CHAIRMAN ELLER'S COMMENTS.

Result of 1908 Election in N. C. Showing Great Gain in Democracy.

Gain in Democratic vote on State ticket over the vote in 1906, 21,630, over the vote 1904, 16,341. Glenn received in 1904, 128,761 votes. McNeill received in 1906, 123,272 votes. Kitchin received in 1908, 145,102 votes.

The State ticket carried the fifth district by 1,875 majority. The State ticket lost the eighth district by 903 majority. The State ticket lost the tenth district by 134 majority.

Except on presidential years, the 8th district is Democratic. Barring a colossal corruption fund, the 10th district is safely Democratic. Apart from local and personal contests, that may come to any party at any time, the 5th district is a rock-ribbed stronghold of Democracy and will remain so.

The Republican vote this year is a mere spurt. It is abnormal and cannot be maintained. It was their last opportunity to fool and frighten the illiterate vote about the suffrage amendment. It was their last and golden opportunity to practice duplicity in regard to both railroad and prohibition legislation. It was their year to use the power of commercialism in politics to frighten the honest and timid and to purchase the purchasable.

The Democratic gain this year, great as it appears, is normal, and will be maintained. The Democratic party is accustomed to cast a large vote each election, because it has worthy measures and men to be voted for. Not so with the Republicans. Since 1896 thousands of Republicans have refused to vote because they had no stomach for their party. This time they were able to sit up and take their medicine even in company with a large increase of the brother-in black.

The Democrats have taken notice and are glad to know just what the utmost strength of their opponents is. They are glad for the people of North Carolina to know that they are safe only so long as the true Democracy remains true, true to principle, true to party unity and true at the ballot box. They are glad for the people to be reminded how easily the benefits of white supremacy can be lost, lost irreparably the moment the negroes present themselves to their old allies in charge of the registration and election laws.

The chief boast of the Republicans is that Bryan's majority is only 22,043. In 1900 it was only 24,000, with a much smaller vote than he received this year. Judge Parker had a larger majority in 1904, but his vote that year was 124,121. Mr. Bryan's vote this year is 136,927, a gain for Mr. Bryan on the presidential vote of 12,806.

What hope for Republicans or fear Democrats springs from the see-saw record of the 8th and 10th districts? Examine the table:

Year	8th dist.	10th dist.
1900	Republican	Republican
1902	Democratic	Democratic
1904	Republican	Democratic
1906	Democratic	Democratic
1908	Republican	Republican

What Republican is so bold as to count on victory; what Democrat so timid as to fear defeat in the legislature with the following table before him?

Year	Senate	House	Joint
1900	39	101	140
1902	8	17	25

ARRIVED TODAY.

L. Spiegel and His Wonderful Trained Beavers.

L. Spiegel and his trained beavers arrived in town today and will give a free performance, beginning at 7:30, on the corner of Fourth and Evans streets, upon an open platform so all can see. Mr. Spiegel says he has worked about three years in domesticating and training these animals. A beaver is a very timid animal and is seldom kept alive in captivity. Such a sight has rarely been seen by our oldest inhabitant.

Mr. Spiegel is here representing the Beaver Oil Company, of Albany, N. Y., a remedy for all aches and pains. He is one of the principal stock holders in this company, his father being the president. If this Beaver Oil does all that is claimed for it, it certainly must be a wonderful remedy.

Mr. Spiegel has visited most of the larger towns of North Carolina, and according to the press notices he has performed some remarkable cures. He has just come from Rocky Mount where he created somewhat of a sensation in curing people of rheumatism and pains, they throwing away their canes and crutches after a short treatment with this oil. One case especially was that of William Love, an old man 78 years of age, who for six months had been walking on his crutches, all remedies having failed to help him, and physicians giving him up as incurable. He had been a citizen of Rocky Mount for 20 years and the citizens pitted him in his suffering with excruciating pains, and his friends hearing of the great work Mr. Spiegel was doing with his Beaver Oil, he was urged to get upon the platform and give it a trial, which he did. After a treatment of 15 minutes he walked away with his crutches under his arm.

We are anxiously waiting to see if he can do the same here, as he claims his Beaver Oil will cure neuralgia, paralysis, lame back, sore feet and all pains and aches. His street exhibitions are entertaining, instructive and amusing. A large crowd is expected to be out tonight to see him. J. W. Bryan, druggist, has taken the agency here for this oil.

