AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., Dec. 30, 1908.
E. G. Cox, wife and children, of Greensboro, are here on a visit to relatives.

The teachers of the different schools are away at their respective homes spending the holidays. The graded school will reopen January 5th.

The dispensary in Ayden is a thing of the past. Thursday before Christmas it sold completely dry and closed its doors. Some one later placed the following on the door which we think good so send it in our items:

DEAD

Ayden Dispensary Was Born

May 13th, 1905

Died December 24th, 1908

Aged 3 years 7 mos. and 11 days. A precious one from us (ye booze artists) is gone.

A place forever stilled, A longing appetite of ours' May it never more be filled.

Crepe.

Christmas passed off pleasantly. There were but few drunks. No arrests that we heard of, no accidents and every one seemed to have had a good time. We wish everyone a happy, pleasant and prosperous new year, in touch even with the Christmas just gone by.

Our friend, W. J. Boyd, is fortunate in the gift of a check from the house he represents for a neat little sum as a Christmas present.

Mack Manning, who has been living near Ayden, has sold his farm and moved with his family to Bertie county. Mr. Manning is a good citizen and farmer and when such men leave a community it is a serious loss.

Robert Worthington and wife, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. McKinney, at Belhaven, came home Saturday evening.

Prof. Bailey, of Kenly, is in town.

Miss May Holton was a visitor in Ayden Monday.

Mrs. Gertrude Bland and Miss Anabel Kittrell, of Grifton, were visitors in Ayden during the past week.

Master Durham McLawhorn, a little son of the late Elias McLawhorn, while playing with a small 32 calibre rifle Christmas day, shot himself through the left arm. The wound though painful is not considered at all serious. This is the only accident we have heard of here during the holidays.

Misses Dora and Ethel Powell, of Goldsboro, are here on a visit to Miss Helen Johnson.

Miss Nancy Coward, of Greenville, is spending the week with the family of Dr. Dixon.

Hyman Buck, of Washington, is here on a visit to his parents. Mrs. A. L. Harrington and children, of Kinston, spent the holidays here with relatives.

Mrs. J. R. Smith is spending the week in the country.

Rev. Marvin Ormond is home from Nashville, Tenn., to spend a few days.

Frank Turnage is visiting his son at Hotel Carolina.

Stancill Hodges spent Christmas with his parents near Washington.

Miss Ella Hart and sister, Mrs. Jesse Coward, are visiting in Kinston.

Miss Carrie Smith, one of the teachers at the seminary, spent Christmas with her parents near Greenville.

R. H. Hunsucker and Miss Mimie Cox, of Winterville, were

THE MOCK COURT TRIAL

Brim Full of Fun From Start to Finish.

The Mock Court Trial in the opera house Tuesday night was decidedly mirth provoking, and was highly enjoyed by the large audience.

Court was opened by Officer L. W. Lawrence, with ex-Gov. Jarvis presiding judge and Clerk D. C. Moore at his desk. The docket was called and a few minor cases disposed of before the real trial began. R. W. King was charged with over exertion, but his counsel promising that he would not do so any more the case was dismissed. J. G. Moyer was charged with selling undressed kids, but the explanation was made that the kids were only gloves and he was excused.

The breach of promise suit came next, and the calling of the jury disclosed such notable names as W. H. Taft, David B. Hill, Admiral Dewey, Teddy Roosevelt, Governor Glenn, Senators Overman and Simmons, J. Pierpont Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Alton B. Parker, Chauncey M. Depew and John L. Sullivan, each of whom was applauded as he entered to go to the jury box.

The plaintiff was Miss Lot Skinner and the defendant F. M. Wooten, A. V. Newton, of Massachusetts, originator and director of the trial, appearing for the plaintiff and A. L. Blow for the defense. The plaintiff's witnesses were Miss Irma Cobb and W. H. Dail, Jr. and the defendant's Miss Mary James, Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse and E. G. Flanagan. They were all star witnesses, and there were a number of amusing local hits. The speeches of counsel and the charge of the judge were in good keeping with the trial.

The amount sued for was $3 48 cents. The jury found the defendant guilty, and recommended that he pay the full $3.48 cents, $3 to go to the jury and 48 cents to the judge, adding that he would not have been worth anything to the widow if she had got him.

The part of each character was exceptionally good, and the audience enjoyed every moment of the trial.

Social Set Entertained.

