WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., Mar. 17, 1909.

It is with deep regret that we announce the resignation of Miss Nan Lou Waldrop as assistant music teacher in Winterville High school. For several days she was quite sick and upon her physician's advice she gave up her work. She has a host of friends here, who deeply regret to see her leave. Miss Annie Perry, of New Bern, has been secured to take up Miss Waldrop's work. She comes highly recommended, so the patrons of the school may rest assured that their children will receive the very best instruction.

Prof. G. E. Lineberry and Mrs. Lineberry went to Greenville Tuesday afternoon.

Fountain Cox returned to Wake Forest college Sunday afternoon.

Prof. E. L. Middleton, secretary of the Baptist State convention, will speak at the Baptist church Sunday morning and night. He is a strong speaker and we hope the people of the town and community will be present to hear him.

The reading room of Winterville High school has been greatly improved by adding a number of shelves. We are glad to announce that 25 volumes of the Britannica Encyclopedia have just been added to the library.

J. D. Cox came in Saturday evening from Robeson county to spend a few days at home.

Miss Nannie House, of Stokes, spent Sunday with Miss Hattie Kittrell.

J. W. Dickery, who has been taking a treatment for cancer at the Winterville Hospital Co., left Saturday morning for his home near Burlington.

Rev. E. T. Phillips, of Ayden, filled his regular appointment at the Free Will Baptist church Sunday morning and night.

Our line of men's and boy's spring and summer stock of hats and caps has just been opened. See us for styles and prices.

A. W. Ange & Co.
For the next few days we close out our stock of ties and waist goods at greatly reduced prices. We must make room for our spring stock.

Harrington, Barber & Co.

HOPKINS HOUSE CHANGES.

Mr. Rawls, of Rocky Mount, is Now in Charge of it.

Beginning yesterday Mr. Joseph Rawls, of Rocky Mount, assumed charge of the Hopkins house and is now running it.

Since the death of Miss Malissa Hopkins in the fall the place has been temporarily in the hands of Mrs. D. S. Mayes, of West Durham. It had reached during the life of Miss Hopkins a high degree of excellence as a boarding house and an inn until it has become one of the best known similar places in the State.

In Mr. and Mrs. Rawls Executor D. W. Sorrell is certain that he has found the very best possible persons to handle the Hopkins house. Its broad field will be made larger and it will reach out for the transient patronage even further than it has done heretofore.

The family of Mr. Rawls consists of himself, Mrs. Rawls and a son. They are already quartered at their new home.—Durham Herald.

Richmond, Va., March 16.—Under a decision just rendered by the State Corporation Commission, the maximum passenger rate on the Virginia railroads will hereafter be 2½ cents. This decision is the result of a petition filed some weeks ago asking the establishment of a new passenger rate.

ROCHDALE SPROUTS.

Rochdale, N. C., Mar. 16, 1909.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Tyson and two children were visiting in our town Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Smith and David Smith, of Marlton, were in our section a short while Wednesday evening.

The entertainment at Smith's school house Friday night was a grand success. There was a large crowd present and they realized a handsome sum for the school. The acts were good from start to finish. All seemed to enjoy it very well and all went to their homes about eleven o'clock, regretting that the night was not longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills Smith went to Greenville Saturday.

C. E. McGlohon, Ivy Smith, C. D. Smith and Lloyd Smith, went to Greenville Saturday.

T. E. Little attended church at Piney Grove Saturday.

Miss Mary Lasiter and Mr. Beaman, Misses Maud and Rosa Belle Lasiter and Mr. Thomas, of Snow Hill, attended the entertainment at Smith's school house Friday night and remained in the neighborhood until Sunday morning.

The young people of this neighborhood had a picnic on Tar river at Blue Banks Saturday. Those that attended were Miss Mary Lasiter and Mr. Ed Beaman of Snow Hill, Misses Agnes Smith, Trilby Smith, Gertie Smith, Nannie Smith, Carrie Belle Smith, Miss May Brooks and Miss Mattie Little, and Miss Minnie Belle Wilkinson, Jim Bob Smith, Mark Smith R. E. Wilboughby and E. S. Norman of our town and David Smith of Marlton, Jasper Joyner of Farmville and Joe Moyer of Grimersburg, and Mrs. C. E. McLawhorn and Mrs. Lloyd Smith were chaperones.

They took dinner with them and report one of the most enjoyable times in strolling up and down the river shore. They said that they were very much delighted with the beautiful scenery along the river, but the time came that they had to leave it all behind and return home.

Miss Ada Tyson and Miss Jimmie Davis, who are teaching at Standard, and Joe Cobb and Dr. Hudson were at the entertainment at Smith's school house Friday night.

