The play was laden with spirit, speed, sparkle and life, and held the audience spell bound by its electrical variety. The slow drag that is inflicted on the audience at so many plays "between the acts" was foreign to this, and the attention of every one in the house was riveted on the specialties of Miss Eva Horton and Roland Joyner, sandwiched between the curtain falls like layers of icing between a Nabisco wafer. The entire play was grand and has not been surpassed by any ever seen here. Mrs. J. Stanley Smith, under whose management the play was rendered, is receiving congratulations. This popular play will be given in Ayden on Friday evening, and will also be repeated here by special request on Wednesday night, 16th. Coming Again. "Was She to Blame?" is coming to Greenville the 17th for a return date. This is the good play that came here a few months ago, and which many of our theatre goers found themselves to blame for missing when they learned from those present what a splendid attraction it was. We do not think they will miss it next time. A golden opportunity for a safe and profitable investment, at the big land sale at Farmville, N. C. Each and every man, woman, and child can own a lot on Townsend &amp; Windhams easy terms. A great treat, best brass band in the state, a balloon ascension, and a great display of fire works at the big land sale at Farmville everybody come.	Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor. Winterville, N. C., Dec. 12 1908. Miss Mollie Bryan, who has been teaching at Gold Point, in Martin county, came home Wednesday night. Prof. Lineberry, accompanied by Mrs. Lineberry, went to the McGowan school house Friday night, where he made an address at the dedication of the house. A large audience was out and the finest order prevailed. He speaks in highest term of his trip. Theodore Cox proprietor of the East Carolina Supply Co. is giving away some beautiful pictures 16 by 20. He also prepared to frame pictures of all sizes of any ordinary style desired. What would be nicer than a nice picture for a Christmas present? Mrs. Matilda Browning and Miss Mamie Browning left this morning for their home at Jamesville, after having spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anze. Several of our people attended the Teachers' Association at Greenville today. J. K. Barnhill and Johnnie Kittrell went Greenville this morning. On next Thursday night, Dec. 17, Winterville High School will enjoy a delightful Christmas tree. All the presents will be simple, not costing over ten cents. All the children are looking forward to this happy event with exceeding great pleasure. This will close one of the most prosperous terms in the history of the school both in number enrolled and especially the grade of work done. The work has been very harmonious indeed and pleasant. Nearly all the students will be back at the beginning of the spring term, which opens December 28, and quite a number of new ones have already made arrangements to be in at that time. Prof. Ragsdale will be present on the occasion of the Christmas tree and deliver an address. There will also be special music. The public is cordially invited to come out and help enjoy this occasion. The Greenville Banking &amp; Trust Co. We very much regret that the printers who had the contract for setting the type of the business sketches in this anniversary holiday edition of The Reflector, lost the copy for an article concerning the Greenville Banking &amp; Trust Company, and let the office know nothing about it, and the issue was run through the press before the omission was discovered. The Greenville Banking &amp; Trust Company is one of our best financial institutions, admirably managed and has the confidence of the public. The officers are R. J. Cobb, president, O. S. Carr, cashier; A. J. Moore, assistant cashier; directors, R. O. Jeffress, H. A. White, R. O. Flanagan, C. T. Munford, Charles Cobb, E. G. Flanagan, C. O'H. Laughinghouse, A. M. Moseley. The bank was organized in 1901, and it has always been its policy to use its resources to assist in every possible way in the development of the town and county. Its directors are constantly in touch with the affairs and conditions of the bank and maintain an active supervision over its conduct. The greater portion of its earnings has been left in the business thereby giving greater protection to its patrons. The best guarantee that any bank can give its patrons is competent management under strict supervision of an active board of directors. This the Greenville Banking &amp; Trust Company offers. Its constant growth and increase in usefulness is sufficient proof of the people's confidence in this institution.	Special Services in Methodist at 11 a. m. and Christian at 7:15 p. m. Christian—Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. You can help spread good things about Greenville by sending off a few copies of the anniversary-holiday edition of The Reflector.

