"COUSIN SALLY DILLARD"

By Ham C. Jones.

A beardless disciple of Themis rises and thus addresses the court:

May it please your Worships and you, gentlemen of the jury, since it has been my fortune (good or bad, I will not say) to exercise myself in legal disquisitions, it has never befallen me to be obliged to prosecute so direful, marked and malicious an assault—a more willful, violent, dangerous battery—and finally, a more diabolical breach of the peace, has seldom happened in a civilized country; and I dare say, it has seldom been your duty to pass upon one so shocking to benevolent feelings, as this which took place over at Captain Rice's, in this county. But you will hear from the witness.

The witnesses being sworn, two or three were examined and deposed. One said that he heard the noise, but did not see the fight; another, that he saw the row, but didn't know who struck first; and a third, that he was very drunk, and couldn't say much about the scrimmage.

Lawyer Chops: I am sorry, gentlemen, to have occupied your time with the stupidity of the witnesses examined. It arises, gentlemen, altogether from misapprehension on my part. Had I known, as now I do, that I had a witness in attendance who is well acquainted with all the circumstances of the case, and who was able to make himself clearly understood by the court and jury, I should not so long have trespassed on your time and patience. Come forward, Mr. Harris, and be sworn.

So forward comes the witness, a fat, shuffy old man, a "leetle" corned, and took his oath with an air.

Chops: Harris, we wish you to tell all about the riot that happened the other day at Captain Rice's; and as a good deal of time has already been wasted in circumlocution, we wish you to be compendious, and at the same time as explicit as possible.

Harris: Adzactly (giving the lawyer a knowing wink, and at the same time clearing his throat.) Captain Rice, he gin a treat, and cousin Sally Dillard, she came over to our house and axed me if my wife she moutn't go? I told cousin Sally Dillard that my wife was poorly, being as how she had a touch of the rheumatics in the hip, and the big swamp was in the road, and the big swamp was up, for there had been a heap of rain lately; but howsomever, as it was she, cousin Sally Dillard, my wife she mout go. Well, cousin Sally Dillard then axed me if Mose he moutn't go. I told cousin Sally Dillard that Mose, he was the foreman of the crap, and the crap was smartly in the grass; but howsomever, as it was she, cousin Sally Dillard, lose he mout go—

Chops: In the name of common sense, Mr. Harris, what do you mean by this rigmarole?

Witness: Captian Rice, he gin a treat, and cousin Sally Dillard she came over to our house and axed me if my wife she moutn't go? I told cousin Sally Dillard—

Chops: Stop, sir, if you please; we don't want to hear anything about your cousin Sally Dillard and your wife. Tell us about the fight at Rice's.

Witness: Well, I will, sir, if you will let me.

Chops: Well, sir, go on.

Witness: Well, sir, Captain Rice he gin a treat, and cousin

GREENVILLE VS. ROBERSONVILLE.

Will Cross bats in Munford's Park on Monday at 2 O'clock.

Base ball fever is on us once more. The first game of the season will be played here Monday between the home boys and a strong team from Robersonville. The boys have been practicing hard and expect to win the game. It will be no walk over for either side. The Robersonville team has not suffered defeat this year. There is a petition going around for the purpose of raising money for this game, and any contributions by any one will be appreciated. The game will be called promptly at 2 o'clock. Everybody go out and root for the home boys.

Sally Dillard she came over to our house and axed me if my wife she moutn't go—

Chops: There it is again. Witness, please to stop.

Witness: Well, sir, what do you want?

Chops: We want you to tell about the fight, and you must not proceed in this impertinent story. Do you know anything about the matter before the court?

Witness: To be sure I do.

Chops: Well, go on and tell it, and nothing else.

Witness: Well, Captain Rice, he gin a treat—

Chops: This is intolerable. May it please the court, I move that this witness be committed for a contempt; he seems to be trifling with this court.

Court: Witness, you are now before a court of justice, and unless you behave yourself in a more becoming manner, you will be sent to jail; so begin and tell us what you know about the fight at Captain Rice's.

Witness (alarmed): Well, gentlemen, Captain Rice, he gin a treat, and cousin Sally Dillard—

Chops: I hope the witness may be ordered into custody.

