WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

News Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., Feb. 10 1909.

Rev. T. H. King filled his appointment at the Ellis school Saturday night, and at Mills school house Sunday afternoon. There is a good Sunday school at each place upon which the people are to be congratulated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bobbitt, of Shelmerdine, spent Sunday here. There was an Armenian preacher here Monday night soliciting funds for carrying the Gospel to his people.

At a meeting of the directors of the Bank of Winterville last Friday night the resignation of J. L. Jackson as cashier was accepted and J. E. Greene was elected in his place, and Frank A. Edmondson as assistant cashier. Both of these gentlemen are excellent young men and have fine business qualities, so the patrons of the bank may rest assured that they will receive prompt attention. We regret very much to lose Mr. Jackson as he made a most excellent cashier. He has moved out to his farm near town.

Winterville High School has been the happy recipient of another large lot of books from Hon. Jno. H. Small. Among these is a set of maps showing the diagrams of all the battles in the Civil war. These will be a great benefit in teaching United States history.

COX'S MILL ITEMS.

Cox's Mill, N. C., Feb. 9, 1909.

The old saying is: "A foolish person takes an umbrella along in fair weather and a wise person leaves it home." But it would have been wise for all to have taken one to Sunday school Sunday afternoon, if it was fair when we left home: for quite a number were grieving over their finery getting wet.

L. N. Edwards is on the sick list.

Miss Ella Pate, of Goldsboro, is visiting Miss Bessie Moore this week.

Rev. T. H. King preached an excellent sermon Sunday afternoon at Mills' school house. We are always delighted to have Mr. King with us. He was accompanied by J. E. Greene.

W. A. Tyson spent Sunday with his parents.

"Uncle" Jesse McGowan is very sick. We hope he will soon be well again.

Johnnie Carroll spent Saturday in Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Josephus Cox spent Sunday here visiting relatives.

Our little town received another great shock Saturday night. About eleven o'clock H. A. Moore's store was burned down. It was partly insured but his loss is estimated at between $1200 and $1500. This is the third fire we have had this winter. We extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. Moore.

Miss Bertha Coward is spending this week with Miss Lillie Carroll.

A great many sewing machine agents have passed through in the last few weeks and have supplied the people with new machines, but the best machine was around Sunday.

J. M. Cox, Jr., has put up a new store. We wish him much success.

Do you need a handsome rug $1.00 to $25.00. Taft & Vandyke. dtf 29

ROCHDALE SPROUTS

Rochdale, N. C., Feb. 9, 1908.

Miss Mattie Little went to spend sometime visiting relatives in Falkland section Wednesday and returned Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McLawhorn went to Greenville Thursday.

Mrs. Ivy Smith and Mrs. L. W. Smith went to Greenville Friday.

F. M. Smith went to Greenville Friday.

Mrs. Mills Smith has been staying home for the last several weeks nursing whooping cough, and has one very bad case of it. The other three cases have improved some.

F. M. and Mills Smith went to Farmville Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith went to visit Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Smith, of Marlton, Saturday.

Mrs. C. L. Tyson and three children, of Renston, came in Saturday to visit her father, R. A. Willoughby, and family returned Sunday evening.

R. E. Willoughby went to Farmville Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Willoughby and children, of Farmville, were visiting at Mills Smith's Sunday.

Sunday several of our young people went visiting in Marlton and Grimmersburg instead of attending Sunday school which made the attendance rather small. We hope they will be more thoughtful in the future.

David Smith, of Marlton, was in our burg Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Smith, of Marlton, were visiting at Mills Smith's Sunday evening.

Miss Mamie Carr and J. R. Joyner, of Farmville, were at Mills Smith's Sunday evening.

Jasper Joyner, of Farmville, was visiting at C. E. McLawhorn's Sunday evening.

A. J. Flanagan and J. R. Pippin, of Farmville, passed through our town Monday on their way to Greenville.

C. E. McLawhorn went to Farmville Monday evening.

C. L. Tyson was in our town yesterday evening.

Women and Pin-Money.

