SMITH SCHOOL CLOSSES.

Large Crowd, Interesting Address and Bountiful Dinner.

On Wednesday the school taught by Misses May Brooks and Mary Joyner, at Smith's school house, in Beaver Dam township, closed for the term. There were a large number of people present from the surrounding country, and the occasion was in every way a pleasant one.

A little past 11 o'clock Supt. J. V. Judd, of Wake county schools, was introduced by Supt. W. H. Ragsdale, of Pitt schools, and for an hour Prof. Judd spoke to the people most interestingly. His subject was "Conservation and Development" and in a practical, common sense way showed that by a waste of energy and resources that nature has given us we lose much. He used forceful illustrations in pressing home his argument, and showed that with proper conservation of that with which nature has surrounded us and the proper development of our resources we can become the greatest people on the earth.

Following the speech Prof. Ragsdale made some remarks thanking Prof. Judd for coming to Pitt county and uttering such timely words. Prof. Ragsdale also made some statements regarding the school and the excellent work it has done during the session. The enrollment for the session reached 84, and of these an average attendance of 65 was made through the term, which is a remarkable showing for a country school.

At the beginning of the session a prize was offered to the pupil who showed the best average attendance, but the record showed that six pupils had been perfect in attendance, not missing a day nor being tardy, so prizes were awarded to all six of them. They were Carrie Belle Smith, Alice Fulford, Martha Lee Smith, Annie Willoughby, Ketura Tyson and Joe Joyner. The prizes were presented to these pupils by Profs Judd and Ragsdale and the writer.

After the exercises had concluded a bountiful dinner was spread in the grove near the school house. The people of Beaver Dam certainly know how to do things, and they show interest in whatever they undertake. They have a school of which they are justly proud, for it is among the best, and they know how to spread a dinner that cannot be surpassed.

PITT COUNTY GETS GOOD PLACE

Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse Made Superintendent of State Prison.

The new board of directors of the State's prison at their initial meeting yesterday elected the following officers:

Superintendent: J. J. Laughinghouse, of Pitt county; salary, $2,500 per annum, reduced from $3,000.

Prison clerk: T. W. Fenner, of Halifax; salary, $1,500, reduced from $2,000.

Prison physician: Dr. I. G. Riddick, of Youngsville; salary, $75 per month.

The election of these gentlemen was recommended by Governor Kitchin, as was also the election of T. P. Sale, of Raleigh, as warden.

Superintendent Laughinghouse has already assumed control, and the retiring superintendent, Mr. J. S. Mann, left yesterday for his home in Hyde county.—Raleigh News and Observer.

UNITED BROTHERHOOD OF BACHELORS NO. 23.

Ayden, N. C., April 7, 1909.

The United Brotherhood of Bachelors No. 23, Ayden, met on Thursday evening, April 1, 1909. The Brotherhood was called to order by Father E. F. Burney, for the discussion of such business as might come before the Brotherhood.

The minutes of last session were read and approved.

The following members were present: J. B. Pierce, S. F. Nobles, J. T. Keel, L. E. Turnage, J. H. L. Templeton, Wilbur Tingle, C. G. Moore, T. D. Moore, Heber Hart, M. F. Frizzell, C. V. Cannon, E. J. Gardner, Sam Bridgers, R. A. Fleming, Bud Joe, Heber Mumford, R. L. Turnage, E. L. Turnage, J. H. Coward, A. V. Taylor, E. B. Joyner, Roy Cannon.

Two applications for membership were presented. J. H. Tripp (a broken hearted lover) and W. A. Quinerly (for lack of nerve), both applications passed.

Brothers C. G. Moore, E. L. Turnage, J. H. Coward and C. V. Cannon announced that they wished to withdraw from the Brotherhood as they had gained confidence adequate to taking unto themselves a member of our fairer sex, which was followed by a hearty hand shaking of congratulations.

Bro. J. T. Keel made a motion to the effect that each brother be more dignified, polite and courteous in the future, that by so doing we might win some weak hearted member of the fairer sex.

A bill of $78.32 was presented by M. M. Sauls for false teeth, wigs and beauty powders which was ordered paid.

There being no further business to come before the Brotherhood we proceeded to close to meet again May 1st, 1909.

Jap Gardner, Sec.

But No Reward.

The following is taken from the Franklin Times: "During a big freshet in the river here on August 26th, 1908, Badger Hart wrote the following, placed it in a half-pint flask and threw it into the river: 'The finder of this will return to E. Badger Hart, Louisburg, N. C., and receive a handsome reward.' One day last week Badger received a letter from L. R. Whichard, of Whichard, N. C. stating that he found the flask containing the above near the mouth of Pamlico river, within sight of Washington, N. C., on the 17th of March."