Court (after deliberating): Mr. Attorney, the court is of the opinion that we may save time by telling the witness to go on in his own way. Proceed, Mr. Harris, with your story, but stick to the point.

Witness: Yes, gentlemen. Well, Captain Rice, he gin a treat, and cousin Sally Dillard she came over to our house and axed me if my wife she mout go? I told cousin Sally Dillard that my wife she was poorly, being as how she had the rheumatics in the hip, and the big swamp was up; but howsomever, as it was she, cousin Sally Dillard, my wife she mout go. Well, cousin Sally Dillard then axed me if Mose he moutn't go. I told cousin Sally Dillard as how Mose, he was the foreman of the crap, and the crap was smartly in the grass; but howsomever, as it was she, cousin Sally Dillard, Mose he mout go. So they goes on together, Mose, my wife and cousin Sally Dillard, and they come to the big swamp, and it was up, as I was telling; but being as how there was a log across the big swamp, cousin Sally Dillard and Mose, like genteel folks, they walked the log; but my wife, like a darned fool, hoisted her coats and waded through. And that's all I know about the fight.

CARD FROM MR. LAUGHINGHOUSE

He Corrects False Rumors and Declares His Faith in Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Company.

Raleigh, N. C., May 5, 1909, Editor Reflector.

I have just heard of rumors in our county that I had disposed of my stock in the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company, resigned as one of the directors and vice president of the company and would not in the future have any connection with said company.

I want to say in reply, this rumor is altogether without the slightest foundation and I am sorry to say, in my opinion, it was started doubtlessly by the same one or ones who have been industriously engaged in advertising the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company since its organization by false representations and circulation throughout the country of libelous literature. I have never been able to see why any sensible men could offer any objection to the tobacco farmers organizing and operating tobacco warehouses. A company of this kind composed of industrious tobacco growers will never harm or disturb the community.

I have been a director of this company since its organization, for the last two years I have been vice president and chairman of the auditing committee, and have had every opportunity of knowing the workings of the company, and notwithstanding it has made an up hill fight in the face of violent opposition, it has succeeded better than any other farmers organization ever before started in North Carolina, that I know anything about. Every one of the original stockholders have been paid $1.28 on every dollar of their stock, and their stock today is worth considerable more than par. If the tobacco growers of eastern North Carolina would organize as these farmers have, and as it is their duty as farmers to do, it would prove a great blessing and uplift not only to every one of the farmers, but to every business interest of North Carolina.

Now for the facts in regard to my resignation as vice president and director. After I was appointed superintendent of the State prison and State farm, I realized the responsibility on me in this position, and in justice to the stockholders of the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company I tendered my resignation, because I could not do my duty to them and at the same time do my duty here as superintendent of State prison. These are the plain facts.

I say emphatically that I have never offered my stock for sale and it could not be bought today for two dollars for one unless I knew I could buy more at less figures.

It has been the policy of the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company to ignore the things that have been said about it to injure the company and I should treat this rumor in regard to my resignation with the same silent contempt, if the facts about my resignation were fully known, I therefore make this explanation.

The Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company needs no defense at my hand. Its past record is its own defense, and as long as it pursues the same course and policy no further defense will be necessary. The company is on a broad foundation and is in a pros-

GREENVILLE GRADED SCHOOLS.

Commencement May 21st—Debating Contest With Goldsboro May 14th.

The sixth annual session of the Greenville graded schools will close on Friday, the 21st instant. There being no graduates this year, the commencement exercises will be limited to one entertainment which will be held in the opera house at 8:30 p. m., on the 21st. The programme will consist of the literary address, and of several selections from the classes in music under direction of the two teachers in music.

Our commencement speaker this year is Dr. D. H. Hill, president of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. Dr. Hill recently succeeded Dr. Geo. T. Winston as president of the A. & M. College. He has made a very favorable impression on the State and I am sure our people will be glad to welcome him to our town. Dr. Hill is a good speaker, and we may assure ourselves of a good address.

