Ulyses McLawhorn and D. S. Moore, of Ayden, were visiting in Smithtown Saturday evening. Miss Mary Joyner left her School Friday to attend the burial of her aunt, Mrs. Puss Taylor.

Miss May Brooks went to Grifton Saturday to spend Sunday with her people and returned Monday morning.

Mrs. Pattie F. Smith, who was visiting her daughter, Mrs. B. P. Willoughby last week, returned home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Willoughby and children were with us Sunday evening at our Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Smith, Mr. F. M. and Miss Rosa Smith, D. Smith, Mrs. Mills Smith and T. E. Little attended the burial of Mrs. Zilphia Taylor near Farmville Friday evening. Mrs. Taylor was in good health Wednesday. She went to help one of her neighbors quilt and late in the evening in returning home she stopped at Mrs. Offa Burnett's to spend a short time with her. She was soon taken with a severe head trouble. A physician was summoned who said he could not have done her any good if he had been present when she was first taken. She will be greatly missed in her community and in the church. She was looked to as first by all in the neighborhood and church. She leaves five children, three sons and two daughters, all married except one son. She was about sixty years of age. "Aunt Puss" as they all called her is gone but not forgotten. We extend much sympathy to all her relatives and friends.

Birds are playing havoc with oats around here when they first come through the ground.

THE LEGISLATURE.

What Our Law Makers Are Doing at Raleigh.

FORTY-NINTH DAY.
SENATE.

This was the last day for the introduction of new bills, but only a few were offered. One by Senator Barringer was to establish a card index system for registering grants in the office of the secretary of State.

Senator Ormond offered a bill providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the needs of the State, prepare plans and specifications for needed buildings and report to the session of 1911.

HOUSE.

The house also had some new bills but none of them of special importance.

The bill to submit to a vote of the people an amendment to the constitution relative to repeal of homestead exemption was killed on third reading.

The bill to allow married women to contract as if unmarried was also killed.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., Mar. 4, 1909.

Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:

Taken as a whole the volume of trade shows a gradual increase as the spring season approaches. Some irregularity is still noticeable both as to demand and price, however, this condition is in evidence principally in less important commodities. The gradual increase in the price of cotton coupled with a fairly firm market for this product has had a stimulating influence in southern trade. The larger portion of the 1908 crop of tobacco has been marketed at prices that have averaged slightly higher than the previous crop. Favorable weather for farming operations has prevailed throughout the district. Winter crops are reported in good condition. Manufacturers of fertilizers are busy and advanced sales indicate an unusually active spring trade. Wholesale dealers in dry goods and shoes report a fair volume of orders, however, in these lines conservatism in placing future orders remains a feature. Produce is in fair demand, some shipments of vegetables from the southern districts are noted. Manufacturers of furniture, trunks and bags report more active demand than has been evidenced for some time. Naval stores are firm. The drug trade is fair. Retail trade is quiet in clothing and kindred lines. Collections as a whole show improvement.

Origin of Names.

In 1784 John Wesley in England ordained Thomas Coke and sent him to America as bishop to ordain Francis Asbury and assist American Methodists in organizing the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States. They soon started a school and named it after both of the bishops, Coke-Asbury—Cokestury. A. D. Betts, Greensboro, N. C.

Do you want to go to college? If so we can help you. We have already put hundreds through college by means of our plan. Write today for full information regarding our offer of a free scholarship in any school or college. Address, Robert J. Sherlock, 29-31 East 22nd Street, New York City 3 5

Ten Italians Die in Tenement Fire.

New York, March 3.—Ten persons, three men, five women and two children, all Italians, perished in a fire which destroyed a Seventh avenue tenement early this morning. Twenty others were rescued from the five stories of the structure by the firemen and police who risked their own lives. The rescues were the most daring seen here in years, the firemen clinging to shutters and passing out women and children to men on extension ladders who carried the suffocated victims to the streets. The flames started in the basement and the police declare it is the work of the black hand.

