STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Gastonia, June 14.—Tragic in the extreme was the death here yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock of Mr. Leonard Holland, who died in the city hospital as the result of injuries sustained Saturday night at 11 o'clock when he jumped from fast train No. 30 as it passed through Gastonia. His skull was fractured in at least two places, his head bore two or more gaping scalp wounds, both legs were broken and other marks of the accident were apparent on his body.

Asheville, N. C., June 15.—Two miners, Woody and English, are dead as the result of a cave-in of a mica mine in Mitchell county. The men were not killed outright, but Woody died before aid reached them, forty-eight hours after the accident. English died in a few hours after being taken out of the shaft.

For the next sixty days bids for a site for the North Carolina Knights of Pythias orphanage will be received from towns desiring to secure the location for this institution. George I. Hackney, Asheville, grand chancellor, is ex-officio chairman and J. D. Pridgen, Durham, secretary of the Grand Commandery commission, that has in hand the matter of selecting the location of the orphanage. A site at Durham is understood to have been tentatively selected, but this is subject to change in the event there is sufficient inducement offered by some other town in the State.

Mr. D. Smith, of Winterville, was brought to the city on the late Coast Line train, yesterday, and taken to the hospital. Mr. Smith was suffering with a most acute and severe attack of appendicitis and immediate operation was found necessary. When operated upon the appendix was found to be gangrenous. Though he rallied well from the operation and seems some better today, his condition is most critical and little hope is entertained for his recovery.—Kinston Free Press.

Greensboro, June 15.—When James W. H. May in company with Deputy Sheriff John W. Weatherly, went into a cell of the jail at noon today to take out a prisoner who was wanted in the court house, John Spense, who was occupying the cell with the prisoner wanted, suddenly began larruping Jailer May over the head with a big linked iron chain, cutting a bad scalp wound on his head through his hat before the assailant with the aid of the deputy sheriff, the jailer and the other prisoner could get him down and tie him. Spense has been in jail eight weeks awaiting admission into the asylum, having been sent here from High Point. He has been very quiet and orderly, showing no signs of being dangerous until the sudden attack on the jailer today.

Tyson King.

Your presence is requested at the marriage of Miss Lena Katurah King to Mr. Benjamin Franklin Tyson Wednesday morning, June thirtieth nineteen hundred and nine at eight o'clock Christian Church Greenville, N. C. No cards issued in town.

Misses Kate and Lala Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Daughety went to Hookerton today.

We call your special attention to the last statement of the Bank of Winterville, showing the excellent condition of the bank. It solicits your patronage and guarantees prompt service.

Coming June Thirtieth.

Of Miss Helen Marie Day, who with her sister, Miss Harriette Day and Miss Phyllis Woodall, will give a recital in Masonic Temple opera house on June 30th, the New York Post says:

Helen Marie Day's rendition of her songs was accomplished with the same care and success that mark all of her work. Her voice is fresh and brilliant in quality and is well managed. She received the enthusiastic applause of the audience and merited the many recalls that the audience insisted upon when her numbers were finished. She has a beautiful clear and expressive voice showing great skill, making much of the opportunities offered. Her work has been received with enthusiastic evidence of appreciation in many of the larger cities of the United States and Canada, where she has appeared. She has a fine stage presence and great dramatic ability.

For Sale—One vacant lot, 40x150, on Cotanch street. Apply to W. H. Cox, Kinston. 6 17.

ROCHDALE ITEMS.

Rochdale, N. C., June 16, 1909.

Misses Agnes and Trilby Smith spent Thursday at Haywood Smiths, in Marlton.

The singers had choir practice at Smiths school house Thursday night.

Mrs. Haywood and David Smith, her brother, of Marlton, attended choir practice at Smiths school house Thursday night.

Miss Trilby and Mark Smith went to Snow Hill Saturday and returned Monday.

Mrs. C. C. Cobb, of Norfolk, and Miss Wainright, of Wilson, who are visiting B. P. Cobb at Cobddale, went to Greenville Saturday and returned.

We had a nice little Sunday school at Smiths school house Sunday evening.

