ANOTHER STRONG MAN ENTERS THE EVANGELISTIC SERVICE.

It affords us much pleasure to tell the good news to our great and growing brotherhood that S. D. Colyer, of Orangeburg, S. C., has been persuaded to enter the evangelistic work. He is a man with a strong, impressive personality, endowed as are only the few with those combined gifts of nature, experience, education and grace that help to make a great evangelist. He is a master workman with the sword of the Spirit, having a strong baritone voice and speaking without manuscript; has that overflow of impassioned eloquence that flows like the music from the harp of a thousand strings touched by the finger of God. Seldom is so deep spirituality blended so harmoniously with such scholarly teaching, together with such a pleasing and entertaining delivery. He is pure and clean, both in and out of the pulpit, setting no bad example by the use of tobacco, nor does he indulge in questionable jokes. His greatest pleasure, rarest delights and sweetest recreations are in the gospel work. No epicure ever enjoyed his dainties, a Chinaman his opium, a drunkard his dram, nor the worldly people their ballroom, their card-table or their punch-bowl more than this true man of God enjoys his work of saving souls. He is filled and thrilled with a message that is sweeter to him than honey in the honey-comb, and that is more precious in his sight than gold that perisheth, and he craves its delivery like the panting hart for the waterbrook. The love of God that is in the gospel is to him like Jerusalem was to the Psalmist David when he said, "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning; if I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth; if I prefer not Jerusalem to my chief joy," and like Paul when he said, "For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor power, nor things present, nor things to come; nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord"

No man in our city nor among our brethren in the State stands higher as a man of God than does Bro. Colyer. He enjoys the respect and the confidence of all who know him, and to know him better is simply to love him more. He has letters of commendation from our leading citizens who are not members of his congregation, such as editors, doctors, bankers, etc., as well as from the best men of our State and elsewhere. His deep sacrificial spirit, his indomitable courage and resolute faith in and under trying circumstances, his implicit confidence in the power of the gospel, and his supreme trust in God and his hope in man will be an inspiration to and a benediction upon any church or community. He has been in some of the hardest battles ever

THE TORRENS SYSTEM.

Governor Kitchin Appoints an Important Commission.

Governor Kitchin yesterday appointed a commission in pursuance of an act of the recent legislature, to investigate what is known as the Torrens land title system and report to the next General Assembly. The commission is composed of R. R. Cotten, of Pitt; T. M. Pittmar, of Vance; Clarence H. Poe, of Wake; W. R. Land, of Guilford, and R. A. Crowell, of Stauly.

The resolution creating this commission states that the Torrens system of land tenure has been adopted in a number of States, with apparent satisfaction, and that "there is a demand in North Carolina for the improvement of our laws regulating titles and methods of converting real property into ready assets."—Raleigh News & Observer.

Prize Distribution.

The Taft & Boyd Furniture Co., have on exhibition at their store three handsome prizes that are to be given free to their customers. The first prize is a beautiful mahogany buffet valued at $50, the second a mahogany dresser valued at $15, and the third an elegant toilet set valued at $10. Each prize is a beauty and the persons getting them will be fortunate. Every customer who trades $5 at their store or pays $5 on account gets one chance at these prizes for each $5 traded or paid.

fought, in some of the hardest fields ever worked, where prejudice broke the registering apparatus, where the enemies were united and their faces set like flint—as James Small well puts it, and J. B. Briny will endorse—places that will try the mettle of any man. He has stood where only the brave dare stand, where only the strong could stand, and where none but the true would stand. The bloodstained flag never furls, the old fort never surrenders, and Jesus lifted up on the cross is never lowered nor the lifeboat withdrawn in the hands of this faithful and brave soldier of the cross, who would rather see the flag of victory planted on his grave than to see the ensign colors lowered and his perishing brothers and the glory of God lost in shame. The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man are the two suns that never set in his preaching. He regards every man a child of God and therefore as his brother. Some are God's lost children—these are his lost brothers; some are God's redeemed children—these are his redeemed brothers; and nothing so good as adversity, tribulation and the cross to reveal this blessed relation.—Christian Standard, written August 1907.

Dr. Coyley comes to us with the best of recommendations from all parts of the country. He begins a revival at the Christian church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Prof. J. D. Bowles of Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N. C., will have charge of the music, and is a man of deep spiritual strength. Everybody is cordially invited to attend our services. It will be a blessing to all to hear these Godly men. You are welcome. Come. D. W. Arnold, Pastor.

EUROPE AS A WOMAN SEES IT.