Greenville's development this year is practically completed and the record has been a good one. We should be planning now to make the coming year a better one.

Every business man in Greenville ought to start off the new year by being a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Get to thinking about it now and plan to do big things for Greenville next year.

There have been expressions from a number of prominent men throughout the State favoring a short session of the next legislature, but the members will be likely to stay there until they get ready to leave.

Hon. R. A. Doughton, who was once speaker of the house in the legislature and was mentioned for that position at the next session, has announced that he will not be a candidate for that position. His declining to enter the contest makes it look all the more certain that Mr. W. C. Dowd will be the next speaker, and a better selection could not be made.

We were glad to hear strong praise of our graded school today. A gentleman who had recently visited there spoke in glowing terms of the conditions there. The school is full and the pupils seemed well disciplined and very happy. A visit to the different grades found the scholars contented and doing good work under the leadership of Mr. Smith and his assistants. The Greenville people have it as a duty to take a lively interest in this splendid school.

A Faddish Law.

Dr. David J. Burrell, pastor of the Marble Collegiate church, is one of the leading ministers of New York. He likewise is one of the national committee of clergymen on marriage and divorce. His opinion, therefore, of the new marriage license law is worthy of attention. "The marriage license system is all wrong," says Dr. Burrell. "It discourages marriages, and what we need is to encourage marriage, but make divorce impossible." Besides objecting to the license system in force since January 1, 1908, which requires both prospective bride and bridegroom to appear in person at the clerk's office, answer stipulated questions and swear to the statements, Dr. Burrell thinks that the additional fee of $1 is needless expense and an unwarranted drain on a poor man. The law throws no additional safeguards about marriage. It does not raise the standard of candidates for matrimony, which sadly needs rais-

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

ing. It merely turns in a little unneeded revenue to the state and puts a few more obstacles in the way of those who would be mated.—Brooklyn Eagle.

We hope the legislature that meets in January will not be foolish enough to in any way change the prohibition and passenger rate laws. These questions have been settled, one by a special session of the legislature and the other by a large majority vote of the people. To tamper with these, and especially the prohibition question means political suicide to the party and individuals who attempt it. The whiskey people are already advocating some change by calling it local self government. We utter this note of warning by saying let it severally alone.—Warrenton Record.

IMPROVING THE BIBLE.

Elegant and Refined Translation by an English Divine.

The King James version of the Bible is a classic of classics. But there have not been wanting men who fancied that it needed retouching and refining. Dr. Harwood, an English divine, once went so far as to make a new and "elegant" translation. His purpose, as he modestly expressed it, was to "clothe the genuine ideas and doctrines of the apostles with that propriety and perspicuity in which they themselves, I apprehend, would have exhibited them had they now lived and written in our language."

Some of his attempts to avoid "the bald and barbarous language of the old vulgar version" are worth quoting as terrible examples of what elegant writing is not.

The plain spoken warning to the Laodicean church is improved thus: "Since, therefore, you are now in a state of lukewarmness, a disagreeable medium between the two extremes, I will in no long time eject you from my heart with fastidious contempt."

The translator is especially happy in what may be called his personal euphemisms. Nicodemus is "this gentleman," one of the apostle's Athenian converts is "a lady of distinction," and the daughter of Herodias is "a young lady who danced with inimitable grace and elegance." The father of the prodigal is "a gentleman of splendid family," and St. Paul no longer leaves a "cloak" at Troas, but a "portmanteau," as was certainly more becoming to a dignified ecclesiastic.

On the Mount of Transfiguration St. Peter no longer says in vulgar, everyday language, "Lord, it is good for us to be here," but, "Sir, what a delectable residence we might fix here."

The apostle's saying, "We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed," becomes, "We shall not all pay the common debt of nature, but we shall, by a soft transition, be changed from mortality to immortality."—New York Tribune.

