URQUHART-WHITE.

A Pretty Home Marriage This Morning.

At the residence of Mrs. Laura White, in West Greenville, this morning at nine o'clock, her daughter, Miss Lollie White and Mr. Nathaniel Ridley Urquhart, of Portsmouth, Va., were married, Rev. B. F. Huske and Rev. J. H. Shore, officiating.

The ceremony that united the happy young couple was performed in the hall, amid a profusion of potted plants and roses in keeping with a wedding hour bright enough to delight a bride's heart. The decorations of the hall with improvised altar were beautiful.

In a "Melody of Love" vocal solo little Miss Dorris Overton furnished the daintiest of preludes to the coming of the bride and groom; Miss Bessie Hudgins, of Portsmouth, maid of honor, and Mr. Thomas Urquhart, of Portsmouth, best man; Miss Lillian Carr, pianist, rendering Lohengrin's wedding march, and, during the ceremony, "Moments of Meditation," at the conclusion, Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride wore a going-away gown of gray, with hat to match, and carried bride's roses; the maid of honor a white Empire gown with black picture hat, La France roses.

The affection and esteem of a wide circle of friends was indicated in a profusion of silveware, cut glass, dainty china, rugs and pictures not often equalled in a display of wedding gifts.

The wedding party was entertained at dinner Wednesday evening by Mrs. D. D. Overton, sister of the bride.

Following the event of this morning Mr. Urquhart and bride took the Norfolk & Southern train for a tour North. They will be at home in Portsmouth after May 15th.

Among out of town visitors were Misses Adelaide and Onella White, of Hertford, and E. B. Beaton and Mr. Ridley, of Boykin, Va.

Trade Report.

Richmond, Va., April 29, 1909. Bradstreet's Saturday will say for Richmond and vicinity.

Trade in most lines continue quiet. A between season dullness prevails in the wholesale dry goods and shoe market and few filling in orders are noted. Lumber, hides and leather are quiet. Drugs are fairly active. Fertilizer sales continue in excess of last season. Manufacturers of harness and saddlery and dealers in agricultural implements are active. Manufacturers of clothing and working men's apparel are receiving a fair volume of orders. Foundries and machinists report a slight increase in business and inquiries indicate a larger volume of business in the near future. Building operations are active and supply dealers in builders supplies report active ordering. Tobacco manufacturers report business in excess of last year. Favorable weather conditions have existed during the week and farming operations are well advanced. Cotton is being planted in North Carolina. Winter wheat is reported in good condition. Retail trade is fair. Collections continue generally slow.

From 3 to 11 o'clock p. m. Friday the King's Daughters will sell ice cream and cake at Hines' Cafe, next door to W. B. Wilson.

ODD FELLOWS ANNIVERSARY.

Portrait of the Late Jonathan White Presented to the Lodge.

Covenant Lodge No. 17, I. O. O. F., on Wednesday evening April 27, celebrated the ninetyeth anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

After the regular anniversary exercises were concluded Brother W. F. Evans was called upon for a short talk, to which he ably responded, giving us value received. His remarks were in every way appropriate and thoroughly enjoyed.

Dr. D. L. James then presented to Covenant Lodge a splendid portrait of our beloved Brother Jonathan White, now deceased, but whose memory Covenant Lodge shall ever fondly cherish. The beautiful talk of Brother James as he pictured the life of that grand Odd Fellow, brought to each of us fond recollections of the past, and made our hearts sad to know that he has severed his connection with us here, but we realize that he now belongs to that grand lodge above where sorrow is no more.

The portrait was received in behalf of the lodge by Brother Julius Brown, his splendid remarks in response to Brother James voiced the sentiment of every member of Covenant Lodge. And a choice spot was selected on the walls of our lodge rooms for the likeness of the one we loved so well.

Brother D. C. Moore then made some very appropriate remarks on Odd Fellowship. His remarks were highly appreciated by the lodge.

After the lodge was closed refreshments were served and each brother went home feeling glad that he was present and proud that he was an Odd Fellow.

Meeting in Baptist Church.

They were delightful services in the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon and night. Mr. Lumpkin's subject at the afternoon service was "Enoch's Walk with God" and at night "The Prodigal Son." Both were impressive sermons and there was one profession at each service.

There will be service tonight at 7:45, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 and again tomorrow night. The meeting will probably close Friday night, as Mr. Lumpkin must be back to his home pastorate in Winston-Salem by Sunday. It is desired to make the Friday afternoon service one of reconciliation on the part of church members, and all are urged to be present then.

