FARMERS' CONSOLIDATED TO- ABCCO CO.

Annual Meeting of Stockholders will be held on Tuesday, April 20.

A circular letter sent out by President O. L. Joyner, of the Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Company, gives notice that the annual meeting of the stockholders of the company will be held on Tuesday, April 20th. This annual meeting is to be more interesting than former ones, in that there will be some speeches by prominent men and a basket dinner. The business meeting of the stockholders and the speaking will be in the Star warehouse, and the dinner will be in the Gum warehouse. The stockholders both in Pitt and neighboring counties are expected, and it is going to be an interesting occasion. The following program is announced in the circular:

10:30 a. m. Stockholders called to order by the president.

Address of welcome by Hon. H. W. Whedbee, mayor of Greenville.

Responses to address of welcome.

Report of officers of the Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Co.

SHELMERDINE ITEMS.

Shelmerdine, N. C., April 9. Miss Blanche Ferebee attended the Washington-Fleming marriage at House Wednesday morning.

O. G. Calhoun returned Wednesday night from Norfolk, after a short visit to friends of that place.

H. B. Phillips and son, F. M. Phillips, are spending the Easter holidays in Suffolk.

Mesdames Ficklen and Fleming, of Greenville, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Shelmerdine, the guests of Mrs. O. G. Calhoun.

Mrs. S. R. Clary, of Kinston, has returned home after spending sometime with her sister, Mrs. O. G. Calhoun.

Miss Julia Phillips, of Suffolk, is spending some time with Mrs. O. G. Calhoun.

Miss Rosa Bell and Mr. T. S. Smith were married at Shelmerdine hotel Sunday afternoon, Elder Laughinghouse, of Black Jack, officiating. Many friends and relatives were present to witness the occasion. Miss Mabel Savage, of Rosemary, was among the out of town guests.

The Easter festival given by the Woman's Betterment Association Friday night proved to be quite a success. The country store and fish pond afforded much fun and amusement, while the basket booth created much excitement and satisfied the most delicate appetite. The last booth which contained the biddies and rabbits greatly pleased the little folks. The officers of the association wish to thank the public for their generosity. The sum of $32 80 was realized. Those present from a distance were Miss Elizabeth Boushall, Vivian Robinson, Laura Salisbury, Bettie Council, Bessie Wooten, Myrtle McGlohon, Lillian Baker and Irving Baker and Robert Pulley of Winterville, Misses Tucker, and Manning and Mr. Tyson, of Greenville.

There will be skating in Parham's warehouse Friday night. Admission 10 cents to all with no extra charge for skating. 2t

Elizabeth City, N. C., April 8.—Clinton Pritchard, a prominent farmer of Providence, this county, five miles west from the city, met instant death this morning from a falling tree. He and his son were cutting and sawing a large tree down. The tree unexpectedly split, the father and son running in opposite directions. The son upon turning around, saw the tree laying across his father's shoulders, and found that the blow had caused instant death.

Learn to Be Short.

Long visits, long stories, long exhortations, and long prayers seldom profit those who have to do with them. Life is short. Time is short. Moments are precious. Learn to condense, abridge, and intensify. We can endure many an ache and ill if it is soon over, while even pleasure grows insipid, and pain intolerable if they are practiced beyond their limits of reason and convenience.

Learn to be short. Lop off branches; stick to the main facts in your case. If you pray, ask for what you would receive and get through; if you speak, tell your message, and hold your peace, boil down two words into one, and three in two. Be short.—Ex.

THE MUSIC CLUB.

Entertained by Mrs. P. M. Johnston at Mrs. Tunstall's.

The Music Club was most pleasantly entertained Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. S. Tunstall, the hostess being Mrs. P. M. Johnston.

As the members arrived they were met at the door by Mrs. Johnston and Miss Minnie Tunstall and found a most cordial welcome awaiting them.

The club first transacted its business then the following program was rendered, the subject being Chopin:

Piano duet, Waltz by Chopin, Mrs. Carper and Miss Tunstall.
Vocal solo, "Could I," Mr. James.

Biography of Chopin, Mrs. Higgs.

Vocal solo, "Gypsy Maid," Mrs. Hooker.

Vocal duet, "Sea Maids," Mrs. Hall and Miss Bennett.

This was followed by two guessing contests, the first being the formation of musical words out of letters contained in a quotation from Chopin. Miss Bennett made the most words in a given time and was awarded the prize. The other was a reading by the hostess with pauses to be supplied with names of familiar songs, the contestants having to guess the names as a few bars of each song was played on the piano. Mrs. Carper won the prize in this.

Refreshments were served by Misses Christine Johnston and Mamie Ruth Tunstall, and after a chorus practice the club adjourned to meet with Mr. Charles James April 22nd.

BARACA ANNIVERSARY.