150 Die in Earthquake.

London, March 3.—A telegram received from Smyrna, Asiatic Turkey, says that the village of Masram, near Jerusalem, has been destroyed by an earthquake. One hundred and fifty persons are buried in the ruins.

No confirmation is obtainable here of the reported destruction of this village, nor can the place be located.

A dispatch of similar effect has heretofore appeared in Paris, and it is believed that the present report grows out of this publication, which also, up to the present, lacks confirmation.

COX'S MILL ITEMS.

Cox's Mill, N. C., Mar. 2.
P. C. Chapman was over here Sunday to see his best girl, but he did not tarry long.

Misses Sadie Carroll and Lela Roach spent from Friday until Sunday at Coxville visiting Miss Roach's parents. They report a very pleasant visit.

L. C. Burney attended Sunday school at Mills' school house Sunday afternoon.

L. N. Edwards is very sick. We hope he will soon be able to be out again.

Miss Retta Page and T. S. Tyson attended preaching at Rose Hill Sunday. Several others also attended.

Miss Maggie Wilson, of Pactolus, is spending this week with Miss Bessie Moore.

J. J. Edwards went to Winterville Monday evening to meet his aunt, Mrs. E. J. Hardee, who has just returned from visiting friends in Robersonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Josephus Cox spent Monday night at L. N. Edwards'.

We are having much rain this week. It is getting the farmers a little behind in their work.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardee Stokes were visiting in our neighborhood Sunday.

J. S. and Joe Edwards spent Sunday with their brother, L. N. Edwards.

With Our Colored People.

The revival services at the A. M. E. Zion church, are growing to a high temperature of spiritual heat. The church is crowded every night; many have to be turned away because the church is filled when they get there. Long before the bell rings the people begin filling the church. Rev. Henrietta C. Heath, the woman evangelist, of Long Branch, N. J., is indeed a powerful woman preacher. Many have confessed Christ already, and there are four benches of mourners. Now don't get alarmed when you hear the church bell ringing at night. Just say its ringing because another soul has confessed Christ. We need a larger building to hold this meeting in. How about the court house being turned into a Methodist church for ten days or more?

Rev. R. Henry Sawyer, Jr.

In Greenville 8th and 9th.

The Gardner, LaCledé and Gardner Co., appeared at the opera house Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights to fairly good audiences. Their shows are full of life and fun from start to finish. The ball dancing by the Malcolms, Fred Cole and his high jumping and bag punching bull terriers, as well as Ben Daniels, monologist and parodist were especially good. Mr. Dick Gardner is an old show man, and being supported by a strong company of actors and actresses, knows just what it takes to please an audience.—Warrenton Record.

Rural Carriers Counting Mail.

A law requiring all mail carriers on rural routes to count every piece of mail they handle went into effect throughout the United States Monday. Its object is to enable the postoffice department to ascertain just about how much mail is carried on each route, and will be in effect only thirty days. Each carrier must count each piece of mail every morning on going and also the number of pieces he takes during the day. The average for a month will be taken by the postoffice department as showing the amount of mail business of each route.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

Mrs. A. L. Blow, of Greenville, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. N. S. Fulford, on Main street.—Washington Messenger.

Roosevelt to be Welcomed Home.

New York, Wednesday, 3.—The people of Oyster Bay are planning to give Mr. Roosevelt a rousing welcome tomorrow evening when he arrives home from Washington. They will "set up" for him, even if they do not get to bed until after ten o'clock. They regard the dissipation as pardonable because they do not think another president will hail from Oyster Bay, during the lives of the present villagers at least. A reception committee has been named to meet the ex-president at the station. His neighbors living along the Cove Road will illuminate their houses as Mr. Roosevelt and his family drive from the station to Sagamore Hill.

Ban on Purchase of Tobacco, Cigars, Etc.

Washington, March 3.—A joint resolution in the house by Representative Lamb (Virginia) provides that no part of any money appropriated by congress shall be used to buy tobacco, cigars, or cigarettes from any concern unlawfully engaged in interstate or international commerce.