Miss Mattie Moyer King royally entertained a number of her many friends Tuesday afternoon. Progressive whist was played the prize being won by Miss Sadie Chesson, of Plymouth.

Refreshments were served by Miss Amine King and Master Richard King, Jr.

here Monday.

Miss Ella Wayne and Carl Jones spent Sunday with their friends in the country.

Capt. D. G. Berry and family spent Christmas at Scotlan Neck.

ROCHDALE SPROUTS

Rochdale, N. C., Dec. 29, 1908.

A lot of us went to Farmville Tuesday of last week, as rainy at it was, with the expectation of seeing some lots sold, and when the sale ended there had only been one lot sold for about five hundred dollars. The rain came down in such torrents that they had to stop the sales, but said they would appoint another day for it in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Smith went to Greenville Wednesday. Mrs. Haywood Smith and C. D. Smith went to Greenville Wednesday.

David Smith took Miss May Brooks to Greenville Wednesday where she was going to take the train for her home at Griton to spend the holidays.

Miss Mary Joyner went to her home in Grimmersburg Wednesday evening to spend the holidays.

R. E. Willoughby went to Farmville Wednesday.

Mrs. Lloyd Smith left for Henderson Thursday morning. C. D. Smith, Frank Pollard J. B. Joyner and J. H. Norman went to Greenville Thursday.

Lloyd Smith went to Farmville Thursday evening.

R. E. Willoughby and C. E. McLawhorn went to Greenville Thursday.

On Christmas eve night the citizens around Rochdale had an oyster supper which we all enjoyed highly. After we all had packed away all we could we were standing commenting with each other on the quantity each eaten and behold two young girls had turned to boys and walked in with two matrons and then we had a regular jubilee. You just ought to have seen us. But to cap the climax you ought to have seen C. E. McLawhorn Christmas morning after the two young boys (girls) Paul and Phil Hopkins had passed his house he thought he would cap the whole thing and got on his milk cow's back as he usually did to take her to the pasture and followed after them and have some fun. But the cow when she got to the gate leading to the pasture, turned the joke on him and landed him a flat fall in the road. So then he stopped and took the cow to the pasture but the boys (girls) had a gay old time down the road.

Christmas passed off very quietly and all seemed to enjoy it very much.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McLawhorn and children went to C. L. Tyson's Friday and to J. R. McLawhorn's Saturday.

Joe Smith came home from school at Durham Tuesday evening to spend vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Speight and children returned to their home at Roanoke-Rapids Saturday after spending several days visiting in our section.

We learn that there was some stealing going on in our section Christmas day. It was Mr. John Crawford took Miss Novella Allen (daughter of G. T. Allen) and eloped. They were married at Esquire J. W. Smith's home.

Joe Moyer, of Grimmersburg was in our section Sunday evening.

Claude Smith, of Fountain, Hugh Smith, a student at Winterville, were in our town Sunday evening.

David Smith went to A. J. Flanagan's Thursday and took little Misses Martha Belle and Jessie Smith over to spend a few days in our section visiting relatives.

What's the trouble that the Daily failed to come to me for four or five days? [We are unable to explain it.—Ed.]

A colored boy about 13 years of age was brought here and committed to jail, Thursday afternoon, charged with killing a girl near the same ago. The tragedy occurred on the Blakeley farm below Pactolus. The boy had a gun which he was pointing promiscuously at other children, and taking aim at the girl pulled the trigger and killed her.

AWFUL EARTHQUAKE IN ITALY.

The Death List Runs up in the Thousands.

Rome, Dec. 29—One hundred thousand dead. Messina in Sicily and Regio and a score of other towns in southern Italy overwhelmed; the entire Calabrian region laid waste—this is the earthquake record so far as is at present known from the reports that are coming slowly into Rome on account of the almost complete destruction of lines of communication to the stricken places.

The death list in Messina ranges from 12,000 to 50,000; that of Reggio, which with its adjacent villages, numbered 45,000 people, includes almost the entire population. At Palmi 1,000 are reported dead; at Cassano 1,000; at Cosensa 500; and half of the population of Bagbara, about 4,000.

Mrs. S. A. Cherry Dead.

It filled the heart of many friends with sadness to learn this morning that Mrs. Sallie Ann Cherry was dead. She passed away about 10 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Miss Lillian Cherry, on Washington street. She was near 80 years of age, and the widow of the of late Mr. T. R. Cherry. For several years she had been totally blind, and of late had been practically on invalid. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. D. L. James and Miss Lillian Cherry.