Two Interesting Days.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday the executive committee of the board of trustees of East Carolina Teachers' Training School will meet here to open bids for the erection of two additional and for the furnishing and equipping of all the buildings. Many bidders for the contracts are expected here on these days.

Ten Dollars Reward.

There will be paid a reward of ten dollars for the arrest of any person or persons found spitting tobacco juice on, or defacing any of the bulletin boards of the Christian church, anywhere on the streets of Greenville.

ETHEL MORTON OPERA COMPANY.

In Greenville Two Nights Next Week, May 7th and 8th.

The engagement of the Ethel Morton opera company at the Masonic Temple theatre, May 7th and 8th, should prove of unusual interest to those interested in the capable rendition of good music; as Miss Morton, who has already demonstrated to local theatre goers that she has talent of high order, returns to the city with a company of unusual merit, Thomas O'Brien, the tenor of the organization, is one of the best known operatic tenors on the lyric stage. He was for several years with the English Grand opera company and it is quite possible that many of our local theatre goers have heard him in Norfolk and Richmond. For the past ten years Mr. O'Brien has played continuously with Neil Burgess and it is solely due to the fact that Mr. Burgess decided to take a five weeks' rest, that Manager Courtney has secured his services for a limited tour with Miss Morton.

A performer and singer, almost if not quite equally well known, is Martin Cheeseman who has played character parts in almost every comic opera produced by Charles Frohman during the past five years. He has only recently closed with Hattie Williams in "Floppy Roffles."

Other well known artists are Charles Ross, Thomas Russell, Lottie Gale and Margaret Dougherty.

There is said to be an efficient chorus and the operas will be elaborately staged and costumed.

Christian Church Revival.

One of the largest audiences since the meeting began assembled last night to enjoy the riches of the revival.

The music was the best yet, and Mr. Bowles says that we are just getting ready for the music which is to follow. He has just tuned the piano with the organ and says that he has the promise of a cornet player tonight, and since Mr. Spiegel will be with us tonight and tomorrow night he will do the directing while Mr. Bowles plays the violin, making an instrumental quartette to assist the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Spiegel, Mr. Bowles and Mrs. Hooker will furnish us with a quartette tonight.

Dr. Colyer seems to be an exhaustless fountain flowing, ever filled with the message of love. His sermon last night was the "best yet." He spoke with a power and in an appealing spirit. There were two additions to the church.

Come tonight enjoy and the music and hear Dr. Colyer on "What Must I do to be Saved?"

Thanks From County Home Inmates.

Editor Reflector:
On behalf of the inmates of the county home, I desire through your paper to thank the stockholders of The Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company for the bounteous dinner which they sent to the home on the occasion of their annual meeting on the 20th. The inmates of the home enjoyed a feast of good things for which they will hold the donors in grateful remembrance.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

The State Department of Agriculture, Governor Kitchin approving, has proposed to the State board of health to have a physician attend farmers' institutes this summer and lecture on sanitation and prevention of diseases in country homes.

The United States court convened yesterday morning, all officers being present except the judge. The business of the session was to formally renew bonds and transact other business which was necessary. The bond of J. R. B. Carraway which was $8,000 was raised to $15,000. Mr. Carraway was unable to furnish that amount of bond and was placed in the custody of the United States Marshal.

On account of there being a case of smallpox at the county jail it was ordered that he be placed in the jail at Kinston. Unless sufficient bond is secured he will be taken to Kinston today.—New Bern Journal.

The News and Observer's Washington correspondent says that it is reported in Washington that Mr. Fred Carr, ex-representative of Greene county in the General Assembly, and for several years private secretary to Senator Overman, will make the race against Representative Claude Kitchin for the congressional nomination for the next election.

Raleigh, N. C., April 28.—Col. Joseph E. Pogue, of this city, grand sachein, says that the North Carolina reservation Improved Order of Red Men, to convene at New Bern, May 5th, promises to be all odds the most successful the order has ever held in the state. He says there are now over 5,000 members of the order in North Carolina and a lively interest is being manifested in the approaching session in the New Bern hunting ground when Past Grand Inchoonee M. J. Daniel, of Georgia, will deliver the principal address.

Practical Young Men.

