Land plaster! plenty of it.—Try some under those peas and you will see that you will have absolutely no pops.

A. W. Ange & Co.

Misses Olive Butt and Jeanette Cox returned from Ayden Monday evening.

Miss Norma McGlohon spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Janie Kittrell.

Quite a number of persons from here attended preaching at Ayden last Sunday. It is good preaching, we can't afford to miss it.

Rev. B. F. Huske, of Greenville, will preach in St. Luke's Episcopal church, Winterville, June 27th, 4 p. m.

Mr. Malone, a theological student of Alexander, Va., will hold services during the summer months of vacation in St. Luke's church as follows:

First Sunday of each month, a night service at eight o'clock. Third Sunday, a morning service at 11 o'clock.

Fell From Roof of House.

Barney Burgess, colored, one of the linemen of the Municipal light plant, had the misfortune to fall from the roof of one of Mr. D. W. Hardee's houses on College avenue Monday afternoon. He was helping wire the house for electric lights, and while up on the roof, about twenty feet above ground, his foot slipped and down he came, considerably faster than the speed limit of eight miles an hour. He was bruised pretty badly, but fortunately no bones were broken.

Going Out of Business.

TRAVEL BY SEA.

The Wonder-Working Wireless Telegraph.

The Episcopal Prayer book still includes special petitions for persons traveling by sea, and yet ocean travel, for years past as safe as land travel, has become even safer with the coming of wireless telegraphy. The latest case in point was reported by the daily papers a few days ago. In midnight darkness the Cunard Line steamer Slavonia ran hopelessly aground off the Azores Islands in the mid-Atlantic. Out of reach of all other means of getting human aid, the little wireless telegraph instrument ticked out "C. Q. D."—the distress call, the wireless call for help—an invisible, intangible message merely ticked out into space through the darkness of the night and across the wild waste of unheeding waters while life and death trembled in the balance for hundreds of praying passengers.

The roar of any one of the hundred waves was louder than the call of the instrument: there was no burst of sound or flash of light, and yet—a tale stranger than that of old magicians in the fairy lore of our childhood—180 miles away the steamer Princess Irene heard the call: its sensitive receiving instrument caught from the ether wave the Slavonia's cry of distress. Immediately an offer of help traveled back across the nine score miles of intervening ocean, and the Princess Irene started under full steam to rescue the endangered crew. By the afternoon it had reached them, and soon still another vessel, having answered the same wireless call for help, came upon the scene. The Princess Irene took the first-class passengers, the other boat took the steerage and intermediate passengers, and of all the hundreds on board not one life was lost where, in other days, not one perhaps would have been saved. And the wonder-working wireless telegraphy has only begun its victories.—Progressive Farmer.

Swimming Pool for Wilson.

Mr. W. M. Wells, alderman from the first ward, is taking active steps towards having a swimming pool where Wilson's can't-get-aways may have an opportunity of taking dips during the heated season. The pool, when completed, may not be quite as enticing as it is in the old ocean flirting with mermaids and pulling the whiskers of goggle-eyed lobsters—but it will be far better than having no "sloshing place" at all. One hundred and thirty-seven dollars have thus far been raised, and when the proper amount has been subscribed the work will be completed at once.

The basis will be concreted and there will be dressing rooms for ladies and gentlemen, and possibly gymnasiums will be added later. This public bath will be built at the pumping station about one mile from Wilson.—News and Observer.

Why can't Greenville have something like this? It would be a great addition to the comforts of Greenville.

MINISTER'S WIFE SKIPS.

Wife of Rev. Dr. R. C. Beaman, of Newbern, Disappears With Another Man.

Newbern, June 21.—The congregation of Centenary Methodist Episcopal church was greatly startled Sunday morning when the pastor, Rev. C. Beaman, D. D., announced to them that his wife had disappeared and could not be located. The pastor's words were pronounced in as fine oratory as has ever been heard in that pulpit and no word of censure or bitter feeling escaped his lips. It was a very pathetic scene.

On Saturday, June 5, Dr. Beaman went to Durham to attend Trinity college commencement. Three or four days later Mrs. Beaman left New Bern, it is said, ostensibly for Rocky Mount, but nothing has been heard from her since. Notes found in different places indicate that she has left with a man named Grant, who has been in town for a few days. The matter was known to but very few prior to the Sunday morning services.

The Methodist church is the largest and most influential in the city, and one of the largest in the State and Dr. Beaman's charge over it has been marked with a period of prosperity.