Rev. J. B. Cook, Pastor of the Baptist church at Greenville, came up Sunday evening and preached an excellent sermon. Brother J. F. Stokes brought him up here.

Next Sunday, June 20th, is Mr. G. Hinton Crumpler's regular appointment at Smiths school house, and Sunday school at 9:30 o'clock. We hope all who can will come out.

Miss Em Joyner, of Greenville, came up Sunday and returned home Monday.

Patrick Cobb, of Kinston, was visiting in Smithtown Saturday night and Sunday and left on the evening train Monday.

Miss Nannie Parker, of Greene county, came yesterday to visit Ivy Smith.

Mrs. C. E. McLawhorn and children went to C. L. Tyson's near Renston, Monday and returned in the evening in the rain.

We had heavy rains Friday evening and at night and Sunday evening and night, and yesterday it rained nearly all the afternoon up to 10 o'clock at night. Entirely too wet to get in the fields to work, and it looks like the farmers will lose their oat crop unless it fairs off soon.

The boys held their debate at Smith's school house Saturday night and will debate again this week.

BACK JACK ITEMS.

Black Jack, N. C., June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Cox and children, of Ayden, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dixon.

THE CHOICE A GOOD ONE.

Oak Ridge, N. C., June 15. Editor Reflector:

The friends of Prof. R. H. Wright at this place (and they number the whole population), not only congratulate him upon his election to the presidency of the East Carolina Teachers Training School, but they congratulate the school upon securing the services of Prof. Wright.

Prof. Wright was prepared for college at Oak Ridge Institute, graduating with the class of 1893, and after he graduated at the University he accepted a position with this institution, having charge of the departments of senior English and mathematics. After spending two years here he resigned to take post graduate work at Johns Hopkins University and after a year he was elected to a professorship in the department of history in the Baltimore city college. After two years he was made principal of the Eastern Baltimore girl college.

No one who knows Prof. Wright has any doubt about his scholarship, experience, or capacity to make a fine executive officer for the East Carolina Teachers Training School. He is a splendid scholar, a thorough gentleman and painstaking, popular teacher and a fine executive officer. The State is fortunate in his prospective return to the educational work of such importance in its borders. J. A. Holt.

Masonic Opera House Tonight.

The Hunter's Grief, by M. Jules Sandeau, Academie Francaise—the increasingly insistent demands for our Film D'art is extremely gratifying to our ambition to put before the public high-class subjects. In this beautiful and touching drama another masterpiece has been accomplished. The different characters are artistically portrayed by M. Masnier of the Theatre Renaissance, M. Chelles, and Mlle. Trillane, of l'Oden, all prominent Parisian artists. The splendid scene effects a beautiful background which intensifies every effect of the actor's art. This picture and 3 others for tonight will make by far the finest program of pictures ever shown in this place.

For Sale.

On Monday, June 21st, at 12 o'clock we will sell at public action to the highest bidder before the court house in Greenville one house now used for the Free Will Baptist church known as the public school house. And one lot 75x75 on Eleventh street near said church. Terms of sale one-fourth cash, remainder by Jan. 1st, 1910.

A. L. Potter, J. T. Abrams, C. A. Jones. Building Committee. 6 1 to 6 15 & to 6 19

The weather was better and the moving picture shows were well attended last night.

Greenville Lodge No. 184 A. F. & A. M. will hold its annual communication tomorrow, the election of officers being the principal business.

The line force of the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company have been busy the past two days replacing their cable along Third street, which was broken down by trees being cut along the street by the town.

Gem Theatre.

The benefit performance at the Gem last night was well patronized, one of the largest crowds since the opening night being present and every one expressed their admiration of the beautiful pictures shown. The program tonight will be of the same high standard and every one should see it as this is the last night of the benefit, also your last chance on the $2.50 to be given away tomorrow night absolutely free. You should not fail to pay the Gem a visit. We guarantee the performance tonight to be equal if not better than any ever shown in the city before. Remember the Gem is the coolest place and shows the best pictures to be seen in the city. Follow the crowd and investigate.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1909.

Sousa says ragtime music is a back number. And Sousa ought to know, if anybody does.