The women who have to earn their own pin-money or go without it are legion, more's the pity. There is not a woman alive that does not long, down deep in her heart of hearts, for a little money of her own to spend just as she wants to; and we meet women working in all the crafts earning the precious pin-money as their talents and various tastes permit. Some sing in church, some write for the papers and magazines, some paint, and others bake or contribute to the many "exchanges for women's work," while still others go into business. There are a number that excel as home milliners, and make quite a handsome thing of trimming hats for their friends. One woman, who lives near a large bachelor apartment house, does all the mending for fourteen unattached men, and makes a fine financial thing out of it.—The March Designer.

BENEFIT OF VOLUNTEER FIREMEN

Legislature Asked to Increase Tax on Fire Insurance Companies.

The following letter signed by the chief of the fire department and foremen of the two white fire companies in Greenville, has been forwarded to Pitt county's members of the General Assembly:

The officers and members of the Greenville Fire Department respectfully request that you favor the enactment into law of the bill prepared under the auspices of the State Firemen Association of North Carolina, increasing the percent from one half to one percent, on all fire insurance premiums as now collected in the State, and to make the collection apply to all Fire Insurance Companies without exceptions.

We feel that the enactment of this legislation will be of great benefit to the State, and the tax upon the insurance companies will be very small, and will tend to make volunteer fire organizations in the State a great deal more effective than they have been in the past.

A Memorial to the Educational Committee of the General Assembly on Behalf of the State's Higher Educational Institutions.

A sense of duty to the State and to the institutions which we represent compels us to make a frank statement concerning their condition.

We need not enlarge upon the necessity for the higher training of the young men and young women of North Carolina. The future of the State depends upon this. If the number at present in these institutions were doubled it would not equal the proportion in other progressive commonwealths.

Your higher institutions are absolutely unable to meet the demands which are made upon them or to enlarge their work.

The needs of an institution are not determined by its president or board of trustees, but by the necessities of a growing state. The repeated calls for aid coming from these institutions are simply an evidence of the growth of the people and of their reaching forward for better and higher things.

We have stated these needs as our experience and careful study show them to be. We earnestly counsel the representatives of the people that in some way they provide means to place these institutions upon a footing for efficient and satisfactory service for eight or ten years to come. Our statements cover this in so far as it is possible for us to foresee the probable demands which will be made upon these institutions.

We believe that if the people of North Carolina thoroughly understood the great work now being done by these institutions, their worthiness, their needs present and future, and their urgent pressure upon them to care for and train their sons and daughters, they would heartily endorse any provision made by you to place them in a position for service befitting a great State.

Francis P. Venable, President, University of North Carolina
D. H. Hill, President, A. & M. College.
J. I. Foust, President, State N. & I. College.

Down at this end we got a warmer turn in the weather with a hard rain last night.

THE LEGISLATURE.

What Our Law Makers Are Doing at Raleigh.

THIRTIETH DAY.

Among the new bills were: To regulate the practice of architecture and appoint an examining board; to make the state superintendent of public instruction ex officio trustee of the University; to promote efficiency of the R. F. D. service; to examine the office of engrossing clerk of the senate and find out how much work is done in that office by employees; to require clerks of Superior courts, sheriffs and register of deeds and other officers to publish a list of fees received by them.

The bill to prohibit issuing franks by telephone companies was reported unfavorably, as was also the bill changing the system of issuing tickets to holders of railroad mileage books.

HOUSE.

The session of the house for the day was taken up in reports of committees, and lengthy discussion to amend the law as to child labor.

PUT THE OFFICERS ON SALARY.

Editor Reflector:

I am glad to see in print—and in The Reflector at that—an advocacy of one of the planks of my platform published in your paper last July. When I was insisting on putting our county officers on salaries—as the Democratic county convention had previously done—there was none other than yourself brave enough to join me in publicly advocating this righteous cause, and I say I am glad that some one else has at last spoken. Now, lets get busy and insist that our representatives give us this law.

