GREENVILLE DEFEATS GOLDSBORO

THE HOME BOYS WIN THE DEBATE

All Acquitted Themselves Creditably and Received the Plaudits of The Audience.

A very large audience assembled in the opera house Friday night, to hear the debate between representatives of the debating societies of Goldsboro and Greenville schools. The occasion was looked forward to with much interest, as both sides had worthy competitors, and the home people went with none too great expectancy that their favorites would win. In fact many held fears that Greenville would go down in defeat, but the result was very different. It was not an easy matter, either, for the visitors certainly made the home boys earn what they got.

The query was "Resolved, That the next legislature of North Carolina should pass a law to go into effect Oct. 1st, 1912, compelling every child in North Carolina between the ages of 7 and 14 years to attend school 4 months in each year."

Goldsboro had the affirmative and was represented by Thomas Daniel and George Freeman, while Greenville on the negative was represented by Charles Haskett and B. F. Taylor.

It was just 9 o'clock when Linda Smith, secretary of the home society, announced the query and called the first speaker in the affirmative.

Mr. Daniels opened for Goldsboro, and the speeches being limited to minutes 15 he lost no time getting down to his subject, but rapidly and with vim showed North Carolina's standing in the scale of illiteracy, and through comparisons and statistics of other countries and other States showed the advantage of compulsory education. He also pointed out the disposition of many North Carolina parents to keep their children out of school, and declared that a compulsory education law was a necessity to bring our State from under the dark cloud of ignorance and raise her to the position she should occupy.

Good speech indeed, was the feeling of the audience as he closed amid a burst of applause. Naturally there was then some anxiety as to how Greenville would measure up in reply, and the audience soon dropped into quietness for the secretary to call the first affirmative speaker.

Mr. Haskett arose, and had not uttered half a dozen sentences before confidence in the ability of the home side was well established. "Compulsion and North Carolina are not synonyms," he began. "Ours are a people who can be coaxed and led, but they are never driven. Mecklenburg, King's Mountain and Guilford Court House bear eloquent proof of this." He then took up the record of North Carolina's splendid educational progress in late years and argued strongly that our people are rapidly rising in the scale without the intervention of a compulsory education law and no such law is needed. He was given an oration when he closed.

The next speaker for Goldsboro was Mr. Freeman. He continued the forcible argument of his colleague in favor of compulsory education. "To say North Carolina should have such a law is to say that it is necessary," he declared. "Public education is a failure so far as reaching all the children of the State. Education is the best investment the State can make, but as so many of our people neglect to give their children advantages of an education a compulsory law is a necessity to make them do so." He brought out an array of statistics of school enrollment and attendance that were strong for his side of the argument, and the audience showed its appreciation of his good speech.

Mr. Taylor closed the negative for Greenville. He captured his hearers at once by wading right in to his competitors for basing their argument on figures ten years old, taken from that general census of 1900, overlooking the splendid progress North Carolina has made under local voluntary taxation since that time. He declared that legislative enactment of compulsory education is not proper, if it come at all it should be by vote of the people. He declared such a law is not necessary, and produced argument showing that in many States having compulsory education the law is more or less a failure. Comparing the population of different States, he showed that while Massachusetts with dense population, excellent roads and fine school equipment might be benefitted by such a law, it would be a burden to North Carolina with her sparse population, miserable roads and inadequate school houses. Such a compulsory law, he said, would apply to both races, and to enforce it would mean the annulment of all that the State had accomplished by the adoption of the constitutional suffrage amendment. He was frequently applauded.

Each of the speakers had four minutes rejoinder of which they made good use. All four of the young men acquitted themselves well, but it was not hard to see that the honor of victory belonged to Greenville.

The judges, Revs. B. F. Huske and H. B. Searight and Dr. Charles Laughinghouse, sent up written votes from their seats without conferring with each other, and when these were opened the unanimous vote was for the negative. While this decision was expected, the announcement was greeted with a burst of applause and congratulations were showered upon the victors.

Beautiful bouquets were sent on the stage for all four of the young men.

The exercises were made more enjoyable by a piano solo rendered by Miss Ellie Brown, and a vocal duet by Misses Bessie Haskett and Vernessa Smith, with violin obligato by Miss Lillian Carr and piano accompaniment by Miss Mary Lucy Dupree.

