Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., Jan. 2, 1909.

Miss Daisy Mumford, of Ayden, is spending the week with Mrs. T. H. King.

Miss Lucy Manning returned home Thursday after having spent several days visiting her many friends here.

F. F. Cox left Wednesday morning for Waycross, Ga. where he intends working in the machine shop there.

Miss Mary Harrell, of Ahoskie, came in Friday evening to visit Miss Laura Cox. They are both teachers in the graded school there.

Quite an enjoyable new year party was given by Mrs. E. E. Cox to the young people of our town Thursday evening. Just before midnight they celebrated the departure of the old year and the coming in of the new by giving citizens of the town a most delightful serenade. We are under many obligations to them for the delightful music they gave us.

Monday will be time for all our boys and girls, who are at home for the holidays, to return to their respective colleges, and we dread to see them leave for they bring so much new life to the town and community. Miss Magdalene Cox will not return to the Normal and Industrial. Miss Venetia Cox will leave Monday for Salem Female College. Hardy Cox left Friday for Winston-Salem where he will attend school this spring.

We regret very much to lose Ed Nelson and family from our town. They have moved to Greenville and our loss will be Greenville's gain.

There has been very little moving of late in our midst. Joseph Causey purchased the Joe Manning cottage and will occupy it. L. F. Elliott has moved to the David Hines cottage. G. Tucker has moved to his new residence down on the railroad. O. W. Rollins has accepted a position with W. L. House and Co. W. B. Bryan will take his place in the post-office.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry went to Greenville this morning.

Mrs. M. G. Baker, and son Harold, went to Greenville this morning.

Miss Ethel Carroll returned to Coleraine this morning to resume her work in school there after having spent the holidays at home.

DAUGHTERS OF MR. AND MRS. A. COX ENTERTAINED.

Saturday evening Dec. 26th, from 8 to 11 o'clock, the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cox was the scene of a delightful reception given by Misses Mimie and Dora Cox, to the young people of Winterville. The home was most tastily decorated for the occasion with holiday colors. The guests were received at the door by Miss Mimie Cox and each young man given a card on which was written the names of the girls with whom he should converse during the evening, and each young lady was given a card containing the "special" subjects of the conversation. After the progressive conversation had continued for quite a while and fine selections of music had been rendered by Misses Janie Kirtrell, Olive Butt, Venetia Cox and Mr. Harry Cox, all engaged in an interesting contest. "A penny for your thoughts," as a joke. To each of the successful

HOG'S BODY, NOT HUMAN'S.

Strange Disappearance of Man Some Months Ago Loses Its Mystery.

Wilmington, Dec. 31.—Readers of the State papers will recall the mysterious disappearance some months ago and the recent reappearance of a man named Hayes, of Fair Bluff, Cumberland county, who was for the time mourned as dead; a body fished out of the river where he was supposed to have been drowned and the remains interred, the family subsequently furnishing proof of death and making claim to $5,000 insurance which he carried in the Metropolitan, Virginia and one other insurance companies. Two leading merchants of Page's Mill, S. C., where the father of the young man resides, were here yesterday and say that the body buried and supposed to have been that of the missing man was exhumed by the elder Mr. Hayes and a close examination revealed that it was the body of a hog instead of a human. The remains were taken out of the Hayes family burying ground and buried elsewhere in case the insurance companies desire to pursue the investigation any further.

The younger man is understood to have spent the time he was away from home at Manning, S. C., under an assumed name, being identified by a detective of the insurance companies, who had no further interest in him after it was found that he was still alive and the policies were not payable.

It will be recalled that the body was taken out of the river some three weeks after the drowning is supposed to have taken place and that the head and limbs were apparently gone as the result of being eaten by fish and other water creatures. The coat of Hayes was found buttoned tightly around the trunk and the identification of the body was by the garment, papers, etc., in the pockets.

The younger man is said to have left Page's Mill again and so far as is known there is no effort by the companies toward his prosecution.

BODY FOUND AFTER TWO DAYS.

A Prominent Citizen of Beaufort Killed by Deer.

Washington, N. C., Jan. 1.—Mr. F. R. Swindell, of Pantego township, about twenty-seven miles from this city, while out deer hunting near Broad creek on December 30th suddenly disappeared and has been missing until today when his body was found in about three feet of water and a large buck deer nearby.

The facts in the case as nearly as can be ascertained are as follows: Mr. Swindell with a party of several men was out hunting and while the others were stationed behind he went ahead with the dogs and before very long struck a scent. Some time afterward the dogs came out of the woods and the others after waiting a while for him to return started a searching party but after hunting all day failed to locate him. A posse of 100 men searched all day yesterday with the same result, and yesterday afternoon Sheriff Ricks received a 'phone message asking for blood hounds. Mr. Hines, of Greenville, was engaged and with his blood hounds immediately went to Pantego. The dogs located him about 12 o'clock today lying in the Broad creek mill pond, in about three feet of water, and a large buck deer near by.

A jury of twelve men was summoned and viewed the remains, giving out a verdict that deceased was killed by the wounded deer, as there were a number of cuts and bruises on his head and body.