One "Tax Payer" referred to the fact that by putting our officers on salaries, enough could be saved from the fees above salaries to create a sinking fund, which would in a few years be sufficient to liquidate our bonded indebtedness. He is right. Why, a saving of $5,000 a year for twenty years invested annually at six per cent, compound interest, would not amount to but approximately $198,000. Now, really, isn't that worth saving?

Now a word as to what I consider proper salaries. If I were to make the law, I think I would pay our sheriff a salary of $3,000, a year; our clerk and register of deeds $2,000 each, and our treasurer $800.

This, according to my information, would save to the taxpayers of Pitt county at least $5000 annually. Don't you think we had better do it? Let other taxpayers speak out. J. F. Stokes.

Increase in Wilmington's Population.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hudson will extend hearty and sincere congratulations upon the arrival at their home this morning of three fine and bouncing baby boys. The triplets are all hale and hearty and from present indications the diminutive trio of manly strangers whom the stork brought this morning to bless the Hudson home are all destined to thrive and develop into robust and strong boys.—Evening Dispatch.

Stewards Meeting.

The stewards of the Methodist church are requested to meet tonight at the church immediately after prayer service. Every member expected to be present as there is business of importance.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Jesse Speight returned Tuesday evening from Norfolk.

E. H. Taft has moved to his new residence on Dickinson avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Russ and youngest child, of Raleigh, are here on a visit to relatives.

J. E. Warren has purchased the G. A. Jackson stock of groceries and taken charge of the business at the same stand.

Mrs. A. M. Stanton and son, of Greensboro, are here for a few weeks. Mrs. Stanton came to join her husband who is superintending putting in the heating plant at the training school.

ANOTHER ADVOCATE OF SALARIES

Falkland, N. C., Feb. 9, 1909.

Editor Reflector

I read "Tax Payer's" communication in your Monday's paper with some little interest, as I think it effects every tax payer in Pitt county. I was present as a spectator at the Democratic county convention he refers to that adopted the resolution asking over law makers to place our county officers on salary. At the time I gave but little thought or study to the matter. After reading in your paper what "Tax Payer" has to say, if he is correct as to the amounts the sheriff, treasurer, and register of deeds receive in fees, I am sure there is not a man in the county but thinks as he does, entirely too much fees, and too much discrimination.

For instance, if the clerk's office is worth less than $1800 per year in fees, I take it the present incumbent is satisfied with this amount—and there is no better on earth—and pays his clerical force. Why not take his office as a basis and regulate all the others accordingly? Put the officers on a fair salary, and do as "Tax Payer" suggests, place the balance after paying the salaries of the different officers in a sinking fund and pay off the county's bonded indebtedness in a few years without one penny of cost to the tax payers. Our senator and representatives have already had their instruction to pass this law by resolution from the Democratic county convention. Let them act accordingly. C.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Statesville, N. C., Feb. 9.—Early Friday night a big negro attempted to enter a window at the home of Mrs. W. G. Lewis on south Center street. He was seen at the window by Miss Julia May and other members of the family and Miss May seized a pistol, rushed to the rear of the house and fired at the negro twice as he left the premises.

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 9.—After bringing his victim to his knees by a shot in the forehead, W. S. Biggers, a former railroad man, stooped down and pointing his weapon straight at the head of the wounded man, sent the fatal shot crashing into the brain of his enemy, J. G. Hood, for a long time a leading business man of Charlotte.

The Pitt County Buggy Company is having considerable repairing and remodeling done to the interior of the buildings that improves the facilities for handling work.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 10, 1909.

Raleigh is catching the big lawyers.

They must think that Wilmington is built on buried money.

New Orleans is short on silk hats and long coats for the Taft reception.

And now the senate is getting "huffy" because the president said something about one of their number.

Mr. Taft is to get an automobile on his side-line allowance, as he is too fat to take long horse back rides.

In Brazil the butchers and the bakers have gone on a strike. Then the folks will have to be their own bread makers.

If the talk about the Japs keeps up much longer they will get to thinking they are the biggest folks on the census list.