It is Like a Department Store at Which Bargain Day Never Ends.

Europe represents to the American woman a great shopping counter, a department store, at which it is always bargain day, says Virginia Frame in The Delineator for May. Armed with the necessary funds, however much she may have steeled herself against yielding to temptation, she is soon indulging in a perfect orgy of delightful shopping. "For things were so cheap, my dear," she confesses to a friend after returning home, "it would have been a sin to leave them!"

If the traveler sails on a Mediterranean steamer, a route proving popular for spring traffic, her shopping begins before she is even landed at Naples; for most of the large liners touch at Gibraltar, which picturesque little seaport, as every one knows, is a cosmopolitan town where one can "pick up" all sorts of fascinating souvenirs in the byways that resemble the streets of Cairo at our fairs.

Then comes Naples—Naples of flowers and song, Naples of the blue waters and the pink coral. Every little window is filled with coral, from the cold white beads or the palest blush tints to the rose and deep reds of pendants and chains. Veil-pins, hatpin and brooches are offered at every street corner and every church door. The shopper begins her first bargaining when she finds that the longer she hesitates the lower will be the price.

Rome is the magazine of antiquities—antiquities ancient and modern, antiquities dug up from among the old ruins, or antiquities manufactured around the corner. And what does it matter so long as your purchase is beautiful, and the caressing voice of the shopkeeper assures madame that she is getting one of the few real old treasures and for a price—holy Madonna! he could never part with it were it not for the little ones at home.

The Roman cameos are very lovely, and no one leaves Rome without a string of Roman pearls, pure and creamy in color and defying the unskilled eye to tell them from the real pearls. The Roman scarves and silks reflect the Italian skies and flowers in their hues and will brighten the white lawn next summer and let people know "we've been to Italy."

New North Carolina Industries.

The Chattanooga Tradesman reports the following industries established in North Carolina during the week ending April 14th:

Greenville—Machine shops.
Hickory—$300,000 manufacturing company.
Thomasville—Cotton mill.
Murphy—Waterworks system.
Pomona—$750,000 cotton mills
Durham—$50,000 automobile factory.

Meeting in Baptist Church

On next Sunday Rev. J. B. Cook, the pastor, will begin a series of special services in Memorial Baptist church. Rev. G. T. Lumpkin, of Winston-Salem, is coming to assist in these services and will arrive Monday evening. Services will be held twice each day, at 3.30 and 7.45 p. m. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Keep your eye open for the goat.

BASKET PARTY.

At King's Cross Roads School.

One of the most delightful, as well as successful occasions of the season in this community, was the basket party given under the auspices of the Betterment Association at the school taught by Miss Ellen Tyson. The net receipts were $48.47 which added to the $41.03 makes $89.50 to the credit of the school, with which they hope to furnish a new building, if Prof. Ragsdale finds it in the goodness of his heart to give them one. If they had had more room they would doubtless have made a good deal more.

Miss Tyson has labored very earnestly and faithfully and, with all due regards to those who have preceded her, she has accomplished more and given the most general satisfaction of any teacher who has ever taught there. And that is saying a good deal, for they have had some excellent teachers, and teachers much liked, but we believe it is true.

In the contest as to the most beautiful lady, Miss Irene Smith was voted the prize, a handsome box of stationary. This was saying a good deal, also, for there were some very beautiful young ladies present.

A quilt that everybody ought to see—one hundred and sixty-four names of somebody's sweethearts embroidered on the squares—was sold to the highest bidder. Claud A. Smith, of Fountain, was the purchaser. The indications are that he will need it about as soon as anybody, and he doesn't care how soon. We doubt if Mr. Smith would have gotten the quilt if our friend, Thomas Beaman, had been perfectly certain he would ever need it.

We feel safe in recommending Miss Tyson as a teacher, or one to get up entertainments, or to make beautiful quilts.

DISTRICT MEETING.

Guide to Pythian Visitors and Guests.

The district meeting of the Knights of Pythias will assemble for the transaction of business at Castle Hall in the Masonic Temple, promptly at 8 o'clock where they will be in session until about 9:15. The meeting will then adjourn to the Carolina Club rooms where visiting Pythians will be introduced to the ladies and other guests.

All of the invited guests are requested to assemble at the Club not later than 9 o'clock. A receiving party, consisting of Pythians and their ladies, will be there to greet them on their arrival.

At 10 o'clock sharp, the assembly will repair to the Perkins hall where the banquet will be served.

Attention.

