Terrible Tragedy at Nashville, Tenn.—
Malicious Editorials the Cause.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 9.—Former United States Senator Edward Ward Carmack, editor of the Tennessean, was shot and killed this afternoon in Seventh avenue north, in front of the Polk flats, by Robin Cooper, a son of Colonel Duncan C. Cooper. Mr. Carmack was going north in Seventh avenue and Colonel Cooper and his son were approaching Seventh avenue in Union street. Soon after they came in sight of one another, the shooting began. Robin Cooper, it is said, fired two shots and Senator Carmack one. Colonel Duncan Cooper, it is said, drew a pistol, but did not shoot.

Senator Carmack fell to the ground with a trio of shots, dying instantly. Robin Cooper was shot in the right shoulder but was not seriously hurt.

It is said that the trouble is one of the results of the recent gubernatorial primary in which Carmack was defeated. Carmack had, since he became editor of the Tennessean, been rather caustic in adversely criticizing what he called the Democratic machine and had printed several editorials about Colonel Cooper.

Within the last few days, it is said, Colonel Cooper told Carmack that these editorials must cease. This morning another editorial reference to Colonel Cooper appeared in the Tennessean, and this is supposed to have been the cause of the immediate trouble.

The Triple Injury.

Talking people down behind their backs is about as ingenious and far-reaching a kind of sin as the Devil has yet invented. For such a missile kills three birds with one stone. It injures the one talked about, the one talked to, a reputation is smirched every time we pass on an unnecessary criticism of a fellow-being. Our own character and self-control are weakened with every such word. And the mind of listener is poisoned; he who ought to be helped to see and think about the best in others has been degraded; part way at least, toward the unworthiness of our low level. Once in a while an almost knock-out blow is given to this unworthy and unfair kind of fighting by some one's quietly mentioning a good quality in the absent person who is being criticised. This will almost invariably bring gossip to an abrupt close. We shall do well to end others gossip by this means; and we shall do still better to end our own before it begins.—Ex.

Portion of Sidewalk Rejected.

Workmen Monday began cutting up some of the new concrete sidewalk on the east side of street in front of the Phoenix building. There was some defect in mixing the sand and cement used on that part of the work which made the walk fall below requirement and necessitated it being laid over. Today the digging up is extending further down the street.

If any person has a complaint to make about the work on the sidewalk in front of his property it should be made now to the street committee before the work is accepted.

If Greenville is to keep up her pace for progress and improvement, the people should be up and doing.

At New Bern on Wednesday the governor of Massachusetts accompanied by his staff and a large number of the members of the G. A. R. will unveil a monument in the national cemetery there dedicated to the soldiers of Massachusetts.

The postmaster of New York was shot and perhaps fatally wounded, Monday morning, by a man who had been disappointed in getting a position in the post-office. After firing the shot at the postmaster, the assassin killed himself.

TOO EARLY FOR ARRANGEMENTS.

Several of the Southern papers are seen to argue in behalf of the nomination of a Southern man for president in 1912. For the present we beg to be excused from participation in that movement. The national party can make no plans with safety until Mr. Bryan announces his purpose. If it be to offer for the nomination or to place himself in a receptive position, saying for instance, that he will not be a candidate but that the party can have his services in that capacity if it wants them, then no one else need run; and even if he renounces his ambition unequivocally the bent of his mind will have to be ascertained before it can be determined whether it will be worth while to put out a ticket or not. By this latter it is meant to say that if he is not to be cordial toward a future nominee the candidacy of such a person is foredoomed. The enthusiasm of many of his followers partakes of the character of a religion. Some of them would rather have seen a Republican elected president at any time within the past twelve years than that Mr. Bryan should not have been nominated and some of them, individuals and newspapers, have already declared for him for 1912. Such is the fidelity of some of his supporters, and any one who recognizes the strength and widespread prevalence of this worship must recognize along with it the fact that the future of the Democratic party, that is to say as an organization which may hope to win, is absolutely dependent upon Mr. Bryan's will. If that will would be other than unreservedly friendly to a candidate other than himself, the South should not want to see a Southern man prepared for the slaughter. The Washington Post truly says that "the fate of the Democratic party is in the keeping of William Jennings Bryan" and never so completely as at present.

