WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., Mar. 3, 1909.

The Philo-Altean Literary Society gave a most delightful entertainment Saturday night in their beautifully decorated hall. The boys of the Vance Literary Society were present to participate in the enjoyment, and the boys say that the time passed away so rapidly that they could not realize it. The programme was to celebrate Washington's birthday and every part was most highly enjoyed.

Rev. C. L. Greaves, pastor of the first Baptist church in New Bern, will deliver the annual commencement sermon of Winterville High School Wednesday evening, May 12th. Rev. Mr. Greaves is a classmate of Prof. Lineberry, is one of the strongest preachers in the State. With Dr. Potat for the literary address, Mr. Greaves for the sermon, a strong debating team for the debate, a fine music class to furnish music and a plenty of other material for the concert, the commencement bids fair to be a record breaker.

Dr. Cox came in from Raleigh yesterday to the bedside of his sick child. We trust that it will soon be better.

Mrs. E. F. Tucker left this morning for Baltimore to purchase her spring stock of millinery goods.

Rev. G. T. Lumpkin's address on Home Missions at the Baptist church Sunday night was most excellent. A large congregation was out to hear it. He left Monday morning.

Rev. J. T. Bridgers filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church here Sunday morning. He did not hold service at night on account of his appointment at Ayden.

Rev. Hight C. Moore, editor of the Biblical Recorder, will preach Sunday morning and night at the Baptist church. Mr. Moore is one of our best preachers and a treat is in store for those who hear him.

Mrs. Frank Willson, of Greenville, spent Monday night here.

The Vance Literary Society of W. H. S. will give a public debate on Friday night, Mar. 12th. The public is cordially invited.

We have a healthy set of young men in our town. Some of them do not seem to dread wading in the swamps these cool nights.

Rev. B. F. Huske filled his regular appointment at the Episcopal church Sunday afternoon.

Postoffice Inspector Samuel H. Dawson was here yesterday looking after the postoffice. He found everything in excellent shape.

Notice—I wish to say to those who are in arrears for taxes for 1908 to the town of Winterville that cost will be added after March 15, 1909. Please look after this matter at once and avoid cost.

C. S. Smith,
Collector.

Take Notice.

I wish to announce to my friends and patrons that I have moved my stock of dry goods in to the store adjoining the one now occupied by me. Have just received a new line of dry goods, notions, shoes, etc. Have also increased my stock of fancy groceries. None better at same price. Phone orders solicited. Prompt deliveries a specialty. Try me.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., March 3, 1909.

J. E. Hart, of Kinston, spent Sunday with relatives in town. Rev. Geo. Vauce, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church, is having a neat little residence built on Lee street.

F. P. White has returned from an extended visit to Lenoir county.

"Bud Joe" is on the sick list this week.

Miss Ella Wayne spent Sunday with friends in Ayden.

Misses Carrie Johnson and Annie Dudley left Monday for Baltimore to buy spring millinery.

Mrs. Ida Allen came home Tuesday from the hospital at Indianapolis, Ind.

F. Lilly has opened a grocery store next door to the mayor's office.

All the members of Ayden Lodge No. 498 A. F. & A. M. are requested to be present Thursday night at the regular meeting.

The meeting is still going on at the Methodist church this week.

Mrs. L. C. Fletcher came home Monday from the Kinston hospital.

Mrs. Susan Branch went to Winterville Tuesday to visit relatives. It was "Aunt Susan" as she is commonly known who killed a deer several years ago with a lightwood knot and barlow knife. She is a good woman and greatly loved by all who know her.

Charlie Bonnet, while cutting wood for Fred Roberson last Thursday, accidentally cut four toes off his right foot, leaving only his little toe.

Rev. J. R. Tingle and wife went to Grimesland Sunday. Mr. Tingle has been pastor of the Christian church there for several years. He and his wife are good church workers.

Wilbur Tingle came home Monday from Wilson, where he had been attending school.

Miss May Holton, of Atlantic Christian college, at Wilson, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. A. R. Holton.