Will Celebrate Sunday Morning With Appropriate Exercises.

On Sunday morning, April 11th, the Baraca class of Memorial Baptist Sunday school, will celebrate its fifth anniversary in the following program:

Address "A Backward Glance, or what has been accomplished," by J. W. Bryan.

Address, "Our Present Needs" by W. H. Ragsdale.

Address, "Our Future, or what we ought to do," by Z. T. Broughton.

There will be special music for these exercises, and at the close a new photograph of the class will be taken. Every member should be present and bring a friend.

Very Foul Chimney.

A burning chimney at the residence of Mr. R. Greene, on Third street, gave the crowd around the postoffice corner about mail time, Thursday evening, a "run for their money." Some boys saw the flame shoot up above the building and raised the cry of fire. A crowd rushed up there and found that it was only the chimney burning out. It was certainly a very foul chimney and blazed some minutes.

Why Chickens Don't Talk.

The following conversation was overheard between two boys aged seven and five:

"Joe, why can't chickens talk?"

"Aw, they don't have to; when they wants anything they just pull their wish-bones and they gets their wish."—The Delineator for May.

Harold Chose the Easier Way.

Maynard had been naughty, and his father, after showing him his fault, had sent him up to his room to ask God to forgive him for being a bad boy.

Three-year-old Harold was present, but seemed to take no notice of the conversation. It was his turn, however before many days to receive punishment, and his father took him across his knee. "Oh, don't, papa," he said, "I would rather go up-stairs and pray."—The Delineator for May.

Rally Day.

The Baraca, Philathea and other class committees of the Methodist Sunday school are requested to push their work, as Sunday must be a record breaker for attendance. Several visitors are expected to be present from other towns.

People of Greenville should show their appreciation of the opportunity to hear such speakers as Editor Poe and Dr. Kilgo by a large number of them being at the graded school building tomorrow.

Even if the two Butlers were convicted, Adams did not have much on his side to crow over.

The thing may be prolonged until President Taft gets an idea that nearly all North Carolinians want office.

Looks like Washington is about to rival Raleigh in the disclosure of "discrepancies" among municipal officials.

Give Marion Butler a chance to manipulate some North Carolina bonds and he will not miss that fine and costs so much.

Did you ever see a fellow make a dog jump after a bone and then throw it to another? That seems to be about the way the judgeship is going, but of course there are more than one that it is being held out to.

Next Monday is a legal holiday in North Carolina, not because it is Easter Monday but as it happens to fall on the 12th of April and the General Assembly of North Carolina made it a holiday in commemoration of the provincial congress at Halifax on that date in 1776.

WHERE THE MONEY WENT.

North Carolina Received $1,533,757 from the U. S. in 1836.

Of the $1,433,756.39 received by North Carolina from the United States treasury under the act of congress of 1836 distributing the surplus of the Jackson administration the State invested $300,000 for the redemption of State stock in the Bank of Cape Fear, Fayetteville, with branch bank in Raleigh; $200,000 was set aside for a literary or school fund; $533,657.39 appropriated for an internal improvement fund and $100,000 applied to what was termed a public fund. Every dollar of this money was long since completely lost to the State and in the event of the passage of the pending bill in congress for the return of this money to the general government by the States that received it North Carolina would be obliged to issue new State bonds with which to make the payment. The manner in which the money was lost would make a long story. The investment in the Bank of Cape Fear was lost through the complete collapse of this institution; the literary fund as then established dwindled through unfortunate investments prior to the civil war and the residue is shown by the history of the reconstruction period to have been squandered by the carpet-baggers and others to whom the State government fell a victim, while much of the benefit from the portion of the fund set aside for internal improvements was wiped out by the ravages of the civil war, the depreciation in stocks and securities, owing to the war wiping out about the last vestige of the several funds into which the "government loan" had been apportioned.

There was one investment that proved futile to the State but from which the United States

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

government is now deriving some benefit. That was the digging of Olub Foot Canal, connecting certain sounds in the Carolina coast. The "remains" of this old unfinished canal are now being used in the construction of the Inland Waterway scheme, a section of which is now under construction by the War Department.

There was a considerable investment in the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad and several other corporations that did not prove so disastrous. However, the close of the war found the State overwhelmed with debt and these stocks were used in taking up outstanding State bonds. State officers do not believe there is any likelihood of the pending bill for repayment of the "loans" passing congress and are therefore not much concerned over the matter in any way.—Raleigh Cor. Charlotte Chronicle.

When a public man plants himself upon the rock of common justice and equality for all the people, he is impregnable. But let a Democrat once fall into the sophistry of those who say that "I'm against protection and privilege, but if it's going to be had for other sections, I want it for mine," he has surrendered his foothold and his usefulness is done. Nothing has so weakened the Democratic position in the fight against protection as this same compromising attitude of Democrats when it comes to their own sections. The country will never follow men who have no lasting, stand-up-and-lose confidence in their own cause.—Monroe Journal.