It is idle, therefore, to make plans now for the future, and will be idle until it is learned what Mr. Bryan is to say and do.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The party achieved unity during the recent campaign and came out of it united, in so far as the press and leaders of its diverse elements could have it so. We are not of those who share the belief that Tammany was unfaithful. But there are thousands of Democrats whom the party organization cannot control and many thousands of these fell away from Mr. Bryan last week, while of the independent vote, the vote which sways all presidential elections, he received practically none. But this is incidental to the present discussion. The question is whether the regulars will stay in line for another stand-up and arrangements made for the next campaign before this vital fact is ascertained may all have to be recast.—Charlotte Observer.

Let us Work Together.

We commend to Democrats the following statement made by Judge Parker:

"Now, for the first time in years, we have a united party. Once again there is a disposition among its members to reason together and work together for the public good. We should, therefore, congratulate Mr. Bryan and ourselves upon this improvement of general party conditions under his candidacy and set ourselves resolutely to the strengthening of the party for the contest of the future."

We believe that Judge Parker is correct. The party is united, and there is a disposition on the part of its members to reason together and work together, which they will do if the seeds of discord and disruption are not again sown by so-called independents and sore-heads wearing Democratic masks. This is a free country and every man has a right to affiliate with the party of his choice, but we do protest against the right of any one to cling to the name of Democracy and use the influence it gives to sow discord in the party ranks.

True Democrats will "reason together and work together for the public good," and these traits will mark the real Democrats of our state and nation.—Charlotte News.

Mr. H. A. White,
 Greenville, N. C.
 Dear Sir—

During the summer you prevailed on me to buy a disability policy in the Maryland Casualty Company. Within a very short time after purchasing same, I found that it was necessary for me to have a slight surgical operation performed on account of which it was necessary for me to remain away from my business for a period of about two weeks.

The check presented me to-day in full settlement of lost time, also covering cost of operation is very much appreciated, and I can highly recommend the Maryland and yourself for the prompt service rendered.

Very truly yours,

A SHREWD LAWYER.

Jeremiah Mason, a celebrated American lawyer, possessed to a marked degree the instinct for finding the weak point.

He was once cross examining a witness who had previously testified to having heard Mason's client make a certain statement, and so important was this statement that the adversary's case was based on it alone.

Several questions were asked by Mason, all of which the witness answered with more or less hesitation. Then he was asked to repeat once more the statement he had heard made. Without hesitation he gave it word for word as he had given it in the direct examination. A third time Mason led the witness round to this statement, and again it was repeated verbatim.

Then, without warning, he walked to the witness stand and, pointing straight at the witness, said in a perfectly unimpassioned voice, "Let's see that paper you have in your waistcoat pocket."

Taken completely by surprise, the witness mechanically took a paper from the pocket indicated and handed it to the lawyer.

There was profound silence in the courtroom as the lawyer slowly read in a cold, calm voice the exact words of the witness in regard to the statement and called attention to the fact that they were in the handwriting of counsel on the other side. He then gathered up his papers with great deliberation, remarked that there seemed to me no further need for his services and departed from the courtroom.

Mason was asked how he knew that the paper was in the witness' pocket.

"Well," explained Mason, "it seemed to me that he gave that part of his testimony more as if he'd learned it than as if he had heard it. Then, too, I noticed that at each repetition of his testimony he put his hand to his waistcoat pocket and then let it fall again when he got through."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Baffling Old Age.

We have it on excellent authority that in a hundred years' time people will only suffer from old age just as we do now from bronchitis or tonsillitis or some other preventable disease. "I haven't seen you lately," our grandsons will be saying to a man at the Twenty-first Century club, to which he will make reply, "Been seedy, had a nasty attack of old age and have just come back from a little aeroplane trip to shake it off."—London World.

SLANG OF THE SAILOR

The Lingo That Is Used by Uncle Sam's Bluejackets.

MANY QUAINT EXPRESSIONS.

The Man-of-war's Man May Be a "Snowdigger" or a "Sloper," but He Uses the Language of Every Other Sailor.

There is a language that is neither English nor American, down east nor southern, western nor Yankee. It is just sailors' lingo.

No matter what part of the country may be the birthplace of a bluejacket or what his language at home, sooner or later he uses the language of every other sailor.

To the civilian a conversation between two bluejackets about his life on shipboard is hardly intelligible. The other day on the water front two sailors were overheard talking, says the San Francisco Bulletin.

"Oh, he's nothing but a beach comber. He was run up for breaking it once and got sent to the pie wagon," said one of them.