The legislature of 1882 was lost to the Democrats of this State following the prohibition election of 1881. In Ohio and Indiana the Republicans this year had to bear the brunt of a prohibition election, and they went down in defeat. Rock-ribbed Maine barely escaped.

That the Democracy of North Carolina has grappled with this problem and with the other great problem of regulating public service corporations and has emerged from the conflict with its vote increased 21,830 over two years ago (17 1/2 per cent.), and with its great majority in the legislature unscathed, may well cause our critics to pause and ask themselves if the wish is not father to the thought when they talk about Democratic defeat.

HOUSE BREAKERS CAPTURED.

Blood Hounds do Good Work in Chasing the Criminals.

Recently Mr. R. A. Nichols, of Beaver Dam township, has been considerably annoyed by thieves breaking into an outhouse near his residence and stealing articles which he kept stored there. Twice the house was entered and the thieves got away without detection. A few nights ago there was another robbery, and Mr. Nichols being tired of such annoyance and loss came to Greenville to get Mr. W. C. Hines' blood hounds to hunt for the thieves. The dogs were taken to the scene and struck trails which they readily followed to the homes of colored people living in the neighborhood. Four arrests followed, and two of the negroes at a preliminary hearing gave bond for appearance at court, and the other two were brought to jail. The two in jail are Jim Holloway and Fred Washington, and we learn they have made confession of the part they took in the house breaking.

Turkish Tobacco in North Carolina.

A letter which must mean a great deal to North Carolina was received to-day by Governor Glenn and was immediately turned over to the Agricultural Department. It is from Notara Bros., New York tobacco importers and cigarette manufacturers, who are Turks and handle Turkish tobacco and make Egyptian cigarettes. The firm informs the Governor that for twelve years it has been manufacturing these cigarettes; that when it first began business the imports of Turkish tobacco aggregated only $25,000 in value, but this year they reached the great figure of four million dollars. Hence Notara Bros. say they believe it will not be long before the Turkish tobacco will entirely replace American tobacco for cigarettes. The firm tells the Governor that it finds that in all probability North Carolina is the best situation in which to grow this tobacco in the United States and say that it will pay far better to raise it than the ordinary leaf. The firm, therefore, desires to know whether any persons in the State could give the use of 50 acres of suitable land for a test of this Turkish tobacco. If a tender of such land is made the firm will send a representative to North Carolina to reside and to give thorough instruction as to the growth and curing of such tobacco, the methods being entirely different from those in use here curing leaf. The firm has had years of personal experience in cultivating and curing the Turkish leaf. This is a very important matter and Commissioner of Agriculture Graham is naturally much interested in it.—Raleigh Cor. Charlotte Observer.

Big Day Coming.

Next Monday will be an important day. The new county officers will be inducted into office and take charge of affairs for the beginning of a new fiscal year. A term of civil court will begin that day, and several big land sales are also to take place before the court house door.

For Rent.

Dwelling, including 5 acres of land, now occupied by Sam Dudley, possession given Jan. 1st. B. W. Moseley. 12 2.

ROCHDALE SPROUTS

Rochdale, N. C., Dec. 1, 1908

R. E. Willoughby went to Greenville last Tuesday to sell cotton, and one of his horses got sick and caused him to have to spend the night there. The horse was alright Wednesday when he brought him home.

Mills Smith went to Farmville Tuesday evening on business.

R. A. Smith, of Farmville, came to Mills Smith's Tuesday sick, but was much better Wednesday, and was so much better Thursday that he returned home to resume his duties on police force.

Misses May Brooks and Mary Joyner, the teachers at Smith's school, left Wednesday evening to spend Thanksgiving at home.

Mills Smith and J. B. Joyner went to Greenville Tuesday morning.

J. B. Joyner and Mills Smith went to Farmville Thursday evening on business.

Thanksgiving day was kept by a great many people here in hunting, and there was so much shooting a part of morning that it reminded me of war a way back in the sixties.

R. E. Willoughby went to Farmville Friday on business.

The Hookerton Union meeting convened at Smith's school house Friday night, and closed Sunday night. There were seven preachers in the meeting. From Wilson we had J. C. Caldwell, S. P. Speigle, H. H. Settle, Hayes Farish and C. M. Morton. From Grifton we had S. W. Sumerel and from Greenville D. W. Arnold.

We had a good attendance Friday night, and it was much larger Saturday. The good people round about served a bountiful dinner on the grounds and all of the large crowd helped themselves until they were all satisfied, and like it was when Christ fed the five thousand and there were twelve baskets full taken up. On Sunday there was a very large crowd from several of the surrounding counties and another bountiful dinner spread from which there were 7 baskets taken up. The meeting passed off very pleasantly and all seemed to enjoy it greatly.