Hope to see Cousin Sally Dilard printed in The Reflector again soon.

THE LEGISLATURE.

What Our Law Makers Are Doing at Raleigh.

FORTY-EIGHTH DAY.
SENATE.

So near to the end of the session there were no new bills of importance. There was considerable work on bills passing final reading, but there was nothing of special interest.

HOUSE.

The Ormond salary bill for solicitors that came over from the senate was reported unfavorably by the house committee.

The Bassett-Blow substitute for the senate Lockhart Sub-section A bill also got a change in the house, the Texas anti-trust bill being offered in its place.

There were a number of new bills, but all of them local in nature or of little importance.

Part of the day was given to the further consideration of the revenue bill.

WHICHARD-HALL.

Popular Railroad Conductor Weds.

Vandemere, N. C., Feb 25.

At 7:30 o'clock this morning at the residence of Mr. U. C. Holton at this place a quiet but very beautiful marriage was celebrated, when Miss Jennie Lee Hall, one of Pamlico county's charming and attractive young ladies, became the bride of Captain Chas. Staton Whichard, of Bethel, N. C. This marriage was of much interest to a large number of friends here and elsewhere, owing to the popularity of the bride and groom in Eastern North Carolina.

The bride was handsomely attired in a beautiful traveling suit, with hat and furs to match, and carried a lovely bouquet of bridal roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Ethel Flowers, of Vandemere, was dressed in a suit of white messaline and imported lace, and carried a bouquet of carnations. She entered the parlor with the groom, while the bride entered leaning on the arm of Mr. Walter Whichard, brother of the groom. While these parties were entering the parlor Mendelssohn's wedding march was beautifully rendered by Mrs. J. A. McCotter, of Vandemere.

Immediately after the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Stallings, of Bayboro, N. C., the bride and groom left on the Coast Line train for Washington, D. C., New York, and Niagara Falls, where they will spend several days, after which they will return to the home of the groom's father at Bethel, where a reception will be given in their honor. The numerous and costly bridal presents, among which was cut glass and silver in abundance, attest the popularity and esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their many friends.

The guests of honor were Capt. J. C. Elmore, Thad Hussey and P. B. Tomlinson, of Tarboro, N. C., Walter Whichard and Misses Effie Grimes and Minnie Whichard of Bethel; Ed. Carrowan, of Washington; and J. R. Barbour, C. H. Roberson and W. J. McWilliams, of Aurora, N. C.

OAKLEY ITEMS.

Oakley, N. C., Mar. 2, 1909

Mrs. Highsmith and daughter, of Alwood, visited at Oakley last week.

Mrs. John Hassell, of Conetoe, visited at Mrs. Sallie Williams' here Thursday and Friday of last week.

Master Lionel Williams is visiting in Goldsboro.

The public school at Piney Green closed on the 26th, but the school continues as an entered school.

Arrangements are being made to plant more potatoes this season than for several years past in this section.

T. A. Manning and family, of Williamston, visited friends here Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Basnight, of Stokes, was here Sunday.

We are glad to note that the little child of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wynn is very much better.

Good many from this place attended church at Oak Grove Sunday.

T. F. Nelson and family spent Sunday in Parmele.

Dave Whitfield, of Whichard, spent Sunday here with friends. Miss Nannie Ross, of Stokes, spent a few days here last week with Miss Pearl Jenkins.

Miss Odessa Rawls, one of Hassell's most charming and attractive young ladies, spent Saturday and Sunday here with Mrs. J. J. Rawls.

W. O. Cherry, of Pactolus and his brother, J. S. Cherry, of Stokes, have bought a part of the S. R. Ross farm and have moved to it. They will put their time to farming. We welcome them.

The dance at the C. B. H. hall the evening of Feb. 26th, was very much enjoyed by all. Martin county sent several of its handsome sons and pretty daughters over to mingle with old Pitt's humanity. Pitt county can not be beat when it comes to pretty girls, handsome young men and good dancing.

