MAJ. E. J. HALE ON GREENVILLE. TELLS OF HIS RECENT VISIT HERE.

The Eastern Training School—The Greenville Reflector and Reflections Thereon.

The writer had never been in Greenville until he went there on the occasion of the inspection of the nearly completed Eastern Training School, the other day, at the invitation of his old friend, Governor Jarvis. To say that he was astounded by what he saw is a mild statement of his impressions. A bustling town, with over a mile of perfectly paved streets in the business quarter; with waterworks, sewerage, and electric lights; and with many beautiful residences, on lovely streets that run up and down hill in a most attractive way—to say nothing of the finely appointed and hospitable "Carolina Club"; and a quaint old hotel that looks as if borrowed from rural Britain.

It would take a long time to tell the story of the establishment of the magnificent "Eastern Training School" which the public spirit of the people of Greenville and Pitt has so quickly brought into being. I seem but the other day since Fayetteville, we believe, was named as a competitor for its location. It is no wonder that Greenville secured it, over all competitors, when the result is seen. With the same spirit which, in the space of two or three years, has converted the old-time court house town into the attractive little city of today, the people of that community set about "making good" its claims to the school. The State had appropriated $15,000 for this purpose, but Greenville supplemented this small sum by $50,000 and the county of Pitt by another $50,000. With this $115,000 a beautiful site of some 50 acres has been purchased and four magnificent buildings, fitted with every modern appliance, have been erected thereon. These are practically finished, but they require furniture, and a central power house and an infirmary should be added. The cost of these additions, including the furniture, will be $50,000. The State should supply this amount—along with the appropriations required for additional equipment at the University, at the State Agricultural and Mechanical college, and at the State Normal and Industrial college. As we have heretofore said, these needed investments, together with similar ones at the charitable institutions, should be provided for by a bond issue—a use of the State's credit which would be a wise economy for such investments, though not to be tolerated, except in the gravest emergencies, when applied to current expenses.

We had occasion, some time ago, to cite Greenville as an example of progress. At that time we knew nothing of it except what it seemed to be as it shone through that remarkable paper, the Greenville Daily Reflector. We call the Reflector a remarkable paper because, about 1893 or 1894, at a time when Greenville was but a village of some 1,500 inhabitants, it started a little daily edition, and, by good management, backed by a patriotic community, it has "made good" for itself and the community.

About the time that the Reflector was making its hazardous venture, there were manifestations of restlessness in many of the towns of the State which had not daily papers but thought they ought to have. Fayetteville was one of those towns, which, in the language of the sporting men, had "a champagne appetite and a whiskey income," and we believe it is true that, except for the example of the Reflector, we could never have screwed up courage to start the Daily Observer in Fayetteville, in 1896. Evidently the Reflector, like the Observer, staked its all on the venture, trusting that its enterprise would advertise the town and force it to a growth where income and appetite would meet. Most of the similar ventures in the smaller towns of the State, have, we are sorry to say, been failures; for the calculation among newspaper men is that dailies cannot be made to pay in towns of less than 10,000 inhabitants. By "pay" we mean pay the owner, for almost any sort of daily paper immensely pays the community. That this newspaper men's calculation is correct, and that in the case of Fayetteville at least, it is true also of weeklies, is illustrated by the remarkable experience of Fayetteville. From 1890 to 1901, after which we ceased to keep files of Fayetteville papers other than the Observer, there had been established in Fayetteville 13 papers, 3 of them daily. All have gone out of existence, after a longer or shorter life, and for the reason that they did not pay.

Since 1901 there have probably been quite as many more new papers started, and all suffering the same fate. Indeed, a paper was moved into Fayetteville from the country lately, published here five times and moved back again, before the editor of the Observer, who had just discovered it in his mail accumulations and written an editorial greeting for it was aware of its having come at all. And the Observer would have gone the way of the rest of them except for inherited sources of strength, which, in the nature of things, none of them could enjoy. The Observer is happy to record its thanks to its Greenville contemporary for blazing the way for dailies in small towns—namely, by starting with a little sheet and feeling its way step by step. The fate of the Greensboro Industrial News, to say nothing of the scores of less pretentious ventures in other towns of the State in the past ten years, illustrates the folly of any other course.—Fayetteville Observer.

Death Due to Accident.

Wednesday night Marion Whichard, little four-year-old son of Mrs. Joseph Tripp, died at her home about 2 miles from town. The death of the little boy was due to injury sustained in a fall while at play with some other boys about ten days previous. A larger boy was tossing Marion up and catching him, but failing to catch him once the little boy fell, striking heavily on his temple. Concussion of the brain is supposed to have resulted from the fall.

Little Girl Breaks Arm.