The man who said that the North State Mutual was not in a position to stand by its contracts, or that it was not an Old Line Legal Reserve Company, is an ignoramus or a wilful prevaricator. If anyone wishes to question this statement I cordially invite him to see me and file his complaint, and I pledge him an emphatical hearing.

J. F. Stokes.

P. S. I will say further that I carry the best line of life and industrial insurance on the market and solicit the patronage of all desiring it. J. F. S. 1 td 1 tw. 4 16.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

Misses Olive Gaston, Lillie Bennett, Eloise Bacon, Lucille John, Lillian Carr and Hennie Whichard and D. J. Whichard went to Wilson Thursday evening to hear Mme. Yaw.

MME. YAW AT WILSON.

This Wonderful Singer Delighted Her Audience.

Those who went from Greenville to hear Mme. Ellen Beach Yaw in Wilson, Thursday night, were more than repaid for the trip. A large and appreciative audience greeted this world renowned prima donna in the auditorium of Atlanta Christian College.

Mme. Yaw fully sustained her great reputation, and the audience gave expressions of delight at every number on the program. The range of her voice is wonderful, every note, high or low, was the soul of melody and purity, and the ease with which she sings is marvelous. Her voice reached and sustained high G without apparent effort. In fact she seems not to breathe at all when almost compassing the notes of a double scale in a single trill. And her trills are flute-like, as rich as the sweetest notes of song birds.

Coupled with this magnificent voice is Mme. Yaw's charming personality. She is as vivacious as a girl, as fresh as the first rose of spring, receives the applause accorded her with graceful ease, and is generous in response to encores.

Her assistants in her concerts are also artists or ability. Mr. Talmage's flute obligatos were a dream, and his own singing in superb baritone voice was a treat.

Miss DeArmond, the pianist, possesses rare skill and technique and plays divinely. She gave several instrumental selections, and was accompanist to Mme. Yaw.

Twice in response to encores Mme. Yaw went to the piano and played her own accompaniment to old favorite songs.

After the concert we had the pleasure of meeting Mme. Yaw and also her manager. After being told about Greenville the latter promised that he will make a date for Mme. Yaw here on their trip back from the South the latter part of May if he can find it possible to do so.

COMMITTEE WILL RECEIVE BIDS.

Two More Buildings to be Erected and Entire School Plant Furnished.

The executive committee of the Eastern Carolina Teachers' Training school will meet in Greenville on the 4th day of May, next, to receive and consider sealed bids for the construction of two new buildings—the infirmary and the power house—and for bids for the construction and installment of boilers, engines, laundry plant, electrical plant, ice machine and everything connected with the power house.

On Wednesday, 5th of May, the committee will receive and consider sealed bids for furnishing and equipping of the entire school plant. It is expected that there will be a large number of bidders present both days and that the committee will have a very busy time.

The service Sunday morning at the Episcopal church will not be omitted on next Sunday, as was announced.

April 16 In History.

1814—Eugene Beauharnais, marshal and viceroy, signed a convention with the allies in Italy, and the Napoleonic wars were ended till the Waterloo campaign.
1862—France declared war against Mexico. A French army was already in Mexico when war was declared. Hostilities began at once.
1900—The United States supreme court decided that a marriage bond made in one state cannot be sundered in another state except for causes valid in both states.

RESULT OF IMITATING

The tendency of humanity is to do the same thing. The need of a hotel in a town may be apparent for years. When some one person makes a move then another and sometimes another follows suit. A property goes begging for an indefinite time. Somebody makes a move to purchase it and then, presto! three or four people want it.—Charlotte Observer.

This tendency is due to the fact that more people are imitators than originators. Too many never have a business idea of their own but follow in the wake of what other people are doing. If one man starts a business or enterprise and appears to be making a success of it, others rush in to imitate, and thus what might be a good business is ruined or crippled by being overcrowded. This disposition of wanting to do what somebody else is doing so overcrowds established businesses as to work to their injury and hinder progress, while many other avenues that could be made profitable are neglected. Get out of the rut of imitating other people and be an originator of something. Start something for yourself and do not merely try to crowd somebody else out.

Greenville opens her doors and extends a cordial welcome to the Knights of Pythias now in our midst and to arrive this evening for the district convention here tonight. The Pythians are a strong and growing fraternity that is doing a great and noble work. We hope every visitor will be glad that he came to Greenville.

It is a source of gratification to his friends throughout the State to know that Editor J. P. Caldwell, of the Charlotte Observer, who five weeks ago had a stroke of paralysis, has so far recovered as to be able to return to his work, with indications of complete recovery.