Misses Rosa and Ellen Smith went to Greenville Monday.

There is much fertilizer being hauled of late in our section. It looked yesterday like they were trying to haul it all. I think that there were ten or twelve carts and wagons running by here all day.

We had a nice frost this morning.

C. E. McLawhorn went to Farmville this morning.

We saw some of the convicts going up the road this morning with their teams and carts.

COUPLE WAS DISAPPOINTED.

Wanted to Marry and Could not Get License, Going on to Raleigh.

Last night a couple from Roxboro was disappointed in not getting married here and this morning they went to Raleigh where the ceremony took place this afternoon. Register of Deeds M. G. Markham refused to issue the license because he was not satisfied as to the age of the bride.

It was after the arrival of the Norfolk and Western train that application was made to Register of Deeds Markham for the necessary license. He would not issue the license because there was no one to swear that the young lady was of age. Mr. Markham held out on a second request for license and the marriage was necessarily postponed.

This morning the couple, who gave the names of Mr. Gentry and Miss Evans, left for Raleigh, accompanied by the friends who came over with them. Mr. Markham is not taking much stock in the runaway marriage proposition and he is always particular as to the issuance of license on occasions where there is a runaway couple. This position sent the couple on the trip.—Durham Sun.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Asheville, March 16.—Just as he reached a point near the top of a pole, which was afterwards discovered to have a decayed base, Hicks Capehart, a lineman in the employ of the Asheville Electric Company, was hurled to death on the stone pavement below. The pole gave way and it is presumed that the unfortunate man fell face downwards on the stone paved street. He was breathing faintly when picked up a second or two after the fall, but died instantly.

Wilson, March 16.—Capt. T. M. Anderson, age 76, a promiscuous citizen of this place, passed away yesterday afternoon. He came to this place about 16 years ago from Halifax county, Virginia, and had been actively identified with the tobacco business of Wilson until year before last, when he retired on account of his health.

Williamston, N. C., March 16.—A telegram has just been received from Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., announcing the death of S. R. Biggs, of Williamston who, with his wife, had gone there for his health several months ago.

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 16.—W. E. Paul, for twenty years agent for the Southern Railway at Elkin, and one of the town's leading citizens, after kissing his wife and five children good bye, telling them he believed he would go to his work, walked into his barn at 9 o'clock this morning and shot himself through the head with a pistol, dying five hours later.

Governor Kitchin yesterday granted requisitions from the Governor of South Carolina for the return of two men to that State who are wanted in the courts. Roy Stroud is one of the men. He is now under arrest in Charlotte and is wanted in Richlands county, S. C., on the charge of seduction. Walter Hoover, alias Higbee, is the other. He is under arrest in Salisbury and is wanted in Richlands county, S. C., for breach of trust with fraudulent intent.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The election for the additional school taxes asked by the Raleigh township school committee resulted in a majority for school taxes of 459 against the registered vote. For the election the registration was 1,849, and as it was necessary to have a majority of the registered voters it required 925 votes to be cast for schools to carry the day. These votes were in the ballot boxes when the polls closed, and 229 more than the requisite number, the vote for schools being 1,154. This left the registration 695 votes, and of these there were cast 345 votes, this number being less than one-half of the registered votes counted against the proposition. On a basis of 1,154 votes for schools and 345 cast against schools there was a voting majority of 809 votes in favor of schools, or over three to one voting for schools.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Steamer Sunk.

The steamer Tarboro, of the Edgecome Oil Company struck a snag two miles down the river, soon after leaving the landing here this morning.

As soon as it struck it began to sink and Capt. Parvin at once sent the boat into shoal water where it grounded. It was loaded with fifty tons of fertilizer for down river points, being all on deck none of it is damaged, the deck still being above water.

The steamer Shiloh of the same line coming up the river reached the scene this afternoon and will take off the freight and carry it to its destination. The Tarboro will be taken down to Washington, pulled upon the ways and repaired with as little delay as possible.—Tarboro Southerner.

Coming Friday Night.

Farmville has a splendid dramatic company which has recently presented a charming drama "The Country Minister" to large audiences both in Farmville and in Snow Hill. The company will present this play in the opera house in Greenville on Friday night, 19th, and if our people want to witness something good they should make up their minds right now to attend.

The Traitors Rewarded.

Washington, D. C., Mar. 16.—There were many echoes today to the great battle in the house yesterday, when a bunch of twenty-one Democrats delivered themselves into the Republican organization and perpetuated Cannonism for another two years.