Thursday evening Miss Lucille Randolph, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Randolph, met with a serious accident in which her left arm was broken at the elbow. The little girl was playing in front of her home with some other children of the neighborhood, and in some way stumbled and fell on the sidewalk, causing the accident.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsp Notes From a Hustling Town Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., Feb. 19, 1909.

Large crowds are expected here on the 24th to the sale of lots.

Miss Marjorie Meredith went to Greenville Wednesday evening and returned at noon Thursday.

Mrs. Frank Burroughs, of Scotland Neck, who has been spending several days here with the family of her father, Capt. D. G. Berry, returned to her home Wednesday.

B. S. Sumrell came home from Raleigh yesterday.

R. M. Hearne, of Greenville, has been here during the week.

There are several towns in the State bidding high for the location of the Pythian orphanage.

You can go in no direction in our town but that you see handsome residences and beautiful cottages in course of erection. Watch Ayden grow!

Those who have failed to pay their town taxes had best do so before March 1st, or else extra cost will be attached.

F. Lilly started out on the road as a drummer boy, Monday.

J. A. Harrington has built a nice office on Lee street.

There have been so many changes in the movements of our people lately, it is hard to tell where's who, or who's where, anyway they are all here.

The 3 year girl of Mr. Biggs Cannon died here Wednesday and was buried in the country Thursday. This was their only child and a sweet little girl. They have the sympathy of all their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cannon, from the country, were here yesterday shopping.

The drummers report Ayden as the best market on the road.

There were 17 bales of cotton sold on the market here yesterday. The largest number for some time.

R. W. Smith and Will Hart have gone to Pitch Kettle.

Mr. Isler, of Kinston, was here Thursday interestingly engaged.

A freight of the Atlantic Coast Line had a wreck here Thursday. No damage, however.

The merry laugh of our friend Theodore Cox, of Winterville, was cheering to his many friends here Wednesday. By the way, Mr. Cox had on display a very large hawk he had killed with a small rifle while enroute here.

We regret very much that Mr. Ross, who has held a position with E. Turnage & Sons, has left and returned to his home in Aurora. He was an excellent young man and made many friends while here.

Rev. J. T. Davis, one of our oldest citizens, is sick at his home in South Ayden.

Rev. B. W. Spillman will lecture in the Baptist church, after which he will organize a Baraca class. Hope to have a large attendance.

Mr. Andrews, of Asheville, was here Thursday, making a speech to our merchants for the purpose of organizing a merchants association.

For Rent or Sale—At a bargain the W. A. Moore place adjoining Mrs. Fannie Holton, Robt. McLawhorn and others.

THE LEGISLATURE.

What Our Law Makers Are Doing at Raleigh.

THIRTY EIGHT DAY.
SENATE.

The senate committee on counties, cities and towns reported favorably a bill to create the new county of Avery out of a portion of Mitchell. A bill to create this new county was first reported unfavorably, but came up again on a committee substitute. After the substitute was reported favorably it was referred to the committee.

Among the new bills introduced were: To prevent the sale and distribution of impure and improper agricultural seed; to place every ex-Confederate soldier on the pension list; to regulate the appointment of receivers; to amend law relative to building and loan associations; to authorize the purchase of Confederate gray uniforms for old soldiers at the Soldiers' Home.

HOUSE.

The bill to furnish free school books to indigent children was reported unfavorably by the committee.

Among the new bills were: To allow counties having no newspaper to adopt one; to erect State public buildings in Raleigh and to issue bonds for same; to appropriate $500 to mark the birth place of Andrew Jackson; to adopt "Carolina" as the State song; to relieve sufferers from flood in Bladen county; to provide for regulating oyster industry; to amend the law as to tax on telephone and telegraph companies; joint resolution to adjourn March 3rd.

And the members went fishing for the fish bill the balance of the day.

MR. JOE BARTOVITCH DEAD.

Far From Home But Among Friends.

Mr. Joe Bartovitch died at 6 o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. Paul Mitrick, on Cotanch street, where he and his brother roomed. Some weeks ago he had an attack of pneumonia, but had sufficiently recovered to be out and return to his work. Week before last he suffered a relapse with fever and continued to grow worse until the end.

Young Bartovitch was a native of Austria, Hungary, and was in his twenty-third year. He came to America about three years ago, and after a short stay in New York moved South, first locating in Goldsboro in this State. He later moved to Wilson, and about a year ago came to Greenville where he afterward resided. He was a shoe maker by trade and had a good business here.

Mr. Bartovitch made a host of friends here and was well thought of by all who knew him. One brother, Mr. John Bartovitch, was with him here, and he is survived by his parents and one other brother and one sister in Austria. While he died far from home, he was among friends and everything possible was done for him.

The burial will take place here tomorrow.

Rest Room Reception.