On the afternoon of the 21st, a recital by the class in instrumental music will be given in the chapel of the graded school building. The recital will be for the training of the children in playing in public. To this exercise the parents of the children and the public in general have a cordial invitation.

Once more I desire to remind the public of our contest in debate with the city high school of Goldsboro, in the opera house on the night of the 14th. The Goldsboro boys speak well, we learn, and the contest is going to be a stubborn one. I sincerely hope our people will lend all the encouragement they can to Messrs. Haskett and Taylor, our speakers. We are into the contest to win, and the victory must be won by these two boys.

The Goldsboro high school is many times older than the Greenville high school, and it would certainly be no disgrace to be defeated by such a notable antagonist. On the other hand, the credit of a victory over them would mean some laurels for us about which we are very deeply concerned these days.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Durham, May 3.—The dead body of Dan W. Rogers, a white farmer of Durham, aged 55 years, was found on the Southern's yards yesterday morning about 4 o'clock. There are appearances that something more than accident figured in it, though the people are divided as to whether the dead man threw himself on the track, or was put there by foul work.

perous condition.

I certainly trust the tobacco farmers will not allow false representations and misstatements from any unknown source to influence them and I have no idea they will.

The Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company is doing more today to kill class hatred and unite the farmers on a solid foundation in North Carolina than all other influences combined is doing. The plain, practical farmers know this is true and the efforts of those who are trying to injure it will rest upon them. J. J. Laughinghouse,

"The Necessity of the New Birth"

Was Dr. Colyer's theme last night. He, as usual, entered into the discussion with much enthusiasm and power. Dr. Colyer seems to possess a peculiar personality which seems to draw his audience to him, and all seem eager to catch the force of his illustrations, which in our humble judgment are the most unique and logical ever presented.

People are becoming more and more interested and as Drs Colyer will be with us for only a short time, it is to be hoped that all the people of Greenville will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him.

Mr. Bowles possesses his usual cheerful manner of conducting the song service last night. We hope the people of Greenville will give him a full choir hereafter. Come and join the singing, it will do you good and help you, too.

Mr. Bowles promised to conduct what he calls "old peoples song service" tonight. If you call to mind an old hymn and wish to have it sung tonight why please make a note of it and if possible give to him before time for service tonight. This is calculated to be the best song service yet. The songs our mother sung.

By request Mr. Bowles will sing tonight, "Be Not Too Late."

The children's service is improving wonderfully, 100 are expected this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Services tonight at 7:45.

Some folks are already worrying themselves about where to spend the summer, but with the majority the trouble is how to get enough to stay home on.

They are beginning to draw the line on saloons in Chicago by making them close earlier. This is a good indication that saloons are coming into disrepute even in the "windy city" and will eventually be put out entirely.

We have not seen any mention of it in the reports that there was an exchange of greetings between the Federation of Women's Clubs in Raleigh and the Great Council of Red Men in New Bern. It was a good chance for them to send salutations to each other.

The postmaster of Norfolk is up on the trick of the boys. He has posted in his office a notice to employes which reads like this:

"All requests for leave of absence on account of toothache, severe colds and minor physical ailments, and on account of funerals, picnics, church sociables and the like must be handed to the superintendent of your division before 10 a. m. on the morning of the game."

Pardons.

Undoubtedly Governor Kitchen is much more of a pardoning governor than was Governor Glenn or Governor Aycock. His latest pardon was issued to William H. Martin, a clerk in the State Treasurer's office during the Populist-Republican reign and who managed to steal a large amount of State funds. He was convicted and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, and had served eight of the ten years. Only sentimental reasons could have inspired his pardon. His term, under the circumstances surrounding his crime was small enough, and justice would not have been outraged had he been permitted to serve out his full term. We are constrained to wonder how

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Governor Kitchen would have acted had he been put to the test applied to Governor Glenn in the case of the famous gold brick men, who were so neatly bagged at Greensboro, and who proved to have friends of extraordinarily strong influence. We are afraid the nerve and determination displayed by Governor Glenn would have been missing. In the matter of granting pardons, Governor Glenn displayed a wisdom that was something akin to Solomon's.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Parental Duties Forgotten.