Another thing that might be told in connection with this is no "handsome reward" was sent in response to the letter.

Rally Day.

Sunday will be a big day for the Methodists. The school has selected that day for rally day and with all the committees at work there is no doubt but that a new record will be made. The Baraca and Philathea classes especially are putting forth efforts to increase their rolls and on this particular day hope to have every old member present with a great many new ones. To add to the glory of the day Dr. Kilgo, president of Trinity College, will preach both morning and night. As the Greenville people have been fortunate enough to hear this great man before it is unnecessary to say that he stands among the foremost ministers of the Gospel in America, and both Methodists and public are fortunate in being able to hear him again.

GENERAL NEWS.

Some of the Happenings Over the Country.

New York April 7.—Suffering from home sickness and in love with a young woman whom he did not know, Frank Lucas, 16 years old, an office boy, committed suicide today in his room in Brooklyn, by inhaling gas. On his bureau was the photograph of Mary Shaw, an actress, whom he had seen and who had become the object of his affections. A number of novels scattered about the room, most of which had the actress' name inserted in pencil in place of the heroine, led the police to believe the boy was love sick as well as home sick.

Chicago, April 7.—At least 20 persons are reported dead and a number are suffering from injuries as the result of a terrific tornado which swept through the middle west, destroying crops and property in Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, and Indiana, where many towns today were struggling to recover from the havoc wrought.

Berlin, April 7.—A huge iceberg on which 500 Russian fishermen were working near Riga, was suddenly driven toward the open sea and all but 37 of the number were able to escape, according to a dispatch from Riga. One version is that the berg overturned while far out at sea and that all the persons were drowned. Another dispatch says that the iceberg is still drifting further out to sea and that scores of fishermen have fallen into the sea.

Building & Lumber Co. Increasing.

C. B. Russell, formerly of McCall, S. C., has located here and become a partner in the Building & Lumber Co. He becomes treasurer of the company and general manager of the plant, succeeding C. V. York in that capacity. Mr. York now has charge of the contracting department of the company and will devote his entire time to that branch of the business. We understand that the company is negotiating for several building contracts of considerable proportion in other towns.

Married.

Wednesday evening at the home of the bride in South Greenville, Mr. Robert E. Overton and Miss Vivian Dudley were married by Rev. D. W. Arnold.

The Home Telephone and Telegraph Co. will positively issue a new directory by May 1st and after this date all subscribers will call by number only. It is therefore very important that you see the manager at once about that telephone. Subscribe now, and get your name properly listed.

Rev. J. C. Kilgo D. D., president of Trinity college, will preach in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church next Sunday at 11 a. m. and at 7:45 p. m. The public is cordially invited to hear this good preacher.

Latest popular sheet music on sale at Stieff's temporary piano wareroom, next door to Mrs. Griffin, at 19c per copy, 165 pieces to select from, will remain on sale till Saturday inclusive. 49 Chas. M. Stieff

WASHINGTON FLEMING.

A Pretty Morning Marriage.

At 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Fleming, near House, Miss Annie B. Fleming and Mr. Clement Washington, of Baltimore, were married by Rev. J. B. Cook, of Greenville. As the bridal party entered the parlor the wedding march was played by Miss Lillian Nobles.

The dame of honor was Mrs. V. C. Fleming and the maids of honor Misses Sidney Davenport and Alma Fleming.

The bride entered with her father and the groom with his best man, Mr. Wm. McKay, of New York.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple went to House station where they took the morning A. C. L. train for a bridal tour to Northern cities.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., April 8, 1909. Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity:

Trade in general continues quiet in most lines while some lines show improvement. Tariff legislation continues to have its effect on some lines of industry. Dry goods and notions are quiet. Manufacturers of flavoring extracts and groceries specialties report active demand. Manufacturers of fertilizers and dealers in farmers implements report good sales indicating active farming operations. Winter wheat and oats are in good condition. Farmers are preparing for an increased acreage of tobacco. Railroad and machinery supply dealers report a slight increase in orders. Retail trade in millinery and wearing apparel is fair. Collections are slow.

Two Important Speeches Saturday.

People from all sections of the county should be here Saturday to hear the speeches of Mr. C. H. Poe, editor of The Progressive Farmer and Dr. J. C. Kilgo, president of Trinity College. Both these gentlemen will speak before the Teachers' Association in the auditorium of the graded school. Mr. Poe will speak at 11 o'clock and be followed by Dr. Kilgo. Everybody is invited to hear them.