The bill before the legislature to stop the practice of the railroads requiring holders of mileage books to exchange for tickets before riding, got an unfavorable report from the committee.

As much meanness as Philadelphia is noted for, it sounds funny that they are kicking up such opposition to "Salome" being presented in that city. May be the day of repentance is coming around for them.

A correspondent of the Charlotte Observer writing that paper in discussion of the homestead law says:

"There is now in this day no need or excuse for the homestead law. The whole thing should be speedily repealed and every man's property left subject to his debts and obligations. It is a crude measure and no man should attempt to evade his debts by resorting to any such methods as this law allows. This law has caused many to mortgage their property and then, becoming careless, go on spending till they lose the property. Let any property owned be subject to all just debts and obligations of the owner and business will be adjusted more on honesty than now and no hardships result as sometimes is the case under present law. If the law cannot be entirely done away with at this time, the next best thing would be to reduce the exemption much lower than it now is. I am a farmer and believe this law is detrimental to our best interest."

It seems to us that the foregoing is packed full of common sense. Is it not a safe proposition to say that "a man's property should be subject to his debts and obligations?" Either that is true or the reverse is true, namely, that "B's property is subject to A's debts and obligations." This latter is the gist of the law as it stands. Perhaps the time is not ripe for the absolute repeal of the law, but surely it should be amended

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. A Gruesome Cargo.
That will be a gruesome cargo with which the British steamship will sail out of New York one day this week for the shores of China. She will carry eight thousand bodies of Chinamen who have died in this country. For some days trains from all sections of the country east of the Mississippi have been bringing these corpses to New York to await the sailing of the channel ship. It has been several years since there has been such a shipment from the United States; hence the number of bodies to be transported is unusually large and some of them have been in their graves so long that nothing but the bare skeletons remain to be buried in their native soil. Such shipment of Chinese bodies is made every few years under the direction of a society which meets the expense by small monthly payments from the family or friends of those who die in this country, from the time of death until a shipment is made. — Wilmington Star.

We talk a lot about the extravagance of dress, by both women and men, but suppose they should draw in their horns and economize to a large degree, what would happen? We would have a panic. The old fellow was not far wrong, who, learning that a neighbor had been left a fortune, remarked—"Glad of it; don't know of a man who would spend it faster and I'll be sure to get some of it." Keep the circulating medium going. — Greensboro Record.

"Marked Copy" Did the Trick.

"MARKED COPY" on a newspaper wrapper is sure to make the receiver open and read.

Last year a southern man bought fifty copies of his local paper containing a suggestion for a factory location, marked them and mailed them to fifty individuals or concerns that might be interested.

Result: Twelve immediate inquiries, three propositions for the factory site, one thriving factory located which today pays wages to 175 persons living in that town.

RUNNING THE RHEA.

Relative of Ostrich Chased With Dog and Horse.

For the person who desires a unique form of sport "running the rhea" in southern Patagonia is recommended. The rhea is a member of the ostrich family, but somewhat smaller. It runs with the swiftness of a greyhound or a fast horse and has a knack of doubling on its track, which often serves it in eluding its pursuers. The natives in hunting it use horses, dogs and the bola. The dogs course after the fleeing bird in full cry, while the hunters follow after at top speed, prepared to throw the bola if opportunity offers.

The bola, consisting of two or three heavy balls of lead or stone attached to a thong six or eight feet long, serves to hamper the movements of the bird, for the balls twine about the part which the bola strikes regardless of whether it be the legs, neck or wings. This permits the dogs and hunters to overhaul and dispatch the bird.

At the approach of danger the rhea will often crouch flat upon the ground with neck outstretched under the grass, remaining motionless until the dogs have passed. This stratagem is often successful when the wind is blowing against the scent, but when the contrary is the case the dogs soon discover the hiding bird. In this case, doubtless bewildered by the sudden failure of its artless ruse, it makes no attempt at escape.