The resolution also stipulates that no tobacco shall be purchased from defendants enjoined by the United States circuit court in the case of United States vs. American Tobacco Company, and in other cases now pending in the federal Supreme court.

The Inauguration.

The presidential inauguration in Washington City today was like its predecessors, a big affair with much noise and a long parade. That was about all there was to it for the general spectator.

Guess the ground hog squinted his eye over what he thinks March is going to do for us.

After it is over you are going to hear that pickpockets reaped a harvest at the inauguration.

The South Carolina legislature beat the North Carolina brethren out a little and adjourned a few days ahead of them.

A barefoot dance is the latest fad in New York society. We hope there will be no effort to imitate it down this way.

The folks who use advertising space in The Reflector would not do so if it did not pay them. A hint to those who are not advertising.

Don't wait on your planning if you want March to keep up with preceding months of the year in bringing things around for Greenville.

The talking baby has bobbed up again, one being reported from Roanoke, Va., that is doing tongue stunts at the age of three weeks.

A fellow will sometimes say his hands are tied, meaning that he cannot do what he wants to. It might not be inappropriate to also say that he is tongue-tied.

If Roosevelt goes to Africa in the North Carolina, he should be careful how he climbs into the big bath tub put aboard for Mr. Taft. It is an easy way for him to get lost.

In the midst of general agitation, don't forget that the best thing to talk about is Greenville, but if you can't say anything good to help the town go forward then don't say at all.

A South Carolina legislator wants to have a law passed making it a misdemeanor for a man to strike a match on the seat of his trousers. That looks like a blow at man's fundamental liberties.—Durham Sun.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

One thing that has been noticeable about the legislature is that the members have been voting according to what they thought and not according to what was said to them on the outside.

Some sweet day maybe our people will awake to the fact that the greatest blessing that could be bestowed upon them is within their own grasp and that they alone are responsible for depriving themselves of it. We spend enough money every year on the wear and tear of vehicles and gears and harness and kill enough stock pulling through the mud to macadamize fifty miles of roads, or enough in sixteen years to macadamize all the public roads in the county.—Gaffney S. O. Ledger.

Something in this Pitt county folks can think over.

Rev. A. L. E. Weeks, a negro preacher and teacher at New Bern, has been brought to grief and by his own race. Weeks wrote a letter to a Boston philanthropist about the ignorance and superstition of the negro, declaring that they worshiped idols; that they had no religious educational advantages and that there were 800,000 of them in his section. Seeing Weeks' letter several preachers in New Bern, all colored, have gone after him, showing that he has been lying like a dog. Weeks was after money, of course.—Greensboro Record.

It has been estimated that the extra session that is to revise the tariff will cost the country half a million dollars. A Republican revision at this figure will be a dead loss to Uncle Sam.—Kinston Free Press.

A BIT OF ADVICE.

The Hunter Found Good Cause to Be Grateful For It.

"I was never so grateful for anything in my life as for a bit of advice given me by a stranger, and if I could find him now I would buy him the best suit of clothes that could be made," said a Pittsburg man. "It was some years ago as I was starting on a hunting trip up in Canada that I ran across a stranger in the smoking compartment of the car, and we got into a discussion over sports of different kinds.

"I mentioned that I was on my way to Canada for a hunting trip. To this he said: 'I will give you a piece of advice that an old hunter gave me a long time ago. Whenever you are in doubt as to whether a moving object is a deer or not or when you cannot see it clearly enough to know either let out a yell or wait until you are absolutely sure of your game.' He told me if I remembered that it might save me feeling bad in after years. I have always remembered it and in several instances have found it saved me getting into trouble.

"I thanked him, but, of course, thought, like many others, that I would not need any such advice, as I had common sense enough to know when to shoot and when not to. I stopped at the cabin of a settler to whom I had been accredited and found comfortable quarters and good hunting.