Mrs. Cherry was a woman of unusual intellect and was an accomplished poet. In years gone by it was the pleasure of The Reflector to publish some of her beautiful poems. She possessed such refinement and such kindness of heart as to win the esteem of all who knew her. Though a great sufferer in her declining years, she bore her afflictions patiently and her faith in Christ was steadfast.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Baptist church, the interment in Cherry Hill cemetery. The pall bearers will be: Active—Messrs. J. W. Ferrell, C. T. Munford, W. B. Brown, R. J. Cobb, D. J. Whichard and H. W. Whedbee, Honorary—Ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis, Messrs. J. J. Cherry, L. W. Lawrence, C. D. Rountree, W. H. Ragsdale and A. L. Blow.

For Rent or Lease—A small farm. Terms reasonable, good house and location. See J. W. Brown at once. 12 30 6td 2tw

Wouldn't you like to see that jury in the "Mock Court Trial" in the opera house, get hold of something like a big trial in a real court?

That was a terrible earthquake which occurred in Italy Monday morning, destroying several cities and killing thousands of people.

The New Bern Sun has reduced its size to four pages on account of small advertising patronage. There are business men in every town who overlook the fact that liberal advertising is profitable to themselves and also helps their home paper do more and better work for their town. Those who do not advertise stand in their own light.

The Reflector man will ever hereafter have a fellow feeling for the man afflicted with carbuncles. For three months or longer the things have been catching us "in the neck." You can imagine the things are great mind soothers when a fellow wants to be writing copy. And the way Col. James keeps his neck in a sling looks like he has troubles of his own, too.

Another thing that speaks much to Greenville's credit is the interest and care taken of Cherry Hill Cemetery. That resting place of departed ones is now so different from what it was a few years ago as to be commendable. It is gratifying to see that the lots are beautified and that fresh flowers are so frequently on the graves. But there is room yet to make the cemetery more beautiful.

Enforce the Law.

The Star opposed the prohibition bill recently ratified by the people because it was unfair—being based on the principle of "heads I win, tails, you lose"—because we believed its adoption would weaken the Democratic party in the State (as it did) and because we believe local option is the fairest and most practical solution of the liquor problem.

But the prohibition bill, having been endorsed by the people by more than forty thousand majority, will become a law and will go into effect next Friday.

Now, we say, enforce the law. Give it a fair trial during the next two years. If it prove a success let it stand as it is. If it proves a failure let the legislature of 1911 take such action as the then prevailing conditions may warrant. But the legislature to meet next month should let this prohibition question severely alone. Let us have no more agitation over the liquor question, at least until the present law has been fairly tested.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Star hopes the authorities will call into action every legitimate agency in its power in its efforts to show the people that a law, whether "good, bad or indifferent," must be rigidly enforced so long as it is on the statute books. If the law prove ineffective there will be found a remedy two years hence. In the meantime crush the "blind tigers" that are sure to come. They ought to be suppressed not only because they are lawbreakers, but because the vile stuff they sell tends to make criminals of the buyers.—Wilmington Star.

When You Weep.

Professor Waynbaum, M. D., of Paris, publishes some queer facts regarding the nature and purpose of tears, coming to the conclusion that tears act upon the human organism "like chloroform, ether or alcohol."

"When a human being gives way to sorrow," says Dr. Waynbaum, "the blood pressure in the brain decreases. The tear helps in this process, which benumbs the brain for the time being, causing passiveness of the soul almost approaching indifference."

"Tears are blood, changing color by their passage through the lachrymal glands. One can drown his sorrow in tears as one can benumb his senses by the use of alcohol or drugs. When a person cries the facial muscles contract and the appearance of the face changes, which action facilitates the white blood letting, driving the blood particles into the lachrymal gland, from which they issue in the shape of tears."

"Children whose nervous system is particularly tender derive great benefit from crying occasionally. The act of crying relieves their brains. The same may be said with respect to women."

So Sore He Swore;
He Swears No More.

There was a Merchant mighty sore—
In fact, so sore he swore and swore
And kept on swearing more and more.

The trouble was that folks, instead
Of patronizing him, by Ned!
Were buying goods by mail, he said.

One day he got a little hint
On how to make his store a mint;
Then hope took on a rosy tint.