If you have something you want to sell the thing to do is to advertise it. "Newspaperdom," a newspaper devoted to the interests of publishers, well remarks that "in no other country in the world can an article of genuine worth be brought into universal use so rapidly as in the United States." This is because there are so many newspapers. The business firm which does not use the newspapers to get before the people cannot be in earnest in wanting to get before the people.—Greensboro Telegram.

Instead of having a "Midway" or a "Pike," the Alaska-Yukon-Seattle Exposition will be provided with a "Pay Streak." Here at last it appears that the fitness of things is to be properly observed.—Durham Sun.

Thought Microbes
In a Drop of Ink.

When applied to the newspaper page they make people think twice.

First, people think there's a man who keeps up with the procession.

Second, they think he must keep good goods on hand.

Again, if the home paper has enough drops of advertising ink on its surface to make a proper showing the outsider thinks this must be a pretty lively town.

Thus a drop of NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING INK is a good thing for the town.

DR. KILGO AND MR. POE COMING

A Great Meeting of Teachers' Association Saturday, April 10.

The last meeting of the teachers for the present school year will be held next Saturday. We have decided to make it a meeting not only for the teachers but for the entire citizenship of the county. Dr. J. C. Kilgo, president of Trinity College, will be with us and speak for us. Those who have heard him know what an intellectual feast we may expect.

Mr. Clarence H. Poe, the brilliant editor of the Progressive Farmer, is to be with us also and speak. There is no young man in the state who has a wider reputation than has Mr. Poe. There is certainly no man in our borders doing more for our agricultural interest than he. Every farmer and his wife, sons and daughters ought to hear him Saturday.

We extend to you all a cordial invitation to be present. There will be no formal program for this session of the association but the entire time will be made interesting to those who attend. We desire the presence of every teacher and believe that you will not disappoint us.

If you have not sent in the report in reference to the work of your Betterment Association, bring it with you Saturday. If you have no Betterment Association fill the blank sent you and let us see what you have done for the work. We desire a full and accurate report of everything done during the year.

Let everybody tell his neighbor of this meeting. Come yourself and bring all of your friends.

The meeting will begin promptly at 10:30 a. m. in the auditorium of the graded school building. W. H. Ragsdale, Co. Supt. Schools.

Chances in Gambling.

Henri Poincare, the leading mathematician of France, declares that there is no infallible martingale or method of doubling one's stakes after every loss. "All one can do," says M. Poincare, "is to combine one's play so as to have a great chance of winning a little and a little chance of losing much or a few chances of gaining much and many chances of losing little. One can arrange his play so as to have one chance of winning a million francs and a million chances of losing a franc or a million chances of winning a franc and one chance of losing a million francs—and that's all."

Incompatible.

Towne—Well, well, the idea of his marrying Miss Goldey! Why, he's a dyspeptic. Browne—What has that to do with it? She's got plenty of money, and so—Towne—That's just it. She'll never agree with him; she's too rich.—Catholic Standard and Times.

It Had a Charm.

"I do miss Mrs. Jones. She told me all the news of the parish."
"Oh, that was only gossip—no truth in it."
"Well, there, I liked to hear it. Truth or lies, 'twas all news to me."—Punch.

WITCHCRAFT IN ENGLAND.

The Last of the Judicial Prosecutions and Executions.

Sir Matthew Hale, it is true, had hanged two poor women at Cambridge in 1664, but a few years later Lord Chief Justice Holt set himself strongly against such charges and in every case tried before him directed the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal. In a celebrated trial at Guildford in 1701 not only was the supposed witch found not guilty, but her false accuser, one John Hathaway, was condemned to a year's imprisonment and to stand in the pillory three times. Yet, horrible to relate, a woman named Hicks and her daughter, a child of nine, were hanged together at Huntingdon on July 28, 1716, for raising a storm of wind in league with the devil.

The last judicial sentence for witchcraft in England was in 1736, one Jane Wenham being actually found guilty, according to the indictment, of "conversing familiarly with the devil in the form of a cat." The judge, however, procured a reprieve for poor old Jane, and she was ultimately released, to end her days in peace.

Last, the witchcraft act was repealed for the United Kingdom in the same year. It was quite time, for only nine years earlier, in 1727, a woman was brought before Captain David Ross, deputy sheriff of Sutherland, charged with "causing her daughter to be shod by the devil," and so making her lame both in hands and feet. The fact having been proved to the captain's satisfaction, the old woman was put into a tar barrel and burned at Dornoch. The weather being cold at the time, we are told that she "sat composedly warming herself by the fire prepared to consume her while the other instruments of death were getting ready."