Prof. J. L. Hathcock, principal of the Goldsboro school, came with the young men from that town and he thanked the people of Greenville for the cordiality and kind treatment accorded them.

Superintendent Smith also expressed his thanks to the people and expressed the hope that there would be more debating contests.

There will be services in the Free Will Baptist church tomorrow morning and night. Rev. D. A. Windham pastor. The public is invited.

The executive board of the Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. T. A. Person Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. Every member please be present.

WINTERVILLE COMMENCEMENT.

The Best Exercises in the History of the School.

Winterville, N. C., May 15. The ninth annual commencement of Winterville High School is now history, closing Friday night at 10:15 o'clock. The weather was ideal from beginning to end and the audience that attended each exercise was a record breaker. It is generally customary to say that the last one is always the best, but we think we can truthfully say that this was the best all round commencement in the history of the school.

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the annual sermon was preached by Rev. Chas. L. Greaves, pastor of the First Baptist church of New Bern. His text was from Gen. 37:5, "And Joseph dreamed a dream and he told it his brethren; and they hated him yet the more." The sermon was a gem. It was so appropriate for the young. If we ever amount to anything in the world we must dream dreams. The great men of ages dreamed of high and lofty aspirations in life. God was in Joseph's dreams, even so is he in our dreams of noble and pure things. Joseph knew God was in his dream. Happy are we, if we recognize God as the giver of all noble aspirations. The sermon has been spoken of as the best ever delivered here on a commencement occasion.

The exercises by the graduating class on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock were of an exceptionally high order and were greatly enjoyed by a packed audience, as was so well described in Friday's paper.

On Friday morning at 11 o'clock, the literary address was delivered by Dr. W. L. Poteat, president of Wake Forest. He was ably and befittingly introduced by Rev. T. H. King. The subject of Dr. Poteat's address was the "New South." There was a time when the idea of the "New South" was hooted by our people but it is no longer true, we all see the great transformation that has taken place. There has been a great educational awakening. Education is no longer confined to the higher classes, but the poorest and humblest man has an equal chance of educating his children. The South has inexhaustible wealth in her fertile soil. Mines will not last always but the soil will, and with the modern methods of farming our people will become rich. With all this bright outlook for the South, there are dangers. Materialism instead of manhood is too often thought of by the young. Too often the dude and the sport is the girl's ideal, while the young man seeks the girl who has the "rocks" (money) and does not give the least consideration to character which is the principle thing. It matters not how much money a man has, but the great question is, "Is he a man?" Would that every one in N. C. could have heard this great address.

After the address came the presentation of certificates to the graduating class by Prof. Lineberry. The following received certificates of having completed the college preparatory course: Misses Bertha Carroll, Mamie Chapman, Juanita Dixon, Olinda Newton and Messrs. W. H. House, D. R. Jackson, J. B. Kittrell and W. T. Lineberry. Those receiving certificates of having completed the course in

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

C. M. Jones returned Friday from Norfolk.

Miss Mavis Evans from near here is visiting her cousin, Miss Nina Harris.

Miss Louisa Rieves, of Robersonville, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Lucy E. Rieves.

C. C. Cobb, of Norfolk, came in Friday afternoon to spend a few days at his old home.

Mrs. Mary Lang, of Farmville, who has been visiting Mrs. R. L. Smith in South Greenville, returned home Friday.

Rev. F. M. Osborne, of Charlotte, will arrive today and preach in the Episcopal church tomorrow morning and night.

Dr. W. L. Poteat, president of Wake Forest College, stopped over here between trains, Friday afternoon, returning home from Winterville.

English were: Misses Lizzie Harris, Ethel Ives, Olive Butt and G. G. Dixon.

After this came a very touching scene when Prof. Lineberry announced that although his connection as principal of the school would be severed yet he should always consider Pitt county his home, and that in his new work as educational secretary he would give probably a fourth of his time to the interest of our school. He turned down some flattering offers in order that he might do this. Through these columns we want to express to him our heartfelt thanks and deepest appreciation for his great work here and especially for making a great sacrifice on his part in order that he may remain in touch with the school.