Every day in these latter times the liquor advocates get a new blow. A Philadelphia professor is ridiculing the idea that whiskey is a cure for snake bite.

The populace is about to pass from the clutches of the coal baron into the servitude of the ice king.

If wheat gets much higher an air ship fleet will have to be started to hunt for it.

It looks like wheat is able to take care care of itself without tariff aid.

For fiendishness, utter depravity of nature and general downright cussedness we will place a certain Atlanta biped of the male persuasion against the worst Apache Indian that ever stole a horse or lifted a scalp!

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

This creature in human form (we do not wish to insult the brute creation!) was hauled up before the bar of justice in Atlanta last week for torturing his ten-months-old baby, said torture consisting of cuffing the little one about the face and pinching its cheeks till they were blue and a mass of bruises. He coolly admitted his guilt, and gave as the reason for his cruelty that his wife having become indifferent to the beatings that he had been want to inflict upon her, he resorted to torturing the baby as a means of tormenting her! And the official before whom he made this confession only gave the offender two weeks in the workhouse! Twenty years of constant hard labor would be light punishment for such a wretch.—Gaffney, S. C. Ledger.

Young man, let us give you the benefit of our observation. We have noticed that at least nine-tenths of the young men who have been before the courts for misdemeanors are those who take no interest whatever in education, seldom read a newspaper, and are always ready to make fun of other young men who use correct language and try to be somebody. It comes natural to them to discourage the studious and ambitious young men of their acquaintance. Their minds run toward dirty stories, midnight sprees and bad company. This in a short time means trouble, a sheriff's invitation to attend court, and a fine or term in jail—Snow Hill Laconic.

Mary had a little lamb; it's fleece was white as snow. Would Mary ever sell the lamb? Why, what a question! No! She kept the lamb in luxury for many, many years, and every now and then she'd go and clip it with her shears then sell the fleece and take the cash and put it in the bank, until she had a fortune of the very topmost rank. While Mary was a wise young girl, her father had a pull, and through his lobbying he kept the tariff up on wool.—Chicago Post.

INSURE WITH C. L. WILKINSON Life, Fire, Accident and Health and Bonds. Will go on your Bond.

Paying Him Out.
A boy went into a baker's shop for a threepenny loaf. Thinking that the loaf was rather small, he remarked to the baker, smiling: "You have not weighed it." "Oh, you never mind that," said the baker. "It won't be so heavy to carry." "All right," said the boy, putting twopence halfpenny on the counter and walking to the door. The baker called after him: "Here, boy! I want another halfpenny." "Never mind that," said the boy. "It will be less for you to count."—Illustrated Bits.

Lead Shot.
We owe lead shot to Watts, a Bristol plumber, who dreamed that while repairing a church roof his foot slipped and a ladle of molten lead that he was carrying fell to the ground and that on descending to recover his property he found that the metal had assumed, instead of the silver plaque he had expected, the form of countless minute globules. Curiosity led him next day to repeat, so far as he could, the accident of his dream. A like result followed, and the lucky dreamer ultimately made a handsome fortune.—London Chronicle.

Pretty Tough For the General.
A French general's wife, whose tongue lashing ability was far famed, demanded that an old servant, who had served with her husband in the wars, be dismissed. "Jacques," said the general, "go to your room and pack your trunk and leave—depart." The old Frenchman clasped his hands to his heart with dramatic joy. "Me—I can go!" he exclaimed in a very ecstasy of gratitude. Then suddenly his manner changed as with utmost compassion he added: "But you—my poor general, you must stay!"

The Intellectual Age.
The women of a certain town recently organized a literary club, and for awhile everything was lovely. "Alice," asked the husband of one of the members upon her return home from one of the meetings, "what was the topic under discussion by the club this afternoon?" Alice couldn't remember at first. Finally, however, she exclaimed: "Oh, yes, I recollect! We discussed that brazen looking woman that's just moved in across the street and Longfellow."—Harper's Weekly.

Dancing Birds.
The giant cranes of India, some of which attain to a height of six feet, are in a way queer birds. They mate for life and as mates are singularly devoted to each other. Among their practices that of dancing together is the most remarkable. To and fro and up and down beneath a scraggy tree near a creek or water hole a pair of these curious birds may be seen at the hour of dawn footing it gravely in a sort of grotesque minuet.

BOA CONSTRICTORS.

The Young Shift For Themselves as Soon as Hatched.