The chase of the rhea, which sometimes extends over a distance of five or six miles, is a thrilling one. It has for the rider all the excitement of a horse race, with the added satisfaction of knowing that the winning of the race will result in a welcome addition to the larder. The wings of the rhea have a flavor not unlike that of turkey, and if one is not averse to the taste of horseflesh the meat of the thigh is very satisfactory. The rhea is one of the main food supplies on a Patagonian hunting trip.—New York Tribune.

Charged For It.

Fanny Kemble, the celebrated actress of years ago, once spent the summer at a small country town in Massachusetts. While there she engaged a neighbor, a plain farmer, to drive her around. The farmer, desiring to entertain his guest, expatiated freely upon the state of the crops and to neighborhood gossip until Miss Kemble remarked somewhat testily, "Sir, I engaged you to drive for me, not to talk to me." The farmer said no more. When Miss Kemble was ready to leave town she sent for the man and asked for her bill. One of the items therein she could not understand and asked for an explanation. "That?" said the farmer. "Oh, that's 'Sass, $5.' I don't often take it, but when I do I charge."

Strenuous Fatalism.

Old Abe Cruger lived in New England in the days of Indian warfare. He was a fatalist of a pronounced type. Nevertheless he would not venture forth without his blunderbuss. One day he had an important errand, but the blunderbuss, when he came to get it, was missing from the rack made of antlers where it always hung. Some one of his family had taken it. Abe sat down to wait till it was brought back.

"But, Abe, I thought you were a fatalist?" said a friend.

"So I am," the old man answered.

"Then why bother about your blunderbuss?" taunted the friend. "You are in no danger from the Indians, since you can't possibly die till your time comes."

"Yes," said the old man, "but suppose I was to meet an Indian and his time had come. It wouldn't do for me not to have my blunderbuss, would it?"

Know thyself and your own place in the universe about you. Fear no phantoms, but face realities.—Grant Allen.

AN ALGERIAN STORY.

All and Mohammed Exchange Secrets of Their Trade.

Mohammed ben Mohammed was a marabout whose affairs were in a most flourishing condition. Pilgrims visited his ancestors' tomb by hundreds, leaving many and rich offerings, and Mohammed ben Mohammed grew fatter and wealthier daily.

His servitor, Ali ben Ali, became tired of watching his master's increased wealth and bulk, while his own pocket was as flat as his body was thin. So one dark night he silently took his departure, riding on the back of a young ass belonging to his master.

After a march of about thirty miles the ass had enough of carrying Ali. It was a young ass and knew no better. So it went on strike, lay down and forthwith died.

Thereupon Ali dug a hole and put the ass in, piling a great mountain of stones over it. Then, sitting down beside the heap, he began to pray. A traveler passing inquired by whose tomb he prayed so fervently. Ali was filled with astonishment.

What! Had he never heard of the great saint Amar ben Amar (literally "an ass, the son of an ass")? All the people of the country around came there to pray.

The traveler did not fail to mention the marabout Amar ben Amar's tomb, and soon pilgrims flocked to it with offerings, and Ali ben Ali grew fat and rich.

The faithful neglected Mohammed ben Mohammed, who at last, furious, abandoned his marabout in order to pay a visit to his rival. Great was his astonishment when he recognized his runaway servitor.

Taking him aside, he whispered: "Tell me the truth. Who is your marabout?"

"The ass I stole from you. And now tell me—who is your marabout?"

"The mother of the ass you stole from me!"—"My Experiences in Algeria," by Baroness de Boerier, in Wide World Magazine.

A Circus Horse in Battle.

Colonel Charles Marshall, who was aid-de-camp to General Robert E. Lee and who went through the battles of the war with his chief told the following amusing story of his experience with a new horse: His old horse had been shot from under him in the fight of the previous day, and he had taken possession of an animal that seemed to suit the work. In the battle a few hours later he was riding across a field in which there were numerous stumps.

Suddenly the performance opened. The guns roared, and the air was filled with smoke and noise. Before Colonel Marshall knew what was happening the horse had his four feet on one of the stumps and was gayly dancing in a circle. In the meantime the firing was increasing, and the situation was anything but comfortable. But the horse kept on as if he were enjoying it.