Last Sunday morning as our little town was resting and feeling grateful that it was a day of rest, a farmer drove his team up to the warehouse of E. Rogers & Co., to get a load of guano. Seeing no one to wait on him he made his business soon known in loud tones. He was told it was Sunday in Oakley, and promptly returned to his farm where he found everything hard at work to do a good day's work. He rang his bell, called them all in and informed the entire force it was Sunday and not Wednesday. Since then he has received exactly 7,000 calendars and 225 letters from parties wanting the position to learn him when it is Sunday.

Gov. Jarvis in Washington.

Ex Gov. Jarvis, of Greenville, was a welcome and honored guest of Washington yesterday. His mission here, as announced before, was to deliver an address upon the subject of the laymen's movement, and those who heard him say he has lost none of that masterful control of language and power of elquence for which he has long been famous. The Methodist church, in which he delivered his address, was crowded to its capacity and the governor made a lasting impression upon all his hearers.—Washington Messenger 1st.

Notice.

It is my pleasure to state that I have leased the tobacco sales warehouse property of B. E. Parham, Greenville, N. C. With a kind feeling toward the grower I will conduct the sales in a liberal and businesslike way and courteously solicit the patronage of the growers of Pitt and surrounding counties on and after April 1st, 1909. I will have an efficient watchman at the warehouse and hope you will make headquarters there.

Respectfully,

For once it looks like the presidential inauguration will strike good weather.

Dr. Crum the collector of customs at Charleston, has sent in his resignation. This takes a bad job off of Mr. Taft's hands.

Why all this glorification about the return of the American fleet? It has sailed around the world and through all the seas, making, it is said, forty-five thousand miles; and returned without accident. Admiral Dewey has telegraphed his congratulations to Admiral Sperry, commanding the fleet, telling him that his voyage is unique in the annals of navigation. But it seems to us that we have read of a voyage by Christopher Columbus four hundred years ago, when there was no steam actuated propellers, no electric illumination, no searchlights and no wireless communication, no ports except the ports of departure. We believe that Captain Cook and some others circumnavigated the globe with sailing vessels and having many inter views with hostile natives and even those having a taste for human flesh. These great iron clads are doubtless good ships. They are manned by good men. They have had a long cruise and a good time. They have come home, more experienced and

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Some newspaper man in Washington has been figuring up the number of special messages sent to congress by President Roosevelt and finds that it totals 471. The record for other presidents is: Washington, 151; John Adams, 63; Jefferson, 166; Madison, 179; Jackson, 322; John Quincy Adams, 119; Monroe, 249; Van Buren, 219; Tyler, 248; Polk, 177; Taylor, 42; Fillmore, 158; Pierce, 269; Buchanan, 169; Lincoln, 229; Cleveland, 377; Grant, 343; Hayes, 118; Arthur, 407; McKinley, 196; and Harrison, 156. Not only has Roosevelt sent in more messages than any other president, but his messages have been of a different character from the others. He was impulsive and some of his messages were disrespectful. He did not, on some occasions, suggest to congress. He ordered and demanded, and that is something no other president ever did.—Charlotte Chronicle.

When you speak the town's praises.
When you subscribe for the town's newspaper.
Some citizens fail in some of these duties. A few fail in all of them.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

WEBSTER AND CHOATE.

The Latter a Rapid Fire Maxim, the Former a Thirteen Inch Gun.

"Probably no educational institution in our country has ever graduated two more eminent and eloquent lawyers than old Dartmouth college gave us in Daniel Webster and Rufus Choate," says a writer in Our Dumb Animals. "It was my privilege as a member of the Suffolk bar to attend many years ago the trial of one of the most important cases of the year in our supreme judicial court at Boston.

"On the two sides were arrayed some half a dozen of our most eminent lawyers. Daniel Webster and Rufus Choate, as it happened, were on the same side.

"A hostile witness was put on by the other side, some of whose evidence was of the utmost importance to Webster and Choate, if it could be obtained, and Choate undertook the task of obtaining it. No man at our bar had more profound skill in cross examination, and the questions he put to the witness were like the fire of a Maxim gun, but in every instance he failed to get the evidence he wanted and finally sat down in despair.

