LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE HERE.

EDUCATIONAL COMMITTEE ON VISIT OF INSPECTION.

Several Senators and Representatives Come to See the Training School and Greenville Handsomely Entertains Them.

By the 9:55 a. m. N. & S. train, a distinguished delegation arrived in Greenville. They were the educational committee of the General Assembly of North Carolina, who had come for a personal inspection of the Eastern Carolina Teachers Training School now building in Greenville. In the party were Senators Dockery, Ray, Means, Tilson and Blow, and Representatives Hagaman, Mitchell, Smith, of Randolph, Rose, Crawford, Killian, Connor, Gordon, Barnes, of Hertford and Cox, of Pitt. Representative Gordon is chairman of the appropriations committee.

State Superintendent of Education J. Y. Joyner, and press correspondent Andrew Joyner were also with the party.

The delegation was met at the station by a committee of citizens with carriages and first taken to Carolina Club where breakfast was served and a short while spent in getting acquainted with our people.

The visitors were then driven over to the location of the school where several hours were spent in looking over the buildings and grounds and acquainting themselves with the further needs of the institution so as to lay the matter intelligently before the legislature. As they made this inspection there were expressions of astonishment at finding an institution that reflects so much credit to the State.

Some of the visitors are from the extreme western portion of the State and this is their first visit down to this section and they were thoroughly delighted with what they found and saw. One of them was heard to say he had no idea that Eastern North Carolina was so great.

The visitors were also driven out to see the sand-clay road the county commissioners are building, the new steel bridge across the river and other points of interest about the town, all giving them a favorable impression of Greenville and Pitt county.

After they had gone through the training school buildings and grounds the visitors were brought back up town and a brief reception was held in the office of County Superintendent W. H. Ragsdale where many citizens of the town and county met them.

At 3:30 o'clock they were again taken to Carolina Club where an elegant dinner was served under the management of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church. There was some after dinner speaking, but owing to the lateness of the hour we cannot make any mention of this feature in today's issue.

The visitors will return to Raleigh by the train leaving here at 6:40 p. m. The day gave us beautiful weather and Greenville did herself proud in entertaining the visitors.

THE LEGISLATURE.

What Our Law Makers Are Doing at Raleigh.

TWENTY FIFTH DAY.

SENATE.

Among the new bills were these: To promote the proper management of forests in North Carolina; to regulate the powers of corporations; to encourage oyster culture; to revise the militia law; to provide for uniform law as to stock certificates; relating to moving picture shows.

The bill to prohibit the sale of quail and grouse for a period of two years was taken up again and given another discussion. Senator Blow offered a substitute for the bill, making the closed season from January 15 to Nov. 15, which he said would give all the protection to game that was needed. The substitute was lost.

HOUSE.

The committee having in charge the contested election case of Williams-Stringfield from Dare county, made report which confirms the election of Williams, the present incumbent. A minority report favorable to Stringfield was also presented.

The following were among the new bills offered: To protect forests; to require registration of deaths in towns of 1,000 or more inhabitants (offered by Dr. Cox, of Pitt); to amend law as to fish commission.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 3.—Telephone messages today from the northern section of the county tell of a pistol and shotgun duel fought in Ivy this morning between John Llewellyn and William Hurst, and Hurst's two boys. Llewellyn used a pistol, while the Hursts used shotguns. Llewellyn was shot in the abdomen and in the head and may die. The Hursts were not injured.

Thomasville, N. C., Feb. 3.—The entire town was shocked this morning as the news of the suicide of Addison Fletcher Cox. He had just finished breakfast and as he was leaving the dining room he asked one of the boarders to mail his letter, going to his wife's room, kissing her and his little child good-bye before leaving the house for his work. He then went up stairs laid down on the bed on his face, placed a revolver to his right temple and pulled the trigger.

Tobacco Sales for January.

According to the records kept by Secretary C. W. Harvey, of the Tobacco Board of Trade, the sales of tobacco on the Greenville market for the month of January were 462,786 pounds at an average price of 8.37. The total sales for the season up to February 1st were 11,197,117 pounds. This is already a little in excess of the entire sales of last season, with a month more of this season to be reported.

Tacky Party.

There will be a tacky skating party in the Centre Brick warehouse Friday night. Admission 10 cents to everybody with no extra charge for skating. A prize will be awarded the person wearing the most tacky outfit. You can skate whether in costume or not, but only the tackys can compete for the prize. Everybody go. 25 ttd

RARE TREAT FOR TAFT.