"It was not until afterward," said Colonel Marshall, "that I found the horse had belonged to a circus and had been trained to do this act amid the firing of cannon."

Didn't Suit Washington.

Until the early part of the last century Milford, Conn., had a house in which Washington was said to have spent a night. It was in 1789, when Washington made a tour of New England. Tradition says that there were certain things about his stay at the Milford tavern which he did not enjoy. The supper set before him consisted of boiled meat and potatoes. He was not pleased with the meal and asked for a bowl of bread and milk. The landlord brought the new order and a broken pewter spoon with which to eat it.

"Have you no better spoons than this?" asked General Washington.

"It's the best I have in the house, sir," replied the host.

"Send me the servant," said his excellency. "Here's 2 shillings. Go to the minister's and borrow a silver spoon."

Tradition does not add whether he got the spoon or not.—Exchange.

The Best Laid Plan.

Husband (who is going to the theater with his wife)—There; I took time by the forelock tonight. Here I am an hour beforehand, with my evening clothes all on and everything ready. Now I'll go downstairs and have a quiet smoke while you get ready.

Wife—Oh, darling! Can you ever forgive me?

"What's the matter now?"

"Why, the cook tells me the furnace fire went out this afternoon, as the furnace man failed to come. The baby has a cold, you know. Would you mind going down in the cellar and making it over? You've just got time. love."—New York Herald.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Program for Saturday, February 13th, 1909.

10:30 a. m. Devotional exercises, Rev. J. H. Shore.
Reading minutes.
How should we teach agriculture, Supt. J. C. McArthur.
Geography, round-table talks, led by Prof. F. C. Nye.
Language in the first grade—Miss Annie L. Irvine.
Literature in the 6th and 7th grades—Miss Cora Moore.
Primary arithmetic—Miss Lillie B. Grant.
1:30 p. m. Adjournment.
2 to 3 p. m. Informal conference upon matters intimately connected with school work.
The above program promises an exceedingly interesting and profitable meeting.

On account of inclement weather a number of teachers failed to come to the last meeting. We are very anxious that this meeting may be largely attended.

It will be seen from the program that we are to have an afternoon session, strictly from 2 to 3 o'clock. There is a demand for this second session upon the part of the teachers. Some of them do not get in early enough to attend all of the morning session, and therefore hardly feel paid for coming. A large number have to remain in town until the late afternoon trains and they would prefer having this afternoon session. We believe that this informal conference will be found to be just what most of our teachers who are interested in their work desire. We are hoping for a great day on the second Saturday. Let every teacher assist in making it such.

W. H. Ragsdale,
County Superintendent.

A STEADY DRAIN.

Sick Kidneys Weaken the Whole Body--Make
You Ill, Languid
and Depressed.

Sick kidneys weaken the body through the continual drainage of life giving albumen from the blood into the urine, and the substitution of poisonous uric acid that goes broadcast through the system, sowing the seeds of disease. Loss of albumen causes weakness, languor, depression. Uric poisoning causes rheumatic pain, nervousness, nausea, cricks in the back, gravel and kidney stones. The proper treatment is a kidney treatment, and the best remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Great Greenville cures prove it.

James Hardison, 319 E. Fifth St., Greenville, N. C., says: "My kidneys were weak and the secretions passed too frequently, especially at night when I was forced to rise several times. In the morning my back was very lame and I was subject to pains through my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wooten's drug store, restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I am now able to sleep well and the lameness and soreness across the small of my back has entirely disappeared. I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to live up to representations and I have no hesitation in giving them my endorsement." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Disenchanted.

"Yes," she admitted, with a sad little sigh, "there was a time when I thought him the grandest man in the world—when I fancied that nothing could ever make me cease to love him."

"Well," her friend replied, "I suppose we are all doomed to these disenchanting experiences. We have only to become acquainted with a man to discover that he is not the god we had supposed him to be."

"But it wasn't becoming acquainted with him that destroyed my ideal. I am sure that I could still think him splendid if I had never seen him in riding breeches."