Next Prof. Ragsdale spoke a few words expressing his admiration for Prof. Lineberry and his great work. He said that he felt that his right arm was gone. He said that he was too full to even attempt to express his feelings. Prof. Ragsdale was not the only one who had a full heart.

The debate in the afternoon by six young men from the Vance Literary Society was one of the best ever given here. The query was, "Resolved, that the present tendency toward centralizing the power in the National government is for the best interest of this republic." The affirmative was masterfully represented by Messrs. P. N. Strother, G. G. Dixon and J. D. Rogers, the negative by Messrs. L. G. Whitely, D. R. Jackson and M. L. Tingle. The following gentlemen acted as judges: Prof. W. H. Cale, of Grifton, Prof. J. A. McArthur, of Ayden and Rev. B. F. Huske, of Greenville. The judges rendered a decision in favor of the affirmative by only a small margin, each speaker acquitting himself most admirably.

The closing concert by the Philo-Altean Literary Society Friday evening at 7:30 was fully up to the average and was attended by a packed audience. Many were turned away for lack of room. Thus has closed one of the best years in the history of the school.

The opportunity of securing one of the unique silver belt buckles, with your monogram engraved free of charge, will be open to you on Monday next in the show window of Pulley & Bowen's store. Don't miss this chance.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., May 14, 1909.

There are some men who no matter how busily engaged or what large amount of business may employ their time, can always find the opportunity to do a friend a kindness when distress or misfortune overtake him. Of such, our two most excellent townsmen, J. R. and R. W. Smith cannot be excelled. Doing an immense business, never seemingly having a spare moment, yet their deeds of kindness are innumerable. Especially have they been kind to us, keeping up our correspondence during our long illness, aiding and assisting us since we have begun to improve and get out; certainly no simple words we can frame into sentences will ever begin to express our grateful thanks. That their efforts in life have been successful we are not surprised, and that they may continue so is our sincerest wish. Surely, can we ever do or say that which will add to their enjoyment or success in life that opportunity will be readily taken advantage of. There are others who have been equally kind during our illness. Our lady and young girl friends were profuse in their gift of lovely flowers and expressions of sympathy. The gentlemen were not one whit amiss in their attention and sincerity of their acts. To all and everyone we feel truly grateful and hope their's through life may be pleasant paths and in that to come a happiness replete with joy and where sorrows or misfortune are never known may be realized.

Miss Helen Cox, of Greensboro, is here on a visit to her host of friends at her old home. There is no one all of us are more pleased to see than Miss Helen.

The flies and doctors seem to be enjoying themselves. The flies in anticipation of a sickly summer, and the doctors—well.

Richard Wingate will move into his large and handsome house on Main street this week.

W. H. Hamilton and L. I. Kittrell, of Winterville, have been here this week.

Guy Ross, of Zebulon, has been spending several days in Ayden.

Mrs. J. J. Elliott and two children, of Richmond, are here on a visit to her sister, Mrs. M. M. Sauls.

Work was begun on the new tobacco warehouse Monday. When complete it will be 140 x 70 feet.

Luther McLawhorn had a very sick child this week. It is very much better now.

Prof. Ragsdale has been down looking after the school interests. Mrs. Northcote, from Winston-Salem, was here yesterday and organized an Eastern Star degree of the Masonic order. There were 23 charter members.

The infant child of G. W. Prescott that was so severely burned Monday of last week, died of its injuries Wednesday, 12th inst, and was buried Thursday afternoon in the cemetery.

Miss Majorie Meredith, who has been away for several weeks returned Tuesday evening.

The silver belt buckles with free engraved monograms, which will be displayed in the show window of Pulley & Bowen's store on Monday and Tuesday, 17th and 18th, will be the first thing of this kind ever exhibited here. Give us a call. 5 15

Haskett and Taylor are a pair of debaters right.

Maj. Charles M. Stedman was among those mentioned for appointment as successor to Judge Connor on the Supreme court bench, but he has notified Governor Kitchin that he will not be a candidate.