A Christmas Dance.

Editor Reflector:

For several years I have watched the editor, his paper and his county with a loving eye. His paper gets better every day. He gives good space to the cause of education. He tells what the churches and schools are doing. He works for the uplift of his town and county. God bless "The Reflector" and its editor! I spent three happy years in Pitt, and have many friends there. I think I never saw an offensive item in "The Reflector till Dec. 18, 1908. I then saw a "Christmas dance" advertised! If I wanted to dance with my friends, I think I would not choose the birthday of Jesus for the time.

A happy new year to the editor and his readers!

A. D. Betts,
Greensboro, N. C.

[The Reflector itself regrets the heading of the item in question, but it was put in by others than the editor as an advertisement. We think all such worldliness should not be in any way associated with the name of Christ. We thank dear "Uncle Betts" for his kind words, and wish for him many years of happiness.—Ed.]

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church will meet at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon with Mrs. F. G. James.

The heart of the civilized world is touched by the appalling disaster that has befallen Italy, and from all sections aid is being rushed to the sufferers. The terrors of the first earthquake had not subsided before another shock came that sunk several islands on the coast of Sicily, and the 28,000 known inhabitants of those islands are all supposed to have perished. The death list had already increased until it was supposed to be near 200,000 and suffering among the survivors is terrible. There has before been no such calamity in the history of the world.

What the Farmer Needs.

There is nothing more delusive, more false in pretense, than "protective" duties on agricultural products, a large surplus of which is exported, for it is quite true that the prices are determined by competition in the foreign markets. And yet there is in the present tariff a whole schedule, with seventy different items, of duties on agricultural products and provisions, the chief, if not the sole, purpose of which is to fool the farmers. There are duties on cattle, hogs and sheep and on meat and dairy products, though these constitute an important class of domestic exports, and on breadstuffs and vegetables and fruits of all kinds. What good to the farmers? Take for instance, twenty-five cents a bushel on wheat, thirty cents on barley, fifteen cents on Indian corn, fifteen cents on oats, and four dollars a ton on hay; there is only one possible source of competition, and that is a narrow strip of farming country across the Canadian border. As there is a surplus on both sides for export the price is made for both by the exported surplus, and freest interchange would only facilitate the export trade without affecting the general market price.

—New York Journal of Commerce.

It would be a good idea to start a revival in this State and get the Democrats so converted that they will cease fighting each other. If they do not, the worst has not yet happened.—Greensboro Record.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

NAVAL DISCIPLINE.

What the Sailor Will Do to Obtain Shore Leave.

As illustrating how men respond and adjust themselves to reward, or what comes to the same thing, the maximum satisfaction for a given amount of effort, two instances that came under my observation while in the navy are very interesting. One cruise was made on a vessel whose executive officer was in most respects a very able man. Discipline in general was admirable. In arranging for shore leave of the enlisted men, however, he managed so to arrange matters, strange as it may seem, that it was possible for a man in an inferior conduct grade to get more liberty than one of the best behaved men. This was of course entirely unnatural and came about from a combination of two separate systems. The reason was that naval regulations compelled the giving of at least a certain amount of shore leave to men in the second grade, while the system he was using actually allowed less to a man in the first grade. The result was that in a short time the bulk of the men were in the second conduct grade where they could get the most liberty. At a later date, on another ship, the executive officer was an extremely able man, who had studied this question more carefully and was a great believer in making it worth while for the men to behave themselves and keep in a high conduct grade. He so arranged matters that if any man behaved himself sufficiently well and did all his work with high efficiency he could have an unusual amount of liberty. The result was that this ship had more than half its crew in what is known as the "special first class," far and away the largest percentage that ever came under my observation.—Walter M. McFarland in Engineering Magazine.

Banks.

It was in the City of Brotherly Love that the first bank was established in 1781. It was incorporated by congress under the name of "The President, Directors and Company of the Bank of North America." Three years later the second bank in the country was opened in Boston and called the Massachusetts bank.

In the same year the Bank of New York was founded.

The first United States bank was founded in 1785 and the second in 1810, in which year the first savings banks were established, one in Philadelphia, the other in Boston.—Scrap

The Duel.

Gaston burst like a whirlwind it upon his friend Alphonse. "Will you be my witness?" he cried.

"Going to fight?"
 "No; going to get married."
 Alphonse after a pause inquired "Can't you apologize?"—Argonaut.

It is lively and springing very durable and lined inside with special quality of rubber, which never becomes so hard that it closes up small punctures without allowing air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have never been pumped down twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than ordinary tires, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the inside. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for introducing purposes we are making a special factory price to you of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on all orders. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented. We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you order by CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one of our best brass hand pumps. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, better, last longer and look finer than any tire you ever used or seen at any price. We guarantee you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We will send you a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

Zoology and Flags.
Zoology figures very largely on the flags of different nations. On the British royal standard is the lion. It was Richard Coeur de Lion, by the way, who altered the device from leopards to lions on the king's standard. The eagle appears on the standards of both Russia and Germany and both the lion and the eagle on that of Spain. Bulgaria has a lion, China a dragon and Mexico a bird quarrelling with a snake. Taken together with the animals that appear on nations' arms, the royal unicorn and Australian emu and kangaroo, a fairly comprehensive collection could be made from national emblems.