"One day I thought I would take my rifle and go out a short distance, as my host had said he saw signs of deer when he was out the day before. So I strolled off into the woods and wandered about for an hour or more. Then, finding nothing, I started for the house. Suddenly, in a thicket just ahead, I saw a deer. Up came my rifle to my shoulder, and I was about to pull the trigger when the thought of the stranger's advice came into my head. It is queer, but I had not thought of it since until that moment I was not absolutely sure what I saw was a deer, and I gave a yell.

"It was answered immediately by a call from my host, who was out looking for the cow, and he stepped forth from the place where I had thought there was a deer. If I had fired I would have killed him. He came over to where I was standing all of a-tremble and so weak that I had to lean on the tree. He noticed my condition and inquired what was the matter. I managed to excuse my feelings in some fashion and we walked home. At every step I breathed a prayer of gratitude to that stranger, and so if I ever meet him again he will get some substantial token of what I owe him. As for my host, he never knew how near he came to death that afternoon."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A Lesson For the Inquisitive.

A train was just starting out from King's Crest when a shirt sleeved man came rushing down the platform shouting, "Smith, Smith!"

A man in one of the last carriages, which was a corridor one, heard the shout and, being naturally curious, put his head out of the window. As he did so the man running along the platform reached him and struck him a hard blow in the face. By the time he had recovered from his surprise the train was outside the station, so he at once summoned the car attendant.

"What kind of an outrage is this?" he demanded of the attendant. "Here am I, an innocent passenger, sitting in this carriage just as the train pulls out of the station. Suddenly some man runs down the platform shrieking, 'Smith, Smith!' I look out of the window, and he reaches up and almost knocks my head off. Now, I want to—"

"Pardon me," interrupted the attendant. "Is your name Smith?"

"No, it isn't, and that is just what makes—"

"Well, then, sir, what did you look out of the window for? There wasn't anybody calling you, was there?"—London Tatler.

COUNTING MONEY.

The Way Uncle Sam's Experts Handle Bills and Coins.

There is, broadly speaking, but one place in the United States where new money is always to be found in circulation. Very nearly everywhere else is to be found ragged, dirty, not to say filthy, paper money, germ laden and disease breeding. The question has often been put, "Why is this?"

Congress makes appropriations amounting to many hundreds of millions annually for the government expenses. This enormous amount, which is backed by gold and silver in the treasury vaults, is printed every year in Washington and is issued through the treasury department. It must be recollected that, while banks all over the country issue old notes, the treasury never issues anything but new money.

That is why the money in Washington is always new.

There are more than 30,000 government employees at the national capital, and they are paid in bright, new notes twice every month. They distribute their money for the necessities of life, and hence a great deal of it is found in circulation.

Another question with reference to the money supply is often propounded, "How long does it take for the women experts in the treasury department to count 1,000,000 new one dollar notes, and how long does it take to count 1,000,000 old notes of that denomination?" According to the treasury officials, the answer is as follows:

In handling new notes an expert could count in a day of eight hours about $50,000. Of course this refers to notes of the denomination of $1. In counting gold certificates of the denomination of $10,000 each it would require but a short time to count $1,000,000.

At this rate twenty days would be occupied in counting $1,000,000 represented by notes of the denomination of $1. However, it is hardly possible that any one could keep up to these figures for such a period, and it would be safe to add five days and to say that $1,000,000 (paper) could be counted in twenty-five days.

Of silver dollars 40,000 may be counted in a day of eight hours, which rate, if adhered to, would finish the $1,000,000 in twenty-five days, but it would be well to add five days here for the same reason and make it thirty days for counting 1,000,000 silver dollars.

In counting old notes the conditions are much changed. There are five different kinds of paper money—gold certificates, silver certificates, United States notes (green-back), treasury notes of 1890 and national bank notes. Remittances of mutilated currency may contain all these different kinds of currency. They may not be assorted properly by denominations and may be badly mutilated. Where cases of this kind occur the count is tedious and slow. But, assuming that the currency sent is in accordance with the regulations, an expert could, on an average, count $15,000 in one dollar notes a day. This would require about seventy days to count a million one dollar bills in old notes of various kinds of paper currency.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

What's in a Man.