The young man who is petted too much at home is seldom any good. What is wanted now-a-days is a practical man who can do something else besides smoke cigarettes and twist a cane. The time to learn to work and to learn business habits is in one's youth. He who leads the life of a butterfly until he is twenty-five or thirty years of age, and then recognizes the fact that he has made an ape of himself, has precious little to recommend him when he applies for a job. This may be a chestnut, but it fits not a few young men in every city in the Union. The boys on the farm are better off if they only knew it, than thousands of the boys who are at large, wandering hither and thither, searching and looking for "rich bonanzas" to turn up. There is nothing like being practical, and there is but one way to be so. Acquire business habits and train yourself to do good honest, hard work. Don't waste your time in learning to tie a cravat. You can buy cravats already tied.—Ex.

Strawberry, chocolate and vanilla ice cream, the real article, will be sold by the King's Daughters at Hines' Cafe, next to W. B. Wilson, Friday afternoon and night.

NEWS AND OBSERVER CONTEST.

One of the District Prizes Comes to Greenville.

The Raleigh News and Observer has just closed one of the greatest popularity contests ever undertaken by a North Carolina newspaper. Forty-three prizes were awarded ranging in value from $2,000 to $50. Three of these prizes were offered to the State at large and five prizes in each of eight districts.

The first State prize, a $2,000 automobile, was won by Miss Bessie Claytor, of Goldsboro; second, a $850 automobile, by Capt. Robert Hill, of Rocky Mount; third, a $750 piano, by T. C. Montgomery, of Graham. In the district prizes Miss Helen Forbes, of Greenville, was second highest in this district and was awarded a handsome diamond ring. Her many friends congratulate Miss Forbes upon her success in the contest.

All Mirrors Lie.

"Every woman is better looking than the mirror makes her," said a milliner. "The mirror robs us of expression and color, and expression and color are to the face what the legs are to the figure. First, our expression. When we look into a mirror our eyes take on a glassy stare and our mouths a curious and sad droop. Really we never look like that save when we are going to be ill. Then our coloring. All mirrors have a pale green tinge, and this tinge makes even the purest rose leaf complexion muddy. It takes the gloss from the hair; the brilliance from the eye and the scarlet from the lips."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Poor Women.

"Why does a woman always want another woman to go shopping with her?"

"She gets the other woman to make the selections and then takes something else."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

AN EXAMPLE OF GOOD ROADS.

A communication from Durham to the Southern Tobacco Journal, of Winston, in speaking of the increased sales of tobacco on the Durham market during the past year, used this significant language:

"The new Roxboro road paved liberally the way for more than a million pounds of tobacco that never headed this way before. The tobacco dealers declare that more than two million pounds were brought here by that turnpike."

Suppose Pitt county had a good turnpike road leading to Greene county, and another to Edgecombe by way of Falkland. More than two million pounds of tobacco would be brought over these roads to the Greenville market that now seeks market over the good roads leading to Rocky Mount and Wilson. It is a remarkable fact that the roads of Greenville township are the sorriest in the county. The reason is plain. All the people of the county come to Greenville and thus wear the road directly out of Greenville, while only a small proportion of the traffic of the county is done over the roads of the other townships. This is the result of our township road law which operates directly against the town of Greenville. Had this fact dawned upon our people?

To have good roads leading far out in all directions from Greenville would not only help the tobacco market, but all other business would feel the beneficial results. The Reflector is glad that our people are becoming interested in the need of better roads, and hopes this interest will increase until every section of the county shall have good roads.

The Raleigh Times is growingasperated over "the everlasting habit that some people have of asking 'Who is that?' over the telephone." The Times argues its side of the case well, but there is another side to it. When "Central" gives you the wrong number, which is more often the case than not, there is danger of starting off talking to the wrong person unless you first know who is at the telephone. True it is a bad habit, but one for which the mistakes of "Central" is largely responsible. A worse habit than saying "Who is that?" is calling up an office and asking the person who answers to call some one else in the office to the telephone instead of delivering your message to the first person who answers, thus stopping two or more people from business when one should be sufficient.

"Graft in Chicago" is the heading of a news item in an exchange. What else could you expect in Chicago?

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A prominent senator is quoted as saying the senate is against the income tax as against a tariff bill. The amendment to the was expected, as the senate is not likely to favor what the people want.

Richard Croker says he is out of politics forever. Good-bye, then.