Some of the preachers and delegates took the train at Arthur Monday morning for Wilson, Macclesfield and Farmville.

Jas. L. Smith, of Maple Cypress, came up Saturday to attend the union meeting and to visit his son, Haywood. A Mr. Kirkman came up with him and they returned home Monday morning.

C. D. Smith's daughter, Sallie, has been sick for a week with fever. And Miss Mamie is sick also, but we hope she will not have the fever.

Misses May Brooks and Mary Joyner returned Saturday night to be at the Union Sunday and to take charge of their school Monday morning.

Nothing like home pride. A man just back from Norfolk tells us he did not see in that city a street as prettily paved as Evans street and Dickinson avenue in Greenville.

We heard Postmaster Flanagan drop the remark, that at the rate things are moving now over at the postoffice Greenville will have free delivery in less than two years. Just watch us grow.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is (Catarh) Hall's Catarh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Have you been out to look at that piece of new sand-clay road the county commissioners are having built as an experiment, under the supervision of a government expert road builder? It begins at the A. C. L. railroad on Dickinson avenue and will extend a mile out of town. Even before being completed it is creating such enthusiasm for good roads that people are talking about subscribing a fund to get the commissioners to carry the work on for several miles. In fact such a movement is already on foot and subscription lists will be circulated with this object in view. Whoop it up, and lets carry that road clear to the Greene county line if possible, and follow it with the same kind of work until we have good roads all over the county. It is the thing to do.

They tell a story of a mountain school committee and the examination of a teacher whose employment was under consideration. The applicant was a mountaineer also. "Do you teach geography round or flat?" asked one of the committee. With infinite confidence the applicant answered, "I can teach it round or flat, whichever the committee prefers." Andy Carnegie seems possessed with a similar versatility of talent. He can preach tariff high or low, according to circumstances. If the tariff on steel was put low enough some of the water would be squeezed out of steel stock and the bondholders might get the whole thing—Andy holds a majority of the bonds.—Charlotte Chronicle.

850 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF SELF-HEALING TIRES

A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY $4.80

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce us we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 each with order $4.55. NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use. DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It's lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have never been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer. IF YOU NEED TIRES Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices. DO NOT WAIT or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

SAVED FROM THE GRAVE.

How a Dream Rescued Woman From a Terrible Death.

Mr. Jones was a popular young business man in the city of B. His wife was a woman of strong emotion and most delicate perceptions. Between them there existed a rare sympathy which extended to all the faculties.

Mrs. Jones fell ill, and after a few weeks' agony, during which her husband waited on her with a constancy not often seen, she died—that is, she appeared to be dead. There was no question about it in the doctors' mind. A certificate was issued and an undertaker called in. But for the fortunate circumstance that Mr. Jones was opposed to embalming there would be no story to tell unless it were of another person apparently dead who was revived for a moment under the lunge of the embalmer's knife.

Saved from that fate, Mrs. Jones was laid out in her burial robe, placed in a coffin and on the third day was buried in a cemetery some distance away.

Her husband was greatly afflicted, so much that his relatives feared an attack of melancholia. His uncle, wishing to arouse his spirits and divert his attention, remained in the house the night after the funeral and was a valuable witness, as it proved, of an event so astounding as to be almost beyond belief.

For an hour or two that evening they talked chiefly about the dead and then went to bed. Mr. Jones, after tossing upon his pillow for a long time, fell into a troubled sleep. In the middle of the night he heard a voice calling his name, "George, George!" The tones were not familiar to him; they did not recall the voice of his wife.

Still conceiving himself the victim of a dream, he again went to sleep. It was daybreak before the voice was heard again, and this time it could not be ignored. He recognized it at last as the voice of his wife in sore distress calling upon him. She cried:

"George! Save me! Save me, George!" He sprang out of bed, trembling all over. That despairing cry still rang in his ears. So real was it that, although he was awake and remembered perfectly the death, the funeral and all that happened in the preceding four days, he searched the room for her who had thrice called him by name.

Finding that he was alone, he rushed into his uncle's room crying: "Get up! Get up! We must go to the cemetery! She is alive! She is calling me!" The uncle, skeptical as he was by nature, was carried away by Jones' impetuosity. Both men threw on some clothing, and, while one harnessed a horse to a light buggy, the other procured spades. Thus equipped, they drove to the cemetery at a gallop. The sun rose as they leaped out at the grave and began to dig.