A great Professor Phule has now conceived the idea of making an enormous black mark on one of our alkali deserts to attract the attention of Mars, which will be much cheaper than the ten million dollar idea of the "mirror reflection" crank. But why should he go to so much trouble, when there is no way telling whether Mars knows we are making fools of ourselves or thinks we have just had a big forest fire, which perhaps by applying themselves to the tasks of their own world on their own planet her inhabitants have found a means of preventing, and which occur in this planet so often.

In our travels around we have noticed in some towns the farmers and strangers are furnished with ice cold water through the fountains on the streets. This is mighty nice and it is a luxury to the visitor of a day who otherwise would have to go thirsty until he gets back home to his good, cool, refreshing well water or drink hot city water.

Now we have a rest room for the ladies coming to town on shopping expeditions. Why can't we have ice cold water on our streets for men who come? In our opinion this would be a winning feature for the town and would draw people here and it would surely be very little expense.

We have city fountains at Five Points and on the court house square and it would be an easy matter to make a coil of pipe above the ground with an air tight box that would accommodate a block of ice inside the coil, which would keep the water cool and refreshing. Ice would cost very little and it would be a great thing for our visitors.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

It is announced that Hon. O. S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' Union, will attend the State convention of the Farmers' Union at Charlotte, May 18. You want to see him and hear him talk—there's only one C. S. Barrett and he stands at the head of the biggest organization of farmers that exists now or has ever existed in this country, numbering 2,400,000, of which number 2,000,000 are actual farmers.—People's Paper.

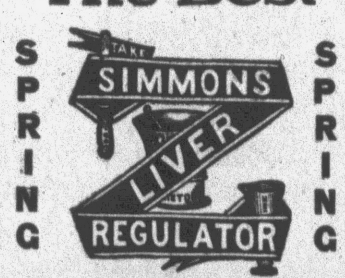

Newbern's Paper Mill.

Readers of Sunday's Journal noted with interest that it was printed upon newspaper of home production. The fact that the pulp was not made altogether from local products, cannot take away from the interest of this manufactured product, whose ingredients were so carefully compounded, resulting in a newspaper that was surprisingly fine for a first attempt.

The Carolina Paper Pulp Mills has reached its present stage of development, after several years of energetic work with many adverse conditions to surmount. The confidence in this plant is best judged by the fact that its stock is owned in majority by citizens of Newbern.

The gentlemen who have taken up this paper mill industry have the fullest confidence in the outcome of their venture. They are sparing neither money nor the needed skill of men and machinery, in bringing to full manufacturing power this paper industry, and its success means more to Newbern than the mere profit upon the investment that its investors expect to realize. It means industries to follow.—Newbern Journal.

Gem Theatre.

On Monday night, May 17th, The Gem theatre, located at 421 Evans street and under the management of Mr. Verne F. Alley, will open its doors for the purpose of supplying the citizens of Greenville with a moving picture show of the better class. Mr. Alley is well qualified to conduct this theatre as it should be, he having been connected with a number of similar theatres throughout the State, and all who attend the opening night are assured a clean wholesome entertainment stamped with the seal, nothing nicer anywhere. The house has been neatly furnished on the inside with everything necessary for your comfort, including a metal operating booth, making a fire impossible. The program will be varied and consist of the best class of pictures obtainable with a complete change every day, and as every effort will be made toward meriting your approval we have no hesitancy in asking, you to at least show your appreciation of our efforts by attending the opening night and give us a chance to personally demonstrate our ability to present an entertainment that is really worth while.

Experienced travellers have found great benefit by taking with them a bottle of Dr. Seth Arnold's Balsam. It cures illness caused by impure water and sudden changes of climate. Warranted by J. L. Wooten.

As you have probably noticed, most shoes have a tendency to wrinkle and "bunch up" across the toes after the shoes have been worn a few times. This is the fault of the lasting (the process of pulling and stretching the leather over the wooden last.)

The RALSTON method has remedied this fault. Ralston vamps are first crimped (see illustration) then lasted. There are no bunches, no wrinkles, because every part of the vamp fits the last perfectly without straining the leather at any point. This adds to the wear of the shoe. It also explains the reason why Ralstons retain their smart appearance until worn out.

There are other unusual features of RALSTON SHOE construction which will appeal to you. Come in and look over our new styles.
