RUNAWAY CHRISTMAS MARRIAGE

Ceremony Performed in Office of Registrar of Deeds.

Late Wednesday afternoon after all the force had left the register of deeds office except Deputy J. J. Harrington, the door opened hurriedly and in walked a couple, a mingled expression of both pleasure and anxiety on their faces.

"I want a marriage license, quick," explained the young man, who was Mr. C. H. Turnage, and as Deputy Harrington got busy with the prescribed form the name of the bride-to-be was given as Miss Hattie R. Jones. After getting the necessary papers and paying the usual fee, the young asked anxiously "Can't we get this finished up right here and now?"

The accommodating deputy assured him that all necessary for the ceremony would be done. He forthwith sent for Chief Justice C. D. Rountree, who is an expert in this line. Superior Court Clerk D. C. Moore was called in to be best man and Deputy Harrington served in the capacity of giving the bride away.

Upon being pronounced "man and wife" the previous anxiety on their faces gave way to joy, and the couple left for their home in the country.

A NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT.

A Public Court Trial in Which Prominent People will Participate.

Among the most successful and popular entertainments of the times are the Mock Court Trials given under the direction of an expert—Col. A. V. Newton, the new-known lawyer-lecturer of Worcester, Mass.

One of these popular entertainments will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Jarvis Memorial M. E. church south, in Masonic Temple opera house, on Tuesday evening, December 29th.

It will be assured that one of our most respected and prominent citizens has been trifling with the affections of one of our most popular young ladies and will have to answer to the Breach of Promise suit brought against him, and there will be fun without limit.

New Pastor of Baptist Church.

Rev. J. B. Cook, pastor of the Weatherford Memorial church in Manchester, has accepted a hearty call to become the pastor of the Baptist church at Greenville, N. C. Greenville is the county-seat of Pitt county, and a progressive and lovely town of 6,000 souls, and the church to which Brother Cook will go January 1st makes a desirable pastorate. Brother Cook has done faithful and most efficient work in his four years with the Weatherford Memorial folks, and they love him dearly. He is a native of Pittsylvania county, in old Virginia, is a Richmond College man, a genial spirit and a faithful minister of the word. We pray God's blessings upon him, and put on notice our friend, Editor Hight C. Moore, of the Biblical Recorder, that the Baptists of the Old North State will make no mistake in receiving into their genial fellowship this Virginian, whom we let go a bit stingily in exchange for some of the fine men North Carolina Baptists have sent to us.—Richmond Religious Herald.

Christian Church.

The regular services will be held in the Christian church Sunday morning and night.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 24, 1908.

Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:

The usual quietness which precedes the holiday season is evident in jobbing circles except in fruits, produce and groceries these lines show about normal activity. Rush orders for holiday wares are noted. Dry goods are quiet. Lumber is fairly active. Snow and colder weather which has prevailed this week will stimulate trade in staple lines and improve the condition of winter wheat and oats. The loose leaf tobacco market is closed for the holidays throughout the district, up to closing prices have continued satisfactory and offerings have been up to an average. Some places are closed for inventory. Retail trade has been stimulated by colder weather and the holiday season. Cotton continues dull at 8½ to 9 cents. Collections continue generally slow.

Greenville Candy Kitchen.

A large line of fresh daily home made candies must be sold for Christmas times at very low prices. We guarantee them to be absolutely pure, giving the best pleasure to all our visitors. Don't miss our reduced prices. A fancy filled candy box is the best gift and provides most satisfaction to any member of your family or friend.

For Sale.

On Monday, Jan. 4th, 1909, I will sell at public auction before the court house door in Greenville, at 1 o'clock, p. m. six good mules, for cash.

A. K. McGowan.

Back at His Young Tricks.

Some days ago Mr. R. M. Hearne went out hunting. A shower came up and he took shelter under a tree. While standing there he heard the gobble of a turkey, and looking around saw the gobbler approaching from a distance. He abided his time behind the tree until the turkey came near, when a pretty shot brought the gobbler down. Mr. Hearne says it had been 41 years since he killed a turkey before this one.