Mr. Poe will also speak in Winterville Friday night and come from that town to Greenville Saturday morning.

Tax List Takers.

The Board of County Commissioners appointed the following as tax list takers in the several townships for the year 1909:

Beaver Dam, A. A. Joyner.
Belvoir, D. C. Barrow.
Bethel, S. T. Carson.
Carolina, S. A. Gainer.
Chicod, J. B. Tucker.
Contentnea, B. F. Manning.

Washington also has her hands full of a municipal muddle.

If in doubt go to Washington, and you will still be in doubt.

It is in order to brush your teeth before going to Washington.

We hardly got through with taxes for one year before it is time to list again.

Charlotte decided that she did not want a charter. A lot of preliminary fuss wasted.

When it comes to a scramble for office there is not much difference. One side is about as bad as the other.

Judgeships used to be considered positions of dignity, but that characteristic seems to be entirely lost in the present scramble.

Every North Carolina Congressman except one, Mr. Kitchin, voted against putting lumber on the free list, and the tariff tax will stay on that product.

There were something like half a dozen candidates to make application to the Board of County Commissioners for appointment to the position of cotton weigher for Greenville.

A prominent Pitt county is going to the penitentiary. But there is anything else than occasion to feel bad over it, as he will go in the capacity of superintendent of that institution.

And Kinston has got a muddle on her hands, the citizens holding a mass meeting and denouncing certain of the aldermen who were seeking to oust the superintendent of schools in the town.

A Massachusetts fellow who wanted to get his name in print, predicted that this country would have a severe earthquake today, but we have not felt the shake yet. He might have anticipated that the president was going to name a judge for Eastern North Carolina.

The Butlers caught it in the criminal liberal indictment against them in court at Greensboro for the charges they made against Adams. The jury found both of them guilty, Marion Butler was fined $500 and his brother $250, with the costs to be divided between them.

It is gratifying to the people of Pitt county that ex-Representative J. J. Laughinghouse has been chosen as superintendent of the State penitentiary. He is a good man for the place and his long experience as a farmer will be valuable in managing the affairs in connection with the prison and the working of the convicts.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

If there are any more in Eastern North Carolina who would not mind having the Federal judgeship, they might send in their names or take a trip to Washington. President Taft has let it out that it will be a week or ten days yet before he shakes down the plum.

Aspiring for official position is noble, but don't drag Billy Roper's buttons if we were a candidate for the judgeship in this State if we would run to Washington at Mr. Taft's beck and call to be looked over and examined like slaves in the old days. And we opine that a good many of them may find themselves in the same boat with the late John Welborn. John was a most homely man and not only knew it but enjoyed it. He said in his young days he could write to a girl and get up a mash in a short time, but the moment she laid eyes on him it was all over. Mr. Cleveland, however, would never appoint a man to office of consequence without seeing him and it will be recalled that he caused a desertion from the Democratic ranks, on one occasion at least. The late Senator Ransom was about to land a man as consul at some place, when Mr. Cleveland said he thought he would appoint him, but first wanted to see him, whereupon Senator Ransom remarked as he went out at the door—"It's all up, for if the president ever sees him he will never appoint him." And he didn't, remarking aside to Ransom—"I wouldn't inflict that man's presence on any community on earth."—Greensboro Record.

The Sully plan of warehousing the cotton of the South is being freely discussed. It would require so much money that most people do not regard it as possible of accomplishment. The only way for the individual farmer to do, until some plan can be perfected is to raise his bread and meat and have cotton as a money crop. No man can afford to raise a pound of cotton and pay it for a pound of meat. He should raise his hogs and hominy before he touches cotton.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The G. O. P. in this state will not be worried about the Adams-Batler wrangle. If a campaign were to start tomorrow you would hear from Murphy to Mantoo about the harmony in the Republican party.—Greensboro Telegram

The trouble was that folks, instead
Of patronizing him, by Ned!
Were buying goods by mail, he said.

One day he got a little hint
On how to make his store a mint;
Then hope took on a rosy tint.

He came and ADVERTISED his stock;
His store was crowded, chuck-a-block,
From seven until six o'clock.

So now this Merchant swears no more;
No longer is he feeling sore,
Since ADVERTISING crowds his store.

DR. KILGO AND MR. POE COMING

A Great Meeting of Teachers' Association Saturday, April 10.

The last meeting of the teachers for the present school year will be held next Saturday. We have decided to make it a meeting not only for the teachers but for the entire citizenship of the county. Dr. J. C. Kilgo, president of Trinity College, will be with us and speak for us. Those who have heard him know what an intellectual feast we may expect.