Mrs. Jones had been buried the previous afternoon. Her husband shoveled away the earth in a frenzy of energy. It was firmly fixed in his mind that she had been buried alive and that he might yet be in time to save her. Inspired by his nephew's excitement, the uncle dug with a vigor almost as great as Jones'.

Begrimed and disheveled, they at last reached the coffin and wrenched off the lid. Jones shrieked. His wife was moving. She was trying feebly to turn over in her narrow bed. She gazed at him with eyes that saw not. She was unconscious of her situation.

He passed his arms about her and lifted her out. The two men removed her from the grave, placed her in the buggy and drove home. Physicians were called in. Under close medical care she slowly recovered. Every precaution was taken to guard her from the knowledge of what had happened, and all who were in the secret pledged themselves to silence lest the shock of that revelation of her burial and resurrection might prove fatal to her, but the story leaked out later, when Mrs. Jones got about again.—Baltimore Sun.

She Got a New Pair.
Sarcasticus and his wife were going to the theater.
"Will you please go in and get my goats off the dressing table?" said Mrs. S.
"Your goats?" queried the puzzled Sarcasticus. "What fangle have you women got now?"
"I'll show you!" snapped the wife, and she sailed away and soon returned, putting on her gloves.
"Are those what you mean? Why, I call those kids."
"I used to," replied Mrs. Sarcasticus, "but they are getting so old I am ashamed to any longer."
He took the hint.—Pearson's Weekly.

The method by which a president may resign is provided for in section 151 of the revised statutes, reading as follows: "The only evidence of a refusal to accept or of a resignation of the office of president or vice president shall be an instrument in writing declaring the same and subscribed by the person refusing to accept or resigning, as the case may be, and delivered into the office of the secretary of state."—Washington Post.

TARGET PRACTICE.

The Methods of Firing and Keeping Records in Our Navy.

I find it difficult to describe target practice in a way to be easily understood by the layman without violating the orders of the navy department not to give out information on professional subjects. However, what I shall write may be found in publications issued from the department and not marked "confidential" and therefore, I hope, not in violation of the spirit of the regulations.

First we have what is called record target practice, in which a careful record of each shot fired is kept and reported to the department. This firing is done in the most careful way, one gun only being fired at a time, except in case of turret guns, when two of them may be fired at the same time. The actual firing of the gun is done by the gun pointer, the man who would do the firing in time of war, under the general charge of the officer of his gun division on board the ship.

Umpires are appointed, who, under the most carefully prepared rules, watch the loading and firing of each gun and note any mistakes that may be made. This firing is for the purpose of rating the gun pointers, who receive extra pay if they make a certain percentage of hits on the target. Having once made this percentage, the pointer must at each succeeding practice maintain at least his rate of hitting or his extra pay is discontinued. To determine this important point annual practice is necessary.

When the target, a canvas screen seventeen feet long by twelve high, is spread on a float previously moored for the purpose, the firing begins. The captain runs his ship over one side of a triangle, so that the distance from the target varies from about 2,000 yards to 1,600 yards when at the nearest point. A signal to commence firing is given, and each gun pointer is allowed to fire as many shots as he can in a given time. Only hits on the target screen are counted. When both gun pointers at a gun have fired, or in case of turret guns the pointers of two guns, the ship leaves the range and passes near the target so that the result of the firing may be seen and the hits recorded. In this way every gun pointer in the ship takes his turn, and the practice is continued until every gun in the ship has been fired. Service smokeless powder is used, but in order to reduce the expense as much as possible special cast iron shells are used instead of the steel service projectile, which is of much greater cost.—Robley D. Evans in Broadway Magazine.

The Powder Test.

One day after listening to a story particularly offensive with age a Georgia evangelist told this: An old darky went into a store down in Georgia and asked:

"Say, boss, you got any gunpowdah heah?"

"Yes, we have gunpowdah."
"Lemme see some of that theah gunpowdah."

The dealer showed him some.
"Pore a little of that powdah in my hand."

The old darky took the powder near the light, ran his forefinger around and around in it, looked at it critically and then smelled it two or three times.

"And you say this heah is powdah?"

"Yes," answered the dealer sharply; "that is powder. What is the matter with it?"

"Dunno, boss"—the darky shook his head doubtfully—"but hit smells to me like hit's been done shot off befoah."—Judge.

The Eternal Feminine.