The Christmas Stocking

A Parody by FRANK J. BONNELLE

How dear to this heart is the stocking of childhood when fond recollection presents it to view! On Christmas St. Nick came from frost whitened wildwood with every loved toy which my infancy knew. The wide spreading chimney, the sled which stood by it, a horse and some books—I remember them all—a doll for my sister, and baby house nigh it, and then the full stocking which hung on the wall—the Santa Claus stocking, the bountiful stocking, the Christmas morn stocking which hung on the wall! The well stuffed envelope I hailed as a treasure as early that morning I opened my eyes and found there the source of an exquisite pleasure, the purest and sweetest that nature supplies. How ardent I seized it with hands that were glowing and back to my white sheeted bed went with all, then soon, with the emblems of love overflowing, was happy in what to my lot did befall—the Santa Claus stocking, the generous stocking, the Christmas morn stocking, which hung on the wall! How sweet through its round open top to explore it as poised on my knee it inclined to my view! Not a hot, tempting breakfast could make me ignore it for longer at most than a minute or two. And now, far removed from the loved situation, the tear of regret will intrusively fall as fancy reverts to my youth's habitation and sighs o'er the stocking which hung on the wall—the Santa Claus stocking, the plethoric stocking, the Christmas morn stocking which hung on the wall! But grown people find there's a later sensation as grateful as any they felt long ago. It comes when they witness the glad exultation which on Christmas morning their own offspring show. And now, dear old Santa Claus, let me petition your favor for children, both large ones and small. Bring all the bright hopes to the fullest fruition that rest in each stocking which hangs on the wall—the wealthy child's stocking, the poor urchin's stocking; yes, fill every stocking which hangs on the wall!

A Christmas Hymn.
No tramp of marching armies,
No banners flaming far;
A lamp within a stable,
And in the sky a star.

Their hymns of peace and gladness
To earth the angels brought.
Their "Gloria In Excelsis"
To earth the angels taught

When in the lowly manger
The holy mother maid
In tender adoration
Her babe of heaven laid.

Born lowly in the darkness
And none so poor as he,
The little children of the poor
His very own shall be.

No rush of hostile armies then,
But just the huddling sheep,
The angels singing of the Christ
And all the world asleep.

No flame of conquering banners,
No legion sent afar;
A lamp within a stable,
And in the sky a star.
—Margaret E. Sangster in Collier's Weekly.

Miss Mary Shelburn Entertains.

Miss Mary Shelburn gave her friends a party, Monday afternoon, in celebration of her sixteenth birthday. Quite a number of her friends were present and were charmingly entertained by this popular young lady, who met her guests at the door and gave them a cordial welcome.

Progressive whist was the game of the afternoon, Miss Lillian Burch making the highest score and winning the prize, a deck of gilt edged cards.

After the game an elegant salad course was served.

Miss Shelburn received a number of very pretty birthday presents. May she have many more happy birthdays.

"It is more blessed to give than receive."

"Glory to God in the highest, peace on earth, good will toward men."

Making others happy will make you happy. Try this for Christmas.

It is no argument that Christmas will be unlucky because it comes on Friday

Here is the wish of The Reflector that every reader may have a happy Christmas.

We hope no little heart will be disappointed in the expected visit from Santa Claus tonight.

Another North Carolinian has landed, H. A. Gudger having been appointed by the president as justice of the Supreme court of Panama.

Much of the Christmas spirit is lost in revelry and boisterousness. Would that we could learn to observe it as a season for peace, good will and quiet happiness.

Once more it is Christmas, the gladdest, happiest time of all the year. For months it is looked forward to as the time of home comings and family reunions. It is the time of joy for young and old. It is the time for expressions of love and friendship. It is the time that reminds us of God's greatest gift to the world in His Son. May the spirit of good cheer, peace and good will dwell in every heart, and every one's cup of joy be filled to the brim.