PROF. FOSTER DROPPED.

Expelled From the Baptist Ministry in a Stormy Session.

Chicago, Ill., June 22.—Prof. Geo. Burman Foster, of the University of Chicago, whose denial of the Divinity of Christ in a recent book, has stirred Chicago Baptists to a high pitch of resentment, was dropped from the Baptist ministry's conference of Chicago today.

Hisses, yells and general confusion made the meeting one of the stormiest ever held by churchmen in Chicago, and it was referred to by one preacher as resembling a political meeting in a rowdy ward.

Speakers who had been howled or hissed down sat with flushed faces while the chairman pounded for order.

The young son of Prof. Foster was present.

"It's a shame and unfair," he shouted as he left the hall.

The insistence of Rev. Dr. A. C. Dixon, of the Moody church, that Prof. Foster be dropped for a time, brought the fight around to himself, the real object of the meeting being disregarded for a time.

Masonic Opera House.

To-night's picture the Bachelors Wife; Mr. Flip; His First Girl, and Belated Meal. This is a program that will please all classes and the King's Daughters and Presbyterian church hope to see you all out tonight. Be sure to come and help to make this benefit a big success. It is not often you have the chance to enjoy yourself and help a good cause at the same time without extra cost. The management heard that the opera house was a little cool last night on account of the electric fans. We want to hear from those who attend tonight. Kindly inform the manager as you pass out and he will thank you as your pleasure is his. We will do everything that is necessary in order to make the opera house comfortable. Don't forget the beautiful Christy picture we will give the lucky lady Saturday night.

ROCHDALE ITEMS.

Rochdale, N. C., June 22, 1909.

Mr. Robt. Joyner, of Farmville, spent Wednesday night with his sister, Mrs. Smith, and left on the morning train Thursday for Farmville.

Mills Smith went to Greenville Wednesday evening.

They had choir practice at Smith's school house Wednesday night.

C. D. Smith went to Greenville Thursday evening and returned.

F. M. Smith went to Rocky Mount last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith went to Greenville Saturday.

Miss Nannie Parker and Ivy Smith went to Greenville Saturday.

Mrs. A. J. Flanagan and son, of Farmville, came over Saturday to visit relatives and returned home Sunday evening.

Little Misses Martha Belle and Jessie Smith, of Farmville, were visiting relatives in our town Saturday and Sunday.

G. Hinton Crumpler and a friend of his, came down from Wilson Saturday evening and stopped with B. P. Cobb, at Cobdale. Mr. Crumpler preached very good sermons at Smith's school house to large and attentive congregations Sunday morning and at night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Pollard, from near Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Smith and David Smith, of Marlton and Mr. and Mrs. James Flanagan, of Farmville, attended church at Smith's school house Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Willoughby and children, of Farmville, were attending Sunday school here Sunday and spent the evening at Ivy Smith's.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Pollard spent Sunday evening at C. E. McLawhorn's.

Joe Cobb, of Standard, was in our section Sunday.

Miss Nannie Parker, who had been visiting at Ivy Smith's for several days returned to her home with her father at Lizzie Sunday evening.

Mr. Crumpler and his friend returned to Wilson Monday morning.

Now that the land has got dry enough to work, it would be good for the crops if they could all be plowed over in one day.

Mrs. C. E. McLawhorn is suffering considerably with a carbuncle or something of the kind.

Miss Anah Willoughby, of Farmville, is spending some time at C. E. McLawhorn to assist Mrs. McLawhorn in her work, as she is scarcely able to be up.

Absolute Confidence.

The long tailed comet is distinctly visible a little south of east and all moon-struck, stargazers can see it clearly if their eyes are strong enough. Being extremely near-sighted The Free Press man hasn't located it yet, but scientists assure us that it is there and visible, and Goldsboroans declare that they "have saw it," so that's enough for us. We know it's there.—Kinston Free Press.

"THE CITY BEAUTIFUL."

Let it be Greenville. In line with the idea of cleanliness comes the idea of beautifying the city, and we reprint the following remarks taken from a paper read before the Woman's Club of Birmingham, Alabama, by the mayor of that city. He offers some good suggestions that it would be well for the citizens of Greenville to follow:

"Pull down your fence. The city will haul it away and keep off the cows. If you can't be induced to part with it, fix it up and paint it.

Plant lawns, flowers and trees. Whenever the ground shows bare, put something green in it.