The doctors say that most of the babies of the poor are quite as strong and healthy at birth as any, but that the summer mortality among them is due to improper feeding and inadequate care. The babies born in the spring, who thus become frail, succumb to the first weeks of very hot weather, the infant death rate jumps up and there is a hue and cry to "save the babies." But the babies in the greatest need of care have been lost before the summer work is under way. The new plan is to give them proper care from the week of their arrival so that they may be fortified against the first descent of hot weather. It is a beautiful and thorough-going scheme and highly to be commended for its practical good sense. It leaves an old-fashioned man rather gasping to know what has become of the duties of parenthood, and just why they should end with a birth certificate. It is, however, a clear economic waste to allow children to die because the homes into which they come are unable, from ignorance or poverty to bring them to healthful maturity.—Brooklyn Eagle.

North Carolina a Pattern.

Farmers of Georgia lose $1,000,000 a year through the ravages of the cattle tick. The tick can be wiped out of existence in five years, according to Professor Soule. Both the State and Federal departments of agriculture have taken up the fight, and it now remains only for the farmers themselves to give their co-operation. Will they do it, and save $1,000,000 a year? We saw it stated a day or two ago that the cattle tick had been wiped out of some fifteen North Carolina counties in the course of three or four years. We ought to be able to do as well in Georgia as they have done in North Carolina.—Savannah Morning News.

A TINY BIT OF GROUND.

What May Be Done With a Plot Twenty by Fifty Feet.

A space 20 by 50 feet may under intensive culture be made to yield fresh vegetables for a small family through half the year. With 40 by 50 feet or 50 by 100 there can be a garden spelling riotous plenty.

Have the spading done as early as possible, use thoroughly rotted manure and supplement it with some good commercial fertilizer, either broadcasted and raked in or put in hills or drills.

It is a waste of seed, strength and time to plant a garden in poor soil. The seed will come up, the spindling plants will be harder to work than if they were luxuriant, and the resultant crop will be mostly conspicuous by its absence. So, if it be impossible to do more, make small rich beds, four feet wide and as long as the manure holds out, and sow them crosswise with such things as radishes, lettuce, cress, parsley, beets and onions. Make the rows a foot to eighteen inches apart or sow the radishes broadcast. Lettuce also yields more for broadcast sowing. Pull out the thickest as soon as edible and leave the rest to grow. Radish tops make excellent greens, something better flavored than mustard. By sowing thickly you can have dishes of greens.

Say the garden is 40 by 50 feet, this is something what the planting of it should be: Dwarf early peas, medium early and late peas, beets, early and later; beans in succession, including bush limas; carrots, radishes, tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers. Do not adventure upon corn unless it be sweet corn planted on the pea space as a second crop, to come in just before frost. Make an asparagus bed all across one end of the plot, setting two-year-old roots and fertilizing the bed heavily in early summer just after cutting ceases. Peas are so hardy they may be planted before snow is past, provided, of course, the ground is right when they go in. Make it fine and light, cover the seed at least three inches deep, then tramp the earth over them, setting the feet so one track touches the other. A quart of seed will sow a hundred feet of drill the proper thickness. An ounce of beet seed will sow the same row length.—Circle Magazine.

An Imitation of Booth.

On one occasion Edwin Booth was standing behind the scenes when a character actor who had been giving imitations of noted actors was about to respond to an encore.

"Whom do you imitate next?" Booth asked.

"Well," was the reply, "I was going to represent you in Hamlet's soliloquy, but if you look on I'm afraid I shall make a mess of it."

"Suppose I imitate myself?" remarked the tragedian, and, hastily putting on the other actor's wig and buttoning up his coat, he went on and delivered the well known lines.

The next morning a newspaper stated that the imitation ruined the performance, "the personation of Edwin Booth being simply vile enough to make that actor shudder had he seen it."

And So Got Riches.

An unfeeling monster of a man—although a writer in the Atechison Globe does not so describe him—was asked at a little evening gathering to tell what book had helped him most.

"My wife's cookbook," he replied after some thought.

All the ladies present bridled, and one asked him in what way his wife's cookbook had helped him—would he not tell them in a few words?