World Famous Cooks to Prepare His Banquet—New Orleans Trying to Outdo Her Hospitable Record.

New Orleans, Feb. 4.—The coming of President Elect Taft to New Orleans Feb. 11 12 en route from Panama to Washington for the inauguration, will be, in all probability, the occasion of one of the most elaborate demonstrations in honor of an individual, ever given in the city of New Orleans, famed as it is for lavish hospitality. Governors of all Southern States, Secretary of War Luke E. Wright, a Tennessean, and other distinguished public men have been invited to be the guests of the Progressive Union, under whose auspices the entertainment is being given and a "Court of Cooks," composed of a number of famous New Orleans chefs, each celebrated for some particular Creole triumph cuisine, will personally prepare the feast, which will be given either at the Grunewald or St. Charles hotel. One thousand hosts are expected to dine with Mr. Taft as their guest at a typical Creole repast, which will be accompanied by all the adornments of Louisiana's resources. The banquet hall will be decorated in Spanish moss, sugar cane, oranges, rice, cotton and other natural products. Mr. Taft with his fast scout cruisers Birmingham and Salem will be met at the mouth of the river by a flotilla of vessels loaded with committees and escorted in review before the city and landed at the head of Canal street. A committee of 2,000 citizens in Prince Albert coats, top hats and white boutonnières will receive him with bared heads.

Governor Sanders has ordered out the militia for the grand military and civic parade and the Eighth Band Coast Artillery Corps U. S. A., has been ordered by the secretary of war to proceed to New Orleans to participate in the reception, while the United States troops at Jackson Barracks this city and the Jackies and Marines from the warships and States naval brigade, will add color and liveliness to the demonstration.

Next morning Mr. Taft will play golf and lunch at the Country Club. During the afternoon he will make a public address and Mrs. Taft and the ladies of her party will be entertained by the ladies of New Orleans at a reception.

Sometime during the day will be set aside for a short talk to the negroes of New Orleans. Mr. Taft will leave Saturday morning and may go to Cincinnati, his old home, before proceeding to Washington for his inauguration March 4.

Pair Forceps in the Abdomen for Eleven Years.

A pair of surgeon's forceps accidentally sewed up in her abdomen 11 years ago, caused the death of Miss Mary G. Donovan in Philadelphia last week. The operation was performed by an eminent surgeon, now dead. Miss Donovan, who was a child at the time, developed strange symptoms and was an invalid ever after, her life being one continuous search for the cause of her illness.

Recently the presence of the forceps was suspected and an X-ray examination disclosed them. An operation was performed but the patient died in a few hours.

MOVING BIG TREES.

An Expensive Undertaking, Sometimes Requiring a Year.

Trees of a very great size can be moved successfully if time and money are of no account, but it is an expensive process and should be attempted only where immediate effect is wanted or in the case of a rare variety that requires to be removed and cannot be replaced.

To prepare a large tree for removal, says Horticulture, a deep trench should be dug around the tree from five to seven feet from the base of the tree and working under so as to cut off all the roots possible without disturbing the hole.

The ends of the roots should all be cut smooth and the trench filled up with a good compost of peat, rotten sods and manure and left for a year, when a second trench can be opened at the outside of the first and the tree carefully undermined with a pick, so as to remove the soil with as little injury to the young fibers as possible, and the tree carefully drawn over so as to cut whatever taproot may have been left.

If a supply of bass mats is at hand they can be carefully bound around the ball of earth, and if it is not too large it can be loaded on a drag and drawn to the place of planting, where the hole has been prepared beforehand.

If too large for a drag the ball of earth may be surrounded by boards or layers of hay and straw firmly bound with cords, a few boards passing underneath and the whole fastened to the stem, which should be well wrapped with hay or woolen material before any force for lifting is applied. It can then be raised with the use of a derrick on to a truck and taken to the desired place, lowered in the hole, the binding taken off, the roots carefully spread and the soil well worked in among them and well firmed.

Large trees can also be transplanted by digging around them in winter and allowing the earth around them to be frozen solid, having the ground prepared previously and covered with coarse material to keep out the frost, and removing them on a sled to their destination.

THURSDAY, FEB. 4, 1909.

It is a wonder that nobody has thought to include pumpkin pie for Mr. Taft.

The discussion of Crum is consuming too much valuable time in the United States Senate.

That Taft dinner at New Orleans is going to cost $25 a plate. Pretty high eating even if alligator steak is included in the menu.