Accuracy of Statement.
Accuracy of statement is a most difficult thing to attain. Those who are compelled to adjust the affairs of an organization find their heaviest handicap in obtaining accurate information. The natural bias of each individual in his own favor or in favor of friends, warps statements to such an extent that a totally wrong impression is made. This is true of those who are perfectly honest of purpose. When people are known to misrepresent the fact it really simplifies the question of adjusting matters between men, because misrepresentation may be eliminated from all testimony. It is the statement of those who mean to tell the truth, but whose bias misleads them, the value of whose statements is difficult to measure. Accuracy of statement is something that ought to be very much improved over what it is now. In other words, truthful people ought to study themselves to eliminate the influence of bias in their representations.—Charlotte Chronicle.

THE SMART DRUMMER.

There Was Something Coming to Him, and He Got It.

"Gentlemen," said the drummer of druggists' sundries as he looked around on the half dozen men who were asking him for the latest story, "I believe I have felt about 400 different feelings in my life, and the balmiest one of all was the feeling that I had something coming to me and would get it if I stayed on the road long enough."

"And have you got it?" was asked. "I have. I got it coming into Chicago. I was very comfortable in my Pullman when a young man came along and told me a pitiful story and wanted me to buy his diamond ring. The game is older than the hills, and I was on in a minute—bought story and bogus diamond; willing to sell me a $200 ring for $30. I asked him where the green spot was in my eye, and while I was pluming myself the man in the other part of the section pulled out three tens and pocketed the ring. Did I look down upon him with pity and contempt? Did I smile? Did I grin? Did I ask him where his guardian was? Oh, yes—oh, yes, and he spoke up and claimed that the stones were diamonds and the ring well worth 200 plunks. It nettled me to see the ass so cocksure and to hear him say that of course I was no judge of diamonds, and I put up $50 that he'd been done for. The conductor held the money, and when we got into town we made for a jewelry store. We took in four of 'em before I laid down. Same story in each place—ring worth $200."

"And you lost your $50?"
"Slick as silk."
"And there was a game in it?"
"Of course, you camel. Seller and buyer were confederates, and they probably worked the scheme six days a week. If I'd got ready to buy, some excuse would have been made to head me off. Yes, gentlemen, I had something coming to me, and I got it, and I feel relieved."—Baltimore American.

EQUATORIAL AFRICA.

How Hunters Dress Where There is No Dawn and No Dusk.

We wore khaki for daytime and warm clothes for night when sitting around the camp, as after the sun goes down a great chill immediately settles down that makes winter clothing and a good big fire most essential.

During the daytime we always wore pith helmets, although sometimes early in the morning and late in the afternoon, when the sun is not at its maximum, a double teral felt hat may be substituted. It is far more comfortable than the helmet.

As additional protection we wore sun pads which covered the spine. These are merely heavy quilted strips that reach from the collar to below the shoulders, as we were advised that the effect of the sun was just as deadly at this point as on the head. I do not know what maximum the thermometer would reach in the sun, as I was afraid to leave it exposed when it got higher than a little above 150 degrees, as beyond that point there was great danger of breaking it. In the shade the temperature would be usually from 85 to 100 degrees, but there was always a breeze blowing, and the dryness of the air cooled one off quite rapidly as soon as one got out of the sun. It was always cold in the morning when we started out at the first peep of light, and we were usually shivering for a few minutes prior to the sun's appearance. Day does not dawn in equatorial Africa, but it bursts! It is dark one minute and full sunlight the next, and the reverse occurs in the evening, for the sun goes down and night comes on as if a curtain had suddenly been drawn down over the west, and the chill of night begins instantly.—Percy C. Madeira in Metropolitan Magazine.

"A Sound Box."
Take an ordinary rubber band and stretch it between the thumb and forefinger of your left hand. If you pick it with the fingers of the right hand and let go suddenly it will make a sound which you can hear distinctly enough yourself, but which will not be audible to any one a few feet away. But if you were to fasten the elastic, with a pin at each end, to an empty wooden box, only not so as to touch the wood, and then twang it the sound would be much louder than before. That box is the sound box of a sound board, and all stringed instruments have one in some shape or other.—St. Nicholas.

How She Missed Him.

A poor woman who kept a small shop in a northern village and who was troubled with a husband who could scarcely be considered a credit to the family one day found herself a widow through the sudden demise of her spouse. A lady who frequently made small purchases at the shop called to see her and offer her sympathy, though well knowing that the man's death must in a certain sense come as a relief, as the wife had often suffered from his violence. She was not, however, quite prepared for the stoical way in which the wife took her bereavement.

Said the lady, "I am sure, Mrs. G., that you must miss your husband."
"Well, mum, it do seem queer to go into the shop and find something in the till."—London Express.