Inadvisable.
During a snowstorm on the Highland railway a train was held up for an hour or two. The guard, a cheery Scot, passed along the carriages trying to keep up the spirits of the passengers. An old gentleman angrily complained that if the train didn't go on he would "die of cold."
"Tak' my advice an' no' dae that," replied the guard. "Min' y', we charge a shillin' a mile for corpses."—Dundee Advertiser.

Sour Milk.
The milk was not of the desired sweetness one morning, and little Elmer pushed his glass away after taking a sip.
"What's the matter with the milk Elmer?" asked his mother.
"I guess the milkman has been feeding his cow on pickles," was the reply.—Exchange.

A TURNER MASTERPIECE.

Origin of the Painter's Famous "Rain, Steam and Speed."

Of all pictures by the great English color poet, Turner, none is more popular than that which now graces the London National gallery under the name of "Rain, Steam and Speed," which was first exhibited in 1844. It is impossible to reproduce this adequately.

Concerning the origin of this picture Ruskin furnishes an interesting tale. The story was told to him by a friend, Lady Simon. It seems that she was travelling one night in the early days of the Great Western railway from Exeter to London. "When I had taken off my coat and smoothed my ruffled plumes and generally settled myself," she tells, "I looked up to see the most wonderful eyes I ever saw, steadily, luminously, clairvoyantly, kindly, paternally looking at me. The hat was over the forehead, the mouth and chin buried in the brown velvet coat collar of the brown greatcoat. Well, we went on, and the storm went on more and more until we reached Bristol, where we waited ten minutes. My old gentleman rubbed the side window with his coat cuff, in vain. He attacked the center window, again in vain, so blurred and blotted was it with the torrents of rain. A moment's hesitation and then, 'Young lady, would you mind my putting down this window?'"

"Oh, no not at all."
"You may be drenched, you know."
"Never mind, sir."
"Immediately down went the window and out went the old gentleman's head and shoulders, and I said, 'Oh, please let me look.'
"Now, you will be drenched," he remonstrated. But he half opened the window for me to see. Such a night! Such a phnos of elemental and artificial lights and noises I never saw nor heard. He drew up the window as we moved on. I leaned back for some minutes with closed eyes, then opened them and said, 'Well, I have been drenched, but it was well worth it!'"

"He nodded and smiled and again took to his steady but inoffensive perusing of my face. The next year, I think it was, going to the academy, I turned at once, as I always did, to see what Turners there were. Imagine my feelings! There stood written 'Rain, Steam and Speed, Great Western, June, 1843.' I had found out whom the seeing eyes belonged to. As I stood looking at the picture I heard a mawkish voice behind me say:

"There, now, just look at that! Ain't it just like Turner? Who ever saw such a ridiculous conglomeration? I turned very quietly round and said: 'I did. I was in the train that night, and it is perfectly and wonderfully true.' After that I walked quietly away."—Helen Zimmern in Metropolitan Magazine.

Kongo Natives and Their Dead.
"In the matter of preserving bodies for burial Kongos, after the usual binding in cloth, keep them for two or three months in their houses, where a fire is kept burning, but in Zombo they are suspended on two forked sticks in a dugout vault in the ground, which is covered over with palm branches and earth," says a missionary. "Sometimes the body is placed under a specially built grass roof in the open. This is not considered a burial, and some years ago they brought out for a big funeral feast and dance the body of an important chief that had thus been preserved for over twenty years. In other districts the dead are thrown away into a river or into the bush to be devoured by jackals and vultures."

EXPERT PLAYERS.

Four Ladies and an interesting Attempt at Whist.

The following conversation was overheard by a waiter at a ladies' club. The man was able to use his knowledge of shorthand to take notes, having once been a reporter:

"Jane," said Maria, "it is your lead."

"Why, no," answered Jane; "it is Ida's."

"No," spoke up Ida; "it is not my lead. Susan dealt the cards."

"Why, then, it must be my lead," said Maria. "What's trumps?"

"Hearts!" shouted three young voices in unison.

"Well, there is my lead," said Maria, playing the deuce of clubs.

"But you must lead a trump card, my dear," cried Jane.

"Yes, and lead the biggest trump you have in your hand," put in Ida, Jane's partner.

"Well, then, here is the queen o' hearts," said Maria.

"Oh, you mean thing, you!" exclaimed Jane. "That takes my king."

"But I will take the trick, for I have the ace," said Ida.

"But," remarked Susan, "that is the ace of diamonds."

"So it is," said Ida. "Well, here is the four of hearts."

"I've got the ace of hearts," purred Susan. "Does that take the trick?"

"Of course it does," answered Jane.

"No, it doesn't," said Ida. "A court card always takes another card."

"Oh, let's stop playing!" cried Maria wearily. "It's no fun when there are no men to tell you how to play."—Pearson's Weekly.