The climax of the situation came late this afternoon when Speaker Cannon announced the personnel of the new rules and ways and means committees. Three of the deserting Democrats were rewarded with their "mess of pottage." Fitzgerald, the Brooklyn, New York, Democrat, who is Pat McCarren's man, was given an appointment on the rules committee, while Harrison, New York, and Broussard, of Louisiana, were named as members of the ways and means committees. All three of these Democrats voted with the Republican organization.

WEDNESDAY, MAR. 17, 1909.

Those Democratic congressmen who deserted played poor politics.

Unlike his predecessor, President Taft sent a very short message to congress.

Speaker Cannon cannot complain that it was too sudden. He knew it was coming.

Speaker Cannon will be likely to even up with them in his committee appointments.

It wouldn't surprise us at all if the bland smile makes more friends than the big stick.

"Money scarce in London" is a headline noticed in an exchange. Same thing down this way.

Everybody else discovered that Senator Foraker was out of politics before he realized it himself.

It looks like the coal scuttle hat would have been a more appropriate style for winter than for spring.

According to Speaker Cannon's version of it, Mr. Bryan had something to do with the effort to defeat him.

The Standard Oil saving that twenty-nine million fine will leave Mr. Rockefeller enough margin to make some more donations.

As a hundred million dollar deficiency must be provided for, it looks like the extra session of congress will have to revise the tariff upwards.

Good for Raleigh! The capital city saved the day and her reputation Tuesday by voting a special tax to continue the public schools of the city.

The suit of Judge Montgomery against Thomas Dixon and the Raleigh News and Observer has been amicably adjusted by all parties signing a statement that no reflections were intended. That was the best way to end it.

Parties who contemplate buying real estate for a home in Greenville, will find no better time to make a purchase than during this spring and summer. Property is lower now than it will be after the training school opens and the demand for homes here increases.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the system, and assisting nature in doing its work. As both sides claim the victory in congress, both should be satisfied. But the public is not.

If some folks would sometimes forget to be "stuck up" long enough to remember that in the original moulding we are all descended from common dust and unto dust will return; that real tests of gentility are not marked by the ordinary lines created by social position or wealth; and then unbend themselves from the imaginary lofty heights and circles with themselves long enough to get down to a free, off-hand, pure, unalloyed and unadulterated commingling with some of God's own people who perhaps have not been so fortunate in every respect as they, then there would be more of happiness, more of the Christ-spirit shown, and there would be fewer people to fret over a thousand and one little stings and hurts that come through the failure of one class to establish a select caste that is wholly pleasing and of another to reach the unsatisfying joys of commingling with a class for which they feel themselves fitted by nature, but from which they are either excluded or in which they are received with scant welcome. There are real differences in men and women. They are such as establish character, refinement and culture, intelligence, spirituality. There are imaginary differences that make the foolish appear more foolish, and true worth to stand out more clearly. Let us remember the parable of the good Samaritan who befriended the despised Jew. For all times there have been differences in social standing established by birth, education, habits, etc., and perhaps for all times to come this will continue. It is not natural that congenial natures be long associated, and any effort to bring this about would prove a failure. But there are some social practices that ought not to be magnified; and thoughtful, God-fearing and God-serving and sensible people will give no heed to them.—Stanley Enterprise.

So Sore He Swore;
He Swears No More.

There was a Merchant mighty sore—
In fact, so sore he swore and swore
And kept on swearing more and more.

The trouble was that folks, instead
Of patronizing him, by Ned!
Were buying goods by mail, he said.

One day he got a little hint
On how to make his store a mint;
Then hope took on a rosy tint.

He came and ADVERTISED his stock;
His store was crowded, chuck-a-
block,
From seven until six o'clock.

So now this Merchant swears no more;
No longer is he feeling sore,
Since ADVERTISING crowds his store.

TRIED TO BE NICE.

But Fannie Made an Awful Mess of It
With the Old Lady.

"When Fannie is bent upon pleasing," sighed Fannie's younger sister, "she can certainly make a horrible mess of things. Last Sunday Charlie Evans, having arrived at the point where he felt he wanted his family's opinion of me, invited us both up to take tea with his mother. The minute I laid eyes on his mother I knew Fannie would get in trouble—she simply can't help getting nervously foolish when there's a religious person around. "Charlie's mother kissed us and, addressing herself to Fannie as the elder, said something about our being very sweet to come and see a daughterless old woman. Whereat Fannie looked at Charlie and his two brothers and replied feelingly that it must be a terrible disappointment to have only them. Mrs. Evans, to rectify my sister's misapprehension, told us proudly that she had three more sons, not present.

"By this time Fannie realized that she had made a bad beginning and leaped further in with the supposition that the other three were off having a good time instead of moping at home. The older lady drew herself up and said severely:

"My three sons are in heaven, Miss Barnes."