Among some African tribes when a man professes his love for a woman and asks her in marriage she invariably refuses him at first lest it should appear that she had been thinking of him and was eager to become his wife. By so doing she maintains the modesty of her sex as well as tests the love and abases the pride of her lover. This policy is also intended to be of use to the woman in her married life, as should there be quarreling and the husband threaten to send her away, she can remind him of how he made repeated professions of his love and urgently pressed his suit before she consented to become his wife.—Wide World Magazine.

His Strenuous Job.

"I lately passed through a small town on a train. Say, but that station agent has a lot to do! When the train comes in he's got to sell tickets, attend to the mail, shift the express, check the baggage, fix the signal lights, put the danger lantern at the street crossing, post the trains on the bulletin board, operate the telegraph instruments and carry the messages."
"Heavens! Was he doing all that?"
"No; he was asleep."—Judge.

PULLMAN CARS.

They Are About the Heaviest Vehicles on Earth.

Does it ever occur to the passenger when he is sweeping through the country in the luxurious comfort of his heavily upholstered seat in a Pullman car that in order to give him that accommodation the railroad company must haul over the tracks not merely his individual 150 pounds of weight, but an additional two tons of weight of the car? The largest modern Pullmans will weigh over sixty tons, and since they provide only sixteen sections it follows that for every passenger carried, even when the car is full, two tons of dead weight must also be moved. In respect of the weight hauled per passenger, therefore, a Pullman train is the most extravagant and costly method of transportation in the world, as the following comparative facts will show: A touring car capable, when running on a good road and if, like the railroad train, unhindered by speed restrictions, will carry seven people at the same speed as a Pullman train. The machine will weigh about 3,500 pounds, or 500 pounds to the passenger.

A seven horse power motorcycle, weighing 150 pounds and running on a good road without speed restrictions, will transport two persons on the level at a speed of forty miles per hour, while a bicycle weighing only twenty-five pounds can be driven by an ordinary rider on a good road at from twelve to fifteen miles per hour and by a racing man at from twenty to twenty-five miles an hour. Even that good old standby, the two seated buggy, weighing, let us say, 320 pounds, will convey its two passengers in comfort and safety at a speed of from fifteen to twenty miles an hour. Summing up our comparative results, then, we find that the dead weight necessary to carry a passenger in a touring car is 500 pounds, on a motorcycle 75 pounds, on a bicycle 25 pounds and in a horse drawn buggy 160 pounds as against the enormous load of two tons of dead weight necessary for the transportation of a Pullman passenger. It may be objected that the Pullman car represents an extreme case and that much of the weight is due to the provision of sleeping accommodations, but we find that, even in the first class day coach, the dead weight per passenger is very high, being, in the case of coaches accommodating, according to size, from seventy to eighty-four people, about one and one-third tons of dead weight per passenger.—Scientific American.

Love's Labor Lost.

A popular young married man of Brooklyn heights who has a horror of what he is pleased to call "fussing" returned home one evening with a very perceptible limp in his gait, but refused any information beyond the fact that he had "slipped and wrenched the blamed thing." After hearing stifled groans and exclamations during dinner and after, however, his wife announced her intention of taking a hand to relieve the situation. She knelt before him, took off his shoe and stocking, brought in all the remedies she had ever heard of for a sprain and after an hour's massaging and bandaging arouse triumphantly, with the remark:

"There, doesn't the foot feel better?"

From behind the paper which her husband had been reading during the operation there came back, "I presume it would if it had happened to be the right one."—New York Times.

Four to One.

An English officer in Malta stopped in riding to ask a native the way. He was answered by a shrug of the shoulders and a "No speak English."

"You're a fool then," said the officer.

But the man knew enough English to ask:

"Do you understand Maltese?"

"No."

"Do you know Arabic?"

"No."

"Do you know Italian?"

"No."

"Do you know Greek?"

"No."

"Then you four fools. I only one."

The Tyranny of Custom.

Every human being has natural affections and natural antipathies. Instead, however, of obeying the impulse which makes us pursue the former and avoid the latter, we allow the most intimate relationship in life to be decided by calculating reason. Even in the matter of food and drink, we neither eat when we are hungry nor drink when we are thirsty, but whenever the ringing of a bell summons us to a meal for which we may or may not have the smallest inclination.—London Ladies' Field.

A PUZZLING CLIMATE.

The Curious Way Rain Falls In Balmly Honolulu.

A PERPLEXING SPECTACLE.

Downpours Half a Mile Away That Threaten to Drench You Every Moment, but Never Arrive—A Riot of Broken Up Rainbows In the Valleys.