Exercise the same supervision over your sidewalk as over your front yard. Sidewalks are the index of the kind of people inside.

Trim up trees which are too low and which overhang the sidewalks.

If there are any dead trees around the place pull them up and start new ones.

Report anybody who mutilates or ties a horse to a tree.

You get half the fine on conviction.

Plant a strip of green in bare places along sidewalks. The city will furnish street sweepings if haul is not too long.

Out weeds away while young and tender. It will save you money and please everybody.

When streets or sidewalks are torn up and not properly repaired call up the mayor's office and give the name of the party responsible.

Report any unsightly object in your neighborhood. If possible, it will be remedied.

Don't let your dog bark all night. Think of your neighbors.

Call attention to all you meet to the idea of a "City Beautiful."

Encourage your children to help the good work along by training them to pick up papers, sticks and other rubbish where ever found. A few dimes and a lot of enthusiasm and determination will transform an unsightly back-yard into a little spot of beauty.

Sweet peas, climbing nasturtiums, castor beans, hollyhocks, or even sunflowers make an effective screen to hide old fences, sheds, or other unsightly views. For permanent screen use hardy shrubs, or the quick growing vines.

You may have a window box filled with geraniums, if you cannot have a grand yard filled with choice roses. The window box can be made at a very small cost. The flowers will not cost you 25 cents."

The sentiment against ladies wearing hats in church is growing rapidly. A Charlotte minister has requested the ladies of his congregation to leave off their hats at the evening service. We don't see that the ladies need wear them at all with the amount of hair they wear these days. But the more hair the larger the hat is the way they seem to figure it.

The Reflector does job work.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Criminal assault on our women and girls is getting to be all too common occurrence in the South again, and we seldom pick up a newspaper that we do not see an account of some case right near us.

We don't see how the detectives are going to find Leon Ling, the Chinese convert alleged slayer of Elsie Siegel, a missionary to Chinatown, New York, for all Chinamen look alike to us.

Charlotte's city fathers have placed a special tax on its news papers. A shame. Just as well put special tax on the post office. It is virtually about the same.

Beauty in the Home.

Art is becoming to us in this country a factor in our home life. We are beginning to feel the refining influences of beauty and to realize that the most ordinary home necessities can generally be secured with a thought of adding beauty as well as convenience to the household.

The simplest home where furnishings are selected with regard to combinations of color will give pleasure to all who enter it. A few paintings, a few choice books, a plant, or an individual touch of color will add to this general impression of refinement and create the so-called "atmosphere" which every one recognizes and appreciates, even if it is beyond analysis. Over crowded rooms, with walls covered with pictures and keepsakes of all kinds do not please us as they used to do. We are in search of a beauty of which simplicity is the basis.—Ex.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away. Greenville People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, kidney weakness may be the cause of it all. Keep your kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Can Greenville readers demand further proof than the following statement:

Jos. Savage, Church St., Tarboro, N. C., says: "For some time my kidneys were disordered, the passages of the secretions being scanty and at times painful. I had sharp pains across my loins and if I stooped suddenly, sharp twinges caught me across my back, making it hard for me to straighten. After using a number of remedies without obtaining relief, I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. They removed the aches and pains in my back and regulated the passages of the kidney secretions. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in return for the benefit I have derived from them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LIBRARY FRIGHT.

It Covers Its Victim With Confusion and Helplessness.

"That woman," said the library attendant, pointing to a woman who had just gone into the reading room, "had a pretty bad case of library fright."

"When?" asked the old subscriber.

"A few minutes ago, when she asked for a book," said the librarian. "Did you never hear of the library fright? Many people have it. It attacks them when they go into a strange library just to look around or rest for a few minutes and are informed that in order to enjoy the hospitality of the reading room they will have to ask for a book and make at least a pretense of reading. The chances are that, no matter how familiar they are with books, they won't be able to recall the name of a single one at that moment. If the library happens to be run on the help yourself principle, which gives patrons access to the shelves, they can pick up some volume at random, but when obliged to consult the catalogue, as they are here, their confusion is both pitiable and ludicrous."

"I had the library fright twice myself. My first attack was in the Congressional library in Washington. I wanted to read there for a few minutes, just for the sake of being able to say afterward that I had read there. Used as I was to handling books, I couldn't think of even the dictionary when it came to making a choice. After a few minutes of hopeless floundering 'Taine's History of English Literature' flashed across my mind. I had no desire on earth to look at 'Taine's History of English Literature' then or at any other time, but I give you my word I couldn't think of any other book to save my life."