"Oh, how awful!" came Fannie's ready gasp.

"No, not awful at all!" and Mrs. Evans was positively glaring at us. "I feel that they were specially blessed in being allowed to pass thus early to their Lord. They died as little children."

"Dear me, how glad you must have been!" blurted out flustered Fannie.

"By this time I had kicked a hole in her ankle, and that quieted her for awhile. She might have kept still for the rest of the evening had not her pet subject, the higher education of woman, come up for the old lady's disapproval. Then Fannie made a hand-spring into the conversation by remarking that when we had more educated mothers there would be less infant mortality.

"And, mind you, Fannie was really trying to be nice for my sake."—New York Times.

THE WORD "ALPHABET."

It Comes Through the Greeks and Hebrews From Phoenicia.

When we speak of our A B C's as our "alphabet" we are using a word hoary with age, that, as far back as we can trace it, came from the eastern shore of the Mediterranean sea, thousands of years before the Hebrews went up there and took possession of the land of Canaan. Back of the people who occupied that land before the events of Exodus were written we are not able to trace the word, for we have not sufficient knowledge of them or of their etymological history before we find them in Canaan.

It has been only within recent years that we have been able to know that the word "alphabet" came to us from the Phoenicians. Before that we supposed that it came to us from the Hebrews, through the Greek. As we say "A B C" the Greeks say "alpha beta" (the first two letters of their alphabet), which when it reached us became "alphabet." This we supposed had come to the Greeks from the Hebrews, who called their first two letters "alph" and "beth," but since then we have found that both the Greeks and the Hebrews got the word "alphabet" from the same source, which was the Phoenicians.

The people of Phoenicia had the same letters, "alph" and "beth," which have suffered but little change in sound down to our A and B. Alph meant simply an ox, the sign of it being a conventional ox's head, with the lower part of the face turned slightly to its right, and beth meant a house, which was pictured by the rude outline of a primitive dwelling, which had a superfluous line added to distinguish it from other characters very like it, as we place a tail on a Q to distinguish it from an O. So the first two letters of our A B C's were originally an ox and a house and gave the name of all of the twenty-six letters which we call our "alphabet."—New York Herald.

Too Much Hustle.

Muggins—So B Jones is dead, eh? Say, he was a hustler; he never let the grass grow under his feet. Bug-gins—No; perhaps if he had it wouldn't be growing over his head now.—Philadelphia Record.

A given force applied for a given time upon a given point is bound to win.—Napoleon.

HE OBEYED ORDERS.

A Young Recruit's Rapid Rise to Title and Power.

One day a young recruit was standing guard before the door of the entrance to Peter the Great's private chambers in the palace of St. Petersburg. He had received orders to admit no one.

As he was passing slowly up and down before the door Prince Menschikoff, the favorite minister of the czar, approached and attempted to enter. He was stopped by the recruit.

The prince, who had the fullest liberty of calling upon his master at any time, sought to push the guard and pass him. Yet the young man would not move, but ordered his highness to stand back.

"You idiot!" shouted the prince. "Don't you know me? You'll be punished for this!"

The recruit smiled and said: "Very well, your highness, but my orders are peremptory to let nobody pass."

The prince, exasperated at the fellow's impudence, struck him a blow in the face with his riding whip.

"Strike away, your highness," said the soldier, "but I cannot let you go in."

Peter, in the room, hearing the noise outside, opened the door and inquired what it meant, and the prince told him.

The czar appeared amused, but said nothing at the time.

In the evening, however, he sent for the prince and the soldier. As they both appeared Peter gave his own case to the soldier, saying:

"That man struck you in the morning. Now you must return the blow to that fellow with my stick."

The prince was amazed. "Your majesty," he said, "this common soldier is to strike me?"

"I make him a captain," said Peter. "But I'm an officer of your majesty's household," objected the prince.

"I make him a colonel of my life guards and an officer of the household," said Peter again.

"My rank, your majesty knows, is that of general," again protested Menschikoff.

"Then I make him a general, so that the beating you get may come from a man of your rank."

The prince got a sound thrashing in the presence of the czar, and the recruit, who was next day commissioned a general with a title, was the founder of a powerful family whose descendants are still high in the imperial service of Russia.

SIMPSON'S PLUCK.

An Inventor's Weary but Successful Fight Against Great Odds.

Charles Goodyear is not the only inventor who might turn his face to the wall to die saying of the tardy recognition of his efforts, "I die happy—others can get rich."