On Monday, Feb. 22nd, at the "Rest Rooms" in the Hoell building, corner of Cotanch and Third streets, The King's daughters will hold a public reception to which everybody is invited. The ladies will be glad to receive donations of linen to furnish the Rest Rooms, or cash to help them in carrying on their work.

FRIDAY, FEB. 19, 1909.

February is adding another good thing for Greenville—the rest room.

Mr. Taft has "rode the goat," and is now in position to tell the boys how it feels.

Greensboro must have taken Senator Barringer seriously, as that town is going to send a delegation down to Raleigh to urge the legislature to pass his bill to remove the State capitol.

If the Southern Express Company has to pay for that $200,000 jewelry robbery at Pinehurst, it will knock a hole in its treasury. But it will find a way to quibble out of paying a big part of it.

There is good opening for manufacturing enterprises in Greenville, and the town ought to have several of them. There are plenty of sites convenient to the railroads and plenty of raw material for both cotton and wood manufacturing. Our people ought get active for enterprises of this kind.

The last issue of the Biblical Recorder states that the committee appointed at the last Baptist State convention to select an educational secretary of the convention, have named Prof. G. E. Lineberry for that position and that he will accept, beginning his duties in that position about April 1st. While we congratulate Prof. Lineberry upon this honor, and a better man could not have been selected, we regret exceedingly that the new position will remove him from Pitt county. For nine years he has been principal of Winterville High School, and he has made that school rank with the best in the State. He has given his aid to every moment for advancing our educational interests, and his going away will be a distinct loss to this county.

"The World is Governed Too Much."

A friend in the General Assembly writing in a private letter of legislating for the welfare of the people says: "But, generally, it is a great truth that no legislation is best. This is a sad commentary on paying out between $75,000 and $100,000 every two years for legislation uselessly. If legislatures in North Carolina met only once every four or six years we would all be far better off. When we do get a good law, it doesn't stay on the statute book long enough to show its value. Solon was wise, in his day and generation, when he bound the Athenians, by oath, to observe his laws, unchanged, for one hundred years."

There is a great deal of force in this. We have in North Carolina too much enactment of laws only to be repealed, but it has been long since we have had a legislature so little obnoxious to this criticism as the one now in session or one which lived so nearly up to the truth enunciated

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

ated by our friend that "no legislation is best." It is meeting public approbation every day, and if it continues to the end as it began and has continued thus far, what it costs will have been well spent on it and it will adjourn amidst the plaudits of the people.—Charlotte Observer.

No Tinkering With the Law.

Mr. Theodore F. Klutz, Jr., who is taking notes on the lay of the land in Raleigh, makes this observation: "The failure of the Concord depository measure in its first stages today is an item of special interest for Charlotte at this time. If the counsels of men like ex-Governor Jarvis and ex-Governor Aycock prevail, the State prohibition law will be left absolutely intact by this legislature." And that is the only sensible thing to do. As a matter of fact, the legislature has no more right to establish a dispensary, or depository, than it has to exempt New Hanover county from the operations of the State prohibition law. We are living under a law that the people of the State voted upon themselves. The selling of liquor by a depository would be as much a violation of the spirit of the law as would be the exemption of a county from its provisions. Holding this view of the matter, the legislature could make no mistake. Let the law stand exactly as it was adopted by the people.—Charlotte Chronicle.

L. C. ARTHUR, GREENVILLE, N. C.

So Sore He Swore;
He Swears No More.

There was a Merchant mighty sore—
In fact, so sore he swore and swore
And kept on swearing more and more.

The trouble was that folks, instead
Of patronizing him, by Ned!
Were buying goods by mail, he said.

One day he got a little hint
On how to make his store a mint;
Then hope took on a rosy tint.

He came and ADVERTISED his stock;
His store was crowded, chuck-a-block,
From seven until six o'clock.

So now this Merchant swears no more;
No longer is he feeling sore,
Since ADVERTISING crowds his store.

A STEADY DRAIN.

Sick Kidneys Weaken the Whole Body--Make You Ill, Languid and Depressed.

Sick kidneys weaken the body through the continual drainage of life giving albumen from the blood into the urine, and the substitution of poisonous uric acid that goes broadcast through the system, sowing the seeds of disease. Loss of albumen causes weakness, languor, depression. Uric poisoning causes rheumatic pain, nervousness, nausea, cricks in the back, gravel and kidney stones. The proper treatment is a kidney treatment, and the best remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Great Greenville cures prove it.

James Hardison, 319 E. Fifth St. Greenville, N. C., says: "My kidneys were weak and the secretions passed too frequently, especially at night when I was forced to rise several times. In the morning my back was very lame and I was subject to pains through my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wooten's drug store, restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I am now able to sleep well and the lameness and soreness across the small of my back has entirely disappeared. I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to live up to representations and I have no hesitation in giving them my endorsement." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name--Doan's--and take no other.