The real home of the boa constrictors is in the tropical countries. Mrs. Boa seeks a sandy place. When she has found it she coils herself into a great and almost flat corkscrew. Then by just two or three turns of her body she digs a shallow hole in the sand. This is her nest. In this hole she lays about twenty-four eggs. The eggs are about as large as those bantam chickens lay and are a dark cream color. They are oblong and more the shape of a pecan than of a hen's egg. The shell is not hard, like a hen's egg, but yields to the pressure of your finger, something like rubber.

Having laid her eggs in the nest of sand, the mother boa winds herself into a perfectly flat coil, like a round mat. This done, she gently pushes waves of sand upon the eggs until they are covered from four to six inches deep. Then she settles herself upon the top and stays there for nineteen days. At the end of this time a lot of little snakes may be seen pushing their way out from the nest and away into the world to get their own living. They don't show a bit of affection for their mother or for each other, but glide away, probably never to be together again. Is it any wonder, when they act so just after being hatched out, that boa constrictors never like anybody and never have anything to do with people if they can avoid it?

Each little snake measures from twelve to fourteen inches in length and is about as big around as a lead pencil. It is said that they eat nothing at all during the first six months of their lives or until they are old enough to catch and crush to death small animals and swallow them whole. The boa constrictor never bites—it has no poison fangs—but always kills by coiling about its victim and crushing it to death. Fully grown, the boa constrictor is thirty to forty feet long and as big around as the large part of a man's leg.

A Paying Garden.

"No money in gardening? Why, I know a man who cleared $30,000 last summer from less than an acre!" "Impossible! Utterly absurd!" "Not at all. You see, it was a roof garden."—Boston Transcript.

The Best Way.

Old Ben Franklin was about the wisest product this country ever produced, and he never said anything much better than that the best way to find money is to earn it.—Atchison Globe.

CHEWING TOBACCO.

The Grip With Which This Habit Holds Its Victims.

Every slave of the weed will know better than I do how much truth exists in a story told me a few evenings ago by a well known committing magistrate in New York.

We were seated at a club table discussing various kinds of dissipation, especially the fascination that liquor and gambling are said to have for men who cannot resist the impulse to gratify one or the other of these passions. The judge spoke:

"In my opinion the most overmastering craving known to our race is that for chewing tobacco. Opium in some forms may be as bad, but I am sure it isn't worse. A few weeks ago an incorrigible was brought before me, and after hearing the evidence I sentenced him to the island for three months. He appeared to take it very sensibly until a police officer as a teaser whispered into the man's ear, as I afterward learned, that he would be allowed any tobacco while in the penitentiary. The poor chap turned pale, rose in his seat and held up his hand as a sign that he desired to ask me a question. I motioned to him to speak up.

"I say, good Mr. Judge, will you do me a great favor?"

"Certainly, if it be within my power," I replied.

"I hear my tobacco will be cut off. Cannot you make my term six months or even a year if I am allowed to have chewing tobacco?"

The judge had to explain that he couldn't do anything of that sort. He relieved the prisoner's mind on that if he was a habitual chewer the prison physician would order a small quantity of the weed for him daily.

"Never did I see a greater change in a human face," concluded his honor.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Preparing an Alibi.

If culture remains confined within the splendidly bound volumes of the new library that has just been bought by a New Yorker it will not be the fault of the rich man's secretary. He is doing everything he can to let it loose.

"I am cutting the leaves in all the books," he said. "The chances are nobody belonging to the family will ever look inside these books, but the boss has friends who may go snooping around through the library sometimes. In case they do he doesn't want them to gain the impression that literature is neglected in this house, so I am making sure that they will at least find the leaves cut."—Exchange.

COMMITTEE OPENS BIDS.

Raleigh Man Gets Contract for the Sewerage Plant.

The executive committee of the Eastern Carolina Teachers' Training school was in session here Thursday for the purpose of receiving, opening and passing upon the sealed bids for the construction of the sewer system and underdrainage of the school plant. There were three bids received as follows:

The Dysard Construction Co., of Atlanta, through its representative, B. F. Meeks, bid for the sewer system $1,757.20, and for the underdrainage $2,295.14.

F. J. McGuire, of Greenville, bid for the sewer system $1,952.68, for the underdrainage $1,738.37.

J. M. Johnson, of Raleigh, bid for the sewer system $1,397.60, for the underdrainage $1,760.10. The committee directed the chairman to notify J. M. Johnson that the contract for the sewer system would be awarded to him upon his execution of the required bond, and such notice was mailed to him immediately.

The architects and the engineers were present with the committee. The architects visited the buildings, inspected the work and reported the same progressing finely.
