THE LEGISLATURE.

What Our Law Makers Are Doing at Raleigh.

TWELFTH DAY.

Tuesday was the day for election of United States senator and both branches voted separately. The Democrats voted unanimously for Hon. Lee S. Overman, re-electing him to succeed himself, the Republicans casting a complimentary vote for Spencer B. Adams.

Both branches adjourned early in honor of the birthday of Gen. R. E. Lee.

There was not much new business of importance.

In the senate bills were introduced by Gay to prohibit public drunkenness in North Carolina, and to amend the laws as to separation of the races on cars. By Scott to appropriate funds for the deaf and dumb. By Dockery to allow guardians to cultivate the lands of their wards. By Elliott to increase the salary of State librarian.

In the house Murphy offered a bill to facilitate release of mortgages and deeds of trust. By Connor to authorize payment of deposits made in trust and for relief of persons in whose interest such deposits are made.

Sale of Personal Property.

Consisting of mules, farming implements, boiler and engine, log cart and bunks, farm carts, etc. Also Jack screws, logging chains, ropes, axes, etc. Corn and fodder. At the Geo. Moore farm, near Pactolus on Friday, January 22nd, 1909. At 11 o'clock. F. M. Wooten, Trustee.

ROCHDALE SPROUTS

Rochdale, N. C., Jan. 19, 1908. B. P. Cobb, of Cobddale, Tuesday evening after his daughter was married, said "Now, Mary is married, and I am going to get married too," and boarded the train at Arthur, and left for somewhere. New York I guess.

B. P. Willoughby passed through our town Wednesday on his way to Greenville to answer a summons from the sheriff to go before the grand jury, and went again Thursday.

Miss Mary Joyner, of Farmville, was visiting in our section Saturday and Sunday.

Four young ladies dressed themselves in men's clothes Friday night and went to Lloyd Smith's and said they wanted to see Mr. Smith, and the madam told them that he was not in. Then she said she did not have room for them. Then they said they wanted something to eat and as she turned to go to get it they took fright, fearing she was going to get something to shoot them with. They made themselves known, and had considerable fun over it.

G. Hinton Crumpler, of the Atlantic Christian college at Wilson, came Saturday evening and preached very good sermons Sunday morning and night to large congregations.

R. A. Smith and his bride, of Farmville, were visiting at Mills Smith's Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Smith and David Smith, of Marlton, were visiting at Mills Smith's Sunday.

R. M. Starkey and J. Robert McArthur were visiting at Mills Smith's Sunday.

We had a very nice Sunday school at Smith's school house Sunday morning.

Ivy Smith, Lloyd Smith, F. M. Smith, Haywood Smith, David Smith and Mills Smith went to Greenville Monday to attend the land sale of the late Jesse L. Smith.

R. E. Willoughby and C. E. McLawhorn went to Greenville Monday.

C. D. Smith and T. E. Little went to Greenville Monday.

I said in the beginning of these items that I guessed that B. P. Cobb was going to New York for a wife but I learn that he went to Ohio. He came in yesterday morning with his new bride.

We neglected to say last week that Mrs. C. D. Smith had accepted a position in C. D. Smith's store as sales lady in the place of Haywood Smith who has gone to the farm.

B. P. Cobb, of Cobddale, went to Greenville yesterday.

C. E. McLawhorn went to Farmville this morning.

Good Again.

There was not so large an audience out at the opera house Tuesday night, but those there laughed almost until their sides ached over many ludicrous situations in the "Midnight Elopement." There were two runaway couples who got all mixed up but came out right in the end. The specialties between the acts were also good. The Demorest Comedy Co., is certainly composed of people who know their business.

The bill for tonight is "A Broken Heart" and remember there will be a matinee Saturday afternoon.

WOMEN WORK FOR CLEAN CITIES

Housekeeping Talents Are Being Applied in Work of Municipal Betterment.

Has progress deprived women of all their old-time employments and are they forced to public affairs, too long neglected by men? These questions are suggested by an article in the February Delineator, in which Ida Husted Harper tells why "Woman's Broom" in Municipal Housekeeping" has become necessary.