In this Christmas time when so many hearts are filled with joy, The Reflector can but turn a thought to those whose hearts are sad. There are homes in which sorrow has come, and tonight there will be tear-filled eyes looking at a vacant chair. May the blessed Christ whose birth we celebrate, look in pity and tender love upon these sad hearted ones, and give them peace through the comforting presence of His Spirit. Kind reader, can you cheer some sorrowful heart this Christmas? Speak a word of tenderness or do a deed of kindness "In His Name."

Col. Skinner the Logical Man.

Those who are posted on the political situation in the State have no hesitancy in declaring that District Attorney Harry Skinner, of Greenville, will be named as Judge Purnell's successor. They say that he is the logical man for the place, one who stands high in Washington and who commands the support of both Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of the Circuit Court bench, as well as that of National Committeeman E. Carl Duncan, of Raleigh, possibly the two most influential Republicans in the

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

State, certainly for an office of this kind. That Mr. Skinner has the support of both men is not to be doubted, certainly not by those who will recall the manner in which he managed Judge Pritchard's campaign in Raleigh years ago when he was re-elected by the legislature to the Senate, winning a notable victory over Senator Marion Butler, who was then fighting Senator Pritchard with all his might. This fact presents another phase which is interesting, and that is the intervention of ex-Senator Butler in the present fight. Senator Butler's influence in Washington, as is well known, is not to be scoffed at for a moment and those who have had dealings with him know what trouble he can stir up if so inclined. There is no question as to Mr. Skinner's ability. He has made one of the most efficient district attorneys in the Federal Court service and is not unworthy of substantial reward. He is looked upon in Charlotte as the decided favorite, although there are not a few who hold that Judge Timberlake will win. —Charlotte Observer.

Here is hoping that Col. Skinner will get the judgeship for a Christmas present.

There is no rest for the weary. March 15 is the date upon which congress will be called in extraordinary session by President Taft to revise the tariff, according to unofficial advices received here. The sixtieth congress will expire by constitutional limitation on March 4. It is the expectation that immediately following his inauguration President Taft will issue a proclamation convening the new congress in special session. Republican leaders believe that the new congress will sit until late in the summer. While the tariff revision bill to be reported to the house may be passed in that body early in April, its consideration in the senate will be marked by more mature deliberation. —Greensboro Record.

Pat Cronan and The Cigarettes

THE heroic conduct of Lieutenant William P. Cronan, U. S. N., in saving a turret's crew from death on the battleship Connecticut last year was to have been expected from a man of his character. Pat Cronan, as he is known in and out of the navy, belongs to that class of officers who reflect credit on the country and the service. It was my fortune to be with him on the gunboat Marietta during the blockade of Venezuela in 1902 by Great Britain, Germany and Italy. There was no duty too onerous for him to undertake, no service he was unwilling to face. His men stood solidly behind him, ready to go wherever he would lead. As the Marietta had been in Caribbean sea waters for a long time, it looked as though the Christmas dinner would consist only of canned stuff and fresh vegetables and the peculiar cigarettes of the tropics. Fortunately the steamer Philadelphia arrived at La Guayra, one of the ports blockaded, and, as it could not unload, Captain Diehl, the commander of the Marietta, succeeded in inducing the commercial vessel to part with two turkeys and some cranberries which, among other things, had been brought from New York carefully stowed away in the icebox. The Philadelphia had no Egyptian cigarettes, and the question arose where they could be got. Cronan pondered deeply over the weighty problem and then asked permission for a boat. Without indicating what he proposed to do he gave the orders to proceed to the British cruiser Tribune, which was one of the ships enforcing the blockade. Cronan was received by the ward-room mess of the Tribune with open arms. As a special mark of appreciation of his visit a box of a hundred Egyptian cigarettes was brought forth by the executive officer. Cronan was invited to take one. His eyes lingered longingly on the box as he extracted a lonely weed. He remained about a quarter of an hour, and then, reaching over to the box, closed it and, to the astonishment of the Britishers, put it under his arm. They were too well bred to remonstrate, but their eyes spoke volumes. It was their last box! Cronan went over the side and was pulled away to his own ship, leaving behind disgust and desolation. As soon as he reached the Marietta he asked Captain Diehl for one of the turkeys, and this he carefully packed up and sent to the ward-room of the Tribune with the compliments of the American officers, and he accompanied it with fifty cigarettes. The Christmas dinners on the Marietta and Tribune as well were great successes. The only bar to complete enjoyment "WHY IS CRONAN LIKE THIS BOX?" on the part of every one on the American gunboat not in Cronan's confidence was the absence of cigarettes. When the coffee was served Cronan announced that Santa Claus had commissioned him to convey a splendid gift to the mess. He then produced the half filled box. "Why is Cronan like this box?" enthusiastically asked one officer who belonged to the conundrum class of humanity. "He's not full," one wit replied. "He's a delight to the eye," said another. "He's white, straight, and whatever yellow there is in him is the best yellow there is," hazarded a third. "Perhaps," admitted the questioner. "But my answer is this: You find Cronan always where the smoke is thickest."—Chicago Tribune.