The last attempt to execute a witch in England ended disastrously for the perpetrators. In 1751 at Tring two old people named Osborne, man and wife, being suspected of witchcraft, were seized by a crowd, stripped, cross bound and thrown into a pond. Both died of this brutal treatment. But the witchcraft act had been repealed, and a verdict of willful murder having been returned against one Colley, the chief instigator of the assault, he was in due course tried and hanged.—Cornhill Magazine.

Embarrassing For the Lecturer.

Civilized people when they listen to a lecture on some abstruse scientific subject applaud even if they do not understand. But there is evidently more frankness among savages, according to a story told by Captain Guy Burrows. A white man one evening tried to explain to some members of an African tribe, the Mobunghi, the wonders of the steam engine and steamship. He drew diagrams on the sand, and the audience listened and looked with apparently intense interest. At last he asked his hearers whether they understood. "Yes," they replied; they thought they did.

"There was a deep silence," Captain Burrows said, "for some time, and then a voice in the center of the crowd expressed the unspoken sentiments of the whole assembly in one emphatic word, uttered in a tone of the deepest conviction—'Liar!'"

Embarrassing for the lecturer!—Westminster Gazette.

A CONTINGENT ASSET.

The Court Didn't Appoint a Receiver to Administer It.

A woman's way of getting around trouble, especially her ability to answer a question without giving any information, is well known, particularly to the members of the bar that have had occasion to cross words with her on the stand. A woman with a well developed sense of humor once foiled the persistent attempt of W. G. Chapin, late editor of the American Lawyer, to elicit information in supplementary proceedings. He tells the story of the failure himself.

"I had been admitted to the bar but a short time and was a fair specimen of the average theory stuffed, practice wanting, law school graduate. How joyously were the commands of the managing clerk obeyed! Here was the looked for opportunity to demonstrate my ability in the noble art of searchingly examining a recalcitrant witness, a woman!"

"Of the two, I fancy, however, that it was the lady who was more self possessed when the proceedings opened. She was a dressmaker and had been sued for debt by a dry goods firm. The examination dragged its slow length along, revealing no assets, until finally came the omnium gatherum query asked as a finisher.

"Have you any property of any kind or nature, real or personal, or any right or interest in property that you have failed to mention?"

"Perhaps it was my tone she disliked. At any rate, her eyes snapped. 'Well, I've got what perhaps you wouldn't call an interest, but it's almost as good. It's an expectation. Must I answer?'"

"If you please, I was encouraged.

"Well, you see, it's this way. I've got two sisters, and both of 'em have married finely. Now, neither one of them begins to be as good looking as I am."

"Yes, She had me puzzled.

"Well, I really don't see why I shouldn't have the same show."

"It is needless to say that there was no receiver appointed to administer this 'asset.'"—Chicago Record-Herald.

His One Chance.

Mother (coming swiftly)—Why, Willie! Striking your little sister!

Willie (doggedly)—Aunt Frostface made me.

Aunt Frostface—Why, Willie, I said if you did strike her I would never kiss you again.

Willie (still dogged)—Well, I couldn't let a chance like that slip.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Greenville Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching, With distressing urinary disorders, Daily existence is but a struggle. No need to keep it up. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you. One hundred thousand people endorse this claim.

Here is one case. Mrs. Joseph Fly, Jr., Rose St., Rocky Mount, N. C., says: "I am pleased to testify in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills as the results I obtained from their use proved them to be a remedy of great merit. I suffered considerably from dull, nagging backaches and sharp pains across my loins. If I stooped, lifted or made a quick movement, the twinges were more noticeable and often it was hard for me to perform my household duties. I also was tired and languid and was devoid of energy or ambition. Believing that the trouble arose from my kidneys, I started using Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once and further use disposed of the pains in my back, regulated the passages of the kidney secretions and gave me renewed strength. I cannot say too much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Oddity of Dreams.

"Nobody ever feels pain in a dream," said a psychologist. "Rage, terror, joy, grief—these emotions stab us as poignantly in dream as in reality. But physical pain, no. I have interrogated 2,000 persons, and none of them ever suffered dream pains. Yet they have dreamed of dreadful motor accidents, tortures, death. One young girl, indeed, dreamed time and again of being eaten alive by cannibals, yet even in that horrible nightmare she felt no pain."

The hours we pass with happy prospects in view are more pleasing than those crowned with fruition.—Goldsmith.

Awkward, but No Chump.

Once there was a pretty woman who came upon a huge ostrich in the desert.

"Foolish bird," said the pretty woman. "You cover your head with sand and think you are out of sight."

The huge ostrich laughed. "My dear madam," he chuckled. "There is nothing foolish about that. Don't you cover your head with a hat decorated with my feathers and think you are 'out of sight?'"

Moral.—The ostrich is an awkward bird and eats horseshoes, but he can hit back in other ways than with his big feet.—Chicago News.