"All the constituents of a 150 pound man are contained in 1,200 eggs," said the chemist.

"There is enough gas in a man," he went on, "to fill a gasometer of 3,649 cubic feet. There is enough iron to make four nails. There is enough fat to make seventy-five candles and a large cake of soap. There is enough phosphorus to make 8,064 boxes of matches.

"There is enough hydrogen in him to fill a balloon and carry him up to the clouds. The remaining constituents of a man would yield, if utilized, six cruetts of salt, a bowl of sugar and ten gallons of water."

No wonder the psalmist said, "I am fearfully and wonderfully made."—Baltimore Sun.

He Almost Remembered It.

Donald had returned from a visit to the country and was full of reminiscences of persons and things that had interested him. "I met a boy, mamma," he said, "that had the queerest name I ever heard. He said his folks found it in the Old Testament. It was—it was—let me see—yes, it was Father William or William Father. I've forgotten just now which. But it was one or the other."

"But, Donald," said his mother, "there is no such name as Father William or William Father in the Old Testament."

"Are you sure, mamma?" "I certainly am, dear. I have read it through several times. William is a comparatively modern name. It isn't anywhere in the Bible."

"Well, but—oh, I remember now!" exclaimed Donald. "It was Bidad!"—Youth's Companion.

A Hypothetical Knockout.

The attorney for the defense had just completed the reading of his hypothetical question. He looked at the clock. It had taken him one hour and twenty-six minutes. He looked at the witness.

"You have heard the question?" he said.

The witness nodded.

"And what is your answer?"

The witness wriggled uneasily. "I guess I didn't just catch the drift of it," he apologetically remarked. "Won't you please read it again?"

And the presiding judge fell back with a hollow groan. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Rare Combinations.

THE MEASLES CANNIBAL.

Method of a Vancouver Island Tribe to Drive Away Disease.

A few years ago an epidemic of measles broke out among the Indian tribes living on Vancouver Island, in British Columbia, not far from Fort Rupert, and the shamans or medicine men came to the conclusion that a cannibal sorcerer, whom they termed the "hamatsu" (measles cannibal), was slaying their children to eat them and that he would continue to do so until he was killed.

As they could not slay a ghost in his own person they arranged a ceremony in which one of their number posed as the cannibal and was treated as they would have liked to treat the real foe. This fact of a substitute was, of course, not made public, only the medicine men knowing the truth of the matter.

Against a wall of rock was painted an imitation opening, in the center of which the "cannibal" was fastened. At the proper time, after going through various incantations, a covering was jerked away, exposing the cannibal apparently springing through the solid rock. He was promptly grasped by two of the priests, who dragged him out and rushed him through a fire which was burning in front of the place and which was surrounded by all the members of the tribe beating drums and singing at the top of their voices. By some jugglery the cannibal was got rid of, and the people were told that he had flown away through the air and would not come back.

After this ceremony had been repeated several times to put an end to other epidemics, which were only too prevalent among the Indians, it grew into a sort of annual affair, managed by the members of a secret society whose members know that the supposed "hamatsu" was only a man.—Scientific American.

Gestures.
"It will help actors in gesturing correctly," said a playwright, "to remember that all gesticulation is an inheritance from our simian ancestors. We show abhorrence best by the same movements with which we would repel a wet dog. We show affection by the movements with which we would receive a loved physical object. We move our heads from side to side to signify 'no' because that was the way our monkey ancestors avoided a proffered and undesirable morsel of food. We nod for 'yes' because that was the way our monkey forbears reached for an acceptable morsel."

Punishment in Effigy.

Punishment in effigy was legally practiced in France and with great solemnity up to the time of the first revolution. If the man condemned escaped, a dummy was put up in his cell and the entire routine of the law allowed to take its course. The warrant was read to it, and on the day appointed it was conducted to the scaffold in the presence of all the legal functionaries and with all the circumstance of the law. Sometimes the same person was executed in effigy simultaneously in several cities, but that did not exempt him from actual punishment should he be afterward caught.