IT WAS THEIR LAST BOX.

WHY IS CRONAN LIKE THIS BOX?

After that there was a second distribution for stage children only in the committee room of Tammany hall. Most of the children had written requests for certain articles, and as they appeared one by one and gave a name corresponding with that on Mrs. Fernandez's list the present asked for was delivered. Some of these were of costly quality, having been purchased with money donated to the cause. Mrs. Fernandez said the children of the stage nowadays ask for useful things rather than for playthings. Since these events were inaugurated it is estimated that more than $50,000 has been spent for gifts.—New York Herald.

A Christmas Warning.
"In giving Christmas presents to children," said Mrs. Frederick Schoff, the president of the National Mothers' Congress, "our first aim should be to transport to overjoy, to enrapture."
"I once knew a little girl who, on fire with excitement, rushed in from her bedroom to see her presents on Christmas morning and after one look burst into loud sobs of disappointment and disgust."
"It was some such experience, I have no doubt, that had befallen a little girl friend of mine."
"Are you going to give me anything for Christmas?" she said one day to her aunt.
"Yes, if you're good," the aunt replied.
"The little girl gazed at her aunt with wistful earnestness. Then she said: 'Please, auntie, then, nothing useful.'"

A Christmas Hope.
We do not pretend to be prophets, but we can all dare to hope. And this is what we hope: That some day the strong will help and not exploit the weak; that some day fraternity will be more than a rhetorical flourish; that some day love will beget justice rather than charity. And Christmas is the one day in the year that such a venturesome hope seems more than a will-o'-the-wisp.—World Today.

Hunting Christmas Ghosts.
Ghost hunting bids fair to become the ruling passion of Washington society. The fortunate owners of a peaked house, roped with ivy and densely surrounded by trees, are issuing cards for a Christmas specter hunt. The Christmas ghost hunt is imported from England, where the houses are ancient enough to harbor specters who were there before William the Conqueror. The comparative newness of this country leads some to predict that the fad over here will fall. There are exceptions, however, for even in Washington there is one of the treasure guarding ghosts—an out and out buccaner of the Spanish main variety, with cocked hat, gold lace, ruffles, high yellow boots, red jacket and an odor of antiquity. Those acquainted with him say that he clinks his chains of stolen doubloons.—Washington Star.

A Prayer to the Christ Child.
Behold, ye season is again at hand; once more ye snows of winter lie upon all ye earth, and all Christiantie is arrayed to the holy feast. Presently shall ye star burn with exceeding brightness in ye east, ye sky shall be full of swete music, ye angels shall descend to earth with singing, and ye bells—ye joyous Christmas bells—shall tell us of ye babe that was born in Bethlehem. Come to us now, O gentle Christ-child, and walk among us peoples of ye earth; enshel us round about with Thy protecting care; fend all evil thoughts and evil deeds; teche Thou our hearts with the glory of Thy love, and quicken us to practices of peace, good will, and charity meet for Thy approval and acceptation.—Eugene Field.