One after another the old-time employments of the household have been taken from home to factory until now women are separated into two great divisions of an army—one that follows the work and marches forth each day to find in some public hive of industry the occupations once carried on in the seclusion of private life, and the other that remains in a home stripped of all those domestic tasks that used to keep their foremothers busy from daybreak till long after nightfall, says Mrs. Harper. Churn, loom, spinning-wheel, even the sewing-machine was snatched away, until at last they left with only the broom of all their former implements of labor. And finally, one day, with a great clatter of victory, up to the door came the automatic compressed-air sweeper and sent the woman and her broom riding through space like Mother Goose in the story-book.

When the woman came down to earth again she was still clutching the broom, and, finding her house all swept and garnished from cellar to attic with the products of the factories, she began to wonder if men, in taking for themselves all this labor belonging by right to women, might not have neglected their own legitimate work, so she looked about her and on every hand saw the evidences of such neglect. The condition of the streets was a menace to health; impure milk was killing off the babies by the thousands, while impure water and food threatened destruction to the rest of the race; idle children swarmed the highways and byways because there was no room for them in the schools; from afar off came the cry of the little ones sacrificed in the labor market; on every side the agencies of evil had set their doors wide open to lure the innocent.

President's Salary Doubled.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 19.—The salary of the president of the United States was today fixed at $100,000 per annum so far as the senate could fix it and salaries of the vice president and the speaker of the house of representatives $15,000 each.

The salary of the chief justice of the Supreme court of the United States was increased from $13,000 to $15,000 per annum and those of associate justices from $12,500 to $14,500. These changes were made as amendments to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill and after an extended debate. Amendments allowing $5,000 to the vice president and the speaker of the house for horses and carriages were stricken from the bill.

Stock of Mdsc. For Sale.

The stock of general merchandise in Farmville, N. C., in store recently occupied by M. Smith & Bro., must be sold at once. For terms &c., apply to J. B. James, Assignee, Greenville, N. C. Jan. 18, 1909. 118 5th St

SUPERIOR COURT.

January Term in Session—The Cases Disposed of.

The following cases have been disposed of:

James Turnage and Robert Taft, assault with deadly weapon, Turnage not guilty, Taft guilty.

James Turnage, carrying concealed weapon, guilty. Primus Perkins, murder, not guilty.

The trial of Jonas Warren for murder, charged with killing his 13-year-old son, occupied this morning's session of the court. The case was given to the jury just before adjournment for dinner.

The jury was only about 30 minutes in reaching a verdict, which was guilty of murder in second degree. In passing judgment on the prisoner, Judge Allen stated that it was another case resulting from whiskey. Warren was on a drunken spree, very abusive and unkind to his wife and children, and shot and killed his own son. Yet, the judge said, when we furnish a man liquor it looks like a hard proposition to punish him for the use of it.

No man sells whiskey for the love of it, but for the money he gets out of it, and selling liquor will make any man a mad man. We license the sale of liquor we are to some extent parties to the crime resulting from it. With whiskey out of the country we will have little crime that amounts to anything, for whiskey is at the bottom of all our troubles.

The people of this county have an important lesson to learn from this case. This sentence was a term of four years in the penitentiary. The judge said this was a very light sentence, but the case was pitiful and he thought this sentence will meet the ends of justice and reform the offender.

ORPHANAGE FIRE

At Goldsboro Not as Severe as Was First Believed.

Mr. Marcus W. Jacobi returned this morning from Goldsboro, where he went to inspect the Odd Fellows' Orphanage, which was partially burned Saturday night. Mr. Jacobi stated that subsequent investigation revealed the damage was not as great as had been supposed. He said the fire was confined to the roof and attic of the main building, a three story structure, and that the principal damage resulted from water.

Great amount of the children's clothing was stored in the attic, but it is believed the insurance policy of $1,000 carried on the clothing will cover the loss to this particular feature. There is insurance on the building to the amount of $3,250 and it is not believed the loss to the structure will exceed $6,000.

The first intimation the children in the home had of the fire was when the ceiling in one of the rooms collapsed. The fire caused an unlooked for crowding of the children but all are comfortably housed, some having been given sleeping quarters in the infirmary.—Wilmington Dispatch.

With Our Colored People.

York Temple, A. M. E. Zion church was filled Sunday night to its utmost capacity, the occasion being the eulogy of Mrs. Ina M. Sawyer, wife of the pastor, Rev. R. Henry Sawyer. She departed this life Dec. 25th, 1908 at her home near New Bern, N. C., in the presence of her family. Sunday night after Rev. H. Bell, D. D. P. E., had preached a grand sermon, Mrs. Mattie Daniels came forward and delivered the eulogy in a most graceful manner. Mrs. Daniels is a graduate of the Elizabeth City State Normal school. She indeed crowned herself with honor. Miss Neaner L. Walker sang a most excellent solo in a becoming manner.