"I heard he got six months and a bob before he come here," replied the other. A small boy standing near asked what all those things meant. The sailors were in a good humor and explained.

"Beach comber," said? Why, that's a fellow who hangs around a saloon ashore and never wants to work. "Breaking it" is staying overtime on shore, and "run up" is brought to the mast for offenses. The "pie wagon" is the place where they put prisoners, and "six months and a bob" is sentenced to six months in prison and given a dishonorable discharge.

There are many other terms and expressions that do not show their meaning on the surface.

A "rookie" is a recruit. A man who "ships over" enlists again. A man who is on the report for most call is "down for a chance." Canned beef is known as "canned Willie," and a bottle of liquor is a "dog." All things lost on shipboard are put in a room called the "lucky bag." An honorable discharge is "a big ticket," and desertion by a sailor is "jumped." When the mail arrives on board and is ready for distribution "mail" is the cry which carries the news. A ship's carpenter is called "chips," a coppersmith "coppers," a blacksmith "blacky" and the chief of the engineering department "the chief."

When a ship is traveling at sea it is "seagoing," and if it carries it is "making knots." A prison on shore is a "stone frigate." When a man is disgraced to a lower rating he is "busted," when he deserts and voluntarily gives himself up within a period of six months he is a straggler; when he is sitting next the dealer in a friendly game of "draw" he is "under the gun;" when he is continually quoting the naval regulations he has "swallowed the blue book," and when he thinks he knows more about the blue book than the captain he is a "sea lawyer."

"Pipe down" means in American slang "shut up." "Put in his own" is "butt in." "Shove off, Jack," is a hint to move on. When a man is dishonorably discharged he gets a "straight kick." A sailor who draws more pay "draws more water." One who talks too much "blows off at a low pressure."

Wednesday afternoon, when the crew overhaul their clothing, is "rope yard Sunday." Any part of the United States is called "God's country," and the man from the eastern coast is an "snowdigger," while his brother tar from the west is called "sloper." The duty of calling the men in the morning falls to the master at arms, and he says "show a leg" or "rise up and shine." When a man has had no night watch and gets up in the morning with a good appetite it is "all night in and beans for breakfast."

One of the more familiar sea terms is "caught a crab," meaning caught an oar in the water. When a sailor has several enlistments to his credit he is called "a sea dog" or "an old salt."

A gentle hint from one sailor to another that he does not believe something which is being told to him is "tell it to a marine." To re-enlist is to "slip over," and when more than half the enlistment is in a sailor is "going downhill."

His Office Hours.

Pat, a miner, after struggling for years in a western mining district, finally giving up in despair, was about to turn his face eastward when suddenly he struck it rich. Soon afterward he was seen strutting along, dressed in fine clothes. One day an old friend stopped him, saying: "And how are you, Pat? I'd like to talk to you."

Pat stretched himself proudly. "If you want to talk to me I'll see you in my office. I have an office now, and my hours is from a. m. in the mornin' to p. m. in the afternoon." Northwestern Christian Advocate.

Crack or Break.

Edwin and his mother went for a walk Sunday afternoon. Coming to a tree of cherries, the mother bent a low limb so that the little fellow could pick some. Seeing some fine ones higher up, he begged to be allowed to climb the tree. "Oh, no," said his mother, "that would be breaking the Sabbath."

"And we are only cracking the Sabbath now, are we, mamma?" inquired Edwin.—Dellnestor.

A clever man turns great troubles into little ones and little ones into none at all.—Chinese Proverb.

Some of the Alpine guides are experts in climbing. There are a number who are noted for their skill in what the Alpinist calls "snow and ice work." That means going up a peak which has so many snow fields and glaciers that its sides and summits may be nearly covered with them. The glacier guide can tell you all about "cornices"—snow masses which project from the edge of precipices and overhang the valley beneath like the roof of a house. Experience has told him whether a cornice can be crossed safely or whether it may break off if one ventures upon it. He is also an expert with the ice ax carried in his belt, cutting footholds in the glittering walls that may rise fifty or a hundred feet above your head. These ice precipices are frequently found at the heads of glaciers, which, as the schoolboy knows, are merely rivers of frozen water slowly moving down the face of a mountain on account of the force of gravity and the great pressure of the ice masses which form their source on the upper part of the slope. Other guides make a specialty of "rock work," conducting persons up peaks which may be only partly covered with snow and ice, but having sides of bare rock so steep that in places the cliffs may be almost straight up and down. Here it would seem that one must be as spry and as sure footed as the chamois—the rare goat that lives up amid the Alps. While the crevasse and other dangers of the snow and ice fields may be absent, the mountain may be so abrupt that the climber must ascend hundreds of feet pulling himself up with arms aiding his legs, while often the guide hauls him to the top of the most difficult slopes by main strength.—St. Nicholas.