Mr. Clarence H. Poe, the brilliant editor of the Progressive Farmer, is to be with us also and speak. There is no young man in the state who has a wider reputation than has Mr. Poe. There is certainly no man in our borders doing more for our agricultural interest than he. Every farmer and his wife, sons and daughters ought to hear him Saturday.

We extend to you all a cordial invitation to be present. There will be no formal program for this session of the association but the entire time will be made interesting to those who attend. We desire the presence of every teacher and believe that you will not disappoint us.

If you have not sent in the report in reference to the work of your Betterment Association, bring it with you Saturday. If you have no Betterment Association fill the blank sent you and let us see what you have done for the work. We desire a full and accurate report of everything done during the year.

Let everybody tell his neighbor of this meeting. Come yourself and bring all of your friends.

The meeting will begin promptly at 10:30 a. m. in the auditorium of the graded school building.
W. H. Ragsdale,
Co. Supt. Schools.

Not Afraid of a Ghost.

In a village in England a man went running into an inn at 9 o'clock at night and cried out that there was a ghost in his back yard. There were fourteen men in the inn, and not one of them dared to go home with the man and investigate. There was a person who dared, however, and that was the landlord's daughter, a girl of fourteen. Some of the men followed her at a distance, and she went into the yard and up to the ghost, flapping its arms about, and discovered a man's white shirt flapping on the clothesline in a strong breeze. That's about the way all ghosts turn out.—Exchange.

Just Some Badinage.

Mr. Jigley—The other day I saw quite an interesting educated pig—
Miss Pert—Oh, of course! I suppose—

Mr. Jigley—Don't say it! You were going to say you suppose I looked in the glass, weren't you?

Miss Pert—Not at all. I don't consider you interesting or educated.—Catholic Standard and Times.

Why Elsie Was Sent to Bed.

While little Elsie's elder sister, May, was entertaining her latest acquisition, a most dignified and genteel young man, in the parlor Elsie was relegated to the dining room to play with her doll.

This particular one, the possessor of a kid body and a bisque head, had been somewhat ailing of late, owing to the fact that its head was gradually becoming detached and its pivotal eyes refused to perform their functions of opening and closing. After considerable probing for the cause of the trouble Elsie made the discovery that there was something inside of it and finally succeeded in extracting a large roll of tightly curled hair. A moment later she burst into the parlor in a great state of excitement and shouted:

"Pity sakes! No wonder Dorothy was sick! Look what was in her stummick! She must have swallowed Sister May's rat!" —Pittsburg Gazette.

Second Thoughts.

"It cannot be," sighed the maid. "I respect you highly, Mr. Hunter, but we are incompatible."

"Well, I suppose it cannot be helped," the young man replied, pocketing his chagrin and looking about for his hat, "but it defeats all my cherished hopes. I had planned a house in which I fondly imagined we might be happy. It was to have had a pantry twice as large as the ordinary size, with a roomy closet in which to stow away the new cooking utensils and things that a woman naturally buys when a peddler comes around."

"Stay, George," she said, faltering. "Perhaps I have been too hasty. Give me another day or two to think it over. It is not impossible that—that!"

—Philadelphia Ledger.

Kinglake Stories.

Kinglake, the author of "Eothen," was afflicted with gout, and he had a fancy to try a lady doctor and wrote to one to ask if gout was beyond her scope. She replied, "Dear sir, gout is not beyond my scope, but men are."

It was Kinglake who uttered one of the neatest of mots on the peculiar character of the Times. He had little fondness for that journal, in spite of personal friendships which might have been expected to soften his views of the question. The paper was still to him a sort of juggernaut, irresistible and fateful. On seeing the announcement of the new editor's marriage he exclaimed: "Heavens! That brings the Times into relations with humanity!"

The Black Sheep.

"What," asked the man who had returned to his native town after an absence of many years, "became of Ed Ferguson?"

"Ed? Oh, he's doin' fine. Got the best livery stable anywhere around here and runs the depot hack."

"Let's see! He had a younger brother, hadn't he?"

"Yes—Lem. He never amounted to much. Wrote poetry and painted pictures. I guess the family kind of disowned him. At least he went away several years ago, and I dunno what ever became of him."—Chicago Tribune.

His Meek Retort.

"Convicted?" exclaimed the prisoner in disgust. "Well, I'm not surprised. My lawyer made a fool of himself." "I tried to represent you faithfully," remarked the lawyer mildly.—Judge.

Telegrapher's Cramp.