The committee on condolence were Miss Malissa Brown, Mrs. Georgie Redmon, Mrs. Malissa Evans and Mrs. Mattie Daniels. They recommended that a copy of the resolutions be spread upon the church record, a copy be given the bereaved family; and a copy to the Star of Zion for publication. By a Friend.

When a Man Calls.

When a man leaves, a girl says good-by to him in the parlor. She does not go into the hall to get his hat and coat, and does not open the door for him. These are things a man should do for himself when there is not a maid to do it. It is graceless and awkward for a girl to be stiff and formal about this. It is quite correct for her to saunter to the parlor door and talk while he is getting ready to go out; but there is a rule, as old as social convention, that a hostess does not go to the door with her guest, when that guest is a man. It isn't well for her to seem anxious to catch the last glimpse of him. Most conventions between men and women are founded on this theory.—The February Designer.

Ready for Business.

As will be seen by the large advertisement on another page, The Central Merchant Co., is ready for business. The firm has secured the store occupied by The J. F. Davenport Co., and with Mr. Davenport in charge as manager carries a full line of all kinds of goods needed in the home or on the farm, and sell for cash or on time.

The bill of speaker Graham in the legislature to give the State an equal chance with the defendant in the selection of a jury in capital cases, "was practically killed before the judiciary committee of the house. It is strange that lawyers do not favor changing a jury system that gives a criminal every advantage to escape justice in a trial. As it now is the State only has four peremptory challenges while the defendant has twenty-three. With such inequality in favor of the defendant any shrewd lawyer can get at least one juror who will hang the jury and make a mistrial, and that is enough to defeat the ends of justice.

Mr. Hannis Taylor, a former North Carolinian now living somewhere in the South, in magazine and newspaper articles is advancing the proposition that "the solid South is a national calamity." If it is, let's un-solidify. But the South is not solid with malice aforethought. Therefore it cannot be held guilty. Its states usually vote Democratic but that is a mere happen-so. Southerners vote from conviction the same as other folks do. There is no great Southern authority from which Southerners take their orders how to vote. The circumstance of the South being solid is a problem of the individual Southern voter, not of the collective Southern voter. This gentleman—this individual Southern voter—is the one who is to be "cussed" for the South's solidity. And after all the proposition is

Pertinent Questions.
 A new year is here. It is a time for invoice. Business men take an invoice of their stock. Wouldn't it be business for you to take one of yourself. Life, each life, is a business. Have you gained or lost last year? Have you used the talents that have been given you so as to gain other talents? Is there any prospect of your being placed over ten cities or five cities or one city? Have you declared any dividends in the way of loving and helping others, and have you added anything to the capital stock of your character? These are pertinent questions that press us all for an answer. Let the result of the self invoice be a spur to us in living the coming year, or a cause for great congratulations as we review the past and go forth to build "more stately mansions" for the future.—Ex.

Those lawyer-legislators who talk about "equalizing challenges" (as so many other States have done) as "blood-thirsty" are unable to forget their prepossessions. The most bloodthirsty law is one which does not punish murder, and thereby puts the lives of all good men at the mercy of the bad. Official United States statistics show that for the year ending 30th June, 1903, there were three hundred homicides in North Carolina for which two men were hung by law and four by lynching. In London during the same period, with 6,000,000 of people there were twenty homicides.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Patronize Home Talent—It Pays.

Last month a merchant a thousand miles from Chicago wanted to place over his store an electric light sign he had heard about in Chicago. Made a special trip there for specifications and terms. Too high!

Mr. Merchant returned home and incidentally told the local electrician about his troubles. Mr. Home Electrician replied that he could reproduce the Chicago sign, with improvements, at a price that suited. And he did so.

JUST THINK THIS OVER, WILL YOU?

SEED OF THE VIOLET.

The Flower is Aggressive in Spite of Its Boasted Modesty.

The common wild violet affords one of the most remarkable illustrations of the care and apparent forethought of nature in preserving a species. As everybody knows, the violet grows in the shade, in pastures, woods and fields where the grass is abundant and long. It comes up early in the spring and flowers at a time when the grass is most abundant and succulent. Of course it is liable to be cut down by the scythe, but much more likely is it to be bitten off by grazing animals.