A MANSFIELD FAILURE.

When the Famous Actor Fainted of Hunger in London.

Mansfield was taken to the Savage club, where his cleverness was attested by the leading entertainers of London. When Corney Grain was taken sick in the spring of 1877, Mansfield was at once recommended as his substitute in the German Reed entertainments. He was to receive £8 a week. This was a splendid salary for any young man as salaries went then or as they stand now on the London stage. To Mansfield it was a positive windfall.

As a member of this distinguished little coterie of entertainers Mansfield felt that his fortune was made. His whole interest, attention and hope now centered on April 20, the night of his debut. He was assigned the small role of the beadle in the comediotta "Charity Begins at Home," which opened the evening. After that he was to change to evening dress and hold the stage alone for half an hour after the manner established by Corney Grain. Every shilling he could scrape together went for a wardrobe, linen, boots, cravat, a boutonniere and other irreplaceable appurtenances.

His friends crowded St. George's hall for his first appearance. It was observed as he uttered the few lines of the beadle that he was excessively nervous. When later in the evening he sat down at the piano and struck a preliminary chord he fainted dead away.

Mr. Reed relieved him of his position at once. In discharging him he said, "You are the most nervous man I have ever seen." It was not all nervousness, however. Mansfield had not eaten for three days. He had fainted from hunger.

It was many a year before he again worked up to the munificence of £8 a week, but this pathetic incident was later made an asset as employed by him in an attractive little comedy of his own writing—Paul Wistach in Scribner's.

Iodine and Light.

If it is necessary to use iodine for painting the skin in medical treatment it is worth remembering that the painting should be done in the dark or in a red light such as is used in photography.

If this is done and the painted portion of the skin be covered without being exposed to white light it will blister nor stain the flesh even if the painting is repeated a good many times.—New York Sun.

Deer.

Deer will eat almost any kind of grain or grass, even preferring the rankest weeds to the choicest hay. They should always have an abundant supply of clear, running water. About the greatest item of expense connected with raising deer is the cost of fencing. The fawns are usually born in the spring or early summer. Does, as a rule, have but one fawn at first, but subsequently twins are born and in rare cases triplets.—Kansas City Star.

WONDERS OF THE SUN

Some Facts About That Colossal Fiery Globe.

AN IDEA OF ITS GREAT SIZE.

Our Earth and Moon, as Far Apart as They Now Are, Could Easily Move Around in Its Flaming Interior—Some of the Substances It Contains.

Astronomy does not always consist of night studies. There are some things to be seen after darkness is gone, both with glass and unassisted eye. The dear old moon often gives us a good daylight view of herself, looking as if haggard, sleepy and disgusted after being out overnight. The star Venus has often been seen in the afternoon. Some comets are on record as having approached so near the earth that the same could be said of them for weeks at a time.

But of course the great day attraction is the ruler of our own family of brother and sister planets, the sun.

Although "medium sized" as compared to many of the fixed stars, our sun is no lightweight, being about 1,300,000 times as large as the earth. If some great force could put us in the center of that ultra mammoth globe, and the moon also (keeping her at the same distance from us as she now is), and there was another moon nearly as far away from her, the earth, and the two moons and all the space between them could still be contained in the great, sparkling sun.

Its distance from us is 92,897,000 miles, a very tedious little journey if we could make it by customary methods. You can find plenty of accounts in books of how long it would take a railroad train to get to it, and you can ascertain it yourself by a little figuring. You will learn, for instance, that a limited express traveling 1,000 miles per day would arrive at Sun station in about 254 years, during which time there would probably be a few deaths on the train. If when the engine arrived it could give a blast of the whistle loud enough to be heard here, the people at this end of the line would have to wait fourteen years before the signal arrived if it proceeded at the usual velocity of sound.

But the eye, most wonderful of conveyances, can traverse all that distance in between eight and nine minutes. It takes that length of time for light to pass between the two worlds.