He came and ADVERTISED his stock;
His store was crowded, chuck-a-block,
From seven until six o'clock.

So now this Merchant swears no more;
No longer is he feeling sore,
Since ADVERTISING crowds his store.

A CHARITY PATIENT.

The Price He Had to Pay For Expert
Surgical Treatment.

The famous surgeon Velpeau was visited one day at his house during the consultation hour by a marquis renowned for his closeness. Velpeau informed the marquis that an operation was urgent and that the fee would amount to 4,000 francs. At this the marquis made a wry face and left. A fortnight later Dr. Velpeau, while making his rounds in the Hopital de la Charite, had his attention attracted by a face that seemed familiar to him. In answer to his inquiry it was stated that the patient was a footman of a nobleman in the Faubourg St. Germain. The surgeon found that his case resembled in every particular the somewhat unusual one for which the marquis had consulted him a fortnight previously. He refrained, however, from making any comments. Three weeks after the operation, when the patient was about to be discharged, Dr. Velpeau called him aside and exclaimed: "Monsieur, I am extremely flattered and pleased to have been able to cure you. There is, however, a small formality with which you will have to comply before I can sign your exit—that is, you will have to sign a check for 10,000 francs in behalf of the public charity bureau of your metropolitan district." The patient's face became livid. "You can do what you like about it," continued the doctor, "but if you refuse all Paris will know tomorrow that the Marquis de D. adopted the disguise of a footman in order to secure free treatment at this hospital and to usurp the place which belongs by right to a pauper." Of course the marquis paid.—Argonaut.

The Storm Nose at Sea.

The picturesque name of storm nose (Gewitternase) is given in Germany to the wave of high barometric pressure which often precedes a storm or a heavy squall. The barometer rises suddenly and then falls more gradually. It is believed that this phenomenon is responsible for sudden changes in the level of the sea. Observations on the seas surrounding Denmark have led to the conclusion that the change of level thus produced sometimes amounts to no less than three feet.—Youth's Companion.

SIMPLE FAITH.

A Burly Burglar's Confidence in an Editor's Business Acumen.

A man who admitted that he came direct from state prison tried to sell to the city editor of a New York newspaper a weird and startling story of a missing will which he declared had been revealed to him by a fellow convict. He was a burly fellow with a prognathous jaw, and he had lost an eye in battle. The mere look of him would frighten a timid citizen into tremors. Mr. White, the expert in criminology, cross examined the man as follows:

"Why were you in Auburn?"

"Highway" (meaning, of course, highway robbery).

"I suppose you were wrongfully convicted."

"Nub; dey had me right."

Such engaging candor made Mr. White feel that the man was truthful, and he was greatly disappointed when strict investigation disclosed the fact that the story of the missing will was all fictitious. The man was disappointed, too, at the failure of his romance, but he went away from the newspaper office in cheerful mood, with some remark about better luck next time.

A week later Mr. White was summoned to the reception room of the newspaper, and there he found his friend, the burly highwayman, his shoulders broader, his single eye fiercer than ever. But his visit was quite friendly, although somewhat tinged with business. He evidently believed he could rely on Mr. White's good faith and business acumen. Fixing Mr. White with his glittering eye, the strong armed one plucked him by the sleeve over to a corner of the room and there in a loud, hoarse whisper inquired:

"Say, couldj'er do anyt'ing wit' a couple o' watches?"—Harpers Weekly.

Bimini and the Fountain of Youth. Bimini was a fabulous island firmly believed in by the Indians of the Antilles, though they could give no further clew to its location than that it lay some hundreds of leagues north of Hispaniola. On this island was the famous fountain of youth, giving perpetual health and vigor. It was the search for this fountain that led Ponce de Leon and Hernando de Soto to Florida, on the outskirts of which the island was generally supposed to be situated.

THE WITCH'S CURSE.

A Bucksport Legend of Colonial Days in Maine.

Close by the road on the outskirts of the old seaport town of Bucksport, on the Penobscot river, is a small family cemetery. Within its inclosure sleep the Bucks, the blue blooded folk who first settled the town and bequeathed it their name and a legend.

The largest and most conspicuous monument in the cemetery is a tall granite shaft, which is in plain sight of the highway. On one side is the inscription: "Col. John Buck, the Founder of Bucksport, A. D. 1762. Born in Haverhill, Mass., 1718. Died March 18, 1795."