The violets that come in the spring either do not seed at all or very sparingly, so that if the plant relied on its spring flowers for seed it would probably perish off the earth in a very few years.

But in the late fall the plant bears another crop of blossoms that are never seen save by the professional botanist. They are very small, utterly insignificant in appearance, and grow either just at or below the surface of the ground. These are the flowers which produce the seeds for the next season. The flowers on long stems blooming in spring are only for show; the hidden flowers are for use, and the number of seeds they bear may be judged from the ease with which a wild violet bed spreads.

When the seeds are ripe the pod explodes, scattering them to a considerable distance, often to ten or twelve feet from the parent plant, so that in spite of its boasted modesty the violet not only takes care of itself, but becomes a troublesome aggressor.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SWOONED AT THE BELL.

Odd Effect of One Cure Through the Subliminal Consciousness.

A very well known oculist tells of one case where healing through the subliminal consciousness was really a source of embarrassment to the physical man who was responsible for it. Several years ago when the eye specialist—he knows about ears and throats, too—was studying in Vienna a young girl was brought to the hospital to be treated for some nervous disorder. Hypnotism—or suggestion, as one is asked to call it these days—was used, and she was brought under his influence by the ringing of a bell. After a few treatments she went to sleep, or into the unconscious and receptive state, as soon as she heard the bell. She was speedily cured and left the hospital. Next day she was brought unconscious, roused and sent away. The day after that she was brought in again. Indeed, for some time scarcely a day passed when she wasn't carried in limp and unconscious. She became a positive nuisance to the great neurologist that had hypnotized her, and he finally sent persons to watch her. It was found that on her way to work she passed a certain church and usually was at the door at the moment during the celebration of the mass when the bell rang. At its tinkle she calmly curled up and went to sleep. It was necessary to suggest to her the next time she was brought to the hospital that no bell in the world could have any effect on her except the one rung in the hospital by the neurologist. After that she went about the city quite unaffected by the bells, and the neurologist drew a breath of relief.—Washington Herald.

A LAND SALE IN BOLIVIA.

Survival of a Curious Old Ceremony Called "Foeffment."

Our remote ancestors did not sell land as it is sold nowadays, the seller merely giving to the buyer an acknowledged deed of the premises. According to their customs, no land title could pass except by "transmutation of possession," and this they accomplished by a solemn ceremony, called by an old term a "foeffment."

The seller and the buyer went on the land together in the presence of witnesses, usually most of the village folks. The seller took a tuft of grass or a clod of earth and handed it to the buyer, declaring with a loud voice his intention to transfer to him the possession of the land in question.

Centuries have elapsed since the English race has sold land in this way, and it has been supposed that the practice had become extinct. A few years ago, however, a New England lawyer, returned from Bolivia, gave the following account of a land sale within 100 miles of La Paz, the Bolivian capital:

The American had climbed the Andes to a height of 1,400 feet, accompanied by a native Bolivian who had agreed to sell some mining property. The subprefect of the province and a notary went with them. The Indians living on the route were called out as the party passed along, until finally the complete company numbered about 300.

When the party reached its destination the prefect called the assembly to order, declared what was to be done, and the notary wrote it down. The seller then tore up dirt and grass with his hands and handed it to the buyer, who at once began to run wildly about the land, turn somersaults and cut up all manner of funny capers.

This, the notary told the party, was to convince the native Indians that the purchaser had actually taken legal possession of the land, and he further stated that the Indians and their descendants would defend the newcomer's title against any and all intruders until he or his heirs should see fit to transfer the possession of the land to still others in a similar manner.—Boston Post.

THREATENED THE DEITY.

An Impious Relic of Arizona While Under Spanish Rule.

Among primitive peoples gifts are made to the gods in the hope of securing their favor. Quite logically, also, when a god does not respond his worshipers cut off their gifts to him and sometimes even desecrate his image. But it is odd to find a survival of this notion among Christians, however simple minded they may be.

A very curious instance is contained in a report filed in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. It tells of what happened in Arizona while under Spanish rule and is amusingly naive in its story of how the people of one department tried to threaten the Deity and thereby make him give them rain.—The report says:

Considering that the Supreme Creator has not behaved well in this province, as in the whole of last year only one shower of rain fell; that in this summer, notwithstanding all the processions, prayers and praises, it has not rained at all, and consequently the crops of Castanas, on which depend the prosperity of the whole department, are entirely ruined, it is decreed—

Article I. If within the peremptory period of eight days from the date of this decree rain does not fall abundantly no one will go to mass or say prayers.