TONY PASTOR AS SANTA.

Veteran Actor Was the Friend of the Stage Children.

There are at present engaged in different capacities on the stage and in the theaters about 400 children to whom the holidays usually are days of toil, and many of these little folks are breadwinners for younger brothers and sisters. It was for them that the late Tony Pastor and his wife, Mrs. E. L. Fernandez, and "Aunt Louisa" Eldridge, now dead, inaugurated the Christmas festival which has become a perennial affair.

The little ones, all less than twelve years old, provide the stage entertainment on these occasions, and there never is any interference by the authorities. Christmas, 1907, was Tony Pastor's last appearance as the children's Santa Claus, and this year they will miss his genial face and kindly attentions. Last year he was master of ceremonies and introduced his tiny "top liners." At the end of the act he presented to each of the girls a beautifully dressed doll and to the boys boxes of candy or appropriate toys.

Admission was by invitation only, and when the programme began the house was crowded to the doors, the balcony being given up largely to poor children of the east side. Some of the actors were mere babies, but they went through the business like veterans, and the gravity of most of them when singing their comic songs was immensely amusing.

One of the players was presented as Baby Esmond, a perfect cherub, who piped a love ditty and danced with one foot held in the air. Mr. Pastor said she was of "this year's crop," and when she had ended the performance he asked her to tell the audience her age. Without shrinking from the question, as her fellow actresses do, she lisped, "I'll be four next January."

Another of the same mature years was "Miss Miriam Jackson," if you please. She came out with a Teddy bear in her arms, sang a song and did such clever capering that every woman in the audience wanted to hug her.

Lillian Tobin, herself no bigger than a doll baby, sang "Poor John" and invited the audience to join her in the chorus, which it did with a will. At the end of the programme Mr. Pastor announced that a banquet was awaiting the children in the basement of Tammany hall.

After the little ones had been satisfied in that respect they were sent up to the main hall of the building, and there the really big feature of the evening took place. On the stage stood three Christmas trees, beading over from the weight of pretty things, while the stage itself was heaped with toys.

After that there was a second distribution for stage children only in the committee room of Tammany hall. Most of the children had written requests for certain articles, and as they appeared one by one and gave a name corresponding with that on Mrs. Fernandez's list the present asked for was delivered. Some of these were of costly quality, having been purchased with money donated to the cause. Mrs. Fernandez said the children of the stage nowadays ask for useful things rather than for playthings. Since these events were inaugurated it is estimated that more than $50,000 has been spent for gifts.—New York Herald.

A Christmas Warning.
"In giving Christmas presents to children," said Mrs. Frederick Schoff, the president of the National Mothers' Congress, "our first aim should be to transport to overjoy, to enrapture."
"I once knew a little girl who, on fire with excitement, rushed in from her bedroom to see her presents on Christmas morning and after one look burst into loud sobs of disappointment and disgust."
"It was some such experience, I have no doubt, that had befallen a little girl friend of mine."
"Are you going to give me anything for Christmas?" she said one day to her aunt.
"Yes, if you're good," the aunt replied.
"The little girl gazed at her aunt with wistful earnestness. Then she said: 'Please, auntie, then, nothing useful.'"

Didn't Worry Him.

"You'll have to move that suit case," said the Olive street conductor to the man with the gray felt hat. "It's obstructing the aisle."

"I'm not a-going to do it," retorted the passenger sullenly. "I'm not in the suit case moving business. It can stay where it is."

"You won't, hey?" snapped back the conductor angrily. "I'll move it for you then." And he gave it a vicious kick that jarred loose the fastening. The lid flew back, exposing a lot of feminine wearing apparel.

"Now see what you made me do," growled the conductor.

"I didn't make you do it. It's no affair of mine," returned the man with the gray felt hat. "The suit case belonged to that woman that got off back there at Thirteenth street. Guess she must have forgot it."—St. Louis Republic.