An interesting feature of telegrapher's cramp is that certain letters are nearly always the stumbling block. The most frequent are C and Y—that is, the code signals used for these letters. When a sender begins to be "conscious" about so common a letter as C his case soon becomes hopeless. Another form of cramp attacks the receiver of the message. It takes the form of inability to write fast enough to take down a message quickly transmitted. This is easily understood when it is remembered that a receiver often has to write continuously to code dictation, so to speak, for hours at a time. The strain involved is enormous and leads fairly commonly to what is practically a form of nervous breakdown.—Dundee Advertiser.

His Blunder.

"Have you ever stopped to think"—he began and then hesitated.

"Well," she urged, "go on. What were you going to say?"

"I beg your pardon," he replied. "I was about to ask you whether you had ever stopped to think about something, but I might have known that you never did."

"And you mean to insinuate that I never think?" she demanded.

"Oh, no, no, not at all," he made haste to assure her. "I only mean that women don't have to stop talking to think, for we all know that they do think sometimes."

And yet he wonders why she hates him.—Cleveland Leader.

He Accepted the Apology.

A prominent New York lawyer is noted for his ready answers and skill in repartee. When a young practitioner he appeared before a pompous old judge, who took offense at a remark the lawyer made criticising his decision.

"If you do not instantly apologize for that remark, Mr. Blank," said the judge, "I shall commit you for contempt of court."

"Upon reflection, your honor," instantly replied Mr. Blank, "I find that your honor was right and I was wrong, as your honor always is."

The judge looked dubious, but finally said that he would accept the apology.

Jollying the Parents.

"Why did you chuck that baby under the chin?" asked the man. "It is such an ugly little sinner."

"That is why I chucked him," said the woman. "I wanted to make his parents feel happy. I always pet the ugly babies. Pretty babies get so much coddling from strangers that their parents take it as a matter of course. It is the fathers and mothers of homely babies who appreciate attention. Didn't you notice how pleased that couple looked? I don't suppose anybody ever petted that baby before except themselves. They'll think a lot more of the youngster after this."—New York Press.

How He Acquired Trouble.

"Education," said the man who had been sued for breach of promise, "is the root of all evil."

"How so?" asked the man who had not been sued and consequently could not reason from the same premises.

"If I hadn't been able to write," answered the defendant, "what evidence do you suppose they would have against me?" Still, he conceded after some argument that the man who can write and won't has some advantages over the man who doesn't write because he can't.—Chicago Post.

A Tabloid Fable.

A man once collided with an opportunity.

"Why don't you look where you are going?" growled the man.

"Don't you recognize me?" asked the opportunity pleasantly.

"No, and I don't care to. You have trodden on my corns," replied the man as he limped away.

Moral.—Don't believe the people who say they have never had a chance.—New York Times.

The Editor's Sally.

City Editor—What do you mean by saying in this robbery story that "Brown was knocked down and relieved of a hundred dollars?"

New Reporter—No, sir. "Were you ever robbed yourself?"

City Editor—That accounts for it. If you'd been robbed you would not describe the loss of a hundred dollars as a relief.—St. Louis Republic.

Jenner as an Eater.
Dr. Jenner, the famous English physician, was a great tea drinker and very abstemious, never taking any stimulant except a measured glass of brandy when he had indigestion. Once for that cause he lived on stewed chops and rice for luncheon and dinner, with tea, for a couple of years, but ordinarily he was a great feeder.
"I recollect," said his friend, Dr. Cooper Bentham, "on one occasion Reynolds came to see him. Jenner was at dinner. He had soup, fish, the greater part of a chicken, and he was in the middle of a huge rice pudding when Reynolds entered and asked him how he was. Jenner drew a pitiful sigh and replied, 'I am not at all well—no appetite.'"

Exasperating.
From the dark kitchen there emanated a series of thumps and angry exclamations. Jones was looking for the cat.

"Pa!" called the son from the stairway.

"Go to bed and let me alone!" blurted Jones. "I've just barked my shins."

"Pa!" insisted Tommy after a moment's silence.

"Well, what is it? Didn't I tell you to keep quiet?"

"I—I didn't hear your shins bark."

And the next moment Tommy was being pursued by an angry sire with a hard hairbrush. — Chicago News.

Bruce's Mother.
The inspector was examining standard 1, and all the class had been specially told beforehand by their master, "Don't answer unless you are almost certain your answer is correct."

History was the subject.

"Now, tell me," said the inspector; "who was the mother of our great Scottish hero, Robert Bruce?"

He pointed to the top boy, then around the class. There was no answer. Then at last the heart of the teacher of that class leaped with joy. The boy who was standing at the very foot had held up his hand.

"Well," my boy," said the inspector encouragingly, "who was she?"

"Please, sir, Mrs. Bruce."