The legislature has just given Durham a recorder's court, and now the city is going to ask for a police commission. Better not be after too much all at once.

That committee report on investigation of the books of the State officers is getting some more knocks. The latest charge is that the committee was seeking notoriety.

We hope the legislative committee will fully comprehend the needs of the Eastern Training School and will recommend as liberal appropriation as conditions will allow.

A youngster is New York was fined $30 for taking three kisses of his landlady, a Mrs. Caramell, said to be tall, willowy and blonde. That name would indicate that she was sweet, too.

Strong effort will be brought to bear on the legislature in behalf of a constitutional amendment looking to an amendment of the homestead law. As it is now the debtor has rather too rank a hold. The creditor should have more of a square deal than he gets. We hope that some happy average, fair to both debtor and creditor, will be struck.—Greensboro Telegram.

While the legislature is tinkering with the divorce laws, it is of interest to State that in North Carolina from 1887 to 1906, a twenty-year period, 7,047 divorces have been granted in this State, 2,103 to husbands and 2,944 to wives. In that period 190 divorces were granted in Mecklenburg county. Wake lead all the counties with 324 and Forsyth was a good second with 310.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The weakest place in government is the administration of the city. This is true of every section and as to all political parties. North Carolina has the best and cheapest State government—so good that the least technical departure from the strict statute calls for public criticism. The people will not tolerate anything except strict economy, good business methods, and publicity in affairs. This is true of county administration as to most counties. The weakest place is in administering the affairs of a place that has grown big enough to have an aldermanic system. Under that system there has grown up division or responsibility to such an extent in most cities that government is unduly expensive and often inefficient. What is the remedy? Of course the only Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. real remedy is for the people to wake up and take such deep interest in better administration that the officials, the public service corporations, and those who make money directly or indirectly from a weak city government can no longer govern the city.—Raleigh News and Observer.

This is the season when the would be taxpayer of all things gets in his work and makes many a fellow who is trying to make a living get a hump on himself to keep from being driven out of the State. Taxes have to be paid. There is no way out of it except to lie, which many do without much compunction of conscience. But there is an interesting side to all this, and that is that you cannot find any interest that thinks they ought to pay any privilege tax. And the feeling is natural. They cannot see why they should pay for the privilege of making a living, when the man in another business no more honorable does not pay the tax. These things come up for the reason that some fellow thinks that the country is being hurt, or that some man is making more than he ought to make, or is corrupting the youth of the land or is an undesirable citizen. All of which may or may not be so, but it is so that none want these special taxes. Wonder more of them did not become the followers of the late Henry George, the single taxer. Make the land pay it all was the motto. North Carolina would be the better off if she will find a way to make the land pay more than it is now paying.—Raleigh Times.

WATERMARKS.

They Are Stamped In the Paper by Patterns of Wire.

The discovery of the watermark was the result of an accident, probably a thousand years ago. Parchment was then made of vegetable pulp, which was poured in a liquid state into a sieve. The water dripped out from below, and the thin layer of pulp that remained was pressed and dried. When dry it was found to bear upon it the marks of the fiber that composed the bottom of the sieve.

These fibers seem to have been twisted reeds, and the mark they left on the parchment took the form of wide lines running across and across diagonally. In those days the watermark was regarded as a blemish since the fiber was thick and coarse and the deep impression made on the paper proved a drawback in writing.

The quill of the scribe found many a yawning gap to cross on the surface of the manuscript—"switchback scripture" it has been termed. But when wire was substituted for fiber in the sieve, says a writer in the Denver Republican, the lines of the watermark grew thinner and less conspicuous.

The possibilities of the usefulness of the watermark became apparent by degrees. It was first found to be of service in preventing the forgery of books and manuscripts. Many a bogus copy of a rare work has been detected because the counterfeiter failed to take into account the watermarks of the original.

The watermark of many a precious manuscript in the world's museums is alike its glory and its safeguard. And in the sphere of bank notes and paper money everywhere the watermark is most useful in protecting the notes from imitation.

The term "watermark" is in reality a misnomer since the mark is actually produced by wire. Wire is fashioned into the desired pattern, figure or lettering. This is inserted beneath the sheet in the last stages of its manufacture and while the paper is still capable of receiving the impression, and the wire device stamps itself into the sheet.

Ordinary note paper held up to the light reveals hundreds of parallel lines running up and down, betraying the fact that the paper was made on a wire foundation. To this the paper owes its smoothness and its even texture.

PRESENTIMENTS.

Incidents in Which Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before.