He would. "About as soon as I married," he said, "I made up my mind I'd rather work than eat."

Suburban Advantages.

First Suburbanite—You were not at the church sociable last night. What was the matter?

Second Suburbanite—Got carried past my station and couldn't get a train back till it was too late.

First Suburbanite—Ah! Reading again?

Second Suburbanite—Now! Trying to explain the benefits of living in the suburbs to a city man.

Painting Wagner's Picture.

Sir Hubert von Herkomer, the celebrated English artist, described his experience in painting the portrait of Richard Wagner without a sitting. Wagner in 1877 was introducing his music to English audiences, and he permitted the young artist to be with him at his house, see him day by day and watch him. When Wagner was asked when he intended to sit he replied, "He sees me all the time." That went on for a month. Then the artist started one Friday on the portrait, worked at it all day at white heat, slept badly all night and worked again all day Saturday. By the evening it was finished, and the next day he took the portrait, glazed and framed, to Wagner. Then came a change over the great musician. He was delighted.

A Bad Lot.

When charged with being drunk and disorderly and asked what he had to say for himself the prisoner gazed pensively at the magistrate, smoothed down a remnant of gray hair and said:

"Your honor, man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn. I'm not as debased as Swift, as profligate as Byron, as dissipated as Poe or as debauched as—"

"That will do!" thundered the magistrate. "Ten days! And, officer, take a list of those names and run 'em in. They're as bad a lot as he is!"—London Mail.

Preferred to Be Prepared.

He was a small six-year-old, and he was stretched across his father's knee in the attitude traditional for generations in the prevention of sparing the rod.

"Papa," he asked in the moment of silence before the slipper fell, "are you going to spank me?"

"Well, I suppose I am. Why do you ask?"

"Because, papa," he replied, with all the dignity possible under the circumstances, "I do not wish to be surprised."—London Punch.

FLINT AND TINDER.

Making Fire in the Days Before We Had Matches.

A friend of mine of just my age used to laugh about his own boyhood and tell the story of his mother shaking him in bed and bidding him put on his boots when he dressed and his overcoat and wade through the snow to the next neighbor's to get a pan of hot coals with which to make the fire. I suppose Joe's mother had lost her flint. We kept our flint and tin was called "the steel" in a round tin box such as would hold a quart of strawberries now, and it was on the mantelpiece in the kitchen. It was half full of tinder. Half the boys and girls of today do not know what tinder is or was.

Now, whoever was in the kitchen in the morning and found that the last hot coal of the wood fire had gone out took down the tinder box and struck the steel with the flint smartly and often until a redhot spark fell on the tinder; then very carefully she blew with her breath on any flakes of the tinder which had lighted until she had quite a little cove of lighted tinder. Then she took what we called a brimstone match and put that very carefully in the little hot hole. If all things worked well, the brimstone lighted and the wood of the match lighted, and she lighted the candle, which made a part of the tinder box.

Oh, dear! There were thousands of tinder boxes in little Boston the day I was born, and a few years ago I tried to buy one as a curiosity, and I could not find one in any of the junkshops. In those days old women would stop at the door and ask you to buy some bundles of matches. They had made these themselves of pine wood four inches long, which they had dipped in hot brimstone at both ends. And those were the only matches that anybody ever heard of.—Woman's Home Companion.

Always Dreaded the 14th.

Most dismal of all men off the stage was Grimaldi, the clown, and his father fathered him. He had that curious dread of a certain date which assails so many. The elder Grimaldi hated the 14th of the month, and when it was passed he regarded himself as safe until the next. He was born, christened and married on the 14th of the month, and, being discontented with all three events, will hope his death on March 14, 1788, satisfied him.—London Tatler.

Cutting Humor.

With cap and bells jangling, he burst into the king's presence. "Have you heard my last joke, your majesty?" he cried. "I have," was the reply as the royal ax descended on the neck of the court jester.—Life.

Realism.

The Author—Well, how did you like my play? The Critic—Oh, it was very nice! The Author—Didn't you think the church scene realistic? The Critic—Intensely so. Why, a great many of us actually went to sleep while it was on.—Cleveland Leader.