The Worst of All Diseases.

"Down in our country," said Judge Sam Cowan of Texas, "we had a case in one of the minor courts where a lawyer was trying to collect a bill he claimed was owed to the late husband of his client."

"He didn't pay no money to the deceased," said the lawyer. "He didn't get the money, the deceased didn't. He didn't receive one cent, the deceased didn't."

"Disceased?" inquired the judge. "What was this person you are speaking about deceased of?"

"May it please your honor," said the lawyer, "he was deceased of death."—Saturday Evening Post.

It Depends.

The red haired girl's face wore a worried look as she joined her luncheon cronies at table.

"I can't order much for luncheon today," she announced. "I've just lost some money."

"Much?" asked a sympathetic neighbor.

"Two dollars."

"Humph! I don't call that much," remarked the office manager, who draws $25 a week.

The red haired girl looked at her a moment. "Oh, no," she said. "I was going to throw it in the street anyway!"—New York Times.

Fortune For Toys For the Poor.

The poor children of Pittsburgh and Allegheny are to benefit through the expenditure of an estate valued at $31,000, left by the late George B. Nutt. The will provides that the estate shall go to the wife during her lifetime and then is to be divided among his children equally. If the children all die before their mother, at her death the estate is to be spent for the purchase of gifts and playthings for poor children, especially those in institutions. It was the wish of the decedent that the money be expended in small sums, to distribute it over as large an area as possible and benefit as many children as possible.

A Christmas Sentiment.

However sincere we may be in our efforts to spread Christmas cheer, our charity is none the less a testimony to our sense of the fact that peace and good will have not come upon the earth. Poverty and wretchedness are not to be offset by yearly gifts of baskets of food and outgrown clothes. We ought to make the spasmodic kindness of Christmas one of the constant forces of our industrial world. Equality and fraternity are born not of charity, but of justice. Instead of commercializing Christmas we ought to Christianize commercialism.—New York Mail.

Origin of the Christmas Tree.

There is a legend in Germany that when Eve plucked the fatal apple immediately the leaves of the tree shriveled into needle points and its bright green turned dark. It changed its nature and became the evergreen, in all seasons preaching the story of man's fall. Only on Christmas does it bloom brightly with lights and become beautiful with love gifts. The curse is turned into a blessing at the coming of the Christ Child, and we have our Christmas tree.

BEAD CHRISTMAS TREES.

Novelty invented by German Woman Approved by Kaiser.

If nature's supply of Christmas trees gives out, as some people have feared it might, there will still be Christmas trees as long as a German woman in this city remains alive. Out of green beads, wire and tiny waxen ornaments she constructs miniature trees which have been thought pretty enough to grace the court of Ludwig of Bavaria in his time and to amuse the children of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany. That was when the inventor was living in her native country. Since coming to America she has made them for various well known people.

One of the advantages of these trees, she says, is that they are almost indestructible. They may be bent, crushed, packed into small compass, and when they are wanted again it is only necessary to straighten the branches out into the original shape.

When the inventor was a girl, fifty-five or sixty years ago, in Munich, she went to one of those schools where German girls are taught to do, as her daughter says, "everything with the hands." It was having to make wreaths out of beads that suggested to her the notion of making bead Christmas trees. She set to work and fashioned innumerable tiny loops of green beads, each at the end of a long, slender wire. She bound the loops together in threes, making trefols, and the trefols into branches and the branches into a tapering trunk, the trunk being formed of nothing at all but the individual wires massed together. Then she trimmed the tree with candles and those tiny waxen figures which the Germans are adepts at making and fixed it in a pot of sand and melted wax. Her parents were quite proud of it. Her father, who was director of the Hofgarten in Munich, showed it to his royal master, and King Ludwig immediately ordered one for the Christmas festivities at court.

After coming to this country she sent one to President Roosevelt and was grieved and surprised to find that he could not accept it.

"I expect he thinks he gets some dynamite," said the daughter.—New York Tribune.