"Then Webster, who had been sitting in his great armchair, apparently about half asleep, as though taking no interest in the case whatever, slowly arose to his feet, put his great eyes on the hostile witness, asked him in the most serious tone a single question and brought instantly the required answer. Then as quietly he sat down and apparently went about half asleep again. It was a scene photographed on my mind, never to be forgotten.

"The difference between Webster and Choate cannot better be explained as it rests in my mind than to compare Choate to a Maxim gun raining bullets of eloquence wherever he chose and Webster to a great gun that can send out a thirteen inch shell to penetrate an ironclad.

"It was wonderful to listen to Choate. I remember a case in which an ordinary lawyer would have simply said to the court that he moved a postponement of the case because witness So-and-so was sick, but in this case Choate arose and commenced by saying that his important witness was on a bed of sickness and perhaps a bed of death and so went whirling up almost to the skies on this simple motion, to the great interest of everybody that heard him.

"Our old chief justice, Judge Shaw, one of the greatest lawyers of his time, was a plain, practical man, and looked in his old age as he sat on the bench somewhat like a Chinese idol, and he used to frequently cut off Mr. Choate's eloquence by calling him back to the plain facts."

The Reconciliation.

The doctor was soon at the child's bedside. Remedies were administered; then the agonized pair watched the fight for life—skill and vitality on one side, fierce disease on the other. When at last the struggle ceased, the gray dawn of day was looking in at the window. Life had won. The child slept.

"She is all right now," said the doctor, shaking the man's hand, which had gripped his, and feeling his heart grow warm under the look of mute gratitude the woman turned upon him.

When he had gone the two stood side by side at the baby's crib, listening to her regular breathing. Then, with one accord, they turned and kissed each other. And in that kiss the icy barrier between them melted away. —Atlanta Constitution.

CHAMPION EGG LAYERS.

The Wonderful Rapidity With Which Some Insects Increase.

"We are the army of the great God. We produce ninety-nine eggs. If we produced a hundred, we should consume the whole earth and all that is in it."

Thus, say the Arabs, the locust addressed Mohammed. And, although the locust actually lays many more than a hundred eggs, there are many other creatures whose power of multiplication vastly exceeds that of this terrible insect plague.

The common house fly is an instance in point. It has been computed that one fly in March is represented by 300 on the 24th of April, and by August that number has been squared twice, making the total progeny amount to the appalling number of 8,100,000,000.

The house fly lays eggs, the flesh fly or bluebottle produces living larvae. Supposing a female to produce fifty young, a very small estimate, and half of these to be females, a single season would see one bluebottle turn into 508,000,000 of flesh devouring insects.

What a merciful thing it is that we have so many allies in the shape of birds and wasps and flying eating insects, who combine to keep down our enemy, the fly.

Nearly all insects increase rapidly. The queen bee will lay eggs at the rate of 300 an hour, but even she cannot compete with the termite, the so called white ant. The queen termite has been known to lay 84,000 eggs a day and to keep up an average of 80,000 a day for the whole of the laying season, which lasts about a month.

The life of the queen bee is, however, longer than that of the termite. She lives and goes on laying for four or five summers and in her lifetime lays at least a million and a half of eggs.

All who have gardens know what a pest the green fly, or aphid, becomes. It seems to cover rose trees like magic.

The aphid is, in one way, the most startling of all forms of insect life, for, although the females can and do lay eggs, its usual method of increase is by a sort of budding process, the young growing on the bodies of the parents exactly as brussels sprouts grow out of the stalk of the plant.

The old produce young at the rate of twenty-five a day, and as the young are at once mature each can produce its twenty-five on the following day.

It positively frightens one to work this multiplication out to a conclusion, for it means this: Supposing that the aphid could increase and multiply without interference, the twenty-fifth generation would be a number too long to quote here. Put down a one and follow it with twenty-eight naughts, and you will be within a few millions of it.