"Another time, in a library here in town, I was stricken with a similar panic, and after stumbling through the catalogue in a dazed sort of way I asked for 'David Copperfield'—'Copperfield,' mind you, that I had read forty-seven times and knew by heart. It's a funny thing, this library fright. A person who has never experienced it cannot imagine how foolish and helpless the sufferer feels." — New York Times.

Chinese Legend of the Pleiades.

In China, according to a native legend, long before the Caucasians were born there were seven sisters who lived on the banks of the Yellow river. In order that they might attain the greatest glory in the world to come they vowed that they would never marry. But the parents, having very different ideas, betrothed the eldest to a highly desirable young man of their acquaintance. Obedience is one of the greatest virtues of the Chinese, so the girl was compelled to give her consent. She told her sisters that they would never see her again and promptly jumped into the Yellow river. After a short consultation they concluded to follow her. That night for the first time seven bright new stars were seen in the sky, and that is why only the Chinese really know how the Pleiades first came to be added to the number of stars.

Translated Into English.

Every one has heard the story of the Englishman who was told when asking what was done with all the superfluous fruit grown in California, "We eat what we can, and what we can't we can."

The joke was told to another Englishman, who received it with rather a sickly smile and upon his return home gave his own version of it.

"Queer people, those Americans," he said, "peculiar sense of humor. They told me as one of their choice jokes that when asked what they did with their fruit that was left over they answered that they ate what they could and what they couldn't they could."

ROTHENBURG.

An Ancient City That is Still Stately and Fascinating.

For a thousand years Rothenburg has been a city. For more than 500 years it was a free city of the empire. It is not like those ancient towns which, through centuries of strife, preserved their entity through being huddled near the base of some great castle. It is not like those towns that were protected by powerful princes, for it has maintained itself by its own unaided sturdiness. If great barons came to Rothenburg they came to receive protection, not to give it, or else they came to be entertained with the lavish open handedness that made the city a place to which emperors themselves found pleasure in resorting.

By crusaders and pilgrims Rothenburg was held in affectionate regard, not only for its generous hospitality, but because, seen from the river, it bore a striking resemblance to Jerusalem. But there was order in those times of turbulence, and in an old, old house used by Palestine's pilgrims and still known as Pilgrims' House there is an ancient stone, bearing upon it an ancient carving of a hand and a hatchet, with the ominous inscription, "He who quarrels in this house shall have his hand cut off."

Yet since those early days the town has been comparatively forgotten. Even yet it has not become a haunt of the tourist and the traveler, although each year a few Americans resort there, bringing back tales of this city that out-Nurnbergs Nurnberg. It is easily reached, being on a little branch line from the railway between Frankfort and Munich.

It is a place where the sightseer cannot go wrong, for everywhere is fascination. There are both stateliness and beauty. There are towering houses with crisscrossed fronts.

There are deep dungeons under the Rathaus, reached by stairways.

drizzling with moisture, into which not a ray of light can enter, and in one of these dungeons some five centuries ago the men of Rothenburg placed the burgomaster who, more than any other in the long burgomasterial line, gave to the city power and wealth and prosperity. But they charged him with conspiring with the emperor and not only gave him no light, but edged their animosity by deliberately giving him no food. It is in all a fiercely dramatic story, for friends who were still faithful tunneled to the cell and madly cut through its prodigious wall and reached the prisoner, but only to find him dead.

Nowadays they treat unpopular burgomasters with more consideration. Each burgomaster is chosen for three years, and at the end of that time he is either elected for life or gives place to a successor. But an election for life does not give unchecked power, for it is a simple matter with these townsfolk, if they tire of a life chosen mayor, to make him "so crazy with vexation," as it was expressed to me, that he is glad to resign and accept the pension that they palliatively offer. Only recently they thus got rid of one.—Robert Shackleton in Harper's Magazine.

Her Bargain.

An Oil City man, who was detained at the house for a part of the day, handed his wife, who was going downtown, a quarter of a dollar and requested her to get him three cigars for it, according to the Blizzard.

When she returned she handed him the package, remarking exultantly: "That shows that women can beat men all hollow when it comes to making purchases. I found a place where I could get eight for a quarter instead of three. Isn't that going some?" And the poor man, as he took his medicine, merely remarked: "It certainly is, dear."