What is the material of which that great fiery globe is composed? The following substances have been detected by the spectroscope and may be considered as surely a part of it: Barium, calcium, chromium, cobalt, copper, hydrogen, iron, magnesium, manganese, nickel, platinum, silicon, silver, sodium, titanium, vanadium. It is thought that the following substances are also there, although the proof, while strong, is not absolute: Aluminum, cadmium, carbon, lead, molybdenum, palladium, uranium and zinc. It is a singular fact that gold has not yet been discovered in this great golden orb.

The fact that "all is action, all is motion," not only in "this world of ours," but throughout our entire universe, is illustrated by the sun, for while all the planets of our system are revolving around it, it is not itself still; it would seem to be having a waltz of its own. It turns on its axis, it has another motion about the center of gravity of the solar system, and, besides, it is on its way, with its flock of planets, toward some distant point in space at the rate of 900 miles per minute. These facts and figures sound strange and hardly believable, but they have been demonstrated mathematically over and over again by astronomers of different times and lands.

One of the most interesting things to be seen upon the sun is its spots, for this great king of planets is not entirely immaculate. Some think these are caused by cyclones, some that they are eruptions from within the sun's surface, some by cool matter from meteors falling into the hotter atmosphere, and this last idea would seem the most sensible one. Such a great flaming furnace as the sun apparently is, giving out life to a colony of planets, must have food, and possibly the great heat giving life imparting creature may when spots appear be taking its rations.

These spots, often thousands of miles in extent, although they look so small from earth, can many of them be seen with an opera glass, but it is necessary to combine the instrument with smoked glass, which can be fastened upon it with rubber bands either at the eye or view end.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Favor Appreciated.

"I have come to inform you," said the young man who thought the firm would have to go out of business if he went away, "that unless my salary is raised I shall have to sever my connection with this establishment."

"Thank you," replied the general manager.

"Am I to understand, then," the young man asked, "that you accede to my demand?"

"No. I thanked you because you had relieved me of an unpleasant duty. I always hate to discharge a man who will be unable to hold a job anywhere else."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Not until we know all that God knows can we estimate to the full the power and the sacredness of some one life which may seem the humblest in the world.—John Raskin.

WHEN SILENCE WAS GOLDEN.

Speechmaking by Presidential Candidates No Longer Dangerous.

The modern practice of speechmaking by presidential candidates is in marked contrast to the early practice. In former times it was considered undignified for a candidate for president to make any open effort in his own behalf, and candidates generally observed strict silence. The theory was that if a candidate opened his mouth to say anything or even wrote the most commonplace letter it would be used against him.

General Scott, Whig candidate for president in 1852, eyed his defeat in part to two innocent but unfortunate expressions used by him long before his nomination. In 1846, when he expected to be ordered to Mexico, he bespoke the support of the administration for his military plans by saying in a published letter that "soldiers had a far greater dread of a fire upon the rear than of the most formidable enemy in the front." For this expression President Polk declined to order him to Mexico at that time, and when Scott was nominated for president six years later he never heard the last of "the fire upon the rear."

The other expression occurred in a note to the secretary of war. One day the secretary called at General Scott's office and found that he was absent. On returning and learning that the secretary had called the general wrote a note in explanation of his absence, saying that he "had only stepped out for a moment to take a hasty plate of soup." When he was nominated for president the "hasty plate of soup" figured in all sorts of caricatures and brought upon him ridicule that he did not deserve.

Abraham Lincoln, a frequent speaker prior to his nomination, did not utter a word publicly during the campaign. He made no addresses, wrote no public letters and held no conferences. His letter of acceptance contained only 134 words. The practice of speechmaking by candidates after their nomination began with James A. Garfield.—Indianapolis News.

A WOMAN'S INFLUENCE.

Effect It Produced on Her Husband's Business Affairs.

A delegation of young men lately waited on their employer's wife with the oddest request on record. "You see, madam," said the spokesman, "we want to have a half holiday every Saturday. Now, if you will be particularly nice to Mr. Page for a few days we'll go to him and ask—"

"Gentlemen," the lady laughingly interrupted, "do you imply that I do not understand what is due to my husband?" "Oh, I know all about it, madam," the spokesman went on. "I'm married myself. Things go wrong in the house, and you're tired and cross at breakfast. Then we suffer at the office. You stay up late to chaperon your daughter at a ball, and we have more trouble at the office. You're a bit cross three mornings in succession for one reason or another, and we have a—terrible time at the office."