Article II. If the drought continues eight days more, the churches and chapels shall be burned, and missals, rosaries and other objects of devotion will be destroyed.

Article III. If, finally, in a third period of eight days it shall not rain, all the priests, friars, nuns and saints, male and female, shall be beheaded. And for the present permission is given for the commission of all sorts of sin in order that the Supreme Creator may understand with whom he has to deal.

—Scrap Book.

Economy.

Economy is always admirable. A Cheyenne hunter, though, was disgusted the other day with the economical spirit of a visitor to his shop. The visitor, a tall man with gray hair, entered with a soft felt hat, wrapped in paper, in his hand.

"How much will it cost," he said, "to dye this hat gray to match my hair?"

"About a dollar," the hatter answered.

The tall man wrapped the hat up again.

"I won't pay it," he said. "I can get my hair dyed to match the hat for a quarter."—Household Journal.

Just a Way They Have.

Inhabitants of the Isle of Wight speak of "going to England" when they leave their own fragment of the kingdom. A patriotic Cornishman also "goes to England" when he crosses the Tamar. Similarly inhabitants of the Balkan peninsula talk of "going to Europe" when they leave their own corner of the continent, in curious contrast with the people of Great Britain, who regard themselves as both of and in "Europe;" and it is only "the continent" that they visit. There is an old story of a Scottish minister who prayed for a blessing upon "the inhabitants of Great and Little Cumbrae (islands in the Firth of Clyde) and the adjacent islands of Great Britain and Ireland." Massachusetts people speak of going "down east" when they start for the Maine coast.—Chicago News.

Parcel Wrappers.

"The hardest thing to wrap up," said a shipping clerk, "is a violin. A department store will often test a new wrapper by giving him a violin to do up. If he passes that test he is all right."

"Abroad bags and string, being expensive, are rarely used, and the young groceryman must be able to wrap potatoes, flour and all sorts of things in sheets of paper alone. He gets a kind of knack. He lays his flour or beans in a square of paper, doubles the paper over and, with an end in each hand, swings the parcel round and round. Like magic, then, it is done up, and you can carry it safely quite a hundred yards or so, provided you are careful."

Overstocked.

Hubby was evidently worried, and wifey was trying to cheer him up. "Cheer up, John, and don't worry," she said. "It doesn't do any good to borrow trouble."

"Borrow trouble," echoed her husband. "Great Caesar's ghost! I ain't borrowing trouble; I've got it to lend."

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness Profit by Greenville People's Experience.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect this. The attacks may pass off for a time but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swellings below the eyes, bloating of limbs and ankles, or any part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old time health and vigor will return. Cures in Greenville prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. J. F. Stokes, Cor. Twelfth and Evans Sts., Greenville, N. C., says: "For some time I suffered severely from kidney complaint. The kidneys were very irregular in action and at times caused me great annoyance. I had bearing down pains through my abdomen and sharp shooting twinges through my loins causing me untold misery. There was a tender spot across my kidney regions and at times my limbs pained intensely. I finally read of Doan's Kidney pills and was so much impressed that I procured them at Wooten's drug store. They soon relieved the pains in my sides and limbs, restored the secretions to a regular and normal condition and at present I am feeling a great deal better in every way. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for the great improvement in my condition."

For sale by a dealer. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Difficult Examination.

Candidates at the Royal Veterinary college, London, must pass examinations in English grammar and composition, Latin, mathematics and either Greek, a modern language or logic (horse sense). This from the Matric: "Find the center of gravity of a uniform wire which is bent in such a way that it forms three sides of a square." Once in, the candidate for V. S. has to cover chemistry, physics, biology, botany, histology, physiology, bacteriology, materia medica, toxicology, hygiene, dietetics, clinical medicine, meat inspection and horseshoeing—Horses, Horsemen and Stable Management.

London on American Clothes.

Observes the London Chronicle: "In London the man who demands respect has his clothes made for him. But no New York man who is not a millionaire or near it buys anything but store clothes. And the ready made clothes are so standardized that you have but to confess your inches and you are clothed in America."