Those who were not expecting congress to do any reforming of the tariff are not likely to be disappointed.

A Nebraska girl swallowed a lot of gun cotton with suicidal intent, and the doctors tied her to keep her from exploding.

Washington dispatches say that President Taft has taken sides with Senator Aldrich for the defeat of the income tax proposition.

Diamonds on the free list will give lots of comfort to farmers and producers. Being permitted to buy diamonds free of tariff duty is a great privilege.

We see that Warrenton, a town very much smaller than Greenville, is to have a large cotton factory. Greenville certainly ought to move up for something like this. If smaller towns with less capital and fewer advantages can secure large factories, it looks like our people might do the same thing.

Cotton in the State

There are fourteen counties in North Carolina that raise over 15,000 bales of cotton, eight that raise 10,000 to 15,000 bales, fifteen that raise 5,000 to 10,000 bales and thirty-one that raise less than 5,000 bales. The biggest cotton raising counties are Cleveland, Mecklenburg, Union, Anson, Scotland, Robeson, Wake, Johnson, Wayne, Wilson, Nash, Halifax, Edgecombe and Pitt. Robeson is the champion producer, as it raised last year 51,445 bales, against 34,638 for Johnson, the second largest cotton producer. Mecklenburg is third, with 32,415. Area compared, however, the little county of Scotland beats the State. On the map it looks like a mere township, yet last year it raised 25,995 bales. Gaston, the greatest cotton mill county in the State, lying between Cleveland and Mecklenburg, two over-15,000-bale counties, raised only 12,829 bales. Catawba is an under 10,000-bale county, but the farmers there pay more attention to wheat and sweet potatoes than they do to cotton. That the cotton area of North Carolina is not nearly developed is evidenced by the fact that less than 5,000 bales are raised in Bladen, Columbus and Pender, three of the finest cotton counties in the State and each capable of producing from 30,000 to 40,000 bales. Richmond, Cumberland and Sampson counties could easily be brought into the 35,000-bale class, while Rowan, Cabarrus and Stanly could be brought up to 20,000 or 25,000. The State in 1908, produced 683,828, counting round as half bales, against 749,712 bales in 1904. This State could easily grow over a million bales should the necessity for it arise.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The alignment on the tariff question, at present, demon-

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

strates that this is a large country and the interests of different sections are diversified, and conflict with each other. It also demonstrates the fact that our contention, a year ago, for a platform with but few planks, was wise—and events should now learn the makers of platforms a lesson for the future. It is a difficult matter to make a platform that will suit every part of the country, so the best plan is to have just as few planks as possible, and let the local issues right themselves. It now seems that what is one section's medicine is another's poison, and Democrats, as well as Republicans, in congress, are taking both the medicine and the poison in large doses. The end is not yet—and the consumer is not relieved of the pains of taxation that is forced upon him. Relief is wanted badly.—Durham Sun.

They do say when a North Carolinian tells the president how some members of his party are cussing him for appointing Connor, he laughs out so loud that he shakes the rafters. We do not blame him. It is a badge of honor to be abused by the men who are after him. These kickers are eliminating themselves by their own acts, saving Mr. Taft any trouble in the matter. Years ago there was a big row in a large negro school. A new chairman of the board of trustees was elected. Asked by a personal friend what he was going to do with the kickers, he said nothing was required except to get them together before the board and they would kick themselves out, and this is just what happened.—Greensboro Record.

THE BAROMETER.

Li Hung Chang Found It a Delusion and a Snare.

One day many years ago Li Hung Chang was making a journey from Tientsin to Shanghai on a steamer of his Chinese Mutual company. Being of an inquiring disposition, he asked many questions about the machinery and the furnishings of the ship. What interested him most was the barometer, and Captain Baker explained it with great care and described the minutest details.