"You see how the matter stands and how greatly you will oblige us by being more than usually agreeable to Mr. Page for three or four days. The fourth day give him the best breakfast you can—everything that he likes best—and we'll get what we want in three minutes."

"Talk about a woman having no influence in the business! Why, the humor she's in has more effect than a bank failure or a boom in trade."

She thought she ought to be angry, but instead she laughed and agreed to the proposition, and four days later when they waited on the head of the firm he made the closing hour 12 o'clock and said never in the history of the firm had things run as satisfactorily as they had during the last four days.—London Tit-Bits.

The African Elephant.

Shunning man and, as a rule, fleeing at his approach, the African elephant when attacked often shows fight and is dangerous prey. Kongo specimens have very large ears that even stretch back beyond the neck and cover part of the flank. In color the Kongo elephants are of a grayish blue, almost slate-like tint. No one has even reported seeing specimens of the sacred white elephant of India there. In size Kongo elephants have been killed more than fourteen feet high at the withers and reckoned at more than eight tons in weight. Tusks obtained are sometimes more than 200 pounds in weight and six feet and a half in length.

Free Speech in England.

Professor Masterman, lecturing at Cambridge on modern England and the liberty of the subject, said there was enough treason spoken in Hyde park, London, on Sunday afternoons to fill a German fortress. Instead, the orators went home to tea. It is a remarkable fact, however, added the lecturer, that there is no state in Europe where attacks on the sovereign are so rare or so strongly resented by the people at large.—London Graphic.

A Limit.

Mrs. Henpeck (to her husband)—What would you do if I were to die? Henpeck—It would drive me crazy. Mrs. H.—Would you marry again? Henpeck—I don't think I would be as crazy as that.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The Secret.

Sparks—I wonder why it is a woman lets out everything you tell her. Parks—My dear boy, a woman has only two views of a secret, either it is not worth keeping or it is too good to keep.—Stray Stories.

FOR LOOKS ONLY.

The great simplicity of the habits of General Robert E. Lee was one reason for his popularity with his soldiers. He fared no better than his troops. There were times when for weeks the southern army had but short rations, often doing entirely without meat. In "The Old South and the New" Mr. Charles Morris tells an amusing story of one of these periods of scarcity.

On a very stormy day several corps and division generals arrived at headquarters and were waiting for the rain to abate before riding to their camps when General Lee's cook announced dinner. The general invited his visitors to dine with him. On repairing to the table a tray of hot corn bread, a boiled head of cabbage seasoned with a very small piece of bacon and a bucket of water constituted the repast.

The piece of meat was so small that all politely declined taking any, expressing themselves as "very fond of boiled cabbage and corn bread," on which they dined.

Of course the general was too polite to eat meat in the presence of guests who had declined it. But later in the afternoon, when they had all gone, feeling very hungry, he called his servant and asked him to bring him a piece of bread and meat.

The darky looked perplexed and embarrassed and said in a deprecating tone: "Well, Marse Robert, dat meat what I sot before you at dinner wa'n't ours. I jest borrowed dat piece of middlin' from one of de couriers to season de cabbage in de pot, and, seein' as you was gwine to have company at dinner, I put it on de dish wid de cabbage for looks. But when I seed you an' none of de gentlemen touched it I 'cluded you all knowed it was borrowed, and so after dinner I sent it back to de boy what it belong to."

"Flavia Filippis is the most remarkable girl I know."

"In what special respect?"

"Why, there isn't a milliner in the world who can make her spend one penny more on a hat than she started out to spend."—London Globe.

Well Up.

"Is your son derelict in his studies, Mrs. Comeup?"

"Yes. Indeed he is, and it makes us so proud of the dear boy to have all his teachers say so."—Baltimore American.

Great Land Sale

On the first Monday in December and on Tuesday after I will sell, strictly under the hammer, at the court house door in Greenville, more than a dozen small farms. Some for cash, but most of them on long time, with a payment of only one-fourth cash. Remember the dates—December 7th and 8th, 1908.

Have also some for sale privately on long time between now and above date. These lands are all within from one to five miles of the town of Greenville, and in the best neighborhoods to live to be found anywhere, and are among the best agricultural lands in Pitt county. This is a great opportunity for young men and others wishing to begin life on the farm.

The splendid Training School will open in Greenville next fall and then you'll want to be convenient to it. You had better buy now while you have the opportunity. PLOTS and other information can be had at my office. See also my other notices in The Reflector.