Goodyear's efforts to introduce the use of vulcanized rubber were no more tragic than the stories of a dozen other inventors. There was a man named Simpson in Missouri who discovered that gutta percha was a nonconductor of electricity. He borrowed money of one Amos Kendall to make his application for a patent. It was rejected over and over, rich companies fighting his claim. But he had "sand;" he never weakened. It was just after the civil war that he made his last fight. He had no money—not a dollar—but he started from St. Louis for Washington afoot.

He would not beg, but made his way half across the continent by sawing wood, hoeing corn or doing any work that came to hand. In one place he robbed a scarecrow of a pair of pants and a hat, leaving his own more ragged garments in their place. In Pittsburg he had to work as a truck driver till he could earn enough to repair his shoes and take him on his way. And all the time he believed stubbornly in himself and in his invention. His own words were:

"When I came over the tops of the Alleghenies I saw the sun rising, and I knelt down and thanked God for my life and asked him to let me get my patent. He promised me on the spot, and I never had a moment's doubt after that."

Arriving in Washington, he got a living as a day laborer on the stone foundation of the patent office, and from that vantage ground he fought his claim through the office and the courts and got his patent. The Western Union Telegraph company gave him $100,000 down for the privilege of using it.—Exchange.

Nietzsche and the Invalid.

An invalid lady who often met Nietzsche found him the gentlest, kindest and most sympathetic of men. He "implored her with tears in his eyes not to read his books." Such was his knowledge of women that he was thunderstruck to find shortly afterward that the lady at once proceeded to read them all. He was further stupefied by the discovery that, having read them, she was utterly unmoved by the philosopher's unanswerable demonstrations that feeble persons like herself had no right to live and that women were distinguished by this, that and the other objectionable attribute. It must have been a blow to him.—London News.

Her Awful Sin.

A little girl of six once went in great distress to her mother, saying that she had committed a sin which could never be forgiven and which was too bad to be repeated. By dint of a little coaxing she was induced to make a full confession, which was in this wise:

"I felt so sorry for poor Satan and wanted to give him a little comfort. So I got a glass of cold water and poured it down a little hole in the kitchen floor."

Discourteous.

At a game of "definitions" a discourteous wng gave just offense once by defining woman as "a creature that was made after man and has been after him ever since!"

Her Exact Age.

Kissing the Book.

"Kissing the book" is a rather late development of the mere touching of the gospels with the fingers, which dates from the sixth century. It is likely that the kiss was originally intended not to increase the solemnity of the oath, but to signify reverence and affection for the book. The kiss appears to have come into fashion toward the end of the sixteenth century and would seem, from what George Fox says of it, to have been a Protestant innovation. According to him, the unreformed method was simply to hold the gospels with three fingers above the book, typifying the Trinity, and two fingers below, typifying the twofold destruction of body and soul that an oath taker invoked upon himself if he swore falsely.

THROW OUT THE LINE.

Give the Kidneys Help and Many Greenville People Will be Happier.

"Throw Out the Life Line"—The kidneys need help. They're overworked—can't get the poison filtered out of the blood. They're getting worse every minute. Will you help them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair.

Will cure any form of kidney trouble. Mrs. Robert Williams, 317 S. Washington St., Rocky Mount, N. C., says:

"I willingly give my name in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills as they benefitted me greatly. I suffered for a long time from a dull, nagging back-ache and rheumatic twinges in my kidneys. I was restless at night and arose in the morning unfit to commence the day's duties. I obtained no relief from the various remedies I used and had about despaired of ever being cured when Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me. I began their use and could soon see that they were helping me. They soon disposed of the backache and improved my health in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The Manager Was Cute.

The crowd swayed toward the manager of the open air show.

"What did you mean by advertising in that tight rope walker?" cried the spokesman.

"Just what I said," replied the unabashed manager.

"But the rope was laid on the ground," cried the spokesman, "and your fraud of a rope walker just walked on it a step or two! Do you call that tight rope walking?"

"Certainly!" shouted the manager. "The man was tight, wasn't he?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It Was Wasted on Him.

He was a callow youth and assumed many liberties.

"Ah, Lucy," he said to a young woman with whom he was somewhat acquainted, "you look tired. What have you been doing?"

"Hunting a flat," she answered.

"And did you find one?" he asked.

Her eyes snapped. "I found one," she replied, with a meaning look.

But, of course, he didn't see the point of it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Great Need.

The father received a note from a young man who had been "going with" his daughter recently which read as follows: "Dear Sir—Wood like Jessie's hand in marriage. She and I are in luv, and I think I need a wife. Yures, Henry."

The father replied by letter, saying: "Friend Henry—You don't need a wife. You need a spelling book. Get one and study it a year. Then write me again."