Several months after, when Captain Barker arrived at Tientsin at the end of a voyage, he was informed at the steamship office that Earl Li wanted to see him at the viceroy's yamen. The captain, judging from the experience of other men, expected to receive a reward for faithful service and, dressing himself with care, took a rickshaw for the residence of the greatest man in China. Upon his arrival he was shown into the reception room, and pretty soon Li Hung Chang made his appearance, followed by a servant carrying a handsomely mounted mahogany box. He put it on the table, opened it and took out a beautiful barometer, which had just arrived from Paris. After Captain Baker had admired the mechanism of the instrument Earl Li turned to him and said:

"Now I want you to show me how you foretell events with this thing."

"You cannot foretell events with a barometer," said Captain Baker in surprise.

"You told me you could," retorted Earl Li.

"I never did anything of the kind," exclaimed the astonished seaman. "I told you that by comparing the changes in the temperature and direction of the wind with the movements of this instrument we could anticipate a storm, but I did not say anything about foretelling events, because that is impossible."

The viceroy stared at the sailor with astonishment and exclaimed:

"You are an ignorant, incompetent fellow. Don't you know that the weather is the most uncertain thing in the world? Other events are governed by laws and arbitrary conditions, from which the weather is entirely free, and anybody who can find out what the weather is going to be ought to be able to foretell ordinary events."

Then, with a contemptuous motion, he dismissed Captain Baker from his presence and never spoke to him again.

Irreparable Loss.

"What has happened to me?" asked the patient when he had recovered from the effects of the ether.

"You were in a trolley car accident," said the nurse, "and it has been found necessary to amputate your right hand."

He sank back on the pillow, sobbing aloud.

"Cheer up," said the nurse, patting him on the head; "you'll soon learn to get along all right with your left hand."

"Oh, it wasn't the loss of the hand itself that I was thinking of," sighed the victim. "But on the forefinger was a string that my wife tied around it to remind me to get something for her this morning, and now I'll never be able to remember what it was."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LOST OPPORTUNITIES.

An Ancient Indian Legend That Teaches a Good Lesson.

How many, in all climes and in all ages, call sadly and regretfully to mind the thousand golden opportunities forever lost? The lesson is beautifully taught in the following Indian legend:

There was once a beautiful damsel upon whom one of the good genii wished to bestow a blessing. He led her to the edge of a large field of corn, where he said to her:

"Daughter, in the field before us the ears of corn, in the hands of those who pluck them in faith, shall have talismanic virtues, and the virtue shall be in proportion to the size and beauty of the ear gathered. Thou shalt pass through the field once and pluck one ear. It must be taken as thou goest forward, and thou shalt not stop in thy path, nor shalt thou retrace a single step in quest of thine object. Select an ear full and fair, and according to its size and beauty shall be its value to thee as a talisman."

The maiden thanked the good genii and then set forward upon her quest.

As she advanced she saw many ears of corn, large, ripe and beautiful, such as calm judgment might have told her would possess virtues enough, but in her eagerness to grasp the very best she left these fair ears behind, hoping that she might find one still fairer. At length, as the day was closing, she reached a part of the field where the stalks were shorter and thinner, and the ears were very small and shriveled.

She now regretted the grand ears she had left behind and disdained to pick from the poor show around her, for here she found not an ear which bore perfect grain.

She went on, but, alas, only to find the stalks more and more feeble and blighted, until in the end, as the day was closing and the night coming on, she found herself at the end of the field without having plucked an ear of any kind. No need that the genii should rebuke her for her folly. She saw it clearly when too late.

THE MARITIME EXCHANGE.

It Keeps Posted on Every Vessel Engaged in Commerce.

It is a fact not generally known that the arrival and departure of steam and sailing vessels engaged in commerce is reported daily from every port in the world. Sitting in the Maritime Exchange, you could tell at a glance just what had transpired in shipping circles of any port during the past twenty-four hours. There is a report on every ship that has cleared or entered. The report gives the name of her home port, how many days out, her cargo, the number of passengers, her consignors and consignees, her destination and her captain's name. The companies themselves and underwriters and forwarders station these agents all over the map, and the agents are like so many train dispatchers on land reporting the movements of every piece of "rolling" stock under the reign of maritime law. The number of men engaged on shore in the business of sailing ships is twice as great as the number managing those same ships on the ocean.