On the other side is the single word "Buck," and also something not wrought by the marble worker. On the smooth surface of the pedestal is a curious outline, which can be easily imagined to be a foot of normal size. The people who say that it is a foot believe in the legend which has oft been told in Bucksport.

The story is that Colonel Jonathan Buck was a very harsh man and the leading spirit in his day and generation. He was the highest in civil authority, and his word was law in the community in which he resided. He was an out and out Puritan, and to him witchcraft was the incarnation of blasphemy. Thus, so the story goes, when a certain woman was accused of witchcraft, at the first clamorings of the populace Colonel Buck ordered that she be imprisoned, and later she was sentenced to be executed as a witch.

The execution day came, and the woman went to the gallows, cursing her judge with such terrible words that the people shuddered, but the magistrate stood unmoved. All was ready, and the hangman was about to perform his duty, when the woman turned to Colonel Buck, and, raising one hand toward heaven, she said:

"Jonathan Buck, listen to these words, the last my tongue shall utter. It is the spirit of the only living God which bids me speak to you. You will soon die, and over your grave they will erect a stone, that all may know the spot where your bones lie and crumble to dust.

"Upon that stone the imprint of my foot shall appear, and for all time, after your accursed race has vanished from the face of the earth, will the people from far and near know that you murdered a woman."

She then turned to her executioners, and another act transpired to make a part of American colonial history. The "witch curse" had been almost forgotten until the monument was erected to the founder of Bucksport.

It had been in position hardly a month when a faint outline was discovered on it. It grew more and more distinct, until some person made the discovery that it was the outline of a foot. The old legend was revived.

They said that the "witch's curse" had been fulfilled. An attempt was made to remove the stain, but every effort only tended to make it plainer.

The imprint of the foot is there today as plain as ever. Amateur photographers have taken pictures of it, and a visit to the Buck cemetery to see the "witch's foot" is one of the pastimes of every summer visitor to the pretty little town.—New York World.

Encouraging the Boy.

"Son," remarked Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "I done heard you talk 'bout bein' a great hunter."

"Dat's what I said," answered pickaninny Jim. "It's gwinter hunt lions."

"An' you mentioned bein' er ahtic explorer."

"Yassir."

"Well, jes' by way of practice befo' you tackles any lions lemme see if you kin get de cow out'n pasture wifout bein' hooked, an' den as de winter comes along you kin train foh de north pole by wadlin' out in de snow to de wood pile twice a day. An' don' lemme hyah no mo' 'bout not encouragin' yoh youthful ambitions."—Washington Star.

Concerning His Kissing of Her.

Only one person with a mean disposition would have figured out this little prose poem. It runs as follows:

Which do you think is the greatest flur?

DID he kiss her?

Did HE kiss her?

Did he KISS her?

Or.

Did he kiss HER?—Cleveland News.

The Great Need.

"Miss Dolly, you know the old adage"—

"I don't want to hear anything about add-ages," she interrupted. "What we girls want is some subtract-ages."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Fare.

This is how a driver of the prison van, known as Black Maria, distinguished himself. A would be wit on the causeway hailed him:

"Got any room inside, Robert?" "There's room for one," replied the driver. "We keep it for you."

Not entirely disconcerted, the wit made another shot.

"What's your fare?" he asked. The answer entirely extinguished him.

The Great Circus.

The famous Coliseum in old Rome, massive as it was, was a mere toy in comparison with the great circus, which filled the valley between the Palatine and the Aventine hills. The Coliseum is said to have been able to seat 80,000 people, while the seating capacity of the great circus was, at different periods, 150,000, 250,000 and, lastly, 380,000 spectators. The great circus was probably the most stupendous building ever erected for public spectacles.—New York American.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness Profit by Greenville People's Experience.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect this ill. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swellings below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Greenville prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. J. F. Stokes, Cor. Twelfth and Evans Sts., Greenville, N. C., says: "For some time I suffered severely from kidney complaint. The kidneys were very irregular in action and at times caused me great annoyance. I had bearing down pains through my abdomen and sharp shooting twinges through my loins causing me untold misery. There was a tender spot across my kidney regions and at times my limbs pained intensely. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and was so much impressed that I procured them at Wooten's drug store. They soon relieved the pains in my sides and limbs, restored the secretions to a regular and normal condition and at present I am feeling a great deal better in every way. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for the great improvement in my condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.