Coming events cast their shadows before them. The writer is led to believe this because several incidents in the lives of his parents corroborate the theory that presentiments of good and evil do come to persons unawares. I will mention two of them.

In the summer of 187— my father late at night was returning to his farm from the little town of Malton. He had stayed unusually late. When he reached the farm all was quiet. Removing the harness from his horse, he proceeded to the carriage house and hung it in its place.

He came out and closed the door. As he did so he heard the harness fall. It was very dark. He went back into the house and found the harness still hanging in its place. The same occurrence took place again. He went back again and found it in its place.

When the third time he heard the sound of falling harness he did not go back.

Several weeks later his barn burned, and it happened that the same harness was in the barn loft, a valuable set. He attempted to save it. The staircase burned behind him, and he was compelled to jump for his life from a window. His previous experience came to him vividly. He saved the harness, but at the risk of his life.

Another vivid incident I recall was a sick baby. The nurse was present, too, and both were wide awake. Her father appeared to her and advised her as to the baby's treatment and other family matters. He vanished as quickly as he had come. The next day she heard of his death.—London Times

CAUGHT THE BISHOP.

One Surprise That Was the Forerunner of Another.

That was a good old comedy bishop who one fine day entered a large jeweler's establishment in Regent street, London, to make an extensive purchase of valuable presents. He selected them with great care as regards their artistic value, but quite regardless of cost. The proprietor and his assistants buzzed round his lordship. The selected valuables were packed in separate parcels at his suggestion, neatly tied and sealed, and he had just taken a seat in the private office of the proprietor and was feeling in his pocket for his check book when two men, who had been peering in at the glass door leading to the street, walked up the shop and stood behind the bishop. They were plainly dressed, sharp looking men and thus bluntly addressed the jeweler:

"What has this man been ordering?" The bishop looked up, saw the men, turned pale, clutched the sides of the chair, dropped his glasses and looked as if he would bolt. Before he could stir, however, the handcuffs were on his wrists.

"Bishop, indeed!" said one of the men. "He was a colonel yesterday. Here, 'bishop,' come along to Vine street. 'Bishop,' indeed! Ha, ha! Well, that's a good 'un!" And, turning to the astonished jeweler, he continued: "Just copped him in time, sir; lucky for you. Oh, by the way, you might get one of your assistants to bring round these parcels he has selected. We must enter them at the police station. We have a cab at the door. We have been tracking the bishop all the morning."

Without a word the "bishop" followed the detectives into a cab, and all three got in as the assistant came out with the valuables.

"Here," said one of the detectives through the window, "place those in here—they will be safer—and you get on the top with the driver."

It was not far to Vine street; but, as usual, the traffic was congested in Oxford circus, and the cab had to halt occasionally. It was, however, soon at the police station. The assistant jumped off the driver's seat and opened the door.

The cab was empty!—Strand Magazine.

Quite Sufficient.

WILL CHARGE SMALL FEE.

Expenses of the Library Make This Necessary.

At a recent meeting of the End of Century Club, it was decided to charge a fee of $1.00 a year or 10cts. a month, payable in advance, beginning March 1st. for the privilege of reading the books from the library.

The public is aware of the fact that this library was opened and has been run under the auspices of this club as a free library; but the expenses are more than twenty women can meet without more outside help than they have been receiving. The first two years of the library's existence a few gentleman of the town helped us by subscriptions. And the Board of Aldermen have several times been very generous in assisting us, and this year have given $50 which is greatly appreciated, especially as we know of the demands upon their resources. But with this assistance together with our donations, we will not be able to meet the expenses of rent, paying a Librarian, and adding new books, unless we have some other help, and we feel sure that all those who enjoy and patronize the library will be willing to pay this small fee.

It is not our desire to deprive anyone of the advantages of the library, so if there is anyone who is unable to pay this fee, if it is reported to the Librarian, there will be a special committee to act upon it.

We also wish to state that there will be no fee charged for consulting the reference books; but they are not to be taken out of the library. The length of time to keep the books and the fines will be the same as heretofore.

"End of the Century Club."

Wanted to See Them.

When Helen, aged four, for the first time accompanied her mother to church she was given some money for the collection box. It was carefully explained to her that this money was "for the poor."

Helen sat patiently through perhaps a third of the service, when she startled her mother by rattling the coins between her cupped hands and inquiring in a loud voice: "Mamma, when are the poor coming around? My 8 cents is getting all hot and sticky!" — Lippincott's Magazine.