In any given company the organization represents a great pyramid of brains and brawn, authority percolating down through the maze of detail from the man who draws a princely salary studying the Mercator projection to the stevedore who shifts what it was. Every man has his work cut out for him.

Every steamer that floats is considered as a unit. It is a semi-independent state the moment it leaves shore. It has its orders just the same, as a battalion of soldiers on the battlefield, and on its bridge walks the captain, who holds almost arbitrary power over the destinies of his floating community.—Bookkeeper.

MACCLESFIELD, N. C.

An Old Enemy.

Persons who rise in the world are not always as frank about their former places in life as good sense and humor might lead them to be. Dean Hole in his book of reminiscences, "Now and Then," tells a little story of one whose humor did not desert him in time of prosperity. A footman who had begun life as a doctor's boy grew interested in the study of medicine and spent his leisure hours reading medical books. He came to the United States, worked hard as a student and as a physician for many years and attained a large practice. After some years of absence he returned to England. Seated one day at luncheon with those whom he had formerly served, he suddenly astonished the company by holding up the mustard pot and addressing it with, "Hast thou found me, O mine enemy?"

Afterward he explained that the only reproof he had incurred from the lady who was then at the head of the table was evoked by the neglected condition of the mustard pot.

When the Woman Fainted.

This happened on the Lake Shore flier not long ago. A man rushed in from the car behind, evidently in great agitation, and said: "Has anybody in the car any whisky? A woman in the car behind has fainted." Instantly dozens of flasks were produced. The man who had asked for it picked out the largest one, drew the cork and put the bottle to his lips. With a long, satisfied sigh, he handed it back and remarked: "That did me a lot of good. I needed it, for it always makes me feel queer to see a woman faint."

Faithful Girl.

"You know, Miss Blank," said the proprietor of a railroad station restaurant, "there is a great deal in having your sandwiches look attractive."

"Yes, sir, I know it," replied the girl; "I have done everything I could. I have dusted those sandwiches every morning for the last ten days!"—Harper's Weekly.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Greenville People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously.

But nature always warns you Not to let the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy— If there are settlements and sediment, Passages frequent, scanty, painful. It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes. Doan's have done great work in this locality.

Mrs. T. A. Mitchell, 809 Chestnut St., Kinston, N. C., says: "For a long time my kidneys were weak, causing the secretions to pass irregularly. There was a constant dull ache across the small of my back and I had bearing-down pains through my abdomen which bothered me both day and night. Finally reading about Doan's Kidney Pills and being much impressed, I procured a box. I used them in strict accordance with the directions and the backache and pains soon vanished and my kidneys became normal. I feel better in every way and therefore recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as an excellent remedy to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Some Odd Words.

"Topsy turvy"—when things are in confusion, they are said to be topsy turvy, an expression derived from the way in which turf for fuel is placed to dry on its being cut. The surface of the ground is pared off with the heath growing upon it, and the heath is turned downward and left some days in that state that the earth may get dry before it is carried away. It means, therefore, really "top side turf way."

"Coxcomb" is a corruption of cock's comb, which is considered as an unnecessary part and is always cut off from game birds and only suffered to grow on those of the barnyard breed; hence coxcomb is a ridiculous fellow, who pays more attention to decoration of his person than to the improvement of his mind.

"Hurly burly" denotes confusion or tumult and is said to owe its origin to two neighboring families, Hurleigh and Burleigh, who filled their part of the country with contest of violence.

Why RALSTON SHOES are non-wrinkling

ORDINARY FLAT VAMP

RALSTON CRIMPED VAMP METHOD

$4.00

As you have probably noticed, most shoes have a tendency to wrinkle and "bunch up" across the toes after the shoes have been worn a few times. This is the fault of the lasting (the process of pulling and stretching the leather over the wooden last.)

The RALSTON method has remedied this fault. Ralston vamps are first crimped (see illustration) then lasted. There are no bunches, no wrinkles, because every part of the vamp fits the last perfectly without straining the leather at any point. This adds to the wear of the shoe. It also explains the reason why Ralstons retain their smart appearance until worn out.

There are other unusual features of RALSTON SHOE construction which will appeal to you. Come in and look over our new styles.