But fish are the champion egg layers. The average number of eggs in a halibut is 3,500,000, while a good sized cod may contain as many as 9,000,000. A small one pound sole has been found to have 134,000 eggs.

Of land animals the rabbit holds the palm for rapid increase. A rabbit breeds seven times a year, producing about eight young at a time.

It will be seen, therefore, that the bird as egg layer comes last of all. Indeed, the poor, common or garden hen, whose eggs are those we most esteem, is left hopelessly out of nature's egg laying race.—Baltimore Sun

The French Guide Is a Public Pest.

Paris has produced a species which is the lowest embodiment of sentient being. It is the "guide." The guide is an evolutionary "throwback," a reversion to type. You must go deep into the muck heap whence the race has risen to find his prototype—back of the ape, back of the tiger, back of the snorting hog, though he partakes of the nature of all of these, to the dim ages when nameless troglodytes treaded in cold lethargy the primordial slime. Somewhere in that category belongs the Paris guide. Intermittently these ghosts of dead decencies squeak and gibber in the streets of the city.—Caldwell's

ABOVE THE CLOUDS.

A Balloon Ascent Into the Oceans of Air, Where Silence Reigns.

You are floating softly upward into a great blue ocean of air, fresh, sweet, exhilarating. Swiftly the earth sinks away beneath you, bowling up around the horizon line till it seems like the mouth of an enormous crater. The noisy shouts of "Bon voyage!" die away in a faint, wavering strain, and soon you are in the midst of original silence. Not a sound is heard, save the quick ticking of the barograph.

The earth changes into a great, strange map. Tall buildings look like pepper boxes and then are lost in the general squatness. Cities and villages become mere diffused outlines of ground plots. Fences change into tiny, evanescent lines. Roads look like pale yellow ribbons and rivers like silver cracks in the earth's surface.

Over there is a thin white streak of smoke weaving its length over the green vista. A train is rushing along. Suddenly it is gone, swallowed up, it would seem, in that strange looking earth. But, no. It has merely plunged into a tunnel beneath a towering mountain, the very presence of which is lost to the balloonist's eye.

Now you pass above the clouds and into a dazzling sunlight. The white billows beneath, with the shadow of the car upon them, look like great trackless fields of snow. So realistic is the scene it seems as if you could put on snowshoes and walk away.

You are on a new planet now, roused with a wonderful exhilaration. Beautiful rainbow effects create a veritable fairyland all about you. Suddenly a faint, weird music of sweetest cadence strikes the ear and is gone as swiftly as it came. That is some great, jarring noise from the earth or the heterogeneous roar of a big city merged into measured vibrations of harmony and wafted up to your new world by some upspringing current of air.—Leo Stevens in New York Herald.

DINNER AND DARLING.

A Railway Incident of a Young Couple's Honeymoon Trip.

Still shedding an occasional trickle of rice from their garments when they moved, a very young couple recently provided for a careful of bored travelers the touch of comedy relief for a long journey through a fog dimmed landscape. The Youth's Companion tells the story:

They were so very young, so very fond, so very oblivious of the penetrating quality of the whispers in which they exchanged tender nothings, they had captured the amused attention of the entire car. They had been too occupied with each other to remember to dine until the train was rapidly nearing the place where the dining car was to be dropped and where they were to leave it for a long drive by coach.

Then the young husband hastened back to see if there was yet time to snatch a mouthful, while the girl wife began gathering their things together, putting on her waterproof and tying a big blue veil over her bridal hat.

Presently he returned, glanced down the aisle, fixed an adoring gaze upon a gray waterproofed figure with a blue veil halfway along it and, dropping into the seat beside her, said rapturously in a voice of excellent carrying quality:

"Darling, we can have an oyster stew."

Waterproofs are deceptive things. The gray figure turned, and a rich Irish voice replied:

"Darlin' I may be, sor—I'll never be denyin' the name I've often answered to—but I'm not the darlin' ye'll be feedin' eysters to, worse luck. Ye'll find her three seats beyond."

He found her, rapidly, and the irrepressible titter that followed their exit in search of oysters aroused other inhabitants than loves and doves, even in this rosier of worlds.