The most perplexing thing about Hawaii's climate to the new arrival is the matter of rainfall. You begin to experience this perplexity before you have set foot on the dock at Honolulu, when you consult anxiously with your fellow travelers as to the advisability of digging out an umbrella or rainproof before you go ashore. The chances are that you are all convinced that the heavy veil of black clouds which shuts out portions of the mountain scenery from view and the few drops of rain which the fresh shore breeze dashes in your face like flashing jewels torn from that bit of rainbow are warnings too plain to be ignored, and you prepare accordingly for the downpour which seems imminent.

You observe with some surprise that none of the wearers of the dainty costumes you pass on the street appear to be in the least perturbed by the possibility of getting caught in the impending shower until after awhile it dawns on you that the storm keeps right on impending—and nothing more. As you ride in a street car along the flashing seabeach, vivid with color of breaking surf and of flowers in trees and hedges along the way, the sunshine never appeared so brilliant. But off to the left in a beautiful little valley tucked like a deep pocket in the mountains and seemingly scarcely half a mile away there can be no doubt of the fact that a good, heavy rain is falling. The sunlight striking through the falling drops fills the valley with a glory of broken up rainbows—a riot of color that causes one to gasp and exclaim in admiration. There can be no doubt that the rain we have seen falling is real and that it is as near as it seems, for the wind now and then carries refreshing dashes of it into the open car, causing a few of the passengers to change their seats to the opposite side. But still the street is perfectly dry and the sunshine as bright as ever.

Five minutes later we leave the car at the foot of a great jagged pile of volcanic rock that marks the vent of a prehistoric volcano, and the red base and sides which support a stunted, mesquite-like growth and a few cacti look as though they hadn't had a good shower for six months. And they probably haven't.

In time one learns that Hawaii's climate is purely a matter of locality; that the report of the rainfall for any given time, published by the United States' weather bureau, does not mean for every place in the territory nor for the island of Oahu nor even for the city of Honolulu, but only for the place where the rain gauge stands. It would not be true for a place half or three-quarters of a mile away. One learns that he may live in Honolulu under very different conditions as to precipitation, according to location. In some of the valleys rain falls practically every day of the year and varies in amount in different parts of the same valley, which may be only a mile or two long. There are other sections in which the splendid lawns and bowers of green foliage which surround beautiful homes are only possible through constant irrigation. And there are to be found almost every degree of moisture between these extremes.

Like everywhere else, one finds people of every turn of mind in Honolulu as to the most desirable places in which to live. In sections where the rainfall may amount to two or three hundred inches per year vegetation flourishes most luxuriantly and with a minimum of attention. There is also an absence of humid feeling in the atmosphere or disagreeable dampness which one usually associates with much rainfall. This is accounted for by the fact that the rain comes in showers, of which a dozen or more may come in a day and may occur while the sun is shining brightly, while the never failing trade winds and a porous soil dry up the surface moisture within a few minutes after a shower has passed. The heaviest precipitation also usually occurs at night.

In the dry sections, if one has plenty of water with which to irrigate (and Honolulu has a splendid system of waterworks with ample supply), one may more easily control what he would grow and at the same time escape the inconvenience of oft occurring showers. Some of Honolulu's most beautiful residence districts as well as the beautiful Kapiolani park, one of the most beautiful tropical gardens in the world, was originally barren sand plains, practically devoid of vegetation and once thought to be worthless. The newcomer is often puzzled to hear an old resident refer to "the plains" when speaking of a section of the city in which are located some of the most magnificent homes and beautiful grounds in the whole territory.

The variation of rainfall, together with the difference in temperature due to elevation, give to Hawaii a diversity of climate that can scarcely be equaled in the world, lacking only in extremes of either heat or cold.—Will J. Cooper.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness Profit by Greenville People's Experience.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect this ailment. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swellings below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Greenville prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. J. F. Stokes, Cor. Twelfth and Evans Sts., Greenville, N. C., says: "For some time I suffered severely from kidney complaint. The kidneys were very irregular in action and at times caused me great annoyance. I had bearing down pains through my abdomen and sharp shooting twinges through my loins causing me untold misery. There was a tender spot across my kidney regions and at times my limbs pained intensely. I finally read of Doan's Kidney pills and was so much impressed that I procured them at Wooten's drug store. They soon relieved the pains in my sides and limbs, restored the secretions to a regular and normal condition and at present I am feeling a great deal better in every way. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for the great improvement in my condition."