There's nothing but that's bearable as long as a man can work.—Ellot.

60 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF $4.00

SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $5.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell a sample pair for $4.00 (cash with order $4.50). NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES. NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. Relatively and easily riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have not been punctured in an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $5.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.00 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented. We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $3.80 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable fire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES don't buy any kind at any price until you send for a pair of the special introductory price quoted above; or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices. DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle unless you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

The Original Seven Wonders.

None of the original seven wonders of the world remains, except the great pyramid of Egypt. The tomb of Mausolus, king of Caria, built about 350 B. C., was destroyed before 1400 A. D. The third wonder, the temple of Diana at Ephesus, was built 552 B. C. and was destroyed 356 B. C. The fourth wonder was the walls and terraces of Babylon, erected about 570 B. C. They decayed gradually after Babylon had ceased to be the capital of the Assyrian empire. The Colossus of Rhodes, erected in 288 B. C., stood sixty-four years, was destroyed by an earthquake and lay in ruins for nearly 900 years, until a Jew bought it and took it on 900 camels to Alexandria. The statue of Zeus at Olympus was made 437-433 B. C., was removed to Constantinople and was destroyed by fire 475 A. D. The Pharos at Alexandria was built about 283 B. C. and was destroyed by an earthquake about 1300-1400 A. D.

A Recoil Joke.

In one of the English schools there was a veteran teacher in a boys' high school who often made his classes wince under the lash of his bitter sarcasm and ready wit. One day a little half starved yellow cur strayed into the school, and the boys thought they saw a chance to express their feelings toward "Fussy," who was busy in another room. The frightened mongrel was picked up, quickly fitted with a pair of large wire spectacles and placed on the teacher's chair.

"Fussy" entered the room, walked to his desk, calmly surveyed the work of his pupils and then, turning to them, pleasantly said, "In my absence I see you have held a business meeting and elected one of your number chairman."

The Unhappy Poet.

The Editor—Didn't we give your verses a good place in the paper?

The Poet—Yes, yes, yes.

The Editor—And we printed every verse.

The Poet—I know you did, but there is an atrocious blunder here in the sixth stanza. It's something awful. The lady's name is Maud, you understand. Listen to this, "She was by earthly dress unflawed, and men and angels called her Mud." What do you think of that? Can you blame me for protesting?

The Editor—Let me have a look at that. Oh, I see! The rhyme is faulty.

Then the poet falls down the office stairs and never comes back.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Put It In Figures.

Perhaps the most amusing instance of typographical blundering occurred in a well known Scottish newspaper. A paragraph read as follows: "Some time ago a flat in a not unfashionable quarter of the city was let unfurnished to 10 ants, who offered and paid a month's rent in advance." The explanation of this slip is almost as amusing as the misprint itself. It is a rigid rule of some printing offices that, while numbers below ten are spelt in full, all numbers higher must be in figures, to save space. It is therefore really very difficult for a compositor to spell "tenants," though "nine-pins" is child's play to him.

Selfish Lad.

Mother (reading telegram)—Henry telegraphs that the football match is over and he came out of it with three broken ribs.

Father (eagerly)—And who won?

Mother—He doesn't say.

Father (impatiently)—Confound it all! That boy never thinks of anybody but himself. Now I must wait until I get the morning paper.

Better Than Spanking.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, of W. Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her success full home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

THE BLUE MOSQUE.

If Ever Color Calls, It Calls in the Mosque of Ibrahim Aga.

As every one who visits Rome goes to St. Peter's, so every one who visits Cairo goes to the mosque of Mohammed Ali in the citadel, a gorgeous building in a magnificent situation, the interior of which always makes me think of court functions and of the pomp of life rather than of prayer and self denial. More attractive to me is the "blue mosque," to which I returned again and again, enticed almost as by the fascination of the living blue of a summer sky.