THE SUMMIT OF FUJI.

When Morning Breaks Over the Very Top of Japan.

Suddenly a spark, a flame and then a burst of fire, and, lo and behold, the rosy morning is awake once more on Fuji's pearly crest while Japan, below, is yet enveloped in the filmy mists of night.

The pilgrims fall on their knees and bow their heads to the ground in adoration, and with much fingering of rosaries the plaintive cadence of their prayers rises like a lamentation to the heavens above.

At Benares, the sainted city of the Hindoos, as the sun rises each morning across the holy Ganges the prayers of the bathing multitude are as the roaring of the sea. But even this, one of the greatest and most stirring religious spectacles of the world, is not more picturesque than that little band of pilgrims 'twixt heaven and earth, high up in the blue profound, on the very top of Japan, kneeling in praise before the great orb which is the emblem of their empire. Never to have seen sunrise from the summit of Fuji is never to have really seen Japan.

The kindly nature which made this lovely land has surpassed all its other efforts in the lavish profusion with which it has scattered its beauties around the sacred mountain. The rills and roaring rivers, the cascades and thundering waterfalls, the feathery woods and deep shadows are on every side, but the most glorious the most enchanting are the lakes which lie embosomed like flashing jewels among the hills.

Of them all Shoji and Motosu are the most beautiful, the latter excelling in the exquisite sapphire blue of its waters and its dainty, delicate beauty. All other lakes in Japan and indeed in all other lands are in the faintest comparison with the fitful waters of the world.—Herbert G. Wells in Metropolitan Magazine.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Greenville People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously.
But nature always warns you.
Notice the kidney secretions.
See if the color is unhealthy—
If there are settings and sediment.
Painages frequent, scanty, painful.
It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in this locality.

Mrs. T. A. Mitchell, 803 Chestnut St., Kinston, N. C., says:

"For a long time my kidneys were weak, causing the secretions to pass irregularly. There was a constant dull ache across the small of my back and I had bearing-down pains through my abdomen which bothered me both day and night. Finally reading about Doan's Kidney Pills and being much impressed, I procured a box. I used them in strict accordance with the directions and the backache and pains soon vanished and my kidneys became normal. I feel better in every way and can therefore recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as an excellent remedy to other kidney sufferers." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milbourn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—and take no other.

There will be service tonight at the Episcopal church at 7:30. Men are especially invited to attend. Mr. John G. Bragaw, Jr., of Washington, will make the address.

MUSICAL CLUB ENTERTAINED.

Reported for Reflector.

The Musical Club was delightfully entertained on Feb. 26th, by Mrs. Coward and Mrs. Hall.

After the usual session of business five gentlemen's names were presented and the club gladly received them as members. Miss Bennett was also enrolled as a new member.

The following program was enjoyed:

Instrumental Duet, Serenade, Pieme—Mrs. Hooker and Mrs. Warren.

Vocal Duet, Serenade, Schubert—Mrs. Hall and Miss Hellen Forbers.

Biography of Franz Schubert, Mrs. Olen Warren.

Reading—Origin of Hark! Hark! the Lark, Mrs. Hall.

Vocal Solo, Hark! Hark! the Lark! Schubert, Mrs. Travis Hooker.

An interesting guessing contest was given, "A Musical Romance." The first prize, a lovely piano copy of Hark! Hark! the Lark! by Lizzt. The booty, a jews harp.

The hostess then gave us twenty names of musicians to spell. Mrs. Warren having each correct was awarded the prize.

Elegant refreshments were served. After practicing "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, we adjourned to meet with Mrs. Jake Higgs, Friday, March 12th.

Shirtwaist Sale.

The shirtwaist sale to be held by the ladies of the Baptist church will open Friday, March 5th, at the Carper store on Evans street. Sale will be open from 2 P. M. until 10 P. M. Please bear this in mind, ladies, and have your waists ready. Send all waists to Mrs. Parham's by Thursday noon, so they can be marked. 33