This mosque, which is the mosque of Ibrahim Aga, but which is familiarly known to its lovers as the "blue mosque," lies to the left of a ramshackle street and from the outside does not look specially inviting. Even when I passed through its door and stood in the court beyond at first I felt not its charm. All looked old and rough, unkempt and in confusion. The red and white stripes of the walls and the arches of the arcade, the mean little place for ablution—a pipe and a row of brass taps—led the mind from a Neapolitan ice to a second rate school, and for a moment I thought of abruptly retiring and seeking more splendid precincts. And then I looked across the court to the arcade that lay beyond, and I saw the exquisite "love color" of the marvelous tiles that give this mosque its name.

The huge pillars of this arcade are striped and ugly, but between them shone with an ineffable luster a wall of purple and blue, of purple and blue so strong and yet so delicate that it held the eyes and drew the body forward. If ever color calls, it calls in the "blue mosque" of Ibrahim Aga. And when I had crossed the court, when I stood beside the pulpit, with its delicious wooden folding doors, and studied the tiles of which this wonderful wall is composed, I found them as lovely near as they are lovely far off. From a distance they resemble a nature effect, are almost like a bit of southern sea or of sky, a fragment of gleaming Mediterranean seen through the pillars of a loggia or of Sicilian blue watching over Etna in the long summer days.

When one is close to them they are a miracle of art. The background of them is a milky white upon which is an elaborate pattern of purple and blue, generally conventional and representative of no known object, but occasionally showing tall trees somewhat resembling cypresses. But it is impossible in words adequately to describe the effect of these tiles and of the tiles that line to the very roof of the tomb house on the right of the court. They are like a cry of ecstasy going up in this otherwise not very beautiful mosque. They make it unforgettable; they draw you back to it again and yet again. On the darkest day of winter they set something of summer there. In the saddest moment they proclaim the fact that there is joy in the world; that there was joy in the hearts of creative artists years upon years ago. If you are ever in Cairo and sink into depression, go to the "blue mosque" and see if it does not have upon you an uplifting moral effect. And then, if you like, go on from it to the Gamia el Movayad, sometimes called El Ahmar (the red), where you will find greater glories, though no greater fascination, for the tiles hold their own among all the wonders of Cairo.—Robert Hichens in Century.

His Mother-in-law Won.

By one of those queer marriage settlements sometimes made in England a young man agreed to pay his wife's mother $100 on the first day of each year. He settled in Canada, and when he came to make the remittance he deducted the amount of the postage and sent her only $90.84. The mother-in-law insisted that she must have the other 16 cents, and after they had quarreled by mail about it for a month or two she had her attorneys bring suit against him in the Ontario courts. She made him pay, too, and stuck him for the cost of the action, though she was obliged to fee her own lawyers. The total expenses of this sixteen cent lawsuit were said to be exactly $612, most of which fell upon the economical son-in-law.

Siam's Weights and Measures.

In Siam the liquid measure used is derived from a coconut shell which is capable of holding 830 tamarind seeds, and twenty of these units equal the capacity of a wooden bucket. In dry measure 830 tamarind seeds make one "kanahn," and twenty-five "kanahn" make one "sat," or bamboo basket; eighty "sat" make one "kwien," or cart. This is an example of the primitive origin of most units of weight and measures.

The First Slow One.

He uttered a joyous cry.
"And I am really and truly the first man you ever kissed?"
"Yes, Clarence," the beautiful girl rejoined, her red lip curling slightly.
"The others all took the initiative."
New York Press.

Genius.

"Is genius really the capacity for taking pains?"
"No," answered the poet. "Genius is the capacity for going without eating."

Somewhat Negative.

This writer once came across the Kentish multiplication of the negative. He was asking the way of an aged laborer. "You go 'long across the field and git over the stile to the right—no, the left," was the reply. "Then you come to the 'ard road, and you go along till you come to the place where I used to go to school. Then you go 'long, and you ain't got no call not for to ask nobody n't afore you git to where Mr. Mynn lays at Thurham."—London Chronicle.
